POLITICAL STATEMENT BY CONN. ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

Attitude Declared Regarding Congressional, State and Legislative Candidates of Both Major Parties—Stand is Based on Study of Records and Answers to Questionaire—Favorable Replies Have Been Received From Lee Roy Robbins and Herman J. Gibbs of Norwich—Statement is Intended to Guide Members of Civic Organizations How to Vote Next Week.

Hartford, Oct. 31.—The Connecticut Anti-Saloon League has prepared a statement as to its attitude regarding the congressional, state and legislative candidates of the republican and democratic parties based on a study of their records and their answers to a questionnaire sent out by the civic safety political committee of the Connecticut Anti-Saloon League.

The statement is intended to guide the members of the different civic safety leagues organized by the Connecticut Anti-Saloon League in the state and members of the league in their voting nex tweek. The statement reads: "E. Hart Fenn, first congressional district; Richard P. Freeman, second district; John Q. Tilson, third district; and Schuyler Merritt, fourth district, have each supported by influence and vote the appropriations for effective prohibition enforcement including the provision for the purchase and operation of the defense fleet against rum runners.

"James P. Glynn has given fullest assurance of support of the enforcement of the prohibition law.

"We recommend support of these candidates for congress.

"Nothing in the record or utterances of the candidates for governor or lieutenant governor, or any other state office gives foundations for any special confidence in any of them to decrease Connecticut crime connected closely with illegal liquor. Voters must be determined on other grounds.

"Two questions were asked candidates for the legislature in a letter. Not all replied.

"The questions were as to the willingness of the candidate, if elected to the legislature, to assist in passing a bill to suppress illegal stills, and a bill to stop the transportation of liquor which cannot be legally transported under the national law.

"Where candidates have answered evasively their names are omitted from this list as though they had not replied.

"The following have given favorable answer to the questions presented:

"Senate—

"Republicans—William H. Woodruff, Milford; Lee Roy Robbins, Norwich; Howard F. Challenger, Bridgeport; Wallace R. Pierson, Cromwell; Samuel C. Shaw, Redding; Frederick C. Beckwith, East Lyme.

"Democrats—Herman J. Gibbs, Norwich; Oscar F. Atwood, Brooklyn; Frederick W. Fussenich, Litchfield; Kenneth Wynne, New Haven; George Doolittle, Woodbridge; James A. May, New London; Banford F. Beach, Trumbull.

"House of Representatives—

"Republicans — Ashford, Allen B. Lincoln; Barkhamsted, Charles H. Legyt; Beason Falls, William B. Bradley; Bristol, Epaphraoditus Peck; Bozrah, Frank Lathrop; East Windsor, Arthur E. Pascoe; East Granby, J. W. Bidwell; Ellington, H. H. McKnight; Farmington, Adrian W. Wadsworth; Granby, George W. Newton; Groton, George H. Jennings; Mansfield, Mrs. Annie B. DELORME ACQUITTED OF MURDER ON THIRD TRIAL

Montreal, Oct. 31.—Adelard Delorme, former priest, was acquitted of the charge of having murdered his half brother in January, 1922, by a jury in the court of king's bench late today. It was his third trial on the same charge.

The jury was out less than four hours. At the former priest's two previous trials the juries failed to come to an agreement.

The former priest has been either in jail or in sanitoriums undergoing tests as to his mental competence most of the time since the half-frozen body of his half brother, Raul Delorme, a university of Ottawa student, was found beside a road on the outskirts of this city almost three years ago. He had been shot six times in the head.

Crown attorneys charged that Adelard Delorme had killed the younger man that he might inherit his $180,000 estate it was testified at the earlier trials that the former priest had induced his half-brother to take out a $25,000 life insurance policy a short time before he was murdered. Adelard Delorme was said to have been named as the beneficiary.

The defendant made a stubborn fight against his prosecutors. At both of his previous trials alienists testifying for defense and prosecution declared the defendant to be both sane and insane. He was for a considerable period confined to an asylum for the insane where crown alienists kept him under observation to determine his mental condition. They ultimately agreed that he was sane and the series of trials started.

WOULD RESTRICT ADVANTAGES OF HIGHER EDUCATION

New York, Oct. 31.—Dull, indolent and weak-willed boys and girls should not be accorded the advantages of higher education at the expense of the state, in the opinion of Frank P. Graves, state commissioner of education.

Capacity for industry and perseverance should be the cardinal qualities sought by educators in devising tests to determine the recipients of a college or university education at the state's expense, Mr. Graves told instructors at the opening session of the annual convention of the New York Teachers' Association today.

FELL IN FRONT OF TROLLEY AND WAS INSTANTLY KILLED

Hartford Oct. 31.—A man believed to be Raymond Chaplik, a laborer, of 8 Lawrence street, Hartford, was instantly killed at Station 22 at about 6 o'clock today when he tripped in the road and fell in the path of a trolley car bound south. An examination by Dr. L. J. Wittles, medical examiner, disclosed a crushed chest and fractures of both legs and arms. The medical examiner is investigating the accident. Michael Quinlan was motorman of the trolley which struck Chaplik and J. J. Mullin was conductor. Chaplin is between 35 and 40 years old.

FOREST FIRES IN NEW YORK STATE ARE UNDER CONTROL

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 31.—General approval of the governor's proclamation barring the state preserves to hunters and campers because of the danger of forest fire and willing co-operation with the conservation commission's agents and other authorities responsible for the enforcement of the edict, were indicated in reports received at the commission headquarters here today.

Reports received tonight from forest rangers indicated the commission said, fires generally were under control.

MAY CALL ON BALDWIN TO FORM BRITISH CABINET

London, Oct. 31 (By the A. P.).—Events in the political world for next week, as at present conceived, are that King George will return to London Monday from Sandringham Castle, that the Macdonald cabinet will meet Tuesday to receive the report of the committee appointed to examine into the authenticity of the Zinovieff letter, and that Premier Macdonald then will present the resignation of his government to the king, who will summon Stanley Baldwin, leader of the conservatives, to form a new cabinet. The remainder of the week would then be employed by Mr. Baldwin in constructing a new conservative government.

There already is much speculation over the allocation of portfolios, and especially over the question whether Lord Curzon will return to the foreign office. According to some reports, Curzon will not come back to the office of his former labors, in which case it is possible the portfolio might be offered to J. Austen Chamberlain, or even to the former liberal foreign secretary, Viscount Grey. The choice of Viscount Grey, though it is considered unlokely, would not, in the minds of some of the political leaders, be inappropriate, since the axiom held here is "continuity in foreign policy."

There is speculation also whether Mr. Baldwin would now accept the services fo Mr. Chamberlain nad Lord Birkenhead, who have been ostracized from association with a government under conservative administration since their intimate association with former Premier Lloyd George.

GOMPERS BELIEVES HE CAN DELIVER LABOR VOTE

Washington, Oct. 31.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared in a statement tonight that information he had received showed that the Central Trades and Labor council of Greater New York and vicinity had not gone over to the support of John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, nor had its executive board done so.

"Neither the central body nor its executive board," Mr. Gompers said, "took the action attributed to it—to repudiate LaFollette and Wheeler and support Davis. A rump meeting of the executive board of the Central Trades and Labor council was called for yesterday morning in New York city, but the members refused to respond, and thereafter, through the machinations of some politicians, a few of the members of the executive borad in their individual capacity signed such a statement.

"Six of the fourteen who were asked to sign the document refused pointblank, holding that it was in violation of the direct instructions of the Central Labor council as its only official and authoritative expression in the campaign on this subject.

"A few days ago I found it necessary to warn the citizenship of our country against last hour misrepresentations and machinations. The men and women of toll of America and our citizenship generally will know what value to place upon such trickery and deceit as has just been attempted to be practiced."

MADAME LOUISE DOTTI DIED IN NEW BEDFORD

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 31.—Word was received in Cincinnati today of the death of Madame Louise Dotti, noted teacher of voice and grand opera singer, at New Bedford, Mass. She was 78 years of age.

In 1881 as a member of the Mapleson Grand Opera company she was associated with Adelina Patti, Lillian Nordica, Nellie Melba and many other stars of the profession.

Political Situation in Spain.

Port-Venderes, France, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 31 (By the A. P.).—The political situation in Spain has become somewhat complicated since the departure for Morocco of General Primo Rivera, the premier, whose presence hitherto has caused a certain restraint to the turbulent spirits among the partisans of the civil regime.

STATISTICS OF REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Contributions to the republican campaign fund made through the national committee aggregated $3,742,962 at the close of business last night, according to an official report presented today by Chairman Borah, of the senate campaign fund investigating committee, by William V. Hodges, the republican national treasurer.

Of the total $2,942,962 was retained by the national committee, the report showed, while the remainder, $800,038, was returned to republican organizations in certain states for which Mr. Hodges has testified the national committee acted as a collection agency.

In the five days from October 25 to October 30, the committee received an aggregate of $575,753, of which $264,-119 was sent back to those states where contributions were made directly through the national committee and not to the state organizations. The contributions came from 21,761 contributors.

Responding to a specific request for a report on collections in Illinois and New York during the five day period, Mr. Hodges said no sums applicable to the budgets of the national committee had been collected in Illinois, but that $33,951 had been received as the collecting agency for the state to which the money was returned.

Collections in New York from October 25 to October 29 and applicable to the national committee budget were aggregated at $5,015, while collections as agency for the state to which the money was returned aggregated $113,-504. Mr. Hodges reported that the New York figures for October 30 were not available.

TEAMSTER KILLED AT CROSSING IN PORTLAND

Portland, Conn., Oct. 31.—Joseph Carta, 45 years old, of Middletown, a teamster was killed at Bridge's crossing here this afternoon when his wagon was struck by an Air Line train bound for Willimantic. Mr. Carta was driving three horses and was on his way to East Hampton. He was dragged 150 feet and suffered a fractured skull, a crushed chest and two broken legs. The middle horse was killed instantly, the other two horses escaped and th ewagon was demolished.

It is not clear how the accident occurred as the driver had a clear view of the track for several hundred feet. The crossing is not protected by a flagman. The train had just pulled out of the Middletown station and was travelling between 15 and 20 miles an hour at the time of the accident.

Coroner L. A. Smith and Medical Examiner Dr. C. E. Bush were notified. The coroner will hold an inquest Monday. Mr. Carta leaves a wife and seven children.

A. A. Kenchen was the engineer of the train and A. E. Damon the conductor.

ACQUITTED ON CHARGE OF ATTEMPTED EXTORTION

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 31.—Mrs. Anna Hladik, 38 years old, was acquitted late today by a jury in circuit court on a charge of attempted extortion of $1,000,000 from Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor company.

The woman was implicated by statements of Vaclev Simek, who is serving a term of from one to two years in Jackson prison after being convicted of writing a letter demanding the money from Ford under threat of injury to his children.

JUDGE SAMUEL O. PRENTICE CRITICALLY ILL AT HOME

Hartford, Oct. 31.—Samuel O. Prentice, former chief justice of the supreme court of errors, is critically ill at his home, 70 Gillette street. His health has been failing for some time and he had a nervous breakdown soon after Mrs. Prentice's death last July. His condition has been growing worse the past three weeks and Dr. Levi P. Cochran, his physician, considers recovery doubtful. Judge Prentice is 74 years old.

Will He Pay Enright $150,000?

Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, who is the recipient of a $150,000 libel suit brought by Police Commissioner Enright of New York. The latter claims that Cuvillier sent a telegram to Magistrate Corrigan stating "the Mullan-Gage law is an instrument of oppression and is being used as a blackjack by high officers of the Police Department to extort money from the citizens of New York as well as giving the opportunity to engage in bootlegging themselves."

Scenario Material In Rum Row Story

Sailors Shanghaied — When, Starving Compelled Shippers to Surrender.

New York, Oct. 31.—Four starving sailors, who said they had been shanghaied into the rum row service, compelled a reluctant skipper to surrender to the coast guard cutter Gresham today the natty two-master Dorothy M. Smart, of Newfoundland, and her cargo of brandy.

Michael Gillan of Halifax was the skipper. His crew was composed of Louis Coccini, mate, and Albert Edouard Burgomaster, cook, both of New York; and Henry A. Sillis of Perth Amboy, N. J., and Carl Jaeger of Boston, seamen.

Scouting between the rum fleet and shore, the Gresham's searchlights last night picked out the glimmering top-lights of a craft that seemed abandoned. A British ensign hung upside down from a lanyard—the sign of distress.

The Gresham hailed and four despairing sailors answered. They announced that they were prisoners aboard; that they had been without food and water for seven days; that their skipper refused to put them ashore. They pleaded to Captain Ben Brockaway of the Gresham to heave them a line, tow them inside the three-mile limit, take possession of the Dorothy M. Smart, and feed and water her crew.

Thus the cutter and its prize arrived today at the Battery where it was boarded by agents of the department of justice, who seized the 20 barrels of brandy in the vessel's hold and began an investigation.

"We shipped out of New York 23 days ago," was Mate Coccini's tale. "We were told we were signed up for the brick-carrier enterprise, sailing between New York and Cape May. They took us out at night in a speed boat, and when we woke up next morning we were on the Dorothy M. Smart, surrounded by casks of rum and in the midst of the rum fleet."

Orders to hoist sail for a voyage to Halifax, the sailors countered with a demand that they be set ashore at once, they said. The skipper refused and so they drifted about for 22 days with sails furled. The anchor was lost a week ago, the food and water ran out, the distress signals were run up. The sailors said they might have taken command of the craft and sailed her into port, but the skipper warned them that that would be mutiny and piracy, so they watched and drifted until at last the Gresham came to the rescue.

Captain Gillan declared he knew nothing of the shanghaing or how his crew got aboard. All he would tell was that he came from Newfoundland, found the two-master on rum row, apparently a derelict, and took command of her.

DAVIS GETS ANOTHER LABOR ENDORSEMENT

New York, Oct. 31.—Another labor endorsement was given John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, when he returned here tonight from his home in Locust Valley to speak at public school 17. It came from the New York City and state allied printing councils through an announcement made public by eastern democratic headquarters and followed that of yesterday announced in a statement issued by members of the executive council of the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York.

Officials at the democratic headquarters declared the action of the printing councils "to be typical of the action that was being or would be taken by organized labor bodies throughout the country."

TABLET ON HOME OF FIRST WHITE SETTLER IN BOSTON

Boston, Oct. 31.—The site of the home of Boston's first white settler, William Blaxton, who set up his rude house on Beacon Hill three centuries ago, was marked today by a tablet by the Boston Commission on Marking Historical Sites. The inscription reads:

"The place of his seculsion because the seat of a great city." The site is near th estate house.

OCTOBER DRYEST MONTH BUT ONE IN 107 YEARS

Boston, Oct. 31.—October closed tonight with a record of being the dryest month but one in 107 years. Only six one hundredths of an inch of moisture has fallen this month. With no rain in sight, present indications point to a new record for continuous drought, weather bureau officials say.

HOW GILPATRIC PASSED HIS FIRST DAY IN JAIL

New Haven, Oct. 31.—G. Harold Gilpatric, former state treasurer and cashier of the wrecked First National bank of Putnam, who was sentenced to fifteen years in prison in federal court here yesterday, had no statement to make tonight after the completion of his first day in the county jail here. He received no visitors during the day and with only a jail attendant as his companion sat idly throughout the day, most of the time apparently in deep thought. He showed no signs of moroseness, jail attaches said, and was cheerful at times.

That the former banker is determined to regain the respect and friendship of the residents of his home town and that he is confident that he can erase some of the disgrace after he has completed his prison sentence, was revealed today by United States Marshal Jacob D. Walters, an old friend. While in prison he expects to master the language of the blind.

The journey to Atlanta will begin next week, as soon as railroad reservations can be obtained. He will be escorted to the federal prison by Marshal Walters. In the meantime he is being treated more as a guest than a prisoner at the jail. He has been assigned to a private ward and takes his meals alone in a room adjoining the jail mess hall.

"LOONEY GAS" CAUSE OF LEAD POISONING

Washington, Oct. 31.—Brigadier General Amos A. Fries, chief of the army chemical warfare service, today said that samples of lead tetraethyl, commonly referred to as "looney gas," had been obtained by the Edgewood arsenal more than six months ago for the purpose of determining whether the gas had war possibilities and if so, what protective measures against it could be devised.

The arsenal's investigations, carried out with 95 per cent pure gas, showed that in the highly concentrated state the material is very dangerous and that all the most extensive precautions used in the manufacture of the most poisonous war gases would have to be taken.

The investigation revealed that poisoning due to the gas is merely lead poisoning, and that the compound, tetraethyl lead, is simply a carrier for the lead.

DESIRES OF ASSOCIATION OF RETAIL DRUGGISTS

New York, Oct. 31.—The National Association of Retail Druggists, comprising 50,000 members, in a statement this afternoon declared that "aliens have not the same respect for our laws as native born or naturalized citizens" and urged the enactment of laws making it impossible for any but citizens to seure licenses either as practitioner or pharmacy or drug store owners.

MEMBER OF JUNIOR LEAGUE FINED FOR SHOPLIFTING

New York, Oct. 31.—Mrs. Jean B. Cooke, a member of the Junior League in Stamford, Conn., was fined $100 in special sessions today on her conviction of shoplifting last week. She was arrested June 27 by a woman detective who said she saw her take two dresses worth $13.85 from a counter in a local department store.

Lessons In Buying Efficiency

It is all in the way you look at it. The wealth of the world wouldn't be worth much to you if it couldn't buy you something to eat. Inversely, the more you can buy for your money, the more your money is worth.

The advertisements are intimate lessons in buying efficiency. They teach you how to get the most in value and enjoyment for the least money. They give you knowledge that pays.

That is why the shopper who reads The Bulletin advertisements always has the advantage when it comes to stretching the dollars.

Millions of thrifty folks find that it pays them well to be guided by the advertisements. So will you.

ENCOURAGING REVIVAL OF INDUSTRY IN NEW ENGLAND

Factories Are Busier and More People Are Employed Than One or Two Months Ago—Merchandizing Through Retail Stores is Showing the Usual Autumn Increase—Cotton Mills Are Rapidly Returning to a Larger Output—Activity in Silk and Woolen Manufacture Has Progressed.

Boston, Oct. 1.—Business recovery in New England continues to make encouraging progress, the Federal Reserve bank of Boston said in the monthly review of industrial and financial conditions which was made public today. "Factories are generally busier, more people are employed than one or two months ago, and distribution of merchandise through retail stores is showing the usual autumn increase," the review added.

"Production in the leading industries of New England is still subnoral, but it is expanding at a much more rapid rate than is generally appreciated," the review said. "Out put is considerably larger than it was in June and July, when business for the larger industries in this district was at its worst. Quite a large proportion of factory employes are still working on part-time schedules, but this is becoming less noticeable almost every week, with the result that both the total earnings of the workers and the average earnings per employe are increasing."

It is stated that contracts awarded for new building construction in September were larger than in the corresponding period last year. Carloadings of merchandise in September were greater than those in 1923, making the seventh month of this year in which the figures were greater than for the same period a year ago. The volume of sales in department stores, however, was again slightly less than in the same period last year.

"Recent development in the New England industrial situation have given evidence of further improvement, fundamental and broad in scope," the review continued. "Production has expanded, in keeping with the greater demands of the markets. Consumption of raw material in the New England cotton and woolen textile mills is increasing. * * * Employment has increased further in most of the important News England industries and working schedules have been lengthened in many mills and factories. Wages have in general showed but little change, yet there is a slight tendency downward."

Summarizing conditions in each industry, the review said:

"The New England shoe trade developed further improvement during October, and orders in hand to insure a fairly high rate of operation for the remainder of the year. Manufacturing activity in the clothing industry expanded slightly in September and October. New England cotton mills are quite rapidly returning to larger output. Production during early October was reported to be about 60 to 65 per cent. of capacity. Mill stocks were reported to be about the lowest on record. The machine tool industry was generally quiet during September, but during the early part of October booking were reported larger. Output of New England paper mills in September was approximately the same as August. Mills were operating at about 75 per cent. of capacity. Rubber manufacturing schedules were somewhat under normal, but increasing slightly in October. Activity in silk plants expanded during September and October under an increased demand. A decided improvement was noted during early October in the woolen manufacturing industry of New England."

COMMITTEE OF CHINESE TO EFFECT RECONCILIATION

New York, Oct. 31.—Representatives of fourteen Chinese business organizations met here tonight to name a committee of conciliation which will be composed of Chinese exclusively. The members of the committee will be charged with the task of effecting a permanent agreement between the On Leong and Hip Sing tongs, whose leaders yesterday signed a fourteen-day truce.

Tong leaders from Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago and other cities were present at the gathering, which was preliminary to a full meeting to be held tomorrow in which Chinese from California and Oregon will participate.

Police said tonight an authoritative statement had been obtained from the On Leong leaders that Gee Ing, the restaurant keeper who was slain yesterday while the armistice was being discussed, was not killed by a tong enemy.

Henry Hop, national secretary of the On Leong tong, denied statements that an indemnity of $50,000 has been demanded by that organization of the Hip Sing society as one of the terms of peace. He said further that the killings that have so far taken place were not sanctioned by the leaders of either organization but had been the result of private grudges. It was admitted, however, that final agreement between the factions will center about expulsion of fourteen ex-members of the On Leong tong from the Hip Sing organization, which they were permitted to join in violation of an agreement.

FORMER GOVERNOR NOW EDITS PRISON PUBLICATION

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 31.—At the mast head of "Good Words" published monthly at the federal prison here, "with the approval of the department of justice," and "dedicated to the welfare of th emen in prison," appears the name of a new editor, W. T. McCary, former governor of Indiana.

Appointment of the former governor as editor is regarded as a promotion, his first assignment at the prison having been announced as that of a library clerk. Governor of Indiana, McCray was convicted of using the mails to defraud. He resigned the day after conviction and 24 hours later was serving his sentence.

PICTURE OF PRESIDENT AND MRS. COOLIDGE VOTING

Washington, Oct. 31.—Newspaper photographers who were caught napping yesterday when President and Mrs. Coolidge went through the formality of mailing their votes to Northampton, Mass., today, coaxed the executive and his wife to go through the whole performance all over again—except that the mailing of the ballots, which would have made the two voters "two repeaters" was unmistakably omitted.

Although most of the photographers got their shots yesterday, they all took advantage of today's make-believe ceremony to add to their supply for selective purposes.

PROVISIONAL CABINET MANDATED IN CHINA

Peking, Oct. 31.—(By The A. P.)—A provisional cabinet under General Haung Fu as acting premier was mandated here tonight.

It was said in official circles that General Feng Yu Hsiang whose coup d'etat recently placed him in control in Peking, wanted Dr. W. W. Yen, former premier to head the provisional cabinet. Dr. Yen, however, was said to have pleaded that his association with the old cabinet would militate against his sumoess with the new government.

Percy Sides, Portsmouth, (N. H.) bank teller, is the first in his city to succeed in copying the registration of a car number from each state in the Union. Nevada completed the work for him and when the "New" car appeared on the streets of the seaport town friends began to telephone in to the bank from all directions, telling him of the visitor.

BATTLE IMMINENT BETWEEN KLAN AND FLAMING CIRCLE

Niles, O., Oct. 31.—Quietly, though none the less feverishly, Niles citizens tonight were preparing for a threatened clash when the Ku Klux Klan and adherents of the Flaming Circle, an anti-Klan organization, hold meetings here tomorrow.

Announcement was made that 15,000 Klansmen and 10,000 members of the Flaming Circle would be in the city. The circle members were advised to "avoid bringing women and children."

A request of a citizens' committee to avert a permit for a Klan parade be revoked, in an attempt to avert possible trouble, was denied by Mayor Harvey C. Kistler today. Demands of the mayor and Sheriff John Thomas for state troops were rejected by Gov. A. V. Dohaney, unless there is "tumult, riot or serious disorders," in which event "every agency of the state government will be used" to restore order.

The Klansmen will march unmasked and with arms folded. Dr. B. A. Hart, head of the Klan in this county, announced tonight. Many believed disorders would result.

From Youngstown and Warren came reports that despite the governor's refusal to send troops there would be troop mobilization in those cities tomorrow morning. The streets were practically deserted tonight. Few merchants have prepared to open their stores tomorrow. It also is planned to keep public buildings, including the McKinley Memorial, closed.

Hundreds of citizens are planning to leave Niles. Guards who watched the homes of the city officials last night were on duty again tonight. Several national guard officers were in Niles today. They came as civilians but, it is understood, acted on orders from Governor Dohaney to look over the situation.

COOLIDGE BUSY WITH GOVERNMENT BUSINESS

Washington, Oct. 31.—Government business occupied the attention of President Coolidge today and there were no indications that he expected to give particular consideration to the empaign before making a talk over the radio Monday night. This address will be devoted principally to impressing the voters with the importance of going to the polls and casting their ballots.

Mr. Coolidge made it known during the day that he expects to reach a decision on the proposed reduction in the sugar duty recommended by three members of the tariff commission as soon as possible. Inability, however, of the commission to agree on additional information asked by the president relative to the cost of beet sugar production in this country, is delaying this decision, it was said at the White House. It was made plain that Mr. Coolidge considers a protection necessary for beet growers.

The purpose of the inquiry addressed yesterday by the president to leaders of various farm organizations asking recommendations for the appointment to fill the post of secretary of agriculture, it was said, was to find the best acquainted with this work and with farmers generally. While it is not expected by Mr. Coolidge that the farm leaders will agree on one man for the post, he does expect from the list of names to find a person who will be satisfactory to a majority.

MEXICANS OPPOSED TO JAPANESE COLONIZATION

Brawley, Cal., Oct. 31.—The federal government of Mexico "is unalterably opposed," to Japanese and other Far Eastern colonization schemes in the republic and to any other admission of Orientals to any part of the country, according to a telegram received today from Mexico City by Governor Adelardo Rodriguez of the northern district of lower California.

Governor Rodriguez stated that the telegram he had received from Mexico City came from the office of the secretary of the exterior relations, who, he declared, had authorized its publication and would confirm its contents.

Office Hours: 9:30 to 12 m.; 1:30 to 6 p. m.

A twenty-five minute short calendar session and assignment of cases of the Windham county superior court was held in this city Friday, Judge William M. Maltbie on the bench. Cases which went over on the short calendar were those of The Nightingale Morse Mills, Inc., vs Town of Putnam, appeal from board of relief; Frank Ladue vs Daniel F. Dunn, et al., both hearings on demurrers.

Cases assigned for trial were: Isadore Berkowith vs Horace B. Rood for Friday, November 14 after short calendar and Abraham Gluskin vs Mike Posiamski, second for Tuesday, November 25. The last case named replaces that of Frank A. Phillips vs James W. Baker, which has been continued. Cases assigned at previous short calendar sessions of the present term were allowed to stand on dates assigned: Anthony Plonsky et al vs John Arcakivach to follow the the short calendar on Friday, Nov. 7; Charles Pegram vs Ellen Pegram and Doyle and Murphy vs John Koranski for Wednesday, November 5. Jury cases listed include Max Udell & Sons vs Charles Seder; Pierre Chabot et al vs Alphonse G. Lussier, executor; Abraham Gluskin vs Abraham Kitzman and Louise Van Durr vs Christian Lorensen for Tuesday, November 11, in rotation; Victor Budzinsky vs the Jones Auto Company and Edwin Morin vs Arthur W. Pierce for Wednesday, Nov. 12.

Uncontested divorce cases heard at Friday's session were those of Edwin T. Beckwith of Columbia vs Grace W. Beckwith and Andrew Ashton vs Elizabeth Ashton. In the first case Grace W. Beckwith was charged with desertion. Attorney King represented the complainant. The couple were married twenty year ago and Edwin Beckwith was deserted by his wife three years ago. Testifying that the two had not lived together since 1921 were Mrs. Ethel F. Blakely of Columbia and Fred A. Beckwith of this city. Judge Maltbie granted the degree on the grounds of desertion. The Beckwiths have no children and were former residents of Willimantic.

Andrew and Elizabeth Ashton were married in Willimantic March 31, 1913. They were living in Franklin in 1920 when the wife left her home. Plaintiff testified that he had asked his wife to return, but she refused and as near as he could determine her only cause for such action was dissatisfaction. He did not feel guilty for her leavetaking. Leon K. Dunham and Joseph McCormack were witnesses to testify that the couple had been separated for three years. Adjournment of court was then ordered to Wednesday morning, November 5 at 10.30 o'clock.

Packages of samples of the ballot to be used in the national and state election next Tuesday in the town of Windham arrived here and are in the hand of Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton. Democratic and republican headquarters were furnished with part of the shipment. The ballots are large, 20 by 20 inches but only one-third of that space is actually occupied by the names of candidates. There are eight columns on the ballot with only the republican and democratic parties having complete tickets. The prohibitionists have only one candidate, William H. Barstow, formerly of South Windham for representative in congress. The public will be urged to consult the ballots closely and avoid any cause for rejection as every single ballot in the box plays a vital part in the election.

As a consequence of severe burns sustained about the back and head at seven o'clock Sunday night, with gasoline vapors from an automobile tank came in contact with a lantern, Leon C. Rathbun, 24, of Hebron, died at St. Joseph's hospital this city, Friday morning. The young man was filling his gasoline tank by the light of the lantern when the vapor burst into flames consuming considerable of his clothing and inflicting frightful burns.

Mr. Rathbun was born in Hebron September 17, 1899, a son of the late Rufus and Sadie Cobb Rathbun. He had been employed in Hartford and at the time of the mishap was on a vacation which he was spending at the home of his brother, Frank R. Rathbun in Hebron. He leaves three brothers, Frank R., Edward and Charles of Hebron, and a sister, Helen, also of Hebron.

The Willimantic Business Men's Association at its annual meeting Friday forenoon under the chairmanship of John E. Brick, in the absence of President J. E. Sullivan and voted to close all stores in the city on Armistice day, Nov. 11. The importance of the day was pointed out by a number and it was the general opinion it should be recognized as one of the yearly holidays. The general impression was given out that it would be a store-closing day in the future.

Discussions arising at the meeting led to the subect of the betterment of the city, with a mutual endorsement of the new traffic ordinances.

It was suggested that the police department might act a little more severely in cases where visitors here violate the new laws and it was pointed out that a second heart-to-heart reprimand, given in a cautious tone, would go much farther toward establishing good feeling toward the laws, the police and the entire city on the part of strangers than a loud sarcastic call down. Officers elected were: President, T. Frank Cunningham; vice president, J. Francis Keon; secretary and treasurer, Robert Newton. Mr. Cunningham, now president, has been closely connected with live business and civic affairs for several years.

Dancing and merry-making marked the opening of the season of the Social club which met at the Al Pierre Tabarin Thursday evening with an attendance of thirty-five couples. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Gaudreau led in the grand march. Albert J. Piche and Wilfred J. Lavaude were in charge of the dancing floor. At eleven o'clock lunch was served, followed by a second grand march during which various favors were given out. In charge of arrangements were: Joseph F. Gaudreau, chairman; A. J. Martineau, Albert J. Piche, P. J. Laramee and W. J. Lavaude. The officers of the club which will stage a number of similar events during the winter are: Chairman, Joseph F. Gaudreau; vice chairman, Napoleon Bacon; secretary, W. J. Lavaude; treasurer, A. J. Martineau; assistant treasurer, P. J. Laramee.

The alarming danger of forest fires was noted by local tourists who have just returned from a trip through the states of New Hampshire and Vermont. The latter state has lost hundreds of acres of valuable timberlands and is at present harassed by seven or more large fires raging in the hills of the northern and central part of the state, and said to have been caused by the carelessness of hunters With nearly thirty days of drought and no sign of rain, residents of the wooded sections of New England are unnerved at the prospects of a conflagration sweeping through their land In New Hampshire, insurance companies refuse to renew policies on timber which are running out at this time, and applicants for insurance are being turned flatly down, according to a former forest fire lookout man of that state.

Charles Chesebrough, Jr., infant son of Charles and Ada B. (Anderson) Chesebrough died at St. Joseph's hospital Thursday from infantile trouble. Burial was in the Willimantic cemetery at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

A breach of the peace charge was preferred against Max Scheinmann, of Center street, this city, in the police court Friday mroning. Mrs. Cecelia Chasen, 46 Unin street, complained that she had had trouble with Scheinmann in the hallway of the Hebrew synagogue on Bank street Wednesday evening. A warrant ha dbeen made out by Samuel B. Harvey, prosecuting attorney for the man's arrest. Scheimann said that Mrs. Chasen had talked boldly to him. The case was continued to Saturday of next week to allow the accused to go on a previously planned business trip to New York. He is under bonds of $50.

Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton, democratic candidate for congress in the Second Congressional district has been sweeping through the smaller towns of the district in making the closing address of his campaign. Thursday he made stops in North Windham, Clark's Corner, Hampton, Brooklyn, Danielson, Plainfield and Dayville, where he delivered brief addresses. Friday evening he was one of the speakers at two rallies at Rockville. This (Saturday) he will speak in Danielson and Monday evening he will make final appeals in five towns, Baltic, Jewett City, Mecosup, Wauregan and Plainfield.

For several months past, the number of contagious diseases reported here has been very slight, there being but six cases of minor complaints presented by local physicians to City Health Officers Dr. W. P. S. Keating, for October, four cases of chicken pox and two of whooping cough.

The home of Harry W. Standish on Windham road was in danger of a fire at noon Friday when sparks from a fireplace ignited shingles on the roof. Members of Engine Co. No. 1 quickly extinguished the blaze which had been held down by water thrown on it by James Kegler, a neighbor, while awaiting the arrival of the firemen.

The Salvation Army this week has been trying to raise $3,500 for its local work and today will have workers on the streets. They will ask everyone to buy tags so as to be able to get over the top in the drive.

That universally known hymn by Baringold "Onward Christian Soldiers" might have been written as the battle song of the Salvation Army, as the members go marching on. In the 59 years of its life, it is now preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ in 67 countries and colonies and printing the Gospel in 56 languages. The Salvation Army believes that no matter how far a man or woman may have gone down the ladder there is still a chance for them to get back into society and the Army is here to give them that chance.

While election returns are being received through the Western Union Telegraph office, Tuesday evening, between 7 and 12 o'clock open house will be kept at the Chamber of Commerce room for members, guests and visitors from this and surrounding towns. Lunch will be provided from 10 to 11 o'clock.

A twenty-three pound coon was the prize catch recently made by Train Announcer Thomas J. Killurey and two Norwich friends, who roamed the wilds of Ashford in quest of game.

Brief Mention

Noting her birthday, Mrs. Napoleon LeClaire was tendered a Hallowe'en surprise party recently by her daughters Irene and Anita, assisted by Miss Dorothy Dupis.

Members of the Sewing club and guests were entertained at her home, Whitney Hall, Storrs, recently by Mrs. Francis Mahony. Present were Mrs. Arthur T. Kelley and Misses Jean Howie, Cecelia Morin, Elisabeth Hardman, Rae Hevrin, Beatrice Bill and Katherine Twomey. Mrs. Harold T. Robinson of Norwich won first prize at bridge and Miss Twomey was given the consolation award.

The Hallowe'en spirit broke out in full force Friday evening beginning in earnest shortly after six o'clock when a band of youngsters bedecked in the best the attic could produce, marched noisily down Main street to the tune of tea-kettle drums There was much parading through the entire evening and the usual trick and stunts and pranks.

PROGRESSIVE SLEEPER SLEPT WHILE RALLY WENT ON

(Special to The Bulletin)

Willimantic, Oct. 3.—The mystery of the missing speaker at the progressive party rally held in the town hall, Thursday evening was unraveled Friday when it was found that Rev. George Chalmers Richmond of Los Angeles, California, a nationally known orator and one of the campaigners in the eastern district for the Robert M. Lafollette-Burton K. Wheeler, presidential ticket, had calmly slept through the entire performance. Mr. Richmond had retired at a local hotel to snatch a few winks of sleep while awaiting a call from Dr. Frank Downing of Moosup, one of the party's presidential electors in the state who was to have charge of the rally here. Dr. Downing actually called at the hotel twice, but somehow got names twisted and asked for Mr. Johnson but the night clerk advised him that there was no such name on the registry. After the rally Rev. Mr. Richmond was awakened when information as to his whereabouts had been made known and until matters had all been explained he appeared very indignant that the rally had been held without him. Mr Richmond had come here from Vermont to speak here. He leaves for Europe soon.

JEWETT CITY

LITTLE JACK RABBIT
By DAVID CORY

Be Careful

"It's growing late, and mother is waiting at the gate."

"Tell me," went on Mr. Woodpecker, as he sharpened his bill on the tree, "why Lady Love, your pretty bunny mother, looks prettier when eating a pink lollypop?"

"Because she always wears three roses, one in her dress and two in her cheeks," laughed the bunny boy. "That's why."

"Hold the candy tight," suddenly

"Be careful," she whispered

cried the kind woodpecker, as he finished sharpening his bill.

"Clickerty clack, snipperty, snap. My, how the candy chips flew. And very soon the big lollypop Was split right into two.

Then once again a clickerty clack, Goodness gracious, me! And pretty soon the two lollypops Had turned again to three.

"You are very kind," cried the happy bunny boy, as Mr. Woodpecker wiped his chisel bill and picked up a candy chip. "Tad may have all the little candy chips if you wish."

"Very nice and generous of you," answered the carpenter bird "I'll take them home to my family. My boys and girls will like them. Mrs. Woodpecker has a sweet tooth, although birds are not supposed to have even one." After picking up a pocketful of lollypop chips, he flew away and the bunny boy started off for home once more. It had grown dark by this time or nearly so, for Mr. Merry Sun was so far away in the West that his colder rays hardly made their way into the Shady Forest.

"Dear, Oh dear," sighed the little rabbit, taking out his gold watch and chain,—that nice one which his dear Uncle Lucky had given him some umpty-leven stories ago, you remember, little reader. Gracious me, it was after seven and the little second hand was going around so fast that the bunny boy was afraid it would be midnight before he reached the little gate in the dear Old Bramble Patch.

Just then an old owl went, "Toot, toot, tooty fruity toot." Bumperty, bump, went the bunny boy's heart, and away he hopped, faster than ever. Oh yes, faster than a kangaroo or a rocking horse. The next minute a tiny firefly swung her little lantern in front of him. "Be careful," she softly whispered. "Danny Fox is around, don't know just where, but somewhere."

"Dear, oh dear," sighed the little rabbit, his heart going thumperty bump. "I must get home to Mother. I mustn't let anything happen to her little bunny boy."

The next minute he reached the old rail fence. There in the distance, standing at the little gate in the white picket fence, stood Lady Love,

"Home again, home again,
Sweetest place to be.
Carrot Cake and Clover Tops,
And Cambric Turnip Tea."

Bread Theater

The possibilities of trivialities multiplying until they assume heartbreaking importance is utilized in Butterfly, a Universal-Jewel Clarence Brown production to show at the Bread theater four days starting Sunday.

The story deals with certain vital experiences in the lives of four persons, two sisters, a man who becomes the husband of one of them and a teacher of the violin. On the death of the mother of the two girls the elder sister became a mother to the younger, who is spoiled, selfish and self-willed.

The elder sister strives to keep her promise to her mother, but little by little this fealty to the memory of the dead is weakened by the streets placed upon it by the little sacrifices necessary if the wishes of the sister are to be gratified.

Finally comes the time when the elder sister steels herself to give the man she loves to the younger sister. For a time married life crowns the time of the younger. Ere long, however, there comes disagreements between husband and wife. Again the elder sister finds herself submerging her own

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Danielson gave superstition the horse laugh Friday night. In their celebration of Hallowe'en the younger generation, and those who find a comfortable sort of enjoyment in considering themselves within that group, notwithstanding rheumatic joints, graying hair and a tendency to crawl "into the hay" along about 10.30, gave old-time theories about spooks and goblins and what not a bit of a raxx.

There was evidence that those who live in this fantastic age are not a bit concerned about the hair-raising spirit tales that formerly, through mental suggestion, made Hallowe'en a dread and gruesome sort of anniversary. Nowadays it represents an opportunity to have a good time.

Night had barely fallen when the youngsters, due to hear their bed-time stories and be tucked away in peaceful sleep by 8 p. m., were abroad—sheeted and masked and bearing their Jack o' lanterns intended to strike terror into all encountered. A few stray dogs did flip up the hair on their backs, set up a howl and turn tail for home, but the grown-ups who met the little people enjoyed their pranks and mused over the myths that made the show possible.

The more elaborate observance of Hallowe'en came later in the evening. These observances entailed attendance at dinner parties, at homes or at inns in the neighboring country; dancing, game playing and getting all set to pledge one's self this morning that it would never, never happen again.

Since the World war days, Hallowe'en has taken on a new significance. It has developed many of the characteristics of what might be termed a junior New Year, though just why, its associations considered, one might have a difficult hour in explaining.

The stage is set for the national and state election in Killingly next Tuesday. Except for the final rounds of verbal artillery to be fired by the democrats at their rally here tonight, the campaign is over. Of course, there remains the last minute conferences, the detail of getting out the vote and a few things that are routine. But about all that is going to be said and done is over the dam and the waiting armies of ballot casters are resting on their lead pencils.

Killingly will vote by districts on Tuesday. The first district voters will cast their ballots at the town hall, the second district voters at Columbia hall in Dayville, the third district voters at Paine's hall in East Killingly. At all these polling places the ballot boxes will be open at 8 a. m. and will close at 5 p. m. The results should be known co-incident with the wire flashes as to how many precincts somebody has carried in Nevada. This may sound a bit frivolous, but it will not be an easy task to count the vote in Killingly with all the splits and variations that are anticipated and it will take time also to assemble the district returns and include them in the town's total.

It is an open secret that the republicans anticipae making a clean sweep in the town of Killingly, a town that has never yet failed to give a republican majority for the national ticket since the word republican was discriptive of a great political party. In the face of all of this, the democrats here are confident. They will not be denied the concession that they have a great and good candidate for the presidency. They are hoping that he will win.

Fred Longley, gored by a bull on the farm of Charles Ennis, where he has been employed for several years, was clinging to life Friday, at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam. His condition continued to be regarded as critical. Longley's intestines were punctured when the bull drove a horn into his body. A section of damaged intestine was removed in a surgical operation that it is hoped will save the man's life.

The upper crossing at what is known as Attawaugan Crossing, near Alexander's lake is losed to all further travel over the tracks of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. company and the new highway cut-off is completed and in use. A wide, sweeping curve into the new highway cut-off from Attawaugan crossing has been built by Contractor John A. Gilbert, who built the short stretch of new highway for the railroad company. The town of Killingly has not been obligated for a penny in the carrying out of the improvement that eliminates a grade crossing, the entire expense being borne by the railroad company.

Making peace with their discontented minds, hunters will tell you that, while it irritates, they are losing little by the temporary ban placed on the hunting season by Governor Templeton in the integest of protecting the state from forest fires. The woods and fields are so dry that dogs do not follow well, the hunters say, and add that they had littl eluck fortune in hunting during October, which was as dry as Volsteadites would like to see the populace for all time.

The Windham County National bank, Danielson, Conn., is a strong bank, ably managed by a conservative board of directors and officered by men of long banking experience.—adv.

Judge W. Fenner Woodward, who has been seriously ill the past ten days, was reported resting more comforably Friday and showing some improvement from his condition during the early part of the week.

The Bulletin gets more or less satisfaction this morning in announcing in advance of the radio and other occult channels of news that Mr. Coolidge will be elected president of the United States next Tuesday. This must be true because a man who knows said so Friday.

Today marks the opening of the rabbit hunting season. This opening day comes on an occasion that isn't open—and will not be until a sustained, pouring rainstorm comes along. Congratulations to the rabbits.

Beginning Monday morning next the plant of the Larkin Reed company, heretofore operating on a schedule of 48 hours per week, will go on a schedule of 55 hours per week. The plant is operating on a full time basis.

The democrats of Killingly will have their whack at the proletariat in the town hall this (Saturday) evening, when spellbinders of the faith tell why their candidates should be elected to office in next Tuesday's election.

A pre-election prayer meeting is to be held at the Baptist hurch Sunday from 6 to 7 p. m. Mrs. Ida M. T. Pegrum will speak.

Rev. F. C. Williams, rector of St. Paul's church, Willimantic, is to preach at an All Saints' day service at Old Trinity church, Church street, the oldest Episcopal church in Connecticut, at 11 o'clock this (Saturday) morning.

Next Saturday, November 8, will be the annual tag day of the Civic Federation. This is the most important and firmly established of all Danielson's tag days—and means the most to humanity. The date this year will be remembered by all who are glad to have a part in aiding a splendid work.

Killingly High School's football team will play Putnam High School at Putnam this afternoon. In view of the fact that the Killingly team needs the support of loyal rooters this particular season, many will be on hand to cheer them on to victory.

The Chateau orchestra attracted a dance gathering that enjoyed the Hallowe'en social at the state armory Friday evening, numbers being present from out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. John Laine and daughter, Dorothy, and Ms. and Mrs. James Hanney and daughter, Louise, spent Sunday with Mrs. P. R. Tibles and family in Hartford.

Mrs. J. P. Smith of Moosup spent a day last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anderson of Allen Hill, Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Greene and infant, of Putnam, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anderson of Allen Hill, Brooklyn.

PUTNAM

Attorney Harry E. Back, counsel for Maurice Foster, calls attention to the memorandum of the court in the case of Mr. Foster vs. Irving W. Foote of Preston as to Mr. Foote's claim that the decision represents a victory for him. This memorandum, Attorney Back points out, establishes no ground for such contention, and in justice to Mr. Foster this viewpoint is given publicity.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph C. Jenkins made the following statement Friday regarding the scarlet fever epidemic as affecting the schools of the town:

"There are in all 24 cases of scarlet fever in town. Five of the patients are adults, six live outside the city limits, while the other 13 are pupils in Israel Putnam school. There are no cases in Smith street school, Putnam High school; Sawyer district or St. Mary's school.

"There has been some discussion regarding closing. In order to get the opinion of the state department of health, Mrs. E. M. Warner, chairman of the school board, called Dr. Stanley H. Osborne, state health commissioner, on the telephone Wednesday. The commissioner said that he was positive there would be fewer cases of scarlet fever if the Israel Putnam school was kept open and pupils' throats examined each morning than if the school were closed.

"Tuesday the kindergarten room was closed until a week from Monday. All rooms in the Israel Putnam school building where there has been a case of scarlet fever have been fumigated, and the school nurse is examining every child in school each morning. Any suspicious cases are sent to Dr. G. T. Lamarche, school physician, for further examination. If, in his opinion, there is any indication that the pupils may have the disease, they are excluded from school.

"The school and health authorities want the public to know the following facts: If school is closed, children will go out on the street and will gather together. Furthermore, the majority of them will not get the benefit of examination by a physician if they have colds, temperature, etc.

"If they remain in school, every child will have the opportunity every day during the epidemic of a throat examination by the school nurse, and if there is any evidence of the disease, by the school physician also."

Contractor Louis Bonin was given a surprise birthday party by his wife and children at his home on Woodstock avenue Thursday evening. Mr. Bonin, a lifelong resident of Putnam, is 45. A fine chicken supper was served, and the table bore a large birthday cake. Following the supper, whist was played. The gentlemen's first prize, linen handkerchiefs, was won by Louis Pominville; the second prize, a belt, by Fred Lucier. The first ladies' prize, a berry set, went to Mrs. Fred Lucier; the second, linen towels, to Miss Diana Lucier. Consolation awards were given Arthur Pominville and Miss Dora Bonin. During the evening Mr. Bonin was presented a number of gifts.

One of the features of the party was the reading, in French, of the following testimonial, written and delivered by Mr. Bonin's daughter, Miss Dora Bonin, a pupil in the Putnam High school:

"Dear Father: How happy we are to see this beautiful day arrive, so impatiently waited for, which gives us the opportunity to prove to you, in a particular manner, the esteem and affection in which we hold you.

"Dear father, we could not let this day of your 41st year pass without gathering to express our sentiments of affection and gratitude, and at the same time to congratulate you on your admirable conduct and exemplary life, a life full of courage and devotion to your wife and children, who hope to be worthy of all the kindness with which you surround them. They take this occasion to make known to you the affection and gratitude with which their hearts are filled, by uniting here tonight, your parents, children and friends, to share with you the feast prepared for you. We pray that God will keep you always and bring to you all the happiness your kindness merits. This is our heartfelt wish.

"Oh, how happy would we be could we offer a worthy homage. We hope to bring home to you a realization of our affection, doing our best in presenting these humble gifts, which, in comparison with your many kindnesses, we feel inadequate, but which represent more than our lips can express. We hope that your acceptance of them will give you as much joy as we experience in giving them.

"I mak this address to you on behalf of your wife and children, your parents and your friends, this 30th day of October in the year 1924."

Trotting along Church street Thursday evening was a little black and yellow hound. Attached to its collar was a length of chain, but no tag required by law. Big Bill Durand, police officer, was on his way home to supper after a day on his beat on Main street. The jangling of the chain attracted the officer's attention. Officer Durand gave the little fellow a good supper and took him to the station house. There for a while the game of 45 was forgotten as the hound was introduced all around. He made a favorable impression and became a popular adjunct to the department's scant equipment. Had he been a police dog he would have found a permanent home at once, but he is better on the trail of a rabbit than of a criminal. Captain Dill doesn't think the hound is a thoroughbred, although he acts like a regular guy. The captain says he is of beagle hound blood, at least in part. He has a pair of brown ears attached to his black body and there is brown on his head; also legs.

Not being able to keep the hound at the police station, arrangements have been made to farm him out.

Dr. and Mrs. M. Roy Sharpe of Uxbridge, Mass., were in the city Friday calling on friends. They also went to Danielson to visit Dr. Sharpe's uncle, Dr. Chester Sharpe, who has been confined to his home for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheriff entertained three tables of bridge at their home on Grove street Thursday evening in honor of guests from Rhode Island.

A number of horsemen will attend the races as Pascoag this (Saturday) afternoon. Two Putnam horses are entered for the race.

MEAN THIEF STEALS COINS AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, Oct. 31.—Some time late Thursday night St. Mary's Catholic church on Providence street was entered. Only about a dollar in change, extracted from the candle offering receptacle, was taken, although an attempt was made to break into the poor box. While the whole church was gone over by the intruders, they appeared to be careful not to injure anything. A screw driver and a tack puller were found on the floor of the church. Entrance was gained by breaking a pane of glass in a rear window and throwing the catch. After gaining entrance, the window was lowered and exit was through the front door.

Whoever went into the church, and evidence points to more than one person, is of the lowest type of burglar. They are in the same category as the clothesline thief and a thief who would rob children. Although they got but a dollar, nevertheless the persons entering the church reach the degree of burglars and are liable to be penalized by a term in the state prison.

The receptacle for the deposit of coins by members of the congregation has a little door in its base through which, when unlocked, the coins may be taken. It is topped by a number of candles. The burglars showed an unwillingness to break or injure this receptacle and removed all of the candles and holders carefully and set them on the floor. Then, by turning the receptacle upside down, he was able to shake the coins through the slot by which they were put in. The intruders also attempted to pry the lock from the poor box. Finding it impossible, they did not break the box as they might have done.

The burglary was discovered at an early hour Friday morning when the pastor, Rev. Charles F. Bedard, went to the church to say mass. He saw that drawers in an anteroom had been opened and followed this up by discovering the other depredations. Captain Jarvis of the police department was notified.

WESTERLY

By deeds filed in the office of the Westerly town clerk on Oct. 28th Luigi and Filomena Luzzi conveyed to Frank and Josephine Caldamone a certain lot or parcel of land on the south side of Pierce street. Oct. 30th Walter Gresham Andrews of Buffalo, N. Y., conveyed to Edna D. Andrews of Buffalo a certain lot or parcel of land at Watch Hill, R. I., and John and Raffale Spezzano of Los Angeles, Calif., transferred to Kajetan and Anna Pawlitschek a tract or parcel of land with dwelling house and improvements at the corner of Granite and Cross streets. Oct. 31st Sophie Moen of Boston deeded to Julia Howard Bush of Troy, N. Y., two parcels of land at Watch Hill.

Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Oppy, 49 Ledward avenue, their youngest daughter, Miss Edith Irene, became the bride of William Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Johnson of this town. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edgar G. Tobin, rector of Christ Episcopal church.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Charles R. Oppy. Her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Gladys Oppy. The groom's little sister, Kathleen Johnson, was flower girl. John R. Oppy, brother of the bride, was best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Charlotte Percy.

Miss Oppy wore white canton crepe trimmed with pearls, and her veil was caught with pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor wore orchid colored canton crepe and carried Ophelia roses. The flower girl's dress was of pink crepe de chine trimmed with ostrich banding, and she carried a basket of sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held, after which Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a short wedding trip, and upon their return will reside at 66 Moss street.

At the afternoon session Thursday of the Rhode Island branch, International Order King's Daughters and Sons, held in the Pawcatuck Congregational church Mrs. Frank E. Maxwell of Warren, R. I., was elected president and council member. Mrs. Maxwell succeeds Mrs. Howard C. Arnold of North Providence as head of the state organization. Mrs. Arnold declined re-election owing to the fact that her time and efforts are taken up with editing The Silver Cross, official publication of the King's Daughters.

Miss Ada L. Sawyer of Providence, recording secretary last year, also declined to serve another term because of the responsibilities connected with her office as president of the Rhode Island Federatino of Women's clubs. Mrs. Harry H. Thurlow was chosen to succeed her.

Other officers elected were: First vice president, Mrs. William E. Husband, Providence; second vice president, Miss Cora M. Harrington, Auburn; corresponding secretary, Miss Bessie P. Hawkins, Pawtucket; treasurer, Mrs. Walter A. Hill, Phenix; executive board, Mrs. A. H. Appleby, Mrs. Fred Greene, Mrs. J. Hunt, Mrs. L. Fred Kauil, Mrs. William L. Day; board of managers of Emily S. Chase Memorial home, Mrs. A. H. Appleby, Mrs. Walter A. Hill, Mrs. John B. Drinkwater, Mrs. Charles Burrow, Mrs. William S. Mowry, Mrs. Arthur Holgate, Miss S. Maude Johnson, Mrs. Thomas W. Needham, Mrs. William E. Husband, Mrs. F. H. Barnard, Mrs. H. D. C. Dubois, Mrs. Ira Carr, Mrs. J. Frank Skinner, Mrs. Annie Sherer, Mrs. Charles Tilley, Mrs. C. C. Chase.

The state convention closed Thursday afternoon with a business session that included reports of committees and the election of officers. There was an attendance of about 160 members, 81 of whom were voting delegates. Mrs. George H. Prior of Jewett City, Conn., international president of the King's Daughters, was present at the meetings as a guest of honor.

Among the entertainment features of the morning session were an organ recital by Mrs. Charles Larkin, a vocal solo by Mrs. William C. Clark and an impersonation of a Hindu woman by Mrs. Ernest E. Morrill. Mrs. Morrill conducted the opening devotionals and Mrs. John J. Gourlay extended greetings on behalf of the hostess circle.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock by the Service Seekers of the Pawcatuck Congregational church.

The afternoon session included another solo by Mrs. Clark, an address by Mrs. Prior, the international president, and reports from officials of the Emily S. Chase Memorial home. Mrs. William H. Harrington reported for the committee on resolutions and Mrs. Charles Burrow presented the report of the nominating committee. An amendment to the constitution, permitting the election of an additional vice president, was adopted.

Charles P. Weston, having resigned as instructor of chemistry in the Westerly High school, leaves town this (Saturday) evening for Washington, D. C., where he will be employed in the United States department of agriculture.

Friday was the last day for the payment of taxes in the town treasurer's office at the Westerly town hall, there being no unusual rush at 4 o'clock, the hour for closing.

Westerly Historical society will hold its meeting Nov. 6 at the Memorial Library building, when Mrs. Bertha M. Brown will speak on Conservation: Wild Plant and Bird Protection in Rhode Island. A report on the Indian pow-wow recently held in Providence will be given by Rev. Samuel G. Cathcart of Westerly.

Mrs. Harry H. Doty of Stonington was in Westerly Thursday.

Eminent Sir Arthur E. Thompson, commander of Narragansett commandery, No. 27, K. T., of Westerly, accompanied by Arthur C. Card of Pawcatuck, captain-general, returned to Westerly Friday morning after attending the 119th annual conclave of the grand commandery of Knights Templar of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, held in the Masonic temple in Boston Thursday. Past Commander Samuel Girven of Pawcatuck was also a delegate in attendance.

Agent Herbert E. Cooke of Pawcatuck, of the Westerly branch of the American Railway Express company, was confined to his home on the West Side Friday by illness.

Miss Elizabeth M. Grant and Sarah J. Grant are in Providence over the week end.

George Hill of Westerly left town this (Saturday) morning for Fort Lee, N. J., his home, where he will remain to cast his ballot in the presidential election Tuesday.

A number of past commanders of Narragansett commandery, members of the Massachusetts and Rhode Island association of Knight Templar commanders, were present Thursday evening at the dinner and entertainment held at Young's hotel in honor of the new grand commander, Asa C. Jewett, of Newtonville, Mass., who succeeded Dr. Charles R. Hunt of New Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Phetteplace of the West Side are week end automobile visitors in Boston.

Friday evening in the town hall the democrats of Westerly held the second town hall rally of the present campaign, the first one being held on Tuesday evening. Thomas V. B. Clancy, chairman of the democratic town committee, presided and introduced the speakers, to an audience that numbered 250. The speakers were: Theodore Francis Green, a lawyer of Providence, Attorney General Herbert L. Carpenter of Rhode Island, candidate for re-election, Senator Burton Harris of Lincoln, in the Rhode Island legislature. The last speaker was Frank G. Booth, candidate for senator from Westerly to the Rhode Island legislature, who said that if elected he would endeavor to have the service charges eliminated from gas and electric light bills; that he favored municipal ownership of the lighting and power plant and also to abolish working men's compensation as it was administered in Rhode Island and that he had most pronounced ideas on the prohibition situation.

Charles M. Hall, candidate for representative from the second congressional district was delayed and was unable to make his scheduled address.

Hallowe'en was duly celebrated in Westerly and among the many pranks kids rang the Elm street school bell.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. J. Alonzo Peabody.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, Oct. 31.—Late Thursday afternoon the death of Mrs. J. Alonzo Peabody occurred at her home, 18 Morgan street (Pawcatuck) following an illness of several months, during which she had been devotedly cared for.

Mrs. Peabody was born in Montville, Conn., near Gardner Lake, the daughter of Edward F. and Louvina Whiting, her maiden name being Effie D. Whiting. She was united in marriage with J. Alonzo Peabody at the Whiting homestead by her uncle, Rev. Silas Weaver, and immediately after they took up their residence in Norwich, living at Norwich Town and Bean Hill for many years. About 30 years ago they moved to Westerly, where they have since resided.

The deceased was a woman of broad sympathies and most cheerful disposition and was never happier than when helping others. She was a member of the Seventh Day Baptist church.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Misses Edna and Ethel Peabody, and one son, T. Edward Peabody, all of Westerly. She also leaves a brother, Nathan E. Whiting, of Norwich, and two grandchildren.

STONINGTON

The K. of C. held a Hallowe'en social at the home on Main street Friday evening. Music was by a four-piece orchestra. Many clever costumes were worn. The committee in charge of the decorations was: Antone Cravick, Manuel Sylvia, Lawrence Williams, Thomas E. Shackley, William L. Shannon and Charles B. McCourt.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma J. Anderson were held Friday at 2 p. m. at her home on Water street. The floral tributes were very handsome. Rev. W. F. Williams, rector of Calvary church read the service. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery.

The barge Daniel of New York arrived in the harbor Wednesday afternoon in tow of tug Charles P. McCaffery, with a cargo of 611 tons of soft and hard coal.

A stone hitching post in front of the John E. Wayland property on Main street was broken off the other day by an automobile truck of large size.

The Stonington Girl Scouts held a Hallowe'en social in Community hall Friday evening. Games were played and refreshments were served. The hall was decorated with pumpkins and witches.

Miss H. T. Donagne has returned to Morristown, N. J., after a brief visit here.

Mrs. H. B. Noyes, who has been very ill for the past two months is able to be up and about, although not out of doors.

Mrs. Harriet Lee and Mrs. Walter P. Dixon of Westerly spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilkinson.

A large crowd of boys and girls was out in all sorts of weird Hallowe'en rigs Friday evening.

Clifton Atwood who has been away for the past six months has returned to Stonington.

The members of the Sunshine class of the First Baptist church plan a Hallowe'en social for this (Saturday) evening.

In order not to compete with private storage enterprises the public customs warehouses of Vienna make their rate 15 per cent higher.

EGG LAYING CONTEST FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

An investigation of the history of nearly one hundred of the leading poultry producers and experts of this and other countries recently completed, shows that the average age at which these men started as owners of poultry flocks was about twelve years. One of the world's leading poultry authorities, a Canadian, declared that he began the study of birds at the age of three, when he had a pet chicken in the nursery.

The questionnaire was conducted by A. J. Brundage, state leader of Boys' and Girls' clubs, to ascertain the desirability of special training in poultry management for farm youngsters. Without exception, the experienced poultrymen held that poultry instruction should begin at an early age.

In order to reach a much larger number of farm boys and girls than is now possible through the organized youngsters last year, the Connecticut Agricultural college and the farm bureaus are launching a Connecticut 4H Club egg laying contest, open to all boys and girls in the state who own poultry. The contest for the next year begins November 1 and is open to boys and girls under 20 years of age. Boys and girls who enroll in the contest will be supplied with record books and report forms and will receive monthly letters of instruction in the care of poultry. They will be expected to keep records on egg production and reports each month to their county farm bureau. The contest is arranged on much the same basis as the famous international egg laying contest, except that all birds will be kept on home farms.

RELATIVE LIME VALUES FOR THE SOIL

The dependence of profitable crops of clover, alfalfa and certain vegetables upon an abundance of lime in the soil makes an understanding of the relative values of the possible lime materials necessary. The source of all lime products is in limestone deposits, seen in this country as thick layers of limestone or marble. In some places the limestone has been decomposed and the fine particles have been deposited in beds mixed with clay and the mixture called marl.

The original source of the lime material was in the shells of various sea animals, such as corals, mollusks, oysters etc. Chemical reactions freed the material; it was deposited in shallow seas and later tremendous forces lifted the deposits and left them where we now find them as masses of limestone or marble or in some places as beds of chalk. The limestone is not pure but is mixed with various other substances. One of these impurities is magnesium which is similar to limestone and is even a more effective agent in soil sweetening than is the pure limestone.

Three chemical forms of material have been used on farm lands. These have had many names applied to them. Usually they are known as calcium carbonate or ground limestone, calcium oxide or burned lime and calcium hydroxide or slaked lime. Marble, oyster shell and marl are all calcium carbonate and equally valuable with limestone if equally pure. These materials are all valuable for the calcium they contain. This calcium is always combined with other materials. In burning limestone the oxide, which carbon dioxide is driven off into the air. If this oxide or burned lime is brought in contact with water, it combines with water, gives off much heat and increases in weight. The new form is called slaked or hydrated lime. The burned lime will slake in the air from the moisture contained therein. The slaked lime exposed to the air will gradually take up carbon dioxide and become chemically of the same form as before the burning of the limestone.

One may use 2,000 pounds of ground limestone per acre, or he may substitute for it 1,480 pounds of the slaked lime, or 1,120 pounds of burned lime. It two tons of ground limestone are needed, then one would derive equal benefit from 2,960 pounds of hydrated lime or from 2,240 pounds of burned lime.

Another material, by some erroneously thought to have lime value, is gypsum or land plaster. When applied to the soil it does not have a sweetening power for the reason that it has already united with powerful sulphuric acid. Since this is the case, the material could not combine with acids in the soil, most of which are weaker than sulphuric acid.

From the above, one will see that burned lime is the most concentrated material we have for soil liming. This is followed by slaked lime, while ground limestone is the most bulky of all materials. On the other hand the ground limestone is the most pleasant of all forms to apply, as it is not caustic or irritating to the laborer. To finally decide upon the form of lime material to use, the farmer will doubtless consider both the cost of the equivalent amounts of the materials on the land and the disagreeableness of working with the caustic burned and hydrated forms of lime materials—Henry Dorsey, agronomy dept. NEW DEPARTMENT BULLETIN ON THE CANKERWORMS

Cankerworms have been known in this country since colonial days, but not until about 50 years ago was it realized that two species were present. They have since been known as the fall cankerworm (Alsophila pometaria Harris) and the spring cankerworm (Paleacrita vernata peck.) The economic and scientific history of these two species and the differences between them, together with a discussion of their feeding habits, distribution, means of dissemination, and measures necessary to control each species, are included in a new United States Department of Agriculture Bulletin 1238, The Cankerworms, by P. A. Porter and C. H. Alden, entomologists.

Cankerworms attack elms and appletrees by preference, but are often found on many of the common deciduous fruit, forest and ornamental trees. During periods of abundance, cankerworms do great damage, practically defoliating the trees they attack unless controlled. They are most likely to become abundant in neglected orchards or in shade and forest trees. Cankerworms are held in fluctuating degrees of control by many factors, among which are unfavorable weather, birds, and parasitic and predacious insects. Plowing during the summer and fall will aid in control of the spring species. Both species are readily controlled by proper spraying and often by the use of mechanical barriers to prevent the ascent of the moths and newly hatched larvae.

CONTROL BUD MOTHS BY PROPER SPRAYING

The bud moth (Spilonota ocellana,) presumably a European insect, was first noted in this country about 1841. It has become an important apple pest now present over much of the northern part of the United States and southern Canada. This species is rather a general feeder, attacking most of the deciduous fruit trees and some ornamental, shade and forest trees.

The distribution, life history, and importance of the bud moth and several allied species are discussed in a new United States Department of Agriculture Bulletin 1273, The Bud Moth; by B. A. Porter entomologist. Its habits are described and control measures suggested.

Air Cushions for Autos

After many experiments a Cincinnati inventor has worked out a fairly successful system of providing automobiles with air cushions in the place of springs. He maintains the cushions afford greater resiliency and act more quickly than the elliptical springs.

UP TO THE PEOPLE.

Way along at this late date in the presidential campaign Calvin Coolidge in speaking to visitors has let it become known that he believes that he will be elected to the presidency to succeed himself next Tuesday. This isn't based upon any wild guesses. It is to be noted that it isn't at the opening of the campaign that the president speaks in this manner. It is after digesting the reports which have come to him from all sections of the country and from all sources.

When the president expresses this confidence as the election is nearing he does only what the other candidates have been doing throughout the campaign. They have indulged in such predictions about themselves very frequently. Perhaps it would be unfair to consider that they are not sincere.

But with all three of the candidates well impressed with the situation the selection is right up to the people where it always has been and from whom it should never be permitted to get away. We share the confidence of Calvin Coolidge in the American people to the extent of believing that they are desirous of that sound, stable and efficient government which a Coolidge administration promises. The decision as to that should certainly rest with the voters of this country. By no chance should it be permitted to go to congress for determination.

It is a time when everyone should vote. There should be no stay-at-homes, and above all there should be no deadlock. The importance of this is emphasized by the three-cornered contest, which should so whet the interest of those insistent upon good and safe government that there will not only be a substantial majority in the electoral college for President Coolidge but a republican majority in congress which will put an end to that sample of bloc government which the country has been experiencing at the hands of the present congress.

SEE THE VOTING MACHINE.

For the benefit of the voters of Norwich the registrars of voters have been explaining the use of the voting machine in the corridor of the city hall for the past two days. The demonstration will be continued through today, and for those who are [illegible] with its use, or who need to brush up on it, the opportunity to obtain necessary instructions is overlooked.

[illegible] been 1125 new voters made this year. Just how many know how to use a voting machine no one knows. Presumably many of them have never voted by machine, and that being the case it is for their own interests to be informed.

Voting by machine is as simple as could be desired, but it is well to know in advance what is required and how to operate the machine in order to make use of it, rather than wait until election day and endeavor to get a hasty and incomplete idea of the requirements. Even concerning the simplest of things a bit of instruction never comes amiss, and most people are aware of the inadvisability of waiting until the last moment, such as election day, to be informed.

It is for the convenience of the voters that the registrars have placed a machine on exhibition and arranged for the presence of someone to show how it is used and to answer questions on all points about which there may be confusion. To see how the voting is done, or to actually work the machine as if voting clears up many a quandary and dispels uncertainties. There is nothing to fear about being unable to vote by machine. Everyone should vote and everyone should know how before going to the polls if such a thing is possible.

DIRECTION SIGNS.

What must be regarded as a step in the right direction is the action of such civic organizations as the Norwich Chamber of Commerce, Rotary club and Lions' club in naming committees for the purpose of cooperating in the effort to bring about the establishment of proper direction signs within the city.

In these days of increasing traffic, when many strangers are visiting or going through the city there is a potential need of adequate signs, and with the establishment of one-way streets it will be quite important in obtaining respect to have such streets effectively marked.

All that is required is a visit to a community which has few if any direction signs, and where one is a stranger, to appreciate the need of such helps as the well marked streets and the carefully and conspicuously placed direction signs give. It is a situation that requires but little well concentrated effort to overcome, but unfortunately in too many instances there is none to assume the responsibility and meet the need.

The action of the three local organizations in agreeing to pool their efforts should mean that Norwich will not lack for proper guidance for strangers in the future, and when all communities rise to the situation a much needed present day requirement will have been provided.

OUR STATE GOVERNMENT.

State government is a matter in which every voter should be deeply interested. Connecticut has been in the hands of efficient officials under republican administrations and the first necessity of the voters is to see that it is kept there. An able handling of the financial problems by the republicans has permitted the removal of a huge debt and the reduction of the state tax. Compared with other states Connecticut has faced and met war conditions with the smaller percentage of increased demands upon the taxpayers.

It is a time for the endorsement of the commendable work and the placing in office of the republicans who are committed to its continuance.

It is a time for insisting upon such representation by members in both the senate and house of the general assembly that Norwich will be numbered in the majority party.

It may be accepted as a foregone conclusion that Connecticut will have a republican legislature. It is for the best interests of Norwich and such legislation as it may be interested in that its representatives should be republicans.

It is time to remember that this rests with the voters.

DANGEROUS GAS.

None too soon comes the warning in regard to the use of "looney" gas. The deaths of five persons as the result of inhalation of fumes from automobile engines which have been operated with gasoline containing a chemical compound calculated to give greater efficiency to the motor and to eliminate the carbon creates a condition which must not only place the users of such on their guard but which must cause an inquiry as to whether the use of such a dangerous gas should be permitted.

The exhaust of the internal combustion engine is known to be highly dangerous when restricted. Many are the deaths which have been caused by the operation of motors within garages, from which the oxygen is quickly exhausted and unconsciousness overcomes the human being within its limits without warning and death soon follows. But "looney" gas appears to be even worse, and particularly as to its effects, and it is therefore something to be studiously shunned.

"Looney" gas has been put on the market as the result of experiments to get better results from motors and from gasoline. Unless the danger which has been discovered can be overcome the menace which it creates is more serious than the problem it is supposed to partly solve.

It is most unfortunate that so many lives have been sacrificed in making a warning possible, but it will be noticed that this is invariably the case, and the still more unfortunate part of it is that the lessons of such sacrifices too seldom given the respect and attention which they deserve. The warning is glaring enough to prevent any further deaths from such a cause, but no one would be willing to predict that it will.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

It is time that October 27 should assume in the popular mind the importance of Feb. 12 and 22. We are too near the great man who was born on this date to pass a final judgment as to the exact place he is to take in human history. It is quite possible to stand so near a big building or a mountain as to be unable to take in its bigness. It is at a distance that one realizes how lofty Mount Washington or Monadnock is; it is then we see how far it is above the surrounding foothills. Whether Roosevelt is to be classed with the "Father of his Country," or with its "Great Emancipator" is yet to be seen. There is something in Roosevelt's career that may encourage young men. It is a fact that there was little in Roosevelt's college career to indicate the great life he was to live. His combativeness, titanic energy coupled with good judgment and sound sense were post-academic acquirements.

Has anyone yet tried to explain the amazing sociability of a fly? It is just brute instinct, or is it something more nearly allied to intelligence? Is it due to the fact of consciousness that at this season of the year it instinctively feels that the long winter months are ahead when it will lie in a comatose state and will not be able to luxuriate on bald heads and other parts of the human anatomy? At this season of the year these little insects love the warmth of our houses, and they seem to be unusually happy in attacking a man's fair face when he is at work with his typewriter. They get a small crumb of comfort in wandering over his chin, and, incidentally, pick up a few other crumbs that are lying around loose. At length a vicious whack lands the unfortunate fly on his back. At first he wriggles all his legs, and then gradually reduces it until he is beyond the wiggling and the kicking. Will he ever wiggle and kick again? This cannot be answered until we know more about flykind.

Those who listened the other night to the admirable address of Hiram Bingham must have felt that it was an unconscious tribute to his high grade personality. It was a good illustration of how a great speech can be made effective without throwing mud at the other fellow. When a speaker feels called upon to shake his fists, grow red in the face, and shout epithets at the supposed mismanagement of the other party, it indicates a general shakiness of his own platform. The great value of that address was its constructiveness. It gave facts as to the financial condition of the country when the republican party resumed power in 1920. He also showed, what statistics prove, that Connecticut's increase of 15 per cent of taxation was the smallest of any state in the Union. As an effect of the war it was inevitable that taxes should increase. But the marvel is, that they did not increase more.

It is a question in the writer's mind if it is not going a step too far to advocate a stiff fine and (as some would add) a jail sentence for those who deliberately refrain from voting. Of course it is not to our credit as a people that the presidents are usually elected by a minority of the voters. In some cases they have been put into office by only 49 per cent of the nation's voting strength. In such cases it is stretching the imagination to call it a popular election; in fact it is a very unpopular election. But are there not times when the people who are conscientious are justified in keeping from the ballot? What shall we do when the choice lies between two candidates neither of whom we can conscientiously indorse? Is it not one way in which we can show our contempt for professional politicans?

Conditions have made it possible for the Caucasian race to dominate the world. Possibly, all things considered, it is better qualified for world leadership than either the Malay, Indian or African. It has, however, resulted in some unfortunate conditions. It may be that they are fewer and less serious than would have appeared under the supremacy of any one of the others. The white man's rulership has resulted in an unfortunate snobbishness that has been detrimental to that high moral supremacy that otherwise it might have easily reached. When this spirit gets hold of the individual we call it the "swelled head". Now the white race has got this inflation to that extent that it feels that it is "it" in every conceivable sense. Of all the branches of the Caucasian family America has it the worst, hence we speak of "Americanitis." There is not a nation under heaven from which we may not learn some needed and important lesson. Every nation that comes to us can add something valuable to the body organic.

For two reasons it is quite natural for us to recall the name of Warren G. Harding at this season of the year. Instinctively our minds go back to the autumn of 1920 when he was literally floated into the presidential chair on the crest wave of a landslide unprecedented in our national contests. Secondly, we think of him because tomorrow (November 2) is his birthday. Pres. Harding was born in 1865, the year in which the Great Emancipator died. It is natural for us to conjecture what will be the place to which posterity assigns him when he will have been dead as long as Lincoln. Nobody will think of classifying him with Washington, Lincoln or Roosevelt. But when it is realized just what the condition of this country was when he was elected and what it was three years later at the time of his untimely death, he will be accredited with a statemanship of no mean order. His name and his career are worthy of profound respect.

Before another Saturday arrives, the deluge will have come—and gone. There may and there may not be any landslides. The writer does not recall any clear forecast of what happened just four years ago. It would be strange if it were paralleled so soon. However this may be let us devoutly hope and pray that the issue may not be so hopelessly tangled at the polls as to throw the decision into congress. We do not care to have the case of John Quincy Adams repeated in this century. If by any nook or crook it should become a senatorial question, the outlook for the next four years would hardly be called bright. The feeling generally prevails that if the majority of the people cast their ballot on November 4, the question will be settled then and there. This is the only place where it can be satisfactorily settled.

The possibility of forcing a settlement of the election in congress brings to the front again the feasibility of electing our presidents by popular vote, and doing away with the electorial college. There is certainly much to be said in its favor. The conditions which existed in the early part of our national history that made the electoral college meet a seasonable want have entirely disappeared. At it now is there is a wastage of sometimes millions of votes (as in the case of the Tilden-Hayes contest.) Why not let the party getting the greatest number of votes in an election be declared the party elected to office. Is not this the only square way of dealing with the voter? In this way every vote counts. At the very least no great harm would be done if it were tried in one or two elections.

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

HIS PROMISE

Thy mercy, O Lord, is in the heavens and they faithfulness reacheth unto the clouds. Ps. 36:5.

Thy mrcy, O Lord, is in theheavens.

Thy mercy, O Lord, is in the heaunto the clouds, but this doesn't put the Lord Jesus into heaven where you can never reach Him.

So many people think that somehow between the going out of life and the entrance into heaven, our sins would be blotted out and we should find forgiveness and peace.

A better lesson is this; that the mercy of the Lord, while it reaches down from heaven, comes down to earth. Jesus himself came down from heaven and gave Himself for us and through and by His precious blood we are made clean.

So while we look up into the heavens and think what He is and what He has done for us and what He has promised us. He comes into our hearts here below and makes heaven before we reach heaven.

Thus we consider the promise that the Lord gave to Joshua when Moses had finished his work. The Lord said to Joshua that Moses was dead, and He told him that he was to take Moses place and to be God's mouthpiece, the leader of the children of Israel, and simply asked him to be of good courage and to be faithful and to bear witness of God's grace and God's power.

So God came down to Moses and to Joshua and walked with them, and he has come down to us; and while His mercies reach to heaven He comes down to walk with the children of men. He is not in heaven alone but upon the earth, and while He lives we live.

Let us learn the simple lesson that we are to look up always into the heavens and unto the hills, from whence cometh our help. He does love us for He has died for us. He has promised never to leave us or forsake us. He is with us always; and if that is true, He is able to take out of us the unclean things, able to give the clean heart the moment we ask for it, able to fill us with the Holy Spirit. The very moment we want to be filled; able to do more than we ask or, even think.

Let us ask for more, and let us think of His wondrous love and faithfulness more and more, for remember, it reacheth unto the heavens and unto the clouds and never fails. Now, we feel a little nearer the clouds sometimes than we do even. The clouds sometimes, than we do to heaven clouds of doubt and fear, clouds of sorrow—how they envelope us. But His faithfulness is there, and round about us are the Everlasting clouds, and may we not recognize that they, even, are big with blessings to be poured upon our heads.

WHAT CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED BY THRIFT

W. Irving Bullard, vice president of the Merchants National Bank of Boston and formerly of Danielsen addressed the industrial relations section conference of the associated industries of Massachusetts on the subject of thrift, bringing out some inspiring information about how people can save money and earn interest with it.

"Thrift is the root of progress and prosperity," he said, "individual, corporate, national. For it is the transplanting of yesterday into tomorrow—the tilling and the reaping of the seed corn. Without it the body of a nation would perish, its soul grow cold, its art wither, its society crumble. With it, individuals prosper, science achieves, art flourishes, industry and trade expand. Thrift is a dynamic force, greater because more lasting, than war. Every home, church, business institution, is the child of thrift.

"My theme is a survey of what we have been achieving, wherein we have been lacking, what more we might achieve, in practical thrift promotion. The record and the lesson lie in the scattered savings statistics of our own and other peoples. The progress has been considerable; the opportunity, only partly developed, is big.

Misers Would Soon Starve

"The initial need is on understanding of thrift—especially what it is not! It is not parsimony, miserliness, niggardliness, hoarding. A nation of misers, burying their hoards, is not the goal; such a society would soon starve. It is fruitfully using in future out of a judicious saving after prudent living, in the present. In terms of the individual it means laying aside for future spending on one or more of many uses, e. g., maintenance in old age, projection against illness, security of family a home, a business or advancement in business an education, travel, etc.

"Only three of every 100 Americans are independent at sixty-five; nearly all might be. The probate court records show only three of every 100 men leaving at death $10,000 or more; only fifteen leaving between $2000 and $10,000; eighty-two leaving no income-yielding estate. Only eighteen of every 100 widows are left "comfortable;" forty-seven of them must go to work; the other thirty-five on the average are left practically destitute and dependent on charity.

It is the same human nature story of improvidence in England. There the records show that of men dying at seventy-five or older, seventy-nine of every 100 leave less than $500, ninety leave less than $2500, ninety-four leave less than $500.

Gaining Is Clearly Shown

"More than 30,000 banks in this country gather in and then put to use the savings of the people. According to the latest report of the comptroller of the currency, these 30,178 banks on June 30, 1923, held $16,018,276,000 in savings deposits, time certificates and postal savings, an increase of $2,404,448,000 over June 30, 1922. This was apart from any possible element of pure saving involved in the bank's other or ordinary deposits—the 14 1-4 billions subject to check and the seven billions of deposits not otherwise classified.

"This impressive total of billions in the banks entrasts with only $5,425,000,000 so held as recently as June 30 of 1913, showing a gain in 15 years of no less than $9,593,000,000 or 114 per cent, while population meanwhile was increasing only 17 per cent.

100 Have 69 Bank Books

"Particularly notable is the gain in saving bank thrift in Massachusetts in the past dozen years or so. Note the increase in depositors since 1910 of 645,000 or 30 per cent; in deposits of $663,000,000, or by 86 per cent; of 42 per cent meanwhile in the average deposit; of 60 per cent in the deposit per capita of the state's population. Today, ignoring in either case any holdings of more than one passbook, there are sixty-nine savings bank accounts to every 100 persons in Massachusetts, as against fifty-four accounts at the beginning of the century. The Bay State's predominance is illustrated by the fact that the ratio of savings bank depositors here to population is now 69 per cent, as against 9 per cent for the rest of the country, and similarly in 1900 it was 54 per cent as against 6 per cent, and in 1880 was 39 per cent as against 3 per cent.

"Uncle Sam also maintains another sort of savings bank, the postal savings system, largely patronized by the foreign-born. Started in 1911, it does not vet and it may never bulk relatively big, as the total deposit at the more than 8000 offices did not cross $100,000,000 until 1917, and today, after some recession from the peak of $167,000,000 in 1918, runs around $140,000,000. That amount, however, is largely a net gain of what otherwise might be unwisely hbarded.

Saving for Homes

"Home-owning is one of the strongest incentives to thrift; home-owning cooperation in saving is a direct product of that impulse. The after-war demand for home building funds has given a notable impetus to the building and loan association, which had their biggest year in 1923, with a gain over 1922 of more than a million members and of nearly half a billion in assets. On June 30, 1923, these associations numbered 10,000, as against 6,806 in 1915; members meanwhile had increased from 3,324,599 to 4,484,144, and total assets from $1,484,206,000 to $3,342,536,963. The average due each member is $486.95, —the average home stake. A wholesome development the past year has been the exposure and supression of various schemes to exploit on unwise or even fradulent lines, the 'saving for homes' instinct.

Payroll Saving Method

"It is out of our earnings that we save. The one most strategic point at which we have the maximum ability, if not desire to save, is on actual the large field—only beginning to be tilled—for industrial savings, laid aside by the workers each payday, with the cooperation of the employer and the bank. It is the 'payroll savings method,' as so termed by the Savings Bank Division of the American Bankers' Association. It makes the worker of more value to his employer, and it builds up the bank's accounts; but the biggest beneficiary is, of course, the saver himself.

"The plan establishes a contact between worker and bank, with the service brought to him by a simple, flexible, convenient method, readily adaptable to varying plant or shop conditions, whereby small sums are regularly mobilized. Often the workers would find banking hours inconvenient or total of which is no concern of the employers. He may select some other bank than the one which has canvassed the plant.

What $1 Can Earn

"At bottom that means educating him in the unrealized possibilities of compound interest. To the average worker these possibilities once touch of magic. He learns, for example, that $100 compounded semi-annually at 4 per cent becomes $121.90 in five years; in ten years it becomes $148.59; in twenty years $220.80; in thirty-five years $379.96; it doubles itself every 17 1-2 years, quadruples itself in thirty-five years; grows eightfold in 52 1-2 years and so on to amazing dimensions.

"For example, had William the Conqueror celebrated the battle of Hastings by investing a dollar at five per cent compounded interest, it would now mean $3,845,071,000,000,000,000! Or Columbus celebrated similarly in 1492, his dollar would be grown to $1,342,679,000! No wonder the law prohibits holding estates intact more than twenty-one years beyond present-existing life.

"Money makes money, through its own wages—interest. That is the great lesson for the individual. Teaching that lesson is a benefaction for the nation and for the world. Thereby can labor become also capitalist—have its own savings and if it so wishes its own banks—abolish camps and a foolish social frontier."

"Under the payday collection system, now successfully tested in numerous communities, notably Worcester, Cleveland and San Francisco, the worker is relieved of either attendance or routine. After his interest and consent are gained, he authorizes the paymaster to deduct a stipulated sum from his pay and turn it into the bank. He may change the amount at will, or quit at any time. He keeps the pass-book, the would hesitate to go to the bank with small sums.

Pavlowa's Training Was Severe

Surprise, delighted and amazed at the beauties of the ballet, Anna Pavlowa ardently desired to be a dancer, but she had to wait what to her childish impatient mind seemed a life time before she even could have the opportunity to undergo the gruelling training for the profession.

Born in Pentograd, she was two years old when her father died leaving barely enough to provide her and her mother a comfortable living. The simple life did not include many pleasures and not until she was eight years old did the child see a theater or like entertainment.

Attending a performance of The Sleeping Beauty, given by the Imperial Ballet at the Marinsky theater, she became enraptured over the dancing and decided to be a dancer. Then came pleading with her mother, who finally consented and took her to the Imeprial Ballet School, where they were told that children under ten were not accepted.

Two years seemed a century to the child but finally overcoming her disappointment she began to practice, and in her peasant's dress at her little cottage home in the forest each summer she tried to imitate the birds and butterflies in their flight.

Only child of her widowed mother, the parting was grevious as she entered the ballet school where for six years she had to live and train, going home only for a brief time each summer. The instruction was rigid and under strict teachers and governesses from early morning until night and so severe were the dancing exercises that at times the pain was intense. And the constant effort and surveillance often made the education disheartening even to the child who lived to dance.

At 16 Pavlowa was graduated and became a member of the Imperial Ballet. Not beautiful of face, and without even classical features her personality and her ability won her success. Within a year she was chosen Premiere Danseuse and later Ballerina.

Then came triumphs in Germany, England and other countries. At 25 she made her debut with the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York, receiving $1000 a performance. World tours followed and she was acclaimed as one of the greatest dancers of her time.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Close observers of affairs in Mexico are looking forward to a firm, peaceful and honest administration under the guidance of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, who is to be inaugurated today as President of the republic in succession to Gen. Alvaro Obregon. The new chief executive, like his predecessor in office, hails from the state of Sonora. His family is one of the oldest and most influential in the southren republic and he entered upon his career with the advantages of a good schooling, which in later life has been supplemented by extensive foreign travel and a varied experience in public affairs. Like nearly all of the men who have risen to prominence in Mexico he has spent much of his life in military service. His experience in civil office has included service as governor of the state of Sonora and as a member of the cabinet during the early part of the Obregon administration.

A Little Talk on Thrift

SUCCESS THROUGH SACRIFICE

A young man, who has made rapid advancement in the business world, and, from every standpoint of good citizenship and personal progress, is an outstanding success, recently was asked to outline the principles which have served for his guidance. His written reply was as follows:

"I believe in doing more than I am paid to do, because I believe that it will pay me in the long run, and that I can prove to be of greater value to myself and to my friends. If necessary, I will make sacrifices. I have made them in the past, and I expect to make them in the future. I do not believe any man can really succeed who is not willing to make sacrifices, and make them promptly and willingly when they are called for."

Here is one of the best lessons in thrift ever uttered. It would be well if all young men and young women could read it carefully and apply it personally.

This is true in every walk of life, and, with equal truth, it may be said that the practices of thrift are of greatest value because of the strength of character, will-power and complete self-mastery which they impart.

The employee who is willing to make the sacrifices of doing more than he is paid to do—the man or woman who saves at the sacrifice of temporary pleasures, can rest assured they are on the high road of success.

To all those who are imbued with the true thrift spirit, sacrifices are but blessings in disguise. — American Society for Thrift.

Stories That Recall Others

He Remembered.

James, age 13, had been quite ill so the doctor gave him a line of diet. His mother having cooked some of the foods the doctor prescribed, said, "Now here's some spinach." She smiled. "The doctor says you must eat a lot of it for spinach will give you iron."

James smiled. "I can't see what you're wanting me to have more iron, mother," he retorted. "Before you've always said I had an iron will already."

Time to Retire.

Mr. and Mrs. Bought a sedan of a widely known make. Soon, as a car will, it developed a slight carbon knock. This was more or less annoying, but it did not get the proper attention because Mr. was busy.

One recent evening, a snappy one for a drive, the couple started out for a spin. The car hussed right along until they were several miles from home. Then came a thump, thump, knock, knock.

Mr. was irritated. He knew he had oil. A superficial examination of the more or less mysterious contents of the car lying just beneath the hood revealed nothing wrong. The motor hit on all four and the noise stopped.

Again Mr. and Mrs. started on their way, but back came the thump, thump, thump, more persistent than before. Again the car was stopped and the hood went up. Again the noise stopped. In again and out again, and the knock stopped.

It was getting late. Mrs. did some thinking. It was time to retire. There, she had guessed it. Luckily they had a spare.

Sandstone Track Markings.

The flagstone sidewalks of Denver and other Colorado cities were once walked by animals that throve on earth long before man, before the woolly rhinoceros and the sabre-toothed tiger, and ages before even the dinosaurs appeared. This is the explanation given by Professor Junius Henderson, of the University of Colorado geology department, for the peculiar track-markings in the sandstone that was quarried and made into the older walks of the city. These animals, he says, were not large, only about the size of a Gila monster, though they were not lizards, but amphibians like the modern salamanders and newts, walked high on their toes, for there is no sign that their bodies trailed in the soft sand that later was hardened into stone. If they had any tails they carried them high also, for there are no marks of dragging tails. And they were a sober, well-behaved race, for the tracks do not zigzag, but precede in orderly straight lines.

What's in Smoke

Every time a ton of coal is burned in the family furnace seventeen tons of gas go up the chimney, sixteen of which are the gases of the atmosphere, either free or in combination with the elements of which the coal is formed. A little more than 13 tons are of nitrogen, which goes through the fire unchanged. Nearly four tons of oxygen are needed to burn the coal and this oxygen all goes up the flue as carbon dioxide, sulphur dioxide and water vapor. Most of the coal, 1,500 pounds or so, also goes up the chimney, principally as carbon dioxide, less than one part in a hundred forming smoke.

FORMER KAISER SEEKS PAY FOR RESTORED LOOT

William of Hohensollern, who has already received $10,000,000 from the Prussian state since his abdication, is now claiming a further $100,000,000 as revenue from his lands and property, and compensation for the pictures and works of art that have been seized by the state.

He wants compensation for more than 2,000 pictures, including works by Rembrandt, Raphael and Von Eyck. Two of the most valuable, Van Eyck's "Altar Piece" and "Adoration of the Lamb," were returned to the Belgian government under the treaty of Versailles, and restored to the Cathedral of Ghent from which the Germans had removed them. The ex-kaiser, however claims that they were his personal property.

Greatest Coal Fields

The report of the Russian government commission, headed by Professor Obroutsheff, states that the coal fields recently discovered in Siberia cover an area of nearly 400 square miles, containing the greatest coal deposits in the world. The locality also contains extensive deposits of sulphuric minerals, possibly half a million tons of graphite and numerous traces of platinum.

Coal is so cheap and abundant in Colombia that steam instead of gasoline tractors may be used on farms there.

Boy Scout Pictures at Y. M. C. A.

Interesting moving pictures on Boy Scouts in Camp, will be shown at the local Y. M. C. A. tomorrow (Sunday) at 4 p. m. This picture will be of real interest, as it shows the many activities of camp life among the scouts. A reel of Transplanting Big Trees will be shown and one on The Birth of the Earth. The program will doubtless attract a goodly number. Hugh Kinder will render vocal solos and a brief talk will be given. Men and boys 14 and over are cordially invited.

OBITUARY.

Eleodore F. Grenier

The sad news of the passing of Eleodore F. Grenier reached Moosup Thursday morning. Mr. Grenier had expressed a wish to return to his home in Moosup but died peacefully at the Backus hospital at 3.35 Thursday morning with members of his family at his bedside. Flags on the town schools fly at half staff out of respect to Mr. Grenier who was chairman of the Plainfield town school committee.

HARTFORD YOUNG WOMAN PROGRESSIVE RALLY SPEAKER

Two hundred men and women gathered Friday night at the town hall were urged to vote for the progressive party and the progressive platform by Miss Edna M. Purtell of Hartford, who came to Norwich to address the rally in behalf of Senator LaFollette. There were to have been two speakers, but Albert T. Boardman, chairman of the meeting, announced that Prof. W. J. Ballinger of Yale, former secretary to Congressman Davis, who was to have been a speaker, had been asked at the last minute to hurry to Moosup, where there was a progressive rally slated, with no speakers on hand. Mr. Boardman said the local committee were loath to let him go, but as it was a case of one rally with two speakers and another with no speakers they had decided to get along with one speaker. Mr. Boardman then introduced Miss Purtell, who is the state secretary of the progressive party.

Mr. Chairman and fellow Americans, she said, I am sure I am delighted to address a Norwich audience again. After referring to the brief talk she made recently at the Community house, when Mrs. LaFollette spoke here, Miss Purtell launched into her address. Now, fellow Americans, why is there a progressive movement in the United States this year 1924? Is Senator LaFollette responsible for it? Is Senator Wheeler responsible for the progressive party? Oh, no! Neither of them are responsible for it. It came into being because it is an economic necessity, a political necessity.

Both the republican and democratic parties have proven themselves of no use to the average American citizen, she declared. The average American citizen is disgusted with the two old parties. I am going to tell you and prove to you that the progressive party is a constructive party. You are making a making a vicious attack and unwarranted attack on the supreme court. Is his attack on the supreme court vicious and unwarranted?

Miss Purtell then went on to tell of the three branches of the government —legislative, executive and judicial— and spoke of the duties of the various branches. With special reference to the judicial part of the government, she said it is that part of the government which the constitution says shall interpret the laws of the land. LaFollete says the supreme court has usurped this power for 100 years, said Miss Purtell. For 26 years there have been men and women who have given their lives to the enacting of a child labor amendment. This to prohibit the children of our country from working in the mills and factories. At the last we succeeded in getting a child labor law through. What happened? It went into the supreme court and was declared unconstitutional by five men. By the time a labor law gets out of the supreme court it is slashed and cut to pieces so that it means nothing to the average American citizen. That is the real issue on the supreme court. Does LaFollette want to abolish the supreme court? Of course not. He says the federal judges shall be elected by the people. When a law is passed and is vetoed by the supreme court he says it shall go back to congress and if adopted by a two-third vote, shall become a law.

Miss Purtell came out in favor of having a popular referendum before a war could be declared by the country. With reference to the coal question, she said a few men have the coal mines of the country under their ownership and control. If we have the proper form of government, our government would say, when there is a coal shortage or when coal is withheld, "Look here, if you can't supply us with coal, if you don't do the job right, we will step in and take control of the mines." This brought out a burst of applause from the audience.

She said it was not her intention to speak about the candidates running on the two "old parties," and then went on to score Calvin Coolidge for his reputation as a silent man. Yes, Calvin Coolidge is silent, she said. He was silent when the corruption of our government was placed right before his eyes. LaFollette told him of the corruption of the government, yet Calvin Coolidge remained characteristically silent.

With reference to reds and radicals, the speaker said: They take out a little tag and tack it on the shoulders of a man who is not afraid to tell the truth. LaFollette will fight, and when he is dead there will be others who will fight on for progress, she said. We are not asking you to vote for LaFollette; we are not asking you to vote for Wheeler. We are asking you to vote for the progressive party for the progressive platform. As soon as the people of the country learn to vote for principles and not for individuals, just so soon will the country have a proper form of government. We don't tell you that if you elect LaFollette that the country will become a perfect heaven. The progressive party is but a stepping stone. The first thing to do is to clean up the government.

The fight is yours. You know the government is corrupt. It is our duty to right the things that are wrong, peacefully, and by the ballot. You are cowards if you allow this fight to fall on the shoulders of your children. Stand on your feet. When you go to the polls it is your duty to know the issues of this campaign. It is your duty to vote intelligently. Elect a government that will establish in the country a real democracy that will represent all the people of the United States.

YOUNG PEOPLE MERRY AT HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Young people of the Central Baptist church made merry at a hallowe'en party Friday evening in Buahnell chapel with a program of novel games fitted to the season. The orange-shaded lights cast a mellow glow over the decorations of cornstalks that were arranged about the room. Refreshments were served by the committee and the general direction of the programme was in charge of Miss Edith Ellis.

Profit and interest that land owners, foreign merchants, investors and shipping companies take from India each year now totals $233,000,000.

INDUSTRIES FAVORABLE TO PLAN FOR HOLIDAY ON ARMISTICE DAY

Practically all the industries of Norwich will not operate on Armistice day during the afternoon especially, according to survey made by the chamber of commerce. Many industries will close for the entire day. A number of the Norwich industries have recently received orders that will keep them busy for some time and consequently for these it will be a sacrifice to close for even a half day at present. However, Norwich industry will enter the spirit of the patriotic dedication of the soldiers' monument on Tuesday, Nov. 11th and will give an opportunity for their employes to participate in the monster parade.

The retail merchants will take action on whether or not the stores will close. This will come up at their regular monthly meeting in the Chamber of Commerce next Monday morning. Decorators are already displaying bunting and flags in the business section. The official decorator is J. Ross Jones of Hartford and the reputation of this firm is such that Norwich will be proud of the work done. Every citizen or householder is expected to decorate his premises or at least display the flag on that day as a mark of respect and reference to those Norwich boys who gave their lives for the nation's cause.

The public-spirited citizen is again reminded to help defray the necessary expenses of this event by sending his or her contribution to Martin E. Jensen, treasurer of the Bankers' Trust Co. In an event of this kind the necessary expenses are large. Special trains are necessary to carry the visiting army and navy boys, the state guard companies and the volunteer musical organizations. In addition, refreshments must be provided for these visitors, and some kind of entertainment furnished in keeping with the event.

Additional contributors include: Dr. F. S. Wilcox, Howard Randall, James C. Macpherson, Martin E. Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Birge, Jonathon Smith, Jessie Gibson, Gurdon Huntington, E. Allen Bidwell, W. E. Fuller, Elvirre Montese, Mrs. Mary E. Mero, E. J. Graham, W. H. McGuinness, Nelson J. Ayling, Charles A. Saxton, William G. Park, L. M. Carpenter, Frank Pullen, Louis Gotthelf, C. M. Hutzler, W. L. Stearns, P. Gianaris, Frank Fagan, Eagle Clothing Co., Arthur L. Libby, Father Rocco Guerriero, J. B. Garon, C. E. Wilson, Frederick Geer, Kies Co., J. P. Sullivan, A. Friend, Hourigan Bros., C. R. Butts, Frank J. Woodard, J. R. Tarrant, John Perkins, James H. Dunn, Mathew Thune, Barny Rubenstein, A. Alexander, H. H. Vignot, C. L. Lucia.

The general committee expresses the hope that the public generally will some forward and financially help to make the celebration of the dedication of the town's memorial the success it merits. Much larger sums have been raised by public subscription in other communities for memorial dedications than is requested in Norwich.

TOOK PRIZES AT HALLOWE'EN MASQUERADE

Melody and mirth reigned at the Hallowe'en masquerade given in A. O. H. hall Friday evening by Division No. 54, A. O. H., Ladies' Auxiliary, when 60 costumed couples joined in the grand march that gave the judges opportunity to decide the prize winners. The awards were made to Mrs. Julia Brock, gipsy, first ladies'; Miss Nellie Nagle, Sis Hopkins, second; Mrs. Margaret Coughlin football player, first men's; Mrs. Margaret Peterson, palm beach, second.

Solos were rendered by Miss Mary Fournier, Mrs. Frank Brooks, Miss Marion Turley, Mrs. Margaret Peterson, and Mrs. Nora Nadolny, the reel and jig danced by Mrs. Nellie McHale and Mrs. Barney Keenan and the breakdown by Miss Kitty McMullen. The music for the evening was by George Farrell at the piano and Henry Ladd, violin.

Doughnuts and coffee were served by the committee in charge of the merry evening, Mrs. Charles O'Neil, chairman, Mrs. Thomas Connelly, Mrs. Bernard Breen, Mrs. Joseph Shea, Miss Nellie Nagle, Miss Barbara Sullivan and Miss Catherin Coughlin.

Grotto Hallowe'en Dance.

Nemrod Grotto held a well attended special Hallowe'en dance Friday evening in Grotto hall, the proceeds from which will be used for open house on election night when returns will be received.

BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED WITH HALLOWE'EN PARTY

A birthday and Hallowe'en party was held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Disque, 50 Hedge avenue, in honor of their daughter, Virginia. The home was beautifully decorated in Hallowe'en colors and favors were given.

Miss Disque was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. The guests were the Y. P. C. U. of the Universalist church of which Miss Disque is a member. Besides there were present Mrs. George T. Boon, Miss Dorothy Dyer, Miss Elizabeth Rollins, William Rollins. Out of town guests were Mrs. Frank L. Corey and Carl Anderson of Danielson, aunt and uncle of Miss Disque, and Mrs. Myrtice Barnett, also of Danielson. A buffet lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Mary A. Ross. A large birthday cake with 18 candles was the center feature. The guests all attended in costume.

HALLOWE'EN BARN DANCE FOR GROTON GRANGE

A most delightful Hallowe'en barn dance was held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Whitman, Groton, for the members of Groton grange and their guests. Large pumpkin moonshines were used in the decorations of the barn as were also oak leaves and fall foliage. An old time fiddler furnished music and prompted for the square dances, and all the old time country dances were in order. Most of those present were in Hallowe'en costumes. Between the dances popular Hallowe'en games were played.

Pop corn, apples, sweet cider, coffee, and doughnuts were served by the host and hostess.

MRS. FAY OBSERVES HER 88TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Edwin Fay of 245 Main street observed her 88th birthday Tuesday. Old friends from Danielson, Mrs. Vine Franklin, Mrs. Charles Keach, Mrs. Henry Crosby, Mrs. Charles Hutchins, and Mrs. Charles Bill, were her guests at a turkey dinner, the table being decorated in hallowe'en colors. Three birthday cakes adorned the table, one of which bore the 88 candles, given by Mrs. Hutchins, and another by Mrs. Crosby.

Norwich Amusement Company.

Among new incorporations filed at Hartford is the Norwich Amusement Company, Inc., with authorized capital of 10,000. The incorporators are Edward L. McEvoy, Leominster, Mass., H. M. Lerou, James Graham and Edwin W. Higgins, Norwich.

MASQUERADE AT SANATORIUM MADE MERRY EVENING

Friday night was a merry one at the Norwich tuberculosis sanatorium. The Hallowe'en party which is one of the big events of the year was most successful and staff and patients alike entered into it with great enthusiasm. The men's infirmary was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and corn stalks and on the walls witches and black cats gave the necessary spooky effect and in the open fireplace a huge cauldron, filled no doubt with witches' brew, burned and sputtered while at the other end of the ward was a fortune teller booth in which a charming gipsy (Miss Molly Carroll) told past, present and future. The grand march began at 7.30 and tramps, peddlers, K. K. K.'s, fairies, vamps and others too numerous to mention, passed before the reviewing stand in which sat the judges, Dr. Carroll, Mr. La Fontaine, Mr. Cunningham and Mrs. Kelly, who with anxiously drawn brows tried to determine the most original, the prettiest and the most ridiculous. Through the kindness of the New London Elks, Patch's orchestra played during the evening and greatly added to the success of the affair.

After much deliberation the prizes were awarded to the following patients: Most original, puss in boots, Sophie Goldenberg; tramp, John Hlwrczczik; prettiest lady, Lumina Lavallee, an umbrella; the handsomest man, Uncle Sam, Dennis Heaphy; and to the staff, most original, man, Stella Owen, a lamp; dancing vamp, Aubrey Travers. The consolation prizes went to the Gold Dust Twins, Mae Geary and Marion Jeanette; K. K. K.'s Leonard Golkowski, Alex Chimleski, Louis Bielecki, Harry York and Albert Rust.

Camp Fire Girls' Sale.

The Camp Fire Girls of the United Congregational church conducted a food sale successfully Friday in the vacant store in the Central building on Broadway. The proceed will go toward their budget.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

Mrs. Walter Fuller, of Los Angeles, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Butts, leaves today (Saturday) for a visit with Mrs. Edward D. Fuller.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris S. Lippitt are still occupying their cottage in Neptune Park, but expect to return to Norwich the coming weeks. Later they may go to California for the winter.

Masked and in gayest of Hallowe'en and fancy costumes, 75 guests were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. James L. Hubbard Friday evening. The rooms were most attractive, being arranged by Mrs. Hubbard and the flowers by Geduldig. Ethier's orchestra played for the dance which followed a seated supper at 7 during which the combany unmasked. The garage had been effectively decorated by Mr. Hubbard a radio being utilized very cleverly and here the various stunts took place. In the competition to guess the identity of the maskers, Mrs. Allen Latham and Weston C. Pullen led, the former receiving as a prize a seed pearl necklace and the latter a three tube radio made by Mr. Hubbard. For having the prettiest costume, Miss Beatrice Leonard received a pearl lavalliere, while Philip A. Johnson, for his striking toreador costume was awarded a radio set. For the funniest costume Mrs. F. S. Wheeler and Allan Latham received a brocaded bag and a radio set respectively. The stunt winners were Henry F. Parker, Clarence Lillibridge, Mrs. Allyn L. Brown, Mrs. Edmund W. Perkins, Mrs. Louis Ortman, Mrs. R. R. Agnew, Miss Grace M. Wheeler, Dr. Wm. W. Leonard and Mrs. W. Russell Baird. Mrs. Charles L. Hubbard of New Haven was chief of the judges. W. Russell Baird had charge of the radio. Much pleasure was afforded during the evening by the singing of Mrs. Baird.

PALACE THEATRE INTERESTS BUY BROADWAY THEATER

The president of the Norwich Palace theatre corporation, Edwin W. Higgins, issued a statement Friday announcing that the interests identified with the Palace had entered into a contract with S. Z. Poli to buy the Broadway theatre property in this city, and had secured Edward L. McEvoy, an experienced theatre man of Boston and Leominster, Mass., as general manager.

The interests identified with the Palace theatre have entered into a contract with S. Z. Poli of New Haven, the owner of the Broadway theatre, for the purchase of Mr. Poli's property here. This will place the Palace theatre and the Broadway theatre under the same management and enable them to present to the Norwich public a higher grade of entertainment. In connection with such changes the officers and directors of the Palace theatre have given very careful consideration to the question of general manager and have selected Edward L. McEvoy of Boston and Leominster, Mass. The public is entitled to know some of the reasons which prompted this selection of Mr. McEvoy that they may know what the character of the new management will be and what is to be expected in the future by way of general and classified amusements. The owners of the Palace theatre have made a close investigation of Mr. McEvoy's qualifications and find that he started in the motion picture business in 1907, as a motion picture operator in the Bijou theatre in Fitchburg, Mass., and continued in that capacity until 1910, when he bought a small theatre of 210 seats in Peabody, Mass.

In 1912, he rented a store in Leominster, Mass., remodeled it, and called it the Olympic theatre, and this was a success from the start. Mr. McEvoy was one of the first exhibitors to secure the personal appearance of motion picture stars, and at as early a date as this Miss Pearl White made a personal appearance at this theatre.

In 1914, he and his father bought the Gem theatre in Leominster, and during this time Mr. McEvoy had an opportunity to enter the Film Distributing and producing end of the business.

He later acquired the franchise to distribute Billy West comedies, and then merged his interest with Nathan Gordon, who is now the owner of the largest chain of theatres in New England. Mr. McEvoy had charge of the distribution of the Charlie Chaplin comedies when Chaplin first signed his original million dollar contract. Since this time Mr. McEvoy has been actively engaged in the film producing and distributing end of the business.

In connection with his theatre interests, he was sales manager for a number of years for the Robertson Cole company, the Metro, and the Universal Film company. He then joined the forces of the American Feature Film company and had the pleasure of handling The Birth of a Nation, and later opening an office in New Haven for the distribution of Metro and Universal pictures for this same concern. He then was put in charge of handling Madame Nazimova's first production, the Red Lantern, which was a huge success from an artistic and financial standpoint, and he has been connected with pretty nearly evey big film production in the last decade.

The most notable film successes that Mr. McEvoy has handled are The Birth of a Nation, Dante's Inferno, Down to the Sea in Ships, Foolish Wives, The Merry-go-round, The Hunchback of Notre Dame, and Rich Men's Wives.

During all this Mr. McEvoy has retained an active interest in the theatre end of the business and on Jan. 8, 1923, he and his father opened the doors of one of the most beautiful playhouses in the country, to the public of Leominster, The Rialto. This theatre, today, in the eyes of trade, is a model theatre, being equipped to present either vaudeville, legitimate plays or motion pictures, and is one of the most successful small towns theatres in the state.

In July, 1923, Mr. McEvoy acquired the control of the Music Hall theatre in Leominster, and today this house is presenting Keith vaudeville.

In connection with the Palace and Broadway theatres, Mr. McEvoy has direct supervision of the Rialto and Music Hall, Leominster, the Magnate of Dorchester, the Park and Colonial theatres in Nashua, N. H.

On account of the fact that Mr. McEvoy is intimately conected with the film producers and distributors he is in a position to secure the latest and best motion picture plays, and as soon as he becomes acclimated, the public of Norwich can look forward to the presentation of the best in vaudeville and pictures, as well as high grade road attractions of the so-called "legitimate."

When questioned as to when the Palace theater interests expect to begin placing productions in the Broadway theatre, President Higgins said he had nothing to add to his statement and would let it stand as he had made it.

Davidson Claims Lease.

A. Davidson, who has been conducting the Broadway since 1922 stated in response to inquiries Friday night that he had received no notice of the reported purchase of the property by the Palace theatre interests. He said further that he had a lease of the theater that had until July, 1927, to run and he intended to continue to conduct the thetater under his lease. He took a five year lease of the theater from July 15, 1922, had paid his rent, he said, and the lease was still good. He controls the Keith franchise for this city, he declared, and would continue giving Keith productions.

WILL HAVE POLES FOR STREET FLAGS PLACED

Commander Herman A. Bruckner of Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, announced Friday night that the contract for the placing of the street flags for the merchants of the city has been let to Contractor Torrance. The work of drilling the sidewalk holes for the flag poles will be started Tuesday morning and will be completed within a few days so that the flags will be up in time for the Armistice Day celebration.

Commander Bruckner also announced that a meeting of the post executive committee has been called for next Monday night for the purpose of making final arrangements for the Armistice Day celebration.

VOTED TO SUPPORT THE REPUBLICAN TICKET

At a meeting of the Norwich Italian Independent Citizens club Friday evening it was voted that the club support the republican ticket in the coming elections. Several members spoke on the qualities of the candidates and the policies of the different parties. The meeting was enthusiastic and very largely attended.

YALE-ARMY GAME MOST IMPORTANT OF EASTERN GRID BATTLES TODAY

New York, Oct. 31.—(By The A. P.)—The focus of the eastern gridiron championship spotlight is centered upon the narrowing field of contenders as rival elevens battle into the last month of the 1924 campaign.

Tomorrow the barrier will be lifted on the November dash with many of the outstanding teams engaged in crucial struggles while others gear their machines for succeeding contests about which traditions has set up a compelling magnet.

Before close to $9,000 onlookers, Yale will clash with the Army at the New Haven bowl tomorrow in a game rich in color and promising one of the most spectacular fights of the day. It has been thirteen years since the mule licked the bulldog but the Cadets, stronger than a year ago and with a powerful attack headed by Harry Wilson, seems likely to turn the tables on the blue, which so far has measured below 1923 form.

While Yale is battling one of her strongest foes, the other members of the "big three" will sharpen their weapons on minor opposition in preparation for the battle aganst each other next Satrday, Harvard, beaten a week ago by Dartmouth, has a comparatively easy foe in Boston University, while Princeton recovering from its trouncing at the hands of Notre Dame, will attempt to build a new offensive against Swarthmore.

Rivalling the Army-Navy battle in general interest will be the clash between two undefeated elevens when Lafayette opposes Pennsylvania at Philadelphia and the annual tussle between Cornell and Columbia at Ithaca.

Lafayette, with one of the most rugged outfits in the east, will be favored to down Pennsylvania, which will enter the fray minus Kruna, one of the season's high-scoring stars.

Columbia, rallying her forces after the sudden death of head Coach Percy Haughton, has the brightest chance in years, the Blue and White, which trounced Williams team that broke Cornell's 5-year winning streak, will have a double incentive to victory with inspiration to "carry on" triumphantly Haughton's campaign and eagerness to avenge the crushing defeats administered by Cornell over the past four seasons. Columbia has not beaten the Ithacans since 1905. Cornell, on the other hand, has shaken up its eleven ssince defeats by Williams and Rutgers, and may be more formidable tomorrow.

Syracuse, the third and only other in the east, will be favored to keep outstanding team undefeated or untied her slate clean against Pittsburgh.

Penn State, though defeated in the past two games, has a marked edge on the Navy, which, on top of three successive setbacks, has lost several stars for scholastic reasons. Dartmouth's powerful array has the call on Brown but the scrappy Rhode Islanders showed they are dangerous by the stand they made against Yale a week ago.

The east will attempt to retrieve some of its lost intersectional honors when Washington & Jefferson invades the middle west for a game with Detroit University, while the Haskell Indians, from Kansas, come east to oppose Boston College.

Tomorrow's leading games and 1923 comparisons follow.

Army at Yale.

Swarthmore at Princeton 6-35.

Penn State at Navy 31-3.

Brown at Dartmouth 14-16.

Pittsburgh at Syracuse 0-2.

Lafayette at Pennsylvania 3-6.

Holy Cross at Vermont 16-0.

Franklin & Marshall at Rutgers no game.

Bethany at West Virginia no game.

Tufts at Wesleyan 14-6.

Washington & Jefferson at Detroit 1-0.

Providence at Colgate no game.

Muhlenberg at Lehigh 3-14.

Union at Williams no game.

Western Maryland at Carnegie Tech no game.

Haskell Indians at Boston College no game.

ARMY BRINGS THREE TEAMS TO YALE BOWL

New Haven, Oct. 31.—Three complete teams of Army football material, accompanied by coaches and trainers, arrived in New Haven today and will battle with the Yale eleven before close to 50,000 persons in the Yale bowl tomorrow afternoon. The Army has no hospital or sideline patients on its team, according to the coaches, which assures that every one of the regulars will be in the lineup when the referee's whistle blows at 2.30 tomorrow.

Yale, expecting a hard fought battle, went through a snappy last minute practice at the bowl early this afternoon. The Elis probably will go into the game with one regular missing. Bench, the regular quarterback, is still feeling the effects of muscle bruises received in last Saturday's game and his place probably will be taken by Burnell tomorrow. Bench, however, may get into the battle some time during the afternoon. Captain Lovejoy, center, and Dick Luman, Yale's speedy end, have recovered from their bruises and will be in the lineup at the kickoff. Eddie Cottle, halfback, whose ankle was twisted in scrimmage Wednesday, will go in at the opening of the game but may be recalled early if his ankle bothers him. Jack Falling, who has been out of practice for some time, will be ready to take his place.

TIGERS TO USE FULL POWER AGAINST SWARTHMORE

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 31.—Coach "Bill" Roper today let it be known that he will throw the Tigers' full strength against Swarthmore in Palmer stadium tomorrow.

The Little Quakers are expected by Roper to afford an effective defense to test Princeton's backfield strength for the remaining games with Harvard and Yale.

It will be practically the same Tiger team to face Swarthmore tomorrow that met defeat at the hands of Notre Dame last Saturday with the possible exception of two places, center and one of the back berths. Roper now has three pivot men to select from—Bartell, McMillan and Forrest, who this week returned to practice following injuries received early in the season.

IMPORTANT GAMES IN WESTERN FOOTBALL TODAY

Chicago, Oct. 31. (By the A. P.)—What probably will be the most serious threat to Illinois' bid for the 1924 football championship of the Western Conference will thrill thousands of spectators in the new $1,700,000 stadium at Champaign tomorrow when Iowa, considered as the outstanding menace to Illinois' aspirations, will take its turn in attempting to stop Harold "Red" Grange, perhaps the greatest runner in the history of modern football.

The Hawkeyes have set their powerful 200-pound line for this combat and are generally conceded to be capable of stopping Grange if any team in the conference can.

BLOCKED KICK GIVES WESTERLY WINNING MARGIN OVER ACADEMY

With the game apparently sewed up by a beautiful drop kick the Academy team hit a streak of hard luck when in the third quarter Westerly broke through the line and smothered a punt which rebounded behind the Academy goal line where a Westerly man fell on it for a touchdown, which proved to be the winning score. Westerly coming through on the long end of a 6 to 3 score over the Academy at the campus Thursday afternoon.

The game was a bitter struggle in which both teams were nearly even the game being won through the alertness of the Westerly team in recovering the blocked kick. It cannot be called luck for a blocked kick is more the exception than the rule and it took some mighty good playing to break it up. The Academy played good football at times and at others was a bit ragged especially in the second quarters when Higgins missed a forward pass on Westerly's goal line.

Westerly at the beginning of the game made a smashing march from their 15 yard line down the field to the shadow of the Academy goal where Jack Hinrichs intercepted a forward pass and saved an almost sure score. The Academy brought the ball out to the forty yard line where the quarter ended. In the second quarter a series of forward passes Hinrichs to Carlin brought the ball within almost five yards of the Westerly goal. Williams passed to Higgins who had broken through but Higgins dropped the ball almost in front of the Westerly goal. Hinrichs then kicked a goal.

The play for the remainder of the quarter was in middield. The Westerly team kicked to Academy the ball going in back of the goal. The ball was brought out to the 20-yard line but the Academy failed to gain and Hinrichs essayed to kick.

The Academy line failed to hold and the punt was blocked, the ball rebounding in back of the Academy goal were in the scramble a Westerly man fell on the ball. The extra point failed and the play was practically even from then on.

The Academy team suffered two severe casualties when Hagberg suffered severe bruises and a strained knee and Marty Gilman strained a ligament in his ankle. Gilman was removed to the Backus hospital where his injuries were cared for by Dr. David Sussler.

The outstanding stars of the game were Hinrichs and Carlin. It was their play that was the cause of Academy's only score. Hinrichs was the only men that could carry the ball for consistent gains and Carlin played a brilliant defensive game as well as catching several forward passes that went for good gains.

The game by quarters:

First quarter: Hinrichs of the Academy kicked off to Westerly. Di Rocco caught the ball on the 20-yard line and ran it four yards back. Westerly then started a march down the field, making five successive first downs. With about ten yards to go, Westerly tried a forward which was intercepted by Hinrichs of Norwich, who ran the ball back six yards. Academy went through for first down. Norwich was here penalized five yards for being offside. Williams of Academy, on next play, made a 25-yard gain, netting first down. After four line plunges another first down was made by the Academy. Quarter ended at the point with the ball on the 45-yard line.

Second quarter: After four unsuccessful tries, Academy kicked to Westerly on the five-yard line. The Westerly man, who received the ball was downed in his tracks. Rossi of Westerly went in for Edmonde. Westerly next went through for two successive first downs. Here the Academy line held and forced Westerly to kick on its fourth down to the Academy's 40-yard line. Hinrichs on the following play made 10 yards. The Academy was forced to kick after four tries to break through. Westerly's ball onher 35-yard line. Westerly kicked the ball back to the Academy's 30-yard line. Westerly penalized 15 yards for tackling Norwich man before he received the kick. Academy's ball on the 45-yard line. A forward pass, Williams to Hinrichs netted eight yards. A second forward, Williams to Corlin, netted 10 yards and first down. A third pass, Williams to Carlin, netted 16 yards. With only 15 seconds to play Hinrichs tries a placement and succeeds in his attempt. Half ended at this point.

Third quarter: Edmonde of Westerly went in for Sucetti and Di Rocco for Milby. Westerly kicked off to the Academy. Ball went back of the posts. Ball is put to play on the 20-yard line. Academy kicked on fourth down. The kick was blocked and Di Rocco of Westerly fell over the ball back of goal for a touchdown. Meikle fails in try for point. Westerly kicked off to Academy. McGowan received and ran the ball back 10 yards. Academy went through for a first down. Hinrichs made a 17-yard run for another first down. Here Westerly held and the Academy was forced to kick on its fourth down, the Westerly runner being downed where he received the ball on the 25-yard line. Westerly made four unsuccessful tries and kicked on its fourth down to Williams, who was downed on the 47-yard line. A forward pass, Williams to Hinrichs, netted first down. Academy was forced to kick on its fourth down. Westerly's ball on the 23-yard line. Westerly made a return kick to the Academy. The Academy back fumbles and Westerly recovered the ball in midfield. Sucetti of Westerly went in for Di Rocco. Westerly was penalized five yards for being offside. The quarter ended with ball in Westerly's possession in midfield.

Fourth quarter: Westerly kicked on fourth down. Academy's ball on 23-yard line. Academy made first down. Westerly was penalized five yards for being offside. Academy went through for another first down. Academy tried forward which was intercepted by Salimeno of Westerly. Westerly's ball in midfield. Stefano of Norwich went in for Hagberg. Westerly kicked to Norwich on the fourth down. Academy's ball on 30-yard line. Academy tried forward which was intercepted by Westerly. Westerly's ball on the 30-yard line. Westerly tried forward which was incomplete. Westerly kicked on its fourth down. Academy's ball on her four-yard line. Hinrighs went through for first down. Hinrichs ran 14 yards for another first down. Westerly held and Academy kicked on fourth down. Academy was penalized 15 yards for tackling Westerly man before he received the ball. Busch and Polsky of Academy went in for Stefano and Gilman. Gilman was badly hurt and had to be carried off the field. The game ended after the next play.

CHAPMAN MEETS STONINGTON FOR SECOND TIME TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Oct. 31.—Chapman Tech faces its fourth league contest Saturday afternoon, meeting Stonington High at Stonington. Finishing the first half of the league schedule, the Red and Black machine is beginning its second round of play opposing the Brown and White. Expecting an easy victory, Tech will enter the contest without the service of its star back and all round man, Johnny Brown. The dusky lad ran afoul of the school rules in class room studies, and has been declared ineligible for this game at least. This will not be by any means a permanent loss of Brown to Tech, for it is most likely that he will catch up in his school standing by the time some of the more important games roll around.

A makeshift backfield will be used for the game with Stonington and if the latter eleven displays the offense ability of three weeks ago, the Tech position on top of the league will be far from safe. Courbois, who regularly plays quarterback will substitute for Brown in the back field, and the remainder of the team with the possible exception that Miller may be included in the lineup in a last minute change will complete the backfield. Kannenberg is not totally physically fit to play a hard game all afternoon, and he will probably be left on the side lines. Some one will have to take up the burden of punting with the suspension of Brown. For this reason, Miller who kicks fairly well will probably receive the call over Kannenberg for the fullback berth. This change is anticipated but not certain, but if it is made it will be for the good of the local eleven.

BULKELEY CLASHES WITH NEW BRITAIN TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Oct. 31.—Bulkeley departs for New Britain this (Saturday) morning at 10 o'clock, with 24 players making the trip besides the coach manager. Regarding this contest as the contest of all contests, the wearers of the Orange and Black with their ranks rather depleted due to injuries to several of the first team players, will make their stand against a veteran and unbeaten eleven which bids fair to either wrest laurels from Bulkeley or lose them.

Although the rejoining to the squad of Watterson and Hutchinson, it is uncertain whether these players will start the game. It was the first time this week these two players were in a uniform. But the returning of these players does not offset the loss of Captain Sheffiot, who reported ill today. His place was filled by Gray a sophomore. Brown regular right guard is still out of the game with a bad case of blood poisoning, and his position was filled by both Taylor and Booth during the afternoon drill. It is most probable that Le Blanc will start the game at left end, with the physical inability of Hutchison to join the squad after he received a badly bruised ankle.

With several radical changes in the making and with the strongest eleven facing the Bulkeley eleven, it will be a test that will go down in history in New England High school circles as one of the bitterest fought contests seen on Memorial field, New Britain. Bulkeley's chances even though several of the players are laid up with injuries are good for a victory. The march to New Britain is on.

FIRPO EXONERATED ON CHARGE BROUGHT BY CHASE

New York, Oct., 31.—Unless further obstacles are tossed in his way, Luis Angel today apparently cleared the last legal barrier to a resumption of his pugilistic activities here when a federal Grand jury refused to indict him on the charges of Canon Chase that the South American committed perjury when he came to this country last July to fight Harry Wills.

Firpo has had under consideration offers from Tex Rickard for bouts at Madison Square Garden with Quinten Romeo, Chilean heavyweight, and rival of Firpo for the South American title, and George Godfrey, Philadelphia negro. He is now expected to accept either or both. Rickard is anxious to put Firpo into the Garden ring the first week in December.

Firpo also is understood to have an offer from the National Sportsmen's club to fight Bartley Madden at Newark, N. J.

Proceedings against Firpo which were pushed by Canon Chase in an effort to have the South American deported, cost the federal government about $10,000 in time and effort, according to Immigration Commissioner Curran at Ellis Island.

MANY ARMY MEN WILL SEE GAME AT BOWL TODAY

New Haven, Oct. 30.—The Yale-Army game here Saturday will bring many military men of prominence to this city, including representatives of the war department, graduates of the Military academy and officers of the First and Second corps areas. Secretary of War John W. Weeks, plans to arrive here Saturday morning and will view the game from the reservation of General Slayton, superintendent of the military academy.

Major General James C. Harbord, second in command to General John J. Pershing in France, and General Marver Hill Barnum, commander of Camp Devens, will be the guests of honor at a meeting of the association of the army of the United States here tomorrow night and will remain over for the football game. Other military men expected to be present are:

Colonel John Randolph and Colonel L. M. Defuniack, of the United States army who are assigned to duty with the 102nd Regiment; Colonel Charles Gerhart, the new chief of staff of the 76th division; Colonel George S. Goddale, in charge of the Officers' Reserve Training corps of the First Corps Area of Boston; Colonel James Kemper, of Concord, N. H., chief of staff of the 97th division; Major E. V. Cutrer, assistant chief of staff of the 76th division and president of the Sector; Colonel James A. Haggerty, commanding the 102nd regiment; Colonel M. J. Mogesen, commanding the 102nd field artillery; Major Phelps Montgomery, O. R. C.; Major E. C. Brennand, Major Clark J. Lawrence, Major James P. Redding, Major Walter S. Lay, Major George Gray, Major A. V. Arnold, commanding the Yale R. O. T. C.; Brigadier-General Morris B. Payne, commanding the Connecticut brigade; General George M. Cole, adjutant general of Connecticut; Major Edward A. Judge, Major John L. Gilson, Captain James M. Quinn, adjutant of the 102nd regiment; Major Lewis L. Field, Major D. L. Taylor, Captain Ellis B. Baker and Captain Ridgeley Larkin.

MAN O'WAR HAS SIRED MANY FAST HORSES

New York, Oct. 31.—The flashing speed that stamped Man O'War as one of the greatest thoroughbreds of all time has been passed on to another generation.

Seven of the eight offsprings of Samule D. Riddle's famous horse that have come to the races this year have registered thirteen victories during the eastern season that is drawing to a close. Not one has resorted either to a claiming or selling race in establishing this notable record.

By Hisself, which this week scored his second stake victory and fourth triumph of the season, is the most prominent of Man O'War's yet in taining. This strapping colt looms as a strong contender in the $50,000 Pimlico Futurity next week and is expected to be groomed for the 1925 Kentucky Derby.

First mate is the only racing progeny of Man O'War which has not yet won a race and this Chestnut colt will have on opportunity at Pimlica to make his famous sire's record 100 per cent.

American flag, another promising juvenile, has won three races, maid at Arms has captured two, while Flagship, Florence Nightingale and Gunboat also have added lustre to their sire's fame with winning performances.

Thirteen colts and fillies were foaled by Man O'War in his first season in the stud but one died and four were either injured or failed to train.

HARVARD WILL SEND SUBS AGAINST BOSTON TODAY

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 31.—A Harvard team with only two letter men in the lineup will meet Boston University here tomorrow. Henry T. Dunker, varsity guard, who has been out of the game since the beginning of the season on account of an attack of diphtheria and later a tonsils operation, will play at left guard. Ernest Gamache, erstwhile substitute center has been shifted to left end. A. H. Stafford will start a quarterback and his work tomorrow may decide whether or not he will start against Princeton next week. Madison Styles, a halfback, whose work against the varsity in practice has been sensational, joined the first squad today.

MOOSUP PLAYS LAST GAME ON SUNDAY

If the weather man smiles on the eastern part of Connecticut Sunday afternoon the Moosup team will drag out the old uniforms from the mothballs and go against the fast Herrups of Hartford in the very last baseball game of the 1924 season. If the weather is good it will set a record for late baseball as never before has there been a baseball game in the eastern part of the state in November.

The Herdups sent challenge to Manager Henry Loughran that the Moosup could not turn down and although the team had disbanded after winning the Eastern Connecticut baseball title he rounded up his players and will make one last stand Sunday. The game will be played on a win or lose basis.

The Herrups will use Shovac and Welch as a battery with the regular team that won the Capitol City title. This team has given the Moosup team keen opposition in their last two games, Moosup winning both times 3 to 1 and 3 to 0.

Loughran will pitch either Tony West or Chick Davis with Liberty or Allard catching. Artie Couillard will be at first, Eddie Burns on second, Joe Faber at short, Jack Sang at third. In the outfield will be Clabby Mills and Strike.

"The high-priced chocolates in the low-priced box"

60c and proud of it! Here's why—

YES; most living costs continue high. But never before in the history of packaged chocolates have you been able to obtain so fine a value as Lowney's Gold Stripe Package—"The High-Priced Chocolates in the Low-Priced Box." A full pound for only 60c. Even without a box they would offer remarkable value. In their simple and inexpensive package they represent a real achievement in fine chocolates. That's why we are so proud of the price.

Don't—don't—DON'T confuse them with other chocolates at similar prices. These are "The High-priced Chocolates in the low-priced Box"—not merely a "60c box of chocolates." And you have your choice of three different assortments:

Standard Chocolates and Bonbons
Brittles, Chewys and Nugats

Open a box tonight. Then you will understand why no other packaged chocolates at any price sell so extensively as the Lowney's Gold Stripe Package. These chocolates are sold by nearly every good druggist or candy dealer.

LOWNEY'S GOLD STRIPE CHOCOLATES 60c a lb.

A SURPRISING VALUE

OLYMPIC TOURNAMENT CREATING MUCH INTEREST

Considerable interest is being manifested by many of the local "Y" gym members in the Olympic games which is one of the feature activities now being conducted in the gym. The competition continues to grow close, and at present James Falcone of the Employed Boys' Division is the leading contender for the big Clegg trophy cup followed by Rolland Harris and Thomas Lynch who are tied having 83 points and Aq Grebe 81 points.

Close competition resulted when in the "Emps" division last evening, Floyd Lambert won the high dive clearing the bar at 5 ft. 2 in. Falcone was second followed by Goldstein and McGlone who were tied for third.

Championship Game at Natick

The Natick Hustlers, champion semi pro baseball team of Rhode Island for the last five years will play Sacred Heart of Woonsocket, R. I., Sunday, Nov. 2nd.

Natick will have Pennock of the N. Y. Yankees pitching, with Tony West of Baltimore, who resides in Norwich held in reserve. Wally Schang of Yankees will catch.

Woonsocket will have Bill Piercy of the Red Sox pitching and Hartnet of Chicago Nationals catching.

McTigue Fails to Appear.

New York, Oct. 31.—Mike McTigue, light heavyweight champion o fthe world, who had declared his intention of demanding a license today from the state athletic commission and of suing the body for $250,000 if it rejected his application, did not appear before the commission. No reason was given.

The commission had advised its license committee to refuse McTigue's application for one year because of his failure to recognize the right of Gene Tunney, designated as logical challenger by the commission, to the first chance at his title.

Important Western Game Today

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 31.—Tomorrow promises to be an epoch making day for Missouri or Nebraska, in the Missouri Valley conference football race. While eight conference teams are scheduled to swing into action, eclipsing all others in interest will be the annual clash between the annual clash between the undefeated Tigers of Old Missou and the Nebraska Cornhuskers at Lincoln.

Missouri rules a slight favorite. Second interest is the clash between Iowa State and the Kansas Aggies at Manhattan.

Colts Get Away Today

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 31.—Ten two year olds will contest for the Kentucky Jockey Club stakes, 10,000 added, and for the two year old championship at Churchill Downs tomorrow afternoon.

Each colt will carry 126 pounds over the mile route. No fillies accepted the issue.

Master Charlie, W. Daniels' imported, winner of the rich hopeful stakes at Saratoga, probably will rule the favorite, although he has streng opposition.

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY

The Thinker

Back of the beating hammer
By which the steel is wrought,
Back of the workshop's clamor
The seeker may find the Thought;
The Thought that is ever master
Of iron and steam and steel,
That rises above disaster
And triumphs it under heel!

The drudge may fret and tinker
Or labor with dusty blows,
But back of him stands the Thinker.

The clear-eye, man who knows;
For into each blow or saber,
Each piece and part and whole,
Must go the Brains of Labor
Which gives the work a soul!

Back of the motors humming,
Back of the belts that sing,
Back of the hammers drumming,
Back of the cranes that swing,
There is the eye which scans them
Watching through stress and strain,
There is the Mind which plans them—
Back of the brawn, the Brain!

Might of the roaring boiler,
Force of the engine's thrust,
Strength of the sweating toiler,
Greatly in these we trust.
But back of them stands the Schemer,
The Thinker who drives things through:
Back of the Job—the Dreamer
Who's making the dream come true!

Live and Love

Live a little, love a little,
As you pass along
Cheer the hopeless and the weary
With a friendly word, a song.
Smile the more when dark clouds lying
Low upon the misted hills
Sooth the soul all sadly sighing
Love will heal a whole world's ills.

Live a little, love a little
Laugh at fancied pain
Close your eyes and dream of flowers
Sweet and fragrant after rain.
Ease the load of burdened shoulders
Do the very best you can
Sure tis love that breaks the boulders
Love of God, and love of man.

SYMPATHY TO THOSE IN TROUBLE

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I feel as though I had gone astray, I have not met with the sisters through the summer months at any of the picnics or any of their meetings. Have planned to several times, but got disappointed.

I have not answered the roll call regarding which our generous editor has given us such a liberal privilege but I will say present at this time if it is not too late.

I want to thank all who sent me Mc. Scottie, True Blue, Deliah Deal, and all the others. It is nice to be remembered, particularly as we get older.

I want to extend my sympathy to those who are in trouble, especially to Blue Bell in the loss of her son, in the railroad accident in Putnam so recently. I also have a neighbor who lost a son at the same time in that accident. How little we think when we part what will take place before we meet again. A friend used to say God's ways are not our ways.

Hope to meet with the sisters at the meeting at Buckingham memorial next week. Hope the sisters will write oftener than I do. It is so easy to put off things that we should do today. How true it is Procrastination is the thief of time." Best wishes to all the sisters.

COMFORT.

SOME GOOD RECIPES

Dear Cornerites: I am sending some more cooking suggestions for your use.

Airplane Dumpling: 2 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons of baking powder or 1 teaspoon cream tartar and 1-2 teaspoon soda. Stir this up with top milk until like cream, drop in steamer and steam ten minutes uncovered and ten minutes covered. It never fails.

Candle Salad: Take a large lettuce leaf and wash very well. Then place a canned pineapple on it with a hole cut large enough to put a banana in. Cut a banana in half across and stick piece of shredded cocoanut in the point and fill the center of the pineapple; when ready sprinkle with shredded cocoanut and serve.

Molasses Sauce for Apple Airplane Dumpling: 1-4 cup molasses, 1-2 cup sugar, 3-4 cups of water, small piece of butter, 1-2 teaspoon of cinnamon. Thicken with a paste made of one teaspoon cornstarch and a little cold water. Boil about five minutes till it thickens and serve hot.

Cut some slices of bread tolerably thick, and toast them slightly; open a can of peas, rinse off and put in pan on stove with a good sized piece of butter, a pinch salt and pepper.

Now butter toast, none just enough boiling water to moisten then lay peas over the toast. Pour a little melted butter over the whole, very nice served hot.

Z R-3 Pudding: Two pounds of currants; two pounds of raisins; one pound candied citron, one half pound almonds, one half pound of pecans, one pound brown sugar, one pound of browned flour; eight whole eggs; two teaspoons baking powder sifted with the flour; one pound butter or beef suet; one half pound of bread crumbs one cup molasses one tablespoon salt (if suet is used) 1 teaspoons cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves; one nutmeg grated; and one cup grape juice.

I always made my pudding by the above recipe. This makes a pretty and attractive Christmas gift. Fit them into small tin buckets, dress them in holly paper, twist red and green ribbon about the handle and finish with a big red bow. You'll have an ideal gift, very, very pretty to look at and most delicious on the inside.

I put this pudding together thus: Cream shortening with one half the sugar, add salt, beat yolks of eggs with other half of sugar. Then add molasses, spices and bread crumbs. Next add alternately until all is used, the flour and beaten whites of eggs. I always add small quantity at a time the nuts, fruits, over which the grape juice has been poured. Steam for three hours in well buttered one pound baking powder cans and serve with hot sauce of any variety liked.

CLUB NO. 2 MEETS NOV. 5.

Dear Sisters: Hope a great many will plan to be at the November meeting, Nov. 5. Nellie Bly is hostess and we that live around here are helpers.

Chocolate and Necia: I hope we won't have to do any trucking by wheel barrows.

How about it, True Blue? I made your orange frosted cake last week and it came out fine and was delicious.

Alice in Springfield: I planned to attend brothers wife's funeral and could not. My sincere sympathy, explanting bulbs and keeping them in pecially to mother.

I am experimenting this fall with a dark cellar until rooted and hope when spring comes to have a daffodil and hyacinth. How many of the sisters have the bulbs growing in pebbles and water? I have a narcissus, the Chinese sacred lily bulb and a paper white narcissus and by planting these at intervals of a few weeks, I hope to have flowers almost all winter.

Keziah Doolittle: Your letter last week was good. Although I am quite rushed on a Saturday morning still, I always take time to read the paper and our letters.

Papa's Boy: You get "Diamond" to give you all the points on Saturday night's event. Olga and Remember Me were there too. We all enjoyed it, I think.

Whirlwind and Foxglove: I looked for you last month at the club meeting and was disappointed at not seeing you, or Guess either. Hope to see you this time.

I. J. B.: Did you see by the paper, the account of the wedding? Why not take a trip up to see your former neighbor for she will be lonely with all her little brood scattered.

Sisters try and have something for the entertainment next week.

Success to the Corner.

THE POSITION OF THE STEP-MOTHER

Dear Social Corner Sisters: A sister of the Corner wrote me concerning the positions of a stepmother. I had a stepmother and am one myself, but as I have had not unpleasant experience in either place am unable to write you very much concerning it.

My imagination, as Janette says, is full grown and puts in overtime on the job! Of course being a stepmother to your husband's children isn't the same thing as being a household pet, and it's small wonder if you find your courage decreasing from torrents to trickles after your protracted season, of study, prayer and housework.

But why "let go" the problem now? Fortunately you have no children of your own to make it a case of "my children and your children who can't get on at all with our children." You're missing the best guess of the three, I believe since most of our modern girls are "sports."

You know they will leave undone much that ought to have been done, and do countless things that ought not to be done, but, they like to believe that they "play the game" which is the real spirit of "the sports." And live your life—as you outlined it is a game at which you three must "play out your hand" with the cards on the table.

It takes years and many sorts of experiences to make most of us realize that life is just that. Sometimes "mellow" enough — pleasant and smooth to taste, and we feel about as frail as the Hippodrome and perfectly well able to stand a growl, when things are going along like you say, I don't blame his daughter for not thinking you can't fill her mother's place or doesn't even want you to think of such a thing. Did you honestly think you could "fill" her mother's place? It can't be done, and you had better give up trying to do the impossible. We are given only one father, and one mother in this life, and when they are gone some part of ourselves dies too. Your stepdaughter quite naturally resents your attempts, well-meaning though they may be, to "fill" a place sacred (in her thought, at least) to the departed one.

Why don't you try and explain to the girl? Tell her that her father has needs in his life that he believes you can supply; explain that loneliness—his loneliness—is really an immense tribute to his first wife; that out of memories remaining to him from that other time—the memories her mother made possible—he has come to an understanding of all he lost when he lost her. Try to make her see how the very sweetness of those memories has urged him on to attempt the renewal—the hope of finding some of the lost comforts renewed—for her, in this new life with you. And as for her calling you mother if ever you are a mother, my dear, you will understand how meaningful the world is. If she is in the mid teens there's no reason why she shouldn't call you by your given name if you can permit it from her.

I had a little experience with my oldest son. He had been out around different places until he was the age of fourteen when some party advised him that his sister was not his own sister and that I was his father's second wife.

Very furious he rushed in from school and at once stated that he wanted to know the situation. If I was his father's second wife he didn't intend living with me; he was going to leave at once. He knew very well his sister was his own sister, no boy had a better sister than she. He and his sister would leave at once. That was the first inkling that the boy had that the boy's sister was not his very own—so differ-ent. The little girl went out and someone said to her, "You have a stepmother, do you like her?" She came in and the first question was, "Aren't you my own dear mamma?" I said, "Sure I am, who said I wasn't?" "Why a lady told me you was a stepmother." And though the child was only eight years old I gave her to understand that I wanted her to accept me as a friend. I was only eighteen and used to play dolls with her, so I thought as Janette said. "Let her put you on probation, so to speak, till your relationship shall have been proven by your own finess to survive the acid test."

For it is a test make no mistake about that. Every word you speak, every look, each act is proving you fit or unfit and the eyes of youth are sharp eyes; the judgment of youth is not always "fair to behold," but, more often than not, it's a just judgment.

By all ye will or whisper;
By all ye leave and do,
The silent sullen creature
Shall weigh your God and you.

FOR XMAS LUNCHEON OR DINNER TABLE

Dear Members of the Social Corner: A crowning touch of attractiveness may be added to the Christmas luncheon or dinner table by the use of appropriate bonbon boxes as individual favors.

The holly decorated box is one of the simplest. Any small white cardboard box may be used as a foundation. Inexpensive wedding cake boxes are very desirable, as they have the added dainty lace flappers within. The box is covered, first with plain white crepe paper and the edges gilded. Three sprays of holly are cut from the crepe paper printed with a small allover design form the decoration. The leaves are first cupped by stretching slightly over the tip of the finger to give a natural appearance, and then caught to the box here and there with touches of paste to give a raised and empossed effect which is most attractive.

There is a "star" box which is first covered with white crepe paper. Two large stars are also covered on both sides with crepe, one being glued to the box itself, and the other to the cover. The only decoration is a spray of holly, which may be real or artificial. Similar stars covered with crepe paper with a name card of thin bristol board may be used as place cards; and a large star in the center, made over a wire frame and used as a Jack Horner pie would complete a very attractive table.

The mistletoe basket will make a very dainty favor. The foundation is a plain white ice cup. The covering is white paper rope made in the following way: Cut two strips of white crepe paper six inches wide and the full length of the roll. These should be stretched and twisted separately in the same direction until a small tight cord is formed. Then the two strands are twisted together in the opposite directions. When the rope is complete, half a dozen threads of silver tinsel cord are twined around it. The ice cup is covered with paste and the rope wound closely around. The handle, made of a piece of heavy wire and covered with white crepe and tinsel should have the ends fastened through the rim of the cup before the rope is applied. A spray of mistletoe tide with a tinsel bow adorns the handle and supplies the seasonable decoration.

HOW TO MAKE DUSTLESS DUSTER

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I will answer present to my name that appeared on the roll call some time ago. I wish to thank all of the sisters who sent me birthday cards.

Pocahontas is still with us and answers to the roll call. Hope to see a good number at the Buckingham next week.

I am sending directions for making a dustless duster that some of the sisters may like to try.

Buy a half yard of double faced canton flannel 36 inches wide. Cut into two, 15 inch squares. This leaves a strip six inches wide on each side. Cut this strip into two six inch squares. Baste square on center of large square, then lay your right hand on the square in center and have some one draw around it. Now stitch small square onto large and around outline of hand, leaving open at bottom to put the hand in. This opening is overcasted. When completed thoroughly saturate in some furniture oil and hang on line to dry. You now have a dustless duster.

Best wishes to all.

GRANDMA H'S NAMESAKE

Dear Social Corner Sisters: My! How the time flies! It was two weeks ago last Sunday (October 12) nearly three when you read this in the Social Corner column, that a dear little tiny baby girl came to our house.

Through an error (not of the newspaper's) it was published that a son was born to us. A little girl was wished and hoped and prayed for, so we are very happy. Had it been a boy it would have probably been called Christopher Columbus.

She is named after two splendid women of beautiful character, both her grandmothers, Jennette Elizabeth. Elizabeth after my mother who passed away when I was but a child of nine, Jeannette after her father's mother whom you all knew and loved, Grandma H. I wish to thank Club No. 2, for the beautiful fern which was received when Jeannette Elizabeth was not two days old, and we will enjoy it for many days and think of you often.

Calla Lily: I'll bring her next time I come to the store.

ANOTHER CORNER MEMBER

Dear Corner Editor: I have been a reader of the Social Corner page a long time. I have so enjoyed reading the letters from the sisters it has made me feel I would like to join, so am asking the privilege of becoming a member. If this reaches the Corner I would like for my name.

AURELIA.

Dear Editor and Members: I will try and write a few lines as I like to see the Corner page good and full I have been very busy of late and don't find much time for writing But am going to take a few minutes all the same and if others would do likewise there would be no trouble in keeping the page full and overflowing. So lets try and do our share.

What beautiful days we are having! We will think of these days when the snow is blowing later on. Let us all get out and enjoy the weather all we can. It is very beautiful to ride. And the wonderful foliage! Seems so I never saw it look more grand. It shows us the wonderful works of nature. We have some very pretty sights right here in Connecticut, wonderful views all around us.

It is quite risky driving nowadays with so many autos especially on the state road of a Sunday. It is almost a risk of life with so many careless drivers, and it seems to me there will have to be some more restrictions in a few years.

I am planning to attend the November meeting and find out somewhat who is who. Hope for a good day and if I come will not forget to bring something in the eatable line as I always try to do my part. I like to get aquainted with new members for we always learn something good in each one. Let us all try to help each and all we meet with a kind word or deed and try to make the world a little brighter as onward we go. Even little children know when they are noticed and don't forget it.

I like to hear old people tell of things that happened years ago when they were young. I think they enjoy telling of different things. I don't despise old people. You would think to hear some people talk that they would always be young but that is not to be.

Anna Z— I think I have your number as well as you have mine. So thankful that no one was hurt in the accident. You kept me guessing but I think I have found you out. Please write again as your letter was very interesting.

Historian: Do wake up and write a line. If you cant think of much to write say something about the Old Maid's Retreat.

Free Air: Get into line and attend the November meeting and bring along Bur and others. I think Ma of Greene Gables would be delighted to go.

Primrose: I am very sorry but it was impossible for me to attend your meeting the 30th as I was away from home a part of the week. Would liked very much to have been there. Hope to have better luck next time.

Rosy Posy: I would like to see you and get better acquainted.

Long flourish the Corner as ever.

RECIPES BY PAULA

Dear Social Corner Sisters: How many know how to use egg powder? Take one cup sugar, 1 teaspoons butter and beat together, 1 teaspoon egg powder dissolved in a little water, mix with butter and sugar, 2 cups of flour and 2 teaspoons of baking powder.

Cake Without Egg: Take half cup dark molasses, 1 teaspoon clove, 1 cup black coffee, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 2 1-2 cups flour, butter and lard each 1 tablespoon.

Rolled Oats Biscuit: 1 cup rolled oats, 3 cups boiling water, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 scant teaspoon salt, 1 large tablespoon butter, 1 yeast cake dissolved in 1-2 cup water. Pour the water on the rolled oats and the salt, cook in double boiler and while still warm add butter and sugar; when cool add yeast mixture, enough flour to make and in morning bake in gem pans 20 minutes or till brown.

Oatmeal Bread: One cup rolled oats, one pint of hot water, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon of butter, one half a cup of molasses, one quart of flour after it is sifted, one half a yeast cake. Proceed as for flour bread. To those who like a change this will furnish all that is desired.

Additional Lunch Box Suggestion: 1 minced ham sandwich with white bread, 1 Swiss cheese sandwich with rye bread, 1 whole tomato, 1 apple, 1 cup coffee (in Thermos), 2 broiled bacon sandwiches on whole wheat bread, 2 salmon sandwiches on rye bread, 1 lettuce sandwich on whole wheat bread, potato chips, 1 orange, 2 cookies, 1 bottle milk, 1 cottage cheese sandwich on brown bread.

For School Children's Lunch: 1 jelly sandwich on white bread, 1 orange, 2 cookies, 1-2 pint bottle milk, 1 egg sandwich on whole wheat bread, 1 custard, 1 slice meat loaf, 2 whole wheat bread and butter sandwiches, 1 baked apple.

Rye Breakfast Muffins: 1 cup rye meal, 1 cup flour, 1 cup milk, 1-4 cup sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoon baking powder, 1 egg beaten. Mix and sift the dry ingredients, add milk slowly, beat all together. Bake twenty in muffin tins in quick oven.

PINEAPPLE WITH CITRON

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Some time ago in a sister's letter to the Corner she told of using pineapple with citron but gave no proportion. I tried it this week and can recommend it as being very nice. I used one quart of pineapple, diced, to four pounds of the citron and three pounds of sugar, safe for others to try.

I liked the idea suggested by one of the sisters of a Social Corner pin for street wear and shall write more about it in a week or two with some suggestions and particulars.

Saturday Eve: I received your nice letter about a week ago from Malden, Mass., and was so pleased to be remembered. There was something I especially wanted to talk with you about so I answered it at once and addressed it according to your directions and to my surprise it was returned, reaching me Tuesday the 28th, marked unclaimed. No such a person found. So did not know of any way to reach you unless I wrote through the Bulletin Corner page trusting you might see it and write again.

With best wishes for all Cornerites.

MY FIRST CAMPING

Dear Social Corner: May I say present or must I say tardy as we did when we were late at school?

I was surprised but delighted when Polly Jane appeared on the roll call. I did not know that you considered me a member of your interesting Circle for I had never written but once, and that was some time ago?

I always enjoy reading the letters but did not think I could write anything you would care to print.

I do not know any of the sisters, at least I do not know that I know them. It would be nice if we had some way to tell who is who. We live so far away from all of the social centers that I am afraid I could not attend any of the meetings.

I was interested in Mavis' description of the trip to Bald hill. We have been there several times and each time feel repaid for the effort. We always find Mrs. Lawson the ideal hostess. The view certainly is grand. We have never yet been able to see Long Island sound.

About three miles south of Bald hill we discovered (?) one of the most beautiful little lakes I have ever seen. Nestling among the green hills it seemed a "gem of purest ray serene." The quiet beauty of the place so impressed us that when the time came to plan for our summer vacation Friend Husband proposed that we set a tent and camp out there.

I had never "camped out" before and will never forget our first morning in the wilds. The sun arose bright and clear, everything looked bright, new and sparkling. The waters of the lake the dew and the grass all looked as though fresh from the hands of the Creator.

As we were cooking our breakfast in the open we heard a splash. Looking across to the opposite shore we saw a deer swimming toward our point but when he saw us he turned the other way. We watched him with great interest. I did so want to see him when he came out of the water, but he swam around and disappeared behind an island in the lake.

I would like to tell you all about our camp life, but perhaps you would not be interested, So I will close for this time and perhaps will come again.

ABOUT THE RADIO

Dear Social Corner Friends: Crimson Rambler in a recent letter in the Corner page asks if the radio is worth what it costs. With most people it is worth the money as in these enlightened days the most of us want to know what is going on in this big world and there is no better way or quicker way to know what the waves are bringing to us then by the radio. It is not only entertaining for the family, it is greatly enjoyed by company who visit you. It gives you the best music in the land and all kinds of entertainments one can ask for. By a slight turn of the dial you can have lectures, sermons, base ball games, crop reports, speakers on many subjects. It gives you the position of ships and steamboats, how far they are out at sea, gives the weather reports before you get your daily paper. At 12 o'clock the standard time is given by radio from Arlington, Va. Five minutes before 12 the notice is given on land and in mid ocean to set their watches when the stroke is given at 12 o'clock. On a strong night when the snow is drifting around your home it is some comfort to take the easy chair and listen to a good play in the theater or a good sermon, or a fine orchestra playing the most popular music. There are all prices for radio sets. Two or three hundred dollars will give you a good set which will be perfectly satisfactory and you will say it is well worth the money it cost. There is much that could be said of the radio. We have given you only a few benefits one can get with a radio set. For want of space I will have to stop and make room for others with best wishes to the editor and the Corner family.

RURAL DELIVERY (Nov. 5.)

HOW TO CAN CITRON

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Theoda's letter in Saturdays paper brings out a reply, as I well remember where the subject of a pin or button was brought up by some of the sisters a few years ago. Also the wish for a pass word and to elect officers and ways to make money. And the late editor vetoed the whole thing. He said the Corner was not meant for any secret society or publicity, but for a Social time, giving and receiving help from one another. He fully approved of the clubs for sociability and receiving donations to meet expenses. I think he would have approved of the sunshine work. I doubt if he ever had an idea how far the Corner would extend when he started it.

But now we are under another supervisor and should appeal to his good judgment.

Mavis: I think years back we were neighbors out on the farms. Am I right? Lebanon was a good town to live in.

Golden Rod: This is the way I can my citron. Cut the melon in one or two inch pieces about one inch wide. Weigh while dry. Then cook in water until tender. Make a syrup of one-half pound of sugar, one cup of water to every pound of citron, boil ten minutes add the drained citron and cook slowly until clear or transparent, add the juice of one lemon to three pounds of citron or if liked can use the whole fruit, can and seal while hot. Two or three weeks ago I sent in my recipe for candied citron that is fine for cake, etc.

Bon Ami: Thanks, uncle and I are quite like our old selves again. Wrist bothers some yet, but get along very well. Try to meet with us Nov. 5.

All best wishes from

AUNTY NO. 1.

SOMETHING TO TRY EACH WEEK

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Try this every week with your other work: The first of the week look ahead and think over the work. Smile. Hold your chin proudly. Promise yourself that you will finish those things you dare to begin.

Next day. Smile again. Be grateful for the gift of tasks to be done and for loved ones to do for. Ask God to test your faith and courage then meet that test unafraid. It never comes to us easy. Smile. Yes, Smile.

The third day and every day help some one along life's road, one who needs it even if it be your enemy. Sing over your victory gained.

As the week nears its end try playing awhile, walk in some of God's shady places, watch the birds, the things of nature and see its beauty. Thank your Creator for health, home and the many comforts you have to enjoy. Smile and sing. Think over any faults, if you have any and sweep the cob webs away. Any disappointments? Laugh them away. Sunday, pray and praise the giver of all good. Yes sisters, I too will try them and be thankful for the gift of prayer. With best wishes.

CORN AND POTATO RAISING IN MAINE

Dear Social Corner Friends: It is most a month since I wrote and not for lack of news by any means. But I have been quite busy. First a neighbor has been quite ill and I have been helping out there. Then I had to prepare for the "husking." Some night and some crowd believe me. I was several days getting my cooking done, and when the tables were all set I felt like sitting down and resting. A friend 82 years old, Mrs. Lizzie J. Baldwin, by name came and assisted me in getting ready.

Well when the corn was all husked upstairs there were 191 bushels. Ever so many red ears this year! Something funny about that, for some years there are very few, then again there are nearly as many red ones as yellow. A friend found several red ears and lamented because no one offered to kiss her.

Her husband said it was not because she did not tell it. It was her first experience at a husking and she surely enjoyed it. There were people from Poland, Auburn, Lewiston, Portland, North Deering, Lisbon, New York Gray, South Portland and Gosham.

Several autos went away when the husking was finished, so I do not know just how many there were. But I am sure we fed 50 or more. Miss Woodbury brought down a victrola and they had music while they husked. I was afraid I was not going to have enough but like the five loaves and seven fishes there was some to spare. Eugene Foster said he ate four pieces of pie. The pies were cut into four pieces, and all pumpkin. The menu consisted of baked beans, and brown bread, butter, pickles, hot biscuit, pumpkin pie, coffee, tea, milk doughnuts. All seemed happy and were in hopes we would have another one next year. It was midnight before the last good night was said.

Some of the ears were from 13 to 16 inches long. We have some fine potatoes, 96 bushels. Potatoes in northern Maine in Aroostook county are selling for 40 cents a barrel I hear. I have been preserving citrons; have a dozen jars done up. Never had much courage to do much preserving as it never kept very well but so fag I have quite a few jars and many more beside pumpkin. Someone has been telling me about preserved pumpkin, but they had forgotten how it was done. I wondered if any of the sisters ever did any.

Our first white frost came the night of the 22nd and it looked like snow this a. m.

But it has been glorious and 68 in the shade on piazza, all day.

I was surprised to see the page was not full of letters Saturday. The news of Great Grandma's death was very unpleasant to learn, as well as ever so many friends. I met while in Connecticut. Some very dear ones have passed on. But we cannot keep them always and God's will not ours be done.

I was pleased to hear from Dom Pedro, also Minnette Lonster, writes she has been very ill and I think a card shower would be nice for her. Don't you?

Diana: You need not fear for a card addressed to Mrs. E. T. Libbie will reach me safely. I enjoyed the story of E. M. R. C. P.

Have a number of letters I will answer as soon as I get to it. I am having sciatic rheumatism just now. Not as bad as it might be. I suppose, but surely bad enough.

I have a book of views of Watkins Glen, so I can see a number of places our sister speaks of in her letter. It is a very beautiful place. I have been enjoying rides in the country with friends in their $1750. Buick. Some class for this small place.

James Whitney has among his potatoes one that weighed two pounds and one ounce. That is going some. I was out on the lake this afternoon and it was beautiful. The wild ducks have all gone and most of the cottages are closed for the winter. Two old mother ducks came with their babies last a pring. One had ten and the other had nine. They grew and grew and became very friendly with the summer people going from one house to the other for their hand outs. At the Wilson lunch room they would go up to the door and eat out of a can.

Guess I will close and let some one else have a chance, but feel we must keep the pare full. Pleased to see more new names. Ever the same

ALWAYS HAD A SOCIAL TIME

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Which is worse a slacker or gadder? I think a slacker is much worse, and I answer to both, this summer and beautiful fall that we are now having. I hear people saying the springs are drying up, we must have water soon, and we will. Just have faith and be thankful every day for the many blessings we have.

Our first meeting in Franklin hall seemed to be enjoyed by those present. In fact don't we always have a social time?

Theoda tells us of so many that are sleeping. I surely did not think so many had left us.

We that are alive and well can appreciate this little morning prayer.

"I get me up to work
I pray the Lord I may not shirk
If I should die before tonight
I pray the Lord my work's all right."

ROXANNA WINCE.

APPROVES THE ROLL CALL

Dear Social Corner Editor: Sweet William of the Social Corner writes that her name among the S's was not in the roll. I find mine was not. No doubt only a mistake and no intention of being left out. I will mention I am still alive and say I think it a fine thing putting the names on the roll and realize it was thought and much work to have so many names arranged in alphabetical order.

PLANNING ON NEXT MEETING

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I was at the Buckingham Memorial Oct. 1st and had a very pleasant time and as I have enjoyed the Social Corner page thought I would like to become a member so I gave as my pen name Golden Rod. I see Golden Rod has answered her name so now I will take for my pen name Catnip. I hope this will be all right. I expect to be to the next club meeting in November.

GREETINGS FROM CRIMSON RAMBLER

Dear Corner Folks: What beautiful fall weather we are having just now and the pretty foliage! Hardly a leaf up here yet the trees yet.

Savilla: Did so enjoy the week end visit from you three. Sorry about the slight accident just as you were about to start on your homeward trip. Hope nothing serious develops.

Violet: I too, should dearly love to have seen you at the fair, but I didn't care anything about attending this year. How are you and all the little violets? You have a yellow, blue, and a white one now, haven't you?

Chrysanthemum: What are you going to do now? I see where you folks are selling out.

Ormandine: I quite liked your letter in Saturday's paper. Also glad to see a letter from Jack's Wife. She must be a fine sport as I see she is taking quite a few nice auto trips.

Golden Rod: Yes I remember you very well and often wondered why I didn't see anything from your pen. I rather thought when I saw another had taken your pen name, we would hear from you before long. What a nice time we did have on the trolley after leaving Willimantic that day when we first met along with Blue Bird and Brownie! Are the addresses you three gave me that day the same now? I have seen you two or three times down in Norwich since then, but you didn't see me. Glad you are well.

Good wishes to all.

CRIMSON RAMBLER.

OTHER MEMBERS AROUSED INTEREST

Dear Social Corner Editor: I am writing for permission to join your club. My enthusiasm was aroused when I heard of the different members in my community who belonged. And I was very much interested to know of the meeting on the 30th and I wondered if this letter would permit me to attend the E. K. meeting and get acquainted with some of the sisters.

I will take for my penname

RAINBOW.

DEATH OF ONE OF THE FIRST MEMBERS

The following communication was this week received for the information of the Corner:

"Though not a member of the Social Corner thought I would write to say that one of the first members of the Corner who signed herself Aunt Julie passed away in Providence last April. She used to live on the West Side, Norwich and her name was Mrs. Julia Gleason."

CLUB NO. 1 MEETS NOV. 12

Dear Editor and Corner Sisters: Club No. 1 will have their gathering at Franklin hall Willimantic. All are invited and we hope to have a good crowd. Bring plate, cup, spoon and fork. Also something to eat.

Best wishes to all.

ANNUAL STATE CONFERENCE OF Y. M. C. A. AUXILIARIES

About 70 members of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliaries of the state met in New London Friday at the Methodist Episcopal church for the 30th annual conference of the state Y. M. C. A. auxiliaries. Mrs. C. K. Hale of Middletown and Portland, state vice chairman, presided at the conference which was opened with devotional exercises by the Rev. Myron E. Genter, pastor of the Methodist church. Other state officers in attendance were Mrs. W. F. Maylott, recording secretary, of Derby; Miss May Pennoyer, corresponding secretary, of New Haven; Mrs. F. H. Shepard, treasurer, of New Haven; and E. T. Bates, advisory state secretary, of New Haven.

Speakers at the afternoon session were Miss Gladys W. Taber, general secretary of the New London Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. R. V. Peer of Winsted, Miss Janet M. Purdue, dean of the New Haven High school and E. T. Bates of New Haven. Eleven delegates were present from Middletown, six from Torrington, 18 from New Haven, 13 from Hartford, four from Meriden, seven from Norwich, two from Stamford and 13 from New London.

Those attending from Norwich were Miss Marion Bishop, Mrs. W. H. Fitch, Mrs. Edwin Hill, Mrs. J. E. Hawkins, Mrs. Rufus H. Vaughn Mrs. E. D. Fuller, Mrs. E. A. Prentice.

The following officers were elected at the afternoon session: Chairman, Mrs. C. K. Hale, Middletown, former state vice chairman; vice chairman, Mrs. Charles B. Lund, Groton; recording secretary, Mrs. W. F. Maylott, Derby; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary S. Pennoyer, New Haven; treasurer, Mrs. F. H. Shepard New Haven; state committee for 1924-25, Mrs. Oscar Phelps, of Hartford; Mrs. G. E. Noble, of Bridgeport, Mrs. Charles Davis, of Waterbury, Mrs. Henry Cole, of Middletown and Mrs. Edward Gagel, of New Haven.

REMARKABLE RECOVERY OF MRS. SPINK

Gives Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Full Credit

Minnesota Junction, Wis.—"I was under treatment, but nothing seemed to help me, and I was run-down and so weak that I had to remain in bed much of the time and was like an invalid. I had pains in my abdomen and in the female organs, and my stomach bothered me. My husband saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised, thought it must be good, and brought it home to me and advised me to try it. After taking one bottle I was able to eat, and after six bottles I was doing my own work, which I hadn't been able to do for years. I have a new baby who is doing nicely, and I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and feeling better than I have for four years. The medicine is surely wonderful and a good thing to have in the house."—Mrs. GEORGE SPINK, Minnesota Junction, Wisconsin.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of the Compound reports 98 per cent. benefited.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Just fifty years ago this week the then new street lights in Greeneville were turned on for the first time. Some 60 gas and gasoline lamps had been erected in that section of Norwich, and, for the first time, Greeneville was lighted at night. Gas lamps were used on the lower road and the upper road was equipped with gasoline lamps. The same week word came from Jewett City that a division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians had been organized in that place with Cornelius Murphy as the first president. This made in all five divisions in New London county with a total membership of 400. The old probate court building was sold at auction a half century ago this week to the Dime Savings Bank, the property being bid in for the bank by William C. Osgood at a purchase price of $7,300. Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Bulletin of the last week in October, 1874 are as follows:

Monday, Oct. 26, 1874—Last evening about half past eight a tenement owned by Huntington Rolling company and occupied by a family named Ryan was discovered to be on fire in an upper room. Assistance was summoned and after much labor it was put out. The house was damaged somewhat, as well as the furniture. A child sleeping in the room where the fire broke out was taken out unharmed.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians seems to be spreading in this country. On Friday evening last, another division of the order was organized, this one being in Jewett City. The following officers were elected: President, Cornelius Murphy; vice president, Patrick Dolan; general secretary, James Mullens; treasurer, John O'Sullivan. There are at present five lodges in this county, which number 400 members.

The old probate court was sold at auction Saturday, pursuant to notice. There were quite a number of bidders at the beginning of the sale but they soon gave way to Dr. Charles Osgood and William C. Osgood, who were bidding for the banks they severally represent and who ran the figures up to a very respectable height. The property was finally struck off to William C. Osgood in behalf of the Dime Savings bank for $7,300. This property was once a bank and will probably be now converted to its old use again.

Tuesday, Oct. 27, 1874—Allen C. Platt, only son of C. B. Platt of this city died at the residence of his father yesterday, aged 24 years. For a number of years he was employed in this office, having acquired within its walls a thorough knowledge of all branches of the printing business.

Forty out of 60 new gas lamps designed to be put up in Greeneville have been received. These lamps are of a new pattern, as they burn gasoline. A small receptacle holds gasoline enough to burn thirteen hours, making a very brilliant flame. These will be filled half full and when the gasoline is consumed the flames will of course go out. The lamps which are to be put up where gas is used will be of the globe pattern. In this connection it may be said that the lamp frames in Franklin street have been taken down for repairs.

On what we regarded the best information was stated that W. H. W. Campbell had sailed for Europe, but his appearance yesterday in town must have led people to believe that he had made the shortest trip over and back on record. The report arose from Mr. Campbell's absence from town for several days.

Wednesday, Oct. 28, 1874—An exceedingly pleasant time was had at the residence of the Rev. Mr. Twiss last evening, upon the occurance of his annual reception. This happens to be the 7 years of the 28th anniversary of Mr. Twiss's wedding and the circumstance lent interest and meaning to the occasion. A very large number of friends and parishioners gathered in the pleasant parlors of the house, tendering to Mr. and Mrs. Twiss their warm felicitations and giving themselves up to an evening of social enjoyment.

There is an engine on Central wharf in Button and Peale's factory which probably consumes the least coal for its size of any in town. It runs nominally at 25 horse power, having however, a bigger capacity, and its fuel costs less than $1.25 a day.

A temperance meeting will be held in the chapel connected with the First Congregational church, on Wednesday evening at 7 1-2 o'clock. It will be addressed by the Rev. E. H. Pratt, secretary of the State Temperance union and there will be singing by Mr. Morse of Worcester, Mass.

Thursday, Oct. 29, 1874—Last evening this gentlemen, who proposes to form a rifle club met pursuant to adjournment in the mayor's office to receive the report of the committee which was presented by E. F. Ripley. The draft of by-laws was read and accepted and the following officers were elected: president, James Lloyd Greene; first vice president, E. F. Ripley; second vice president, Geo H. W. Birge; secretary and treasurer, Frank H. Young. Committees were appointed to see to hiring a suitable room and to make other arrangements. The club is now composed of 36 members and means by practice to make a handsome showing by spring.

John F. Trumbull of Stonington died yesterday morning at the advanced age of 73 years. Mr. Trumbull has always been a very prominent man in this section of the state and was in fact well known all over the state. He has several times represented Stonington in the legislature and had always taken an active and influential part in politics. His funeral will be held Friday.

It appears that all of the liquor dealers in town paid last May when they began business a government tax of $25 for retailers, $100 for wholesalers and $200 for refiners. This money if the license law is enforced and they are obliged to stop selling cannot be refunded by ahe United States government and will therefore prove a dead loss to them.

Friday, Oct. 30, 1874—Through the courtesy of Capt. Whaley we were permitted to ride through Greeneville last evening to inspect the new lamps which have been recently set up in that village. They were lighted for the first time last evening and the heretofore dark streets of that suburb were refulgent with the rays of gas while the upper street is lighted with gasoline, a light furished by the New England Gas company.

There is on exhibition in Ripley's window a fine crayon picture of the venerable George Giddings of West Hartford, and for many years a resident of Norwich and Preston. He was one of the old members of St. James Lodge and for many years before its charter was surrendered its secretary.

After the 31st of October the law requiring the closing of all liquor saloons at midnight from that date forward will go into effect and it is understood will be strictly enforced by the police.

Saturday, Oct. 31, 1847—Last evening the annual social or church tea party of the Central Baptist church was held in the vestry of the church. was held in the vestry of the church. There were about 100 persons there and it would be hard to find a party where there was more sociability and real pleasure. The tea was drunk at six and the rest of the evening was spent in social amusement.

The gas fixtures are being put in at the Park church and on Thursday the gas was turned on for some purpose connected with that work. It was afterwards turned off and the workmen supposing that no more use would be made of the gas until the next day, went away without plugging up some of pipes to which the fixtures were to be attached. In the evening however the gas was turned on for the chapel and of course the gas rushed out through the open pipes and filled the church very rapidly. Fortunately it was discovered, windows were opened and the gas turned off before any damage was done.

The Rev. R. S. Storrs, D. D. of Brooklyn, N. Y., whose brilliant and able sermon before the recent Congregational council at New Haven has brought him so prominently before the country, has been invited to preach the dedication sermon of the Park church, the time for its formal and public opening being near at hand.

ASHFORD

For nine years Allen B. Lincoln, now residing in Ashford, was a prominent resident of New Haven. Friday's New Haven Journal and Courier paid him the following compliment editorially:

The republicans of Ashford have given Allen B. Lincoln a nomination for the Hartford legislature. That this cyclone of reform should have consented to accept a nomination from any party short of an angelic host is only less surprising than that the "old guard" type of party leaded—and doubtless Ashford has such—should have allowed the ex-prohibition editor to go to the post. One cant imagine the "machine" welcoming the presence of this vital person under the great white dome, with his disposition for knowing "why," his power of massing figures and facts where they will do the most good, and his inability to keep still when Denmark confesses to insanitary conditions.

Nothing but the spread of independent sentiment can explain Allen Lincoln's candidacy. The number who don't mind being a bit irregular if it will improve matters is multiplying. There is to be more of it in state and nation.

Someone should tell Ashford people that Opportunity at last raps on its door. It is surprising how many people there are who have never heard of Ashford. It lies near Willimantic, it has three post offices; it is in a prospectous agricultural district. It is Ashford that has lately dedicated a Community house costing over $100,000—the gift of a child of hers who went to the great city and achieved possessions, not however to dull his gratitude and affection for the noble New England town that gave him birth. These things we know but not many.

However, Allen Lincoln everybody knows. If the citizens of Ashford drop their politics long enough to elect this able, steam-engine lover of his country, with whom we do not always agree, they will be represented by one of the half-dozen ablest men in the lower house. He is a good mixer, he knows the history of state and nation, he is a stranger to fear, a debater to take blows and give them. No one will ask where Ashford is by the time the session is half over. If anyone can put it on the map Mr. Lincoln can.

LIBERTY HILL

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Roode, their daughter Eva and Ernest Palmer were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. Roode's son, Delands and Mrs. Roode of Westerly.

Mrs. Clifford B. Thompson, drove a party of teachers to New London Friday to attend the state convention of teachers.

Mrs. Marion Bentley returned with Mrs. Clifford Thompson from Willimantic Thursday and remained as a week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson. Miss Bentley is a senior at Willimantic Normal school, where she is specializing in junior high school work.

Rev. E. P. Mathewson urged all to attend church Sunday, Nov. 2, when in common with the churches throughduties and privileges as citizens of out the country he will preach on our these United States.

Herbert Tennant has done good work on stone walls in some of his back fields. In addition, brush has been cut and trees carefully trimmed. Mr. Tennant is employed all day at Sullivan's quarry in Bradford, therefore his farmink must all be done at a very early or a very late hour.

It is of interest to note that the thirteen cows owned by Mr. Luther of Ludlow are descendants of a brindle cown once owned by Robert P. Palmer.

Continued dry weather coupled with the menacing forest fire situation which has existed for a considerable period led to the extension of a recently promulgated partial ban on hunting and fishing to include all of the woodlands of New Hampshire.

PIMPLES LASTED NEARLY A YEAR

Face Disfigured. Lost Sleep. Cuticura Heals.

"Pimples broke out over my chin causing terrible itching and heat of skin. They kept growing larger and redder, and the irritation caused me to scratch them. This made my face very sore and it was disfigured for some time. The trouble lasted for nearly a year.

"I tried all kinds of skin remedies but without success. Finally I decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Blanche Lord, 24 Cameron Ave., W. Somerville, Mass.

Use Cuticura to get rid of dandruff.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Ointment (25 and 50c.) are sold throughout the world. Cuticura Soap shaves without mug. Try our new Shaving Stick.

NEW LONDON DRUG SELLERS FINED; USERS GO TO NORWICH STATE FARM

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 31.—Federal narcotic law enforcement agents are in New London and they are determined to clean up any situation that involves the sale of heroin, cocoaine and kindred drugs that create the habit of using these drugs. The officers here are some of the most experienced the government has in its employ and have had years of work in their lives in various sections of the country. They are of Irish, Italian and American nationality. They ensnared two sellers on North Bank street last night and today brought them before the police court where they were fined $100 each and sent to jail for six months. The convicted persons are Julian Graves and Elizabeth Fernandez. They were found at 210 North Bank street where the agents bought heroin and had the drug in their possession in court today as evidence to convict. Two others, frequenters of 210 were sent to the Norwich state farm for inebriates where they will be treated for six months. They are Sam Fernadez and Julia Graves. All are negroes and they are supposed to be or have been associated with the peddlers of the habit-forming drugs in Providence. They were associated with a gang that came here from Providence some few years ago and who then was jailed or driven from the city. If report is to be credited, there are still places and persons engaged in the sale of the same drugs that are now being brought to the attention of the public. The Chinese were the only dealers in these drugs, it is claimed, for many years, but the negroes are now imitating them.

The upper end of North Bank street, formerly Bradley street, has been the source of varied kinds of wicked connivance and crime. It is a section of the city not much travelled except by persons residing there or by those who have direct business connection with the residents of the section. The crimes that have emenated in that section vary in degree of seriousness from stealing and selling liquor to murder, for the last named crime has come from the upper end of the street several times. In general many of the people living in the streets at the far upper end and lateral thereto are some of the toughest this city can claim. While this is true, the lower end, or State street outlet of the street, is clean morally and the business conducted along the thoroughfare is respectable and prosperous.

Joe Sparkowsky was for years a prosperous farmer in Waterford. Last night he was detected bringing alcohol into this city and was arrested by Police Sergeants Hick and Cavanaugh. In the police court here today he was fined $150. He paid his fine, so a jail term of thirty days was suspended over his head, to be put into execution if there is reason for it. Sparkowsky is the father of four children that range in age from a few years to a few months. He is a young man, but his ambition to make money seems to have induced him to take a chance and that chance led to his downfall.

Reuben Lubchansky today sold property on the east side of Bank street, between Howard street and Lane A, to Max N. Abrams. The property was formerly owned by Attorneys John C. Geary and Marion R. Davis and was sold to Abrams for $23,000.

Gertrude B. Crowley has sold to Arthur and Bessie Elgart a house and lot on Wightman street.

William H. Bush has sold the undivided one-half interest in a dwelling house on Hempstead street to Ida M. Anderson.

An automobile owned and operated by Stephen J. Brodasky, 2 Briggs street, struck Rose Beldini, a child residing at 62 Bayonet street, this afternoon, when the child was attempting to cross Main street near Mill street. Broadsky placed the child in his car and took her to the office of a physician where it was found that she had sustained injuries no more serious than a severe bruise to her left foot.

Ralph Thomas, 116 Genesee avenue of New Haven, came to New London this morning and took possession of his automobile, which had been placed in a garage by the police, after the car had been parked on Hall street three days.

The funeral of William H. Morris was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of his son, George R. Morris, 116 Ocean avenue and was attended by many mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. J. Beveridge Lee, pastor of the Second Congregational church. Relatives of Mr. Morris acted as bearers. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

The funeral of Frank A. Eldridge was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at his home, 8 Beckwith street. The services were conducted by Rev. Geo. R. Atha, pastor of the Groton Heights Baptist church. Among the mourners was a delegation of members of Pequot lodge of Odd Fellows, who acted as bearers and conducted the committal service at Jordan cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary C. E. Tinker, widow of Matthew Tinker, late of Chesterfield, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Robert D. Taylor, 3 Bristol street and was attended by a large gathering of mourners. The services were conducted by Rev. Chester H. Howe, pastor of the First Baptist church. The bearers were Edward and Charles Ashcroft and Edward and Charles Powers. Burial was in Lakes Pond cemetery.

A female passer of worthless checks has operated in New London this week, it developed late this afternoon. The woman was successful in her fraudulent scheme, for she obtained merchandise and money from several New London firms. The woman declared herself to the victimized merchants as being "J. J. Reynolds," and claimed to reside at 91 Union street. After making a purchase the woman tendered a check for an amount larger than the purchase represented and with the difference in cash between the purchase price of the goods obtained and the face of the check the woman left the store. Later, when the checks were received at the Union Bank & Trust company, it developed that the woman did not have an account at the bank and neither was she known there. The scheme of the woman was revealed when Rockwell & Co., Inc., dealers in ladies' wear, State street, informed the police of their having been victimized and inquiry at the Union street house brought the information that no one of the name given by the woman was known there. It was also revealed that employes of stores other than Rockwell & Co., had visited the Union street house to obtain information as to the whereabouts of the check passer. The woman is described as being about 26 or 27, plainly dressed and wearing glasses.

Capt. and Mrs. George C. Parkhurst have returned to their home in Washington, having spent a fortnight as guests of Capt. Parkhurst's father, C. D. Parkhurst, 121 Hempstead street.

Never has Hallowe'en been celebrated with more enthusiasm and hilarity than tonight, when youth pervaded the principal streets of the city. The boys and girls, all in costume, attracted the attention of hundreds of men and women who gathered to watch the antics and observe the make-up of the celebrators. At 8 o'clock a parade of the juveniles started from the Y. M. C. A. and paraded through the principal streets. Besides the marchers hundreds of children crowded the streets in varied costumes, and amused the throng of onlookers. The celebrators continued their pranks until late in the evening. At private homes and at the hotels parties celebrated with dancing and social gatherings.

Since the city council voted to retire Lieut. Benjamin Beebe of the police department, there has developed a scramble for the place that will become vacated Dec. 1. Every serreant is seeking the advancement excepting one, Sergeant Nelson Smith, making the declaration that he does not desire to be promoted, but rather would prefer to remain as street sergeant. The other sergeants, James C. Sullivan, James D. Gaffney, Frank Howard, Samuel Hick, Patrick Murphy and John Cavanaugh being in a receptive mood, with Sergeant Sullivan being the oldest in years of service.

Anticipating that one of the sergeants will be promoted to lieutenant vacancy will exist in the ranks of the sergeants and there are unlimited seekers for that berth. Principal among those seeking the advancement are Patrolmen Frank Philobenn, William Babcock, Ernest Opperman, George Perkins, Carlos Seglenitzew and Walter Rehn. It is entirely within the province of City Manager William A. Holt to make the appointment of both lieutenant and sergeant and that appointment will not be announced until close to the date of retirement of Lieutenant Beebe. It is known, however, that the city manager is in favor of Sergeant Hick for the position to be vacated by Lieutenant Beebe and that he favors the appointment of Patrolman Babcock for the office of sergeant. However, there are several of the patrolmen who have been members of the force for a greater number of years than Babcock and feel that they are eligible to appointment.

BRANDEGEE WILL ADMITTED TO PROBATE FRIDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Oct. 31.—The will of Senator Frank Bosworth Brandegee was known to be invalidated because of the death of Augustus Brandegee, executor and Helen Brandegee Zalinski, sole heir, father and sister, respectively of the senator, since the drawing of the instrument nearly 20 years ago. However, it was admitted to probate this afternoon by Judge Arthur B. Calkins. The admission of the will was not contested and the hearing was attended by numerous attorneys, who represented banks that had business relations with Senator Brangegee a number of years, and Mrs. Daisy Brandegee Knowlton, New Haven, niece of Senator Brandegee, who was represented by Attorney William T. Connor. Another interested attendant was W. Don Lundy, of Washington, secretary to Senator Brandegee for a number of years. Moses Gray Zalinski, brother-in-law of Senator Brandegee, who petitioned for the admission of the will as a creditor of Senator Brandegee and that administration might be granted, was not in attendance. W. Don Lundy and the National Bank of Commerce, this city, were appointed administrators and their respective bonds were fixed at $25,000. James R. May and Attorney Warren G. Burrows were appointed appraisers. Mr. May had been for many years agent of real estate owned in this city by Senator Brandegee.

VOTERS, ATTENTION!

Reasons Why You Should Vote For La Follette and Wheeler:

I. They offer equal chances for every man and woman under the flag.
II. The only candidates who stand for a clean Democratic Government.
III. The only candidates nominated with public approval.
IV. The only candidates without Wall St. indorsement.
V. The only candidates who have been in public service and stood the test.
VI. The only candidates who are clean cut Americans. How about their opponents?

I. John W. Davis' nomination was a gift of Wall St., as he was in the Morgan Service.
II. He now breaks away from the Democratic platform and endorses a League of Nations which is Detrimental to the best interest of America, as founded by Washington.
III. Both Davis and Coolidge have been endorsed by the Klan, Imperial Wizard Evans. Do you want to support Klan Kandidates?
IV. Senator Brookhart of Iowa a Republican, after learning of Dawes' record in connection with banking graft demands that the Republican National Committee withdraw his name.
V. Senator Wheeler charged President Coolidge in his speech at Sacramento, Cal., that after Coolidge as Governor of Massachusetts, in 1920 authorized the deposit of state moneys beyond the legal limit in the Cosmopolitan Trust Co., of Boston, Max Mitchell, the bank head contributed to Coolidge campaign fund the sum of $5,000. Senator Wheeler challenges Coolidge to deny it. Coolidge still silent.
VI. Wheeler challenges any republican to meet him on any platform and deny the statement that there has been no other administration as venial and corrupt as the present republican regime.

Does any honest voter want to sanction the continuation of such government by his vote? If so, he not only should study the constitution but examine his conscience.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS STRONG.

New York, Oct. 31.—Stock prices developed impressive strength in today's market, which shook off the restraint recently imposed by election uncertainties. Net gains of 1 to 6 points were scattered throughout the list with practically all the speculative leaders quoted at the highest prices since early October.

While public participation was on a broadening scale, the large bulk of the trading continued in the hands of professional operators with short covering playing an important part in the day's transactions. Twenty-five issues attained new peak prices for the year, including American Smelting, United States Cast Iron Pipe, May Department Stores, Sears-Roebuck, Montgomery-Ward, United Drug, Commercial Solvents "A" and "B", Loose-Wiles Biscuit and Famous Players Preferred.

Spirited bidding developed for the standard industrials, in some of which a large short interest is supposed to exist. American Can, selling ex-dividend, 1 1-4, was lifted to 135 5-8, which represents a net gain of nearly 4 points on the day. Baldwin advanced 3 5-8 points to 131 7-8. United States Steel common closed 1 1-4 higher at 109 3-8 after selling slightly above that figure.

While industrials and specialties were foremost in the rise, a good demand also developed for some of the railroad shares. Southern Railway, Atlantic Coast Line, Chesapeake and Ohio issues, Chicago and Northwestern, Hudson and Manhattan, Missouri Pacific preferred, St. Louis Southwestern, Wabash preferred and Western Pacific preferred closed at net gains of 1 to 2 points while the "Katy" issues, Colorado and Southern and Pittsburgh and West Virginia preferred broke through their previous top prices of the year.

Mail order and merchandising issues continued their uninterrupted advance. Associated Dry Goods common standing out with a net gain of 5 1-2 points at 128 1-4. Sears-Roebuck showed a net gain of two points at 128 1-2. General Baking soared six points to 153. Other individual strong spots were General Electric, the Commercial Solvents issues, Loose-Wiles Biscuit, Union Tank Car, United States Industrial Alcohol preferred and Virginia Railway and Power, all up 3 to 5 points.

The only outstanding weak spot in the list was Mexican Seaboard Oil, which broke 4 points to 20 1-8 on reports that some of the Mexican wells had run into salt water. Woolworth dropped about a point on profit taking.

Call money held steady at 2 per cent all day with plenty of funds available at that figure. The time money market was quiet with no change in rates. Commercial paper was fairly active within a range of 3 1-4 to 3 3-4 per cent.

Foreign exchanges maintained a firm tone, demand sterling ruling above $4.52 and French francs around 5 1-4 cents. Part of the recent demand for sterling is reported to be in anticipation of the return to London of British capital which migrated when the labor ministry took control.

Additional evidence that the conservative victory in the British elections had been favorably received in financial circles was given by the advance in United Kingdom issues, which sold at the highest levels of the year. Contrasting price movements marked trading in other foreign obligations. Brazil Central Railway 7s moved up 1 1-4. Mexican 6s and 4s of 1910; assented, sold at new low prices for the year, as small blocks were unloaded. U. S. government bonds were firm, with the treasury 4 1-4s, and some of the Liberty issues duplicating their 1924 high prices.

Among the most active railroad issues were the "Katy" adjustment 5s which achieved a new peak for the year at 66. Demand for the rail mortgages also embraced Chicago & Eastern Illinois 5s, Kansas City Southern 5s and Norfolk and Western Convertible 6s. Trading also was active in other sections of the list, with New York Edison 6 1-2s and Goodyear 8s selling at the year's top prices.

New bond offerings today were well received, the $25,000,000 Brooklyn Edison issue being oversubscribed.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Buying on the part of houses with eastern connections led to a lively upturn in wheat prices today after considerable weakness during the early dealings. Closing quotations on wheat were firm at the same as yesterday's finish to 1c higher. December 1.41 3-4 to 1.41 7-8 and May 1.47 3-8 to 1.47 1-2, with corn ranging from 3-8c off, and provisions varying from 45 cents setback to a rise of 27 cents.

Eastern interests were credited with having purchased more than 4,000,000 bushels of wheat. The buying began at a time when the market was showing the natural bearish effect of much lower quotations from Liverpool and of Argentine forecasts pointing to likelihood of beneficial rains.

Failure to maintain top prices in the wheat market, however, developed near the end of the board of trade session. Owners who attempted to realize profits found it difficult to unload.

Although favorable weather conditions brought about rather heavy selling of corn, the market proved quickly responsive to wheat strength. Oats followed corn, but lagged on the upturns. Weakness of hog values eased down most deliveries of provisions.

CURB MARKET.

Prairie Oil and Gas, which broke 20 points yesterday to 195, rallied to 204 and then sagged to 201 1-2. Cities Service common soared ten points to 157 1-2 while Imperial of Canada, Ohio Oil, Standard Oils of Indiana and Ohio, and Southern Pipe Line showed net gains of 1 to 2 and a half points.

United Bakeries was the individual feature in the industrial list, adding 15 points to its 8 point gain of yesterday by touching 145 but it fell back to 141 at the close. Ward Baking B closed 3 3-4 higher at 40 1-4. Tower Radio climber 4 points to 24 1-2, the other issues in that group showing little change. Public offering of Thermiodyne Radio was heavily over-subscribed.

Strength and activity of American Power and Light, which closed nearly 3 points higher at 45 7-8, featured the public utilities.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Oct. 31.—Bond prices moved upward today as trading expanded under the influence of a vigorous advance in the stock market.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germ that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

CIVILIZATION DOOMED

But Millions Now Living Will Never Die

After centuries of laborious effort to better conditions, man's civilization is nearing complete collapse. Selfishness has gone to seed, and the harvest of destruction has begun.

WAR has bankrupted Europe and demoralized America; yet the nations go feverishly on, preparing for more war.

DISASTER stalks abroad, and all nations are rushing madly to the greatest time of trouble the world has ever known.

THE WORLD'S darkest hour is just before its greatest blessing. Hope for the people lies in the kingdom of God, now at hand.

WARRENVILLE

The Ashford Babcock band gave Stephen Tift a pleasant surprise Tuesday evening, when they gave him a serenade. Mr. Tift is the oldest living member of the band. During the evening Allen B. Lincoln and Rev. Mr. Coolidge made brief addresses and there was singing. People from Stafford, Woodstock and Union were present beside a good number of local residents. Cake and ice cream were served.

Ellen Mathewson entertained the Ladies' Aid society Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butler of Hartford were local callers this week.

Dick Lemke of Oakland, Conn., was the guest of his cousin, Lena Brewer, over Sunday.

Mrs. Millikin and children of Providence were guests of H. F. Scott Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Bebbington and son have called on Mr. and Mrs. E. L. James, formerly of Warrenville, at their new home, The Nutmega, in Brooklyn, Ct.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Marble and family of Worcester are at their summer home for a week.

Mrs. May Weeks, who has been in New Hartford for the past three months, is visiting her son, Ellsworth Weeks.

Mrs. Leon Gardner is ill at her home. Her mother, Mrs. Ariel Greene, is caring for her.

Quinebaug Pomona grange held an all-day session here Oct. 26. A very fine program was given in the afternoon. The Ladies' Aid society assisted the local grange in serving a chicken dinner.

Mr. Spaulding and son of Pennsylvania, Frank Tyler of Providence and Edward Fields of Hartford, who came on this week for the hunting, returned home much disappointed when they learned of the governor's proclamation.

Guests Sunday at Jack Arnold's included his mother and brother from New Britain.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Burdick and son Vernon of West Hartland were visitors Sunday at T. E. Bebbington's.

POETRY

THE WISDOM OF FOLLY.

The cynics say that every rose
Is guarded by a thorn that grows
To spoil our posies;
But I no pleasure therefore lack;
I keep my hands behind my back
When smelling roses.

'Tis proved that Sodom's appletarts
Have ashes as component parts
For those that steal them;
My soul no disillusion seeks;
I love my apples' rosy cheeks,
But never peel them.

Though outwardly a gloomy shroud,
The inner half of every cloud
Is bright and shining;
I therefore turn my clouds about
And always wear them inside out
To show the lining.

Our idols' feet are made of clay,
So stony-hearted critics say
With scornful mockings;
My images are deified
Because I keep them well supplied
With shoes and stockings.

My modus operandi this—
To take no heed of what's amiss;
And not a bad one;
Because as Shakespeare used to say,
A merry heart goes twice the way
That tires the sad one.
—Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler.

IF I CAN LIVE.

If I can live,
To make some pale face brighter, and to give
A second luster to some tear-dimmed eye
Or e'en impart
One throb of comfort to an aching heart,
Or cheer some wayworn soul in passing by;

If I can lend
A strong hand to the fallen, or defend
The right against a single envious strain,
My life though bare,
Perhaps, of much that seemeth dear and fair
To us of earth, will not have been in vain.

The purest joy
Most near to Heaven, far from earth's alloy,
Is bidding cloud give way to sun and shine;
And 'twill be well,
If on that day of days the angels tell
Of me, she did her best for one of Thine
—Helen Hunt Jackson, in Boston Globe

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Clerk—Well, Johnnie, what do you want—chocolate?

Johnnie—Yes; but I have to get [illegible]

Squire—Did you send for me, my Lord?

Launcelot—Yes, make haste. Bring the can opener. I've a flea in my knight clothes!—Good Hardware.

Jane was being scolded for some misdemeanor and said rather sadly: Please, mamma, don't say so many words to me.—Good Hardware.

Mother, Henry you take care of the children for an hour. I'm going out to have a tooth pulled.

Henry—Say, you mind the child and I'll go out and have all of mine pulled.—Detroit News.

Jack—Can you cook and sew and sweep and keep house?

Mary (expectently)—Yes, indeed!

Well, when we're married you oughtn't to have any trouble finding a job!—The Progressive Grocer.

A Civil war veteran had spent a week at a New York hotel. When he went to pay his bill, the clerk soldier replied.

Well, I won't charge you anything. You are the first private I have ever met.—Judge.

Little Gertrude somewhat astonished her grandmother the other day by asking whether he was her mother's brother.

"Why, no, Gertrude," said the old gentleman; "I am her father."

"Then," demanded Gertrude indignantly, "why don't you send her to bed sometimes without any supper?" —Twice Told Tales.

At the beginning of 1924 there were cars and motor trucks and 1,078,000 motorcycles in operation in the entire world, according to a compilation made by the United States department of commerce. In the United States there were 13,484,939 passenger cars, 1,796,355 trucks and 171,568 motorcycles.

No less than 60 per cent of a tree is wasted in its conversation into lumber. At present the twigs, branches, bark, roots, sawdust and plank and log trimmings are entirely lost. A new process for the utilization of these waste products and the production of synthetic lumber is being tried out in the United States. The process is a conversion of the waste into a cellulose compound of a plastic nature that can be pressed or molded into all conceivable shapes and balks from boards to rafters. The development of the process has been taken in hand by the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association. If it is commercially practicable it may be extremely valuable as a step to the conservation of the world's timber supplies.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF
MRS. ANDREW HEIBEL,
Who Died Nov. 2, 1923.

What would we give, her hand to clasp,
her happy face to see,
To hear her voice, and see her smile, that meant so much to us.
She suffered much, she murmured not,
as we watched her day by day,
Until at last, with broken hearts, she left us and passed away.
MRS. HERMAN BRADLAW AND FAMILY.

CARD OF THANKS.

To all who were a source of comfort and aid to me during the illness and after the death of my beloved husband, Thomas Goven, for the beautiful flowers, and every act of kindness, I wish to express my heartfelt thinks.
MRS. THOMAS GOVEN.
Atawaugan, Oct. 31, 1924.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF HUSBAND AND FATHER,
WILLIAM A. KELLY,
Who Died Nov. 1, 1923.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WORKS IN MANY CIVIC IMPROVEMENT LINES

What lines of endeavor in the past year have been in which the Chamber of Commerce has worked for the advancement of the community as a whole and for service to the individual are given in the annual report prepared by President H. M. Lerou and Secretary John J. O'Rourke which was presented to the members at the banquet and meeting Thursday evening.

President's Foreword.

The annual report is preceded by the following foreword from President Lerou, addressed to the members:

This annual report of the activities of your organization during the past year is submitted to you for the sole purpose of presenting some of the activities of the chamber during that time. The report is well worthy of your consideration.

For two years the honor of presiding over the activities of the chamber has been given to me. Because of the close contact I have had with the chamber, and as a consequence, I can say with authority that the activities noted in this report cover only the principal endeavors of your organization.

The time consumed in all the efforts of the chamber and the every day endeavor made to promote the general welfare of this community is something that cannot be adequately expressed in a report.

The work of the chamber is twofold; one for the advancement of the community as a whole; the other the giving of service to the individual.

In terminating my second year as president, I take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation to the members for the honor conferred upon me; for the loyal support given me; and for the co-operation which I have experienced from the citizens generally.

Report For the Year.

The report for the year, which is signed by President Lerou and Secretary O'Rourke is given as follows:

Equitable Taxation.

During the past three years the chamber has petitioned for special appropriations for the purpose of securing a tax map of the town. An amount, totalling $20,000, has been appropriated by the citizens and it is expected that a complete map of the town, excepting farm acreages, will be secured for the sum appropriated. The efforts of the chamber during the past year were to determine the best method to recommend to the citizens for the installation of an equitable system for tax assessments that would prove fair and justifiable to every taxpayer.

In order that this question could be thoroughly considered several conferences were attended by representatives from the manufacturers, merchants, Building & Loan association, Rotary and Lions clubs. An open citizens meeting, held on May 2nd in the town hall, was addressed by State Tax Commissioner W. H. Blodgett and T. M. Russell of Middletown. The result of this meeting showed a strong sentiment in favor of placing the project before the citizens at a special town meeting. This meeting was held in the town hall May 13th, and a committee of five citizens, empowered to enlarge itself to a committee of fifteen, was duly authorized to make an analysis of the present method of tax assessments and to recommend to the citizens some equitable system for the purpose of creating fairness to all tax payers. This committee is now doing its work and in due time will make a report of its findings and submit its recommendations to the citizens.

Thames River.

The chamber continued its efforts for a deeper channel of the river from Allyn's Point to Norwich. The members have been advised from time to time during the year, through our monthly letter, of the continued opposition to this project from a member of the United States Board of Army Engineers. A conference was requested and granted by Colonel H. C. Newcomer of New York which was held May 28th. President H. M. Lerou, Hon. E. W. Higgins and Lucius Briggs attended this conference and endeavored to convince Colonel Newcomer of the justice of the request for a deeper channel.

Requests were also made and granted for a second hearing on this project before the full Board of Army Engineers in Washington. This conference has not been held as yet. Permission was granted the chamber to review the arguments in opposition to this development. It will be necessary to go to the Providence office to ascertain these adverse conclusions before going to Washington. The chamber is still active on this project and every effort will be made to bring the matter to a successful issue.

State Park.

Believing that this section of the state was entitled to the privilege of enjoying the benefits of a state park for public recreation, and furthermore that an historical site might be preserved for future generations, the directors petitioned the State Park and Forest Commission to give consideration to this matter. The commission visited the location of the proposed park in company with a committee from the directors, and were favorably impressed with the beauty and the historical value of the site. The commission proposes to take action and the proposition will undoubtedly come before the next legislative session.

On January 22nd a committee from the local chamber conferred with the directors of the New London Chamber of Commerce to place the proposition before them in order to secure the support and co-operation of our neighboring city. New London stands ready to give its strength to secure this site for a park.

It is only right and just that all honor be given A. L. Peale, one of our directors, for the advancement of this project. As is well known Mr. Peale is an authority on colonial history and Indian lore pertaining to Eastern Connecticut.

New Industries.

During the past year the H. A. Allyn Rubber Corporation began the manufacture of an inner tube for automobile tires along new lines of construction. The corporation is meeting with success and is now planning the extension of both product and plant which will mean the employment of additional labor.

The Connecticut Belting Company, organized by local men, has commenced the manufacture of belting, adding another leather industry to the two which have operated in Norwich for years.

The Thames Textile Company has started operations of the manufacture of novelty textile draperies. While none of these new industries are large, they are healthy, and add materially to the diversified manufactured product of our community.

Earnest efforts have been made by the chamber during the past year, both by correspondence and personal contact when possible to interest prospective industries to locate in Norwich. The competition from cities is keen in securing new industries and the efforts of other organizations, similar to ours, are concentrated to create good conditions in their respective communities that will attract industry. Norwich must meet this competition and this can only be accomplished through persistent efforts to make Norwich as strong a competitor as possible for the acquisition of new industries.

Community Advertising.

Six artistic metal road signs have been contracted for to be erected at the entrances to Norwich and will soon be installed. These signs are designed to be as permanent as possible. They will be an improvement over the wooden signs, some of them in a disreputable condition, now placed at the entrances to our community. Co-operating with the chamber in this project are the Rotary and Lions clubs, indicating the united support to the chamber from these two organizations for civic betterments.

In addition to these signs the directors have contracted towards the maintenance of an attractive illuminated sign-board erected in Groton at the eastern entrance of the Thames river bridge. The location is ideal and many thousands pass this signboard in the course of a year. The signboard is directly on the main highway from Boston to New York and also can be seen from railroad trains.

Streets.

Attention of the city council has been called to the improper numbering of dwellings in some sections of the city. It is not only desirable but necessary from a civic point of view, that dwellings should be numbered in sequence and that proper street signs be permanently looked after.

Acting in a spirit of co-operation with His Honor, the Mayor, and the common council, when they requested suggestions from the public relative to revised parking regulations, the chamber presented certain recommendations which were noted in the July membership letter. These recommendations prepared by the streets committee of the chamber had the approval of the directors and were presented at the August meeting of the Retail Merchants' Associations and given their approval. Some of the suggestions were embodied in the revised parking regulations recently prepared by the city government.

It is generally conceded that the road-beds on Main street from Market street to Washington square; and on West Main street from Washington square to Thmes square are in a deplorable condition. Believing that the business section of our city should have good roads the street committee of the chamber recommended to the directors that an appropriation be petitioned to the finance committee of the city council to rebuild these road-beds. Your directors approved the recommendation and a petition was duly submitted. In view of the fact that a large number of petitions were presented for rebuilding streets in various parts of the city, the finance committee wisely placed an appropriation to rebuild West Main street from Thames square to Washington square this year. The work is now being done.

Civic Pride

The D. A. R. accomplished a notable work during the year when they had rosebushes planted in all the school yards of Norwich. This organization was represented and actively interested in several discussions held with a committee of the chamber which considered a tree planting program for Norwich. Residential streets of all classes are made beautiful with trees. The beauty of Norwich is greatly enhanced by the number of streets having shade trees. Undoubtedly further activity on this proposition will be made by the chamber.

Passenger Service

Continued efforts were made, through conferences with New Haven railroad officials for giving better passenger service from Norwich to New London in order to connect with trains to New York and Boston. Especially the need is apparent for an evening train from New London that will connect with the 5 p. m. train from New York to Boston. Assurances have been made by the railroad officials that consideration will be given Norwich upon the arrival of a new type of car to the New Haven railroad, one of which will be placed on the local line.

Dolphin Lights

The chamber requested the United States Lighthouse Service Depatment to place permanent dolphin light on the Thames river. Those that are replaced each year are often swept away from their position by the fleeting ice in the river, causing a serious menace to the boats of the Thames River line. We were informed that an extra federal appropriation would be necessary and would be included by the Lighthouse Service Department. The matter was taken up by the chamber with our representative in congress, Hon. R. P. Freeman.

Coal Rates

The directors through communications to the interstate commerce commission, approved, endorsed and urged the granting of through rail soal rates from West Virginia to New England points. This was done because of the belief that such an arrangement would prove beneficial to the industries of New England and Norwich in particular.

Christmas Tree

The chamber served as the co-ordinating agency for the erection and decoration of the Christmas tree placed in Union square during that holiday season. The city government, our local electrical contractors and merchants, and the Gas & Electrical department all contributed to make this affair the success that it was.

Band Concerts

Through Alderman E. LaRue Bliven, the directors petitioned the city government for an appropriation for the purpose of having a series of public band concerts during the summer season. The concerts provided entertainment for the general public and were enjoyed and appreciated by a large number of citizens.

Referends

Two referends, submitted by the United States chamber of commerce were acted upon during the year by the directors. The first was on the question of a national forestry policy in its relation to a conservation program for the nation's forests. The second on a national transportation policy as it related to a closer co-operative movement for the betterment of transportation through co-ordination of all traffic companies.

Eastern Connecticut Civic Association

Norwich Council, United Commercial Travellers have initiated and are fostering the organization of an association whose purpose is to promote the general welfare of this section of the state regarding public improvements.

The contemplated improvements consist of the elimination of dangerous highway curves, better protection for dangerous railroad crossings, greater width of bridges, better highways, and also taking up the question of securing every co-operation from the various towns for safety and direction of the automobile traffic throughout eastern Connecticut. The members of Norwich council circulating as they do throughout this section, are particularly instrumental in keeping alive the interest in this new civic organization.

The directors voted to co-operate in every way possible and to actively support the Eastern Connecticut Civic Association by having the chamber represented in its membership.

Buses

In accordance with the co-operation secured from other cities by the bus transportation companies, and realizing the need of providing a comfortable waiting room for the convenience of the travelling public, the chamber was instrumental in securing a local waiting room for all the busses operating from Norwich. Also permission was obtained from the city government to permit the busses to have reserved parking privileges at the bus station. Norwich, being a trading center needs all the transportation facilities that can be obtained. There are four bus lines giving service to the people who trade in Norwich, in addition to the service rendered by the street cars.

The good will and active co-operation of the Connecticut Motor Transportation Company was secured to provide busses to operate on certain days during the past summer from the city center to the center of Mohegan park. This beautiful park does not have the patronage of the general public that it deserves. It was an endeavor to bring the pleasures of the park nearer to the general public that the busses were asked to make a trial of the proposition.

New England Week

The chamber served as the co-ordinating agency for the display of locally made products in the local merchants' windows during the week of September 15th. Forty-one industries exhibited their products in as many merchants' windows. For certain reasons over which they had no control several industries were not able to exhibit their products. The co-operation shown by the manufacturers and merchants for this event was most commendable. The displays of the diversified products of Norwich were a revelation to a great many. It is indeed a fact that "The Success of Our Industries is the Success of Norwich." The New England Week did much to beget a loyal spirit for support to our New England factories. Norwich did her share.

Soldiers' Memorial

The dedication of the Soldiers' Memorial erected on Chelsea Parade by the town will be performed with all the pomp and ceremony that the occasion deserves. The project was one of the first things brought to the attention of the directors by President Lerou last year. Plans are being perfected for a celebration that will give honor and reverence to the memory of the sons of Norwich who were enrolled in the great World War Army of the United States. The chamber is serving as the co-ordinating agency for the many organizations participating in this dedication.

Extension of Street Car Service

The necessity for extending the car service to the entrance of Maplewood cemetery is apparent. Maplewood is becoming more and more used for burials because of the fact that the Yantic cemetery is practically filled. At present it means a walk of nearly a mile from the present terminal of the car line to Maplewood cemetery. President Lucius Storrs of the Connecticut company states that special permission will have to be granted by the state legislature and the matter will be presented before that body during the coming session. The chamber will continue its efforts to secure this needed extension.

Automobile Markers

The question of having the automobile numbers distributed from Norwich for this section of the state was placed before Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel by the chamber. It would seem that the distribution of these numbers from Norwich for eastern Connecticut would be more advantageous for a greater number than having to go elsewhere. Commissioner Stoeckel stated that an extra appropriation would be necessary to have numbers distributed from Norwich. There are four distributing centers for these numbers in Connecticut—Hartford, New Haven, Waterbury and New London. Further efforts will be made to have these markers distributed from Norwich.

In Conclusion

In conclusion, the activities herein recorded are briefly placed before you. This is not a record of the entire activities of the chamber for the past year. The chamber exists for service. Service to the community; to the individual; and to the stranger within our confines. There are many, many matters which daily consume the time and effort of some member of the chamber who is rendering a service to the community or for the community, that is not recorded in this report. The chamber is the one, big, active, local organization whose every effort is an endeavor to promote the interests of Norwich as a community; the individual in particular; and the stranger as well. Service is given to all in the altruistic belief that a city worth living in is worth working for. Norwich is indeed fortunate in having so many public spirited men of ability who have been willing to give their services and their talens to the general welfare of our community by giving their time to the civic affairs of Norwich through its chamber of commerce.

HALLOWE'EN MASQUERADE IS ENJOYED IN UNCASVILLE

A very pretty and enjoyable Hallowe'en masquerade was held on Thursday evening at the residence of George Hancock in Uncasville, with Miss Marian A. Hancock as hostess. The house was cleverly decorated in Hallowe'en effects, streamers and novelties of all sorts. Dancing and the usual Hallowe'en games were enjoyed during the evening.

Miss Dorothy Nay won the girls' prize for the best costume, while the boy's prize went to Romeyn Holdridge. Otis Fellows won the prize in the present guess.

Refreshments of punch, sandwiches, ice cream, nuts, assorted cakes, apples, and peanuts were served by Mrs. George Hancock assisted by Mrs. Chapman.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

ELKS.

New London lodge, No. 430, will hold "Carter night" at its meeting next week in honor of Grand Trustee Edward Carter of Hartford and the visit of the grand lodge officers. Guests at the big banquet which will be a feature of the evening will include Congressman R. P. Freeman, a member of No. 430; Past Grand Exalted Ruler James L. Nicholson of Springfield; James Clarkin of Hartford lodge, No. 19; Col. Thomas F. Dorsey, senior past exalted ruler of New London lodge, and Julian D. Moran, junior past exalted ruler.

Grand Trustee Carter will be presented a suitable gift in honor of his position and honors will be paid to Mr. Clarkin owner of Plant field, who contributed the use of the field for the Elks bazaar, to Congressman Freeman for his election to his seventh term in congress, to P. G. E. R. Nicholson, and to Col. Dorsey, the dean of past exalted rulers in the state for nearly thirty years.

FOREIGN WAR VETERANS.

Capt. Reuel W. Elton, for the past five years adjutant general of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in which position he has represented seven decades of America's foreign service veterans in 16 different countries, has left that organization to accept a position as district manager of Powder River, a government war film, depicting on the screen the story of America's part in the World war as seen by the cameramen of the U. S. Signal Corps. Elton will be accompanied through the states of Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota by Fred L. Dimes until recently editor of Foreign Service, the V. F. W. official magazine. John H. Wallace of Boston, Mass., veteran of the 5th division, A. E. F., has been designated as acting adjutant general to fill the office left vacant. Elton served through the war as a captain, Blue Ridge division. He wears the badge of the Legion of Honor.

ODD LADIES, M. U.

A large number of members of Loyal Victory lodge went to Westerly last week on the invitation of Loyal Progressive lodge, making the trip by automobile. The initiation and floor work was splendidly carried out, after which a turkey banquet was enjoyed. On the next meeting night Nov. 6th the lodge is to have a fancy article and food sale which will be in charge of the social committee.

FORESTERS

Court City of Norwich, No. 63, held a large and interesting meeting at which it was voted to hold a charity carnival for a couple of months and that every member would help out for it is for a good purpose. It was also voted to turn out Armistice day and every brother should turn out who can as the Foresters of America should make a good appearance on that day because it is a strictly an American society with the American flag for its emblem. Members from the surrounding towns will also be invited. Visitors from New London and New Haven attended the meeting which did not adourn until a late hour.

EXPECT BRANDEGEE ESTATE WILL PROVE BANKRUPT

It is understood that the late Senator Frank B. Brandegee's realty holdings in Washington and Maryland, which are said to have been extensive, do not stand in his name, having been assigned to various banks and trust companies in exchange for loans. There are, however, many items of personal property such as paintings and furniture in the Washington home of the late senator. In New London, the holdings consist of the Pequot hotel, all the capital stock of the Pequot Hotel company and several houses, including the Brandegee homestead. Until an appraisal of the estate is made it will not be known as to value of equities held in various enterprises of the late senator, but in the course of the probate hearing Friday, in New London, when attorneys were presenting names for administrators, it was stated that the likelihood was that Senator Brandegee's obligations far exceeded the value of the estate.

ODD FELLOWS

The regular meeting of Shetucket lodge, No. 37, was held Tuesday evening with Noble Grand L. F. Waters in the chair. The third degree was worked on a class of candidates under the direction of Degree Master A. A. Guile. A large attendance of visiting brothers was present. Next Tuesday will be a gala night, election returns being received by radio and the entertainment committee will serve refreshments. Plans for Armistice day are proceeding favorably, invitations to participate having been sent to the grand master and staff, also to other lodges and Cantons in Eastern Connecticut.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Oh! what a session! Those were the united remarks from the fifteen candidates, squires who went through the rank of knight of Wauregan lodge, No. 6, Monday evening.

The convention opened at 8 p. m., Chancellor Commander Rudy Henschel presided and plans for the representation of the order at the Armistic day parade were concluded and every thing is set for that event.

The building fund committee reported that plans were already in action for the preparation of a huge surprise to the people of Norwich on New Year's eve.

A large delegation of visiting brothers from Trumbull lodge of New London and also of Colchester were the guests of the evening and in conjunction with the large gathering of our local Pythians, Wauregan lodge did have some time.

An emblem of the lodge in the form of a watch charm was presented to Past Chancellor Commander Harry Saloman for the good work carried out through his leadership during his term of office and it was accepted with appreciative remarks.

Chancellor Commander Rudy Henschel donated a watch charm to the lodge and this was given to the lucky member who happened to be a visiting brother from Colchester.

After the rank of knight was conferred upon the candidates, a real appetizing spread was served which was greatly enjoyed by all.

QUESTION OF BONDS IN BERKER CASE

It has been intimated that the return of Gabriel C. Berker to this city and his surrender to the authorities who have a warrant for his arrest on the charge of theft of $53,000 in connection with the disclosure of defalcations at the Bankers Trust company, might take place very soon if he could make arrangements for providing bonds after his arrest.

Berker, who is head of the brokerage firm of Gabriel C. Berker & Co., has no coterie of local friends who would spring to his aid to furnish large bail, as occurred in the case of George A. Finn, the former treasurer of the Bankers Trust company, whose bond is $50,000. It has been pointed out that Berker might expect that bonds in his case might be placed at as much as that and, if he could not furnish them, it would not be an attractive prospect for him to spend the time from now until January in jail, in case probable cause were found and he was bound over to the January term of the criminal court.

If Berker, it has been suggested, could see the way clear to furnish whatever bail might be called for in his case, it might be so long before he would present himself here. When that time will be still remains a mystery, although it has been stated that there are reasons to believe that he will eventually surrender himself.

AUTO DRIVER PLACED UNDER $5,000 BONDS

Clarence H. Luther of R. F. D. 5, Norwich, who was operating the automobile Thursday afternoon that was in collision on Derry hill, Montville, with the machine of M. D. Wilkinson of Poquonnoc Bridge when Mr. Wilkinson's wife and her mother were killed, is under $5,000 bonds to appear for a hearing next Wednesday at noon before Justice of the Peace William Smiddy of Montville.

Luther was taken before the justice by a state policeman after the accident, the bond was set by the justice and was furnished by Luther's father.

BUILDING POLLING PLACES IN TWO CITY DISTRICTS

Two new permanent voting places, one for Greeneville and the other for the West Side, are being erected by the town and will be finished in time for election day next Tuesday. Both are small brick buildings, one in Greeneville being placed in the school yard on the Seventh street side of the school building, and the one for the West Side on the small parklet in Falls avenue in front of the Central Vermont railroad station.

BEGINNING DECORATIONS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

The Norwich Savings Society has taken the lead in decorating its bank building for the Armistice Day celebration. Other places were following suit during Friday and there will be a general decorating of the business section and hundreds of residences in all parts of the city through next week.

WHY I WILL VOTE FOR COOLIDGE

BECAUSE, and admittedly, he has: Sense of proportion, courage, love of order, and knowledge of self;

BECAUSE he does not talk to make noise, but speaks to say something;

BECAUSE he does not flatter, nor otherwise play lightly with values;

BECAUSE he slings no mud, and controls himself;

BECAUSE he has no cure-alls for the ailments of man, but trust in work and self-discipline;

BECAUSE he practices economy, to reduce taxes, instead of lip-serving economy and shifting taxes;

BECAUSE he believes in business, and sees in capital, not a device of the devil, but reserve initiative, reserve character and reserve sense;

BECAUSE he stands for "Protection," as against its abrogation, confessed or professed, to conserve thrift instead of destroying it:

BECAUSE he squarely stood for what he deemed right, against the Soldier Bonus, expensive goods of poor quality; against the tactless Japanese Exclusion, stupid procedure, undoing the work of decades; for the World Court, age long dream, and hope, of the wise;

AND LAST, BUT NOT LEAST

BECAUSE he progresses, with Yankee sense, in daylight, to avoid pitfalls and falling.

TEN PASSENGERS KILLED WHEN TRAIN HIT STREET CAR

Two Score Were Injured, Some Seriously—C. M. & St. Paul Railroad Freight Train Backing Into its Yards in Chicago Wrecked a Crowded Street Car Crossing the Tracks—Woman and Her Daughter Were Suffocated and Trampled in the Panic.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Ten passengers were killed and two score injured, some seriously, early today, when a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad freight train, backing into the wards here, wrecked a crowded street car crossing the tracks. Most of the victims were neighbors returning fro ma Hallowe'en part and many wore masquerade costumes.

The dead:
Catherine Ruedhausen, 21.
Mrs. Mary Garrity, 36, and 4-year-old daughter Anna May.
Mrs. Elizabeth Burns, 46.
Unidentified woman, 30.
Patrick O'Malley, 37.
Bennie Cadalleri, 30.
William Welch, 45.
Dr. M. Shenkin, 70.
Elmer Balenfieth.

Mrs. Garrity and her daughter were suffocated and trampled in the panic which ensued when the street car was shunted across the street, and crashed into a watchman's tower, coroner's physicians said. Police squads and firemen who rushed to the scene found the passengers screaming and fighting in the darkness for the exits. Rescuers used saws, axes and crowbars to break away the wreckage and extricate the victims.

Joseph Brahe, 50, crossing watchman, was ordered held for the coroner's inquest tomorrow after policemen found the gates which protect the crossing intact after the accident, indicating, they said, that they had not been lowered to warn the car crew. Two physicians who examined him shortly after the wreck said he had been drinking, and detectives said an empty bottle, smelling of whiskey, had been found in the tower.

The crews of the street car and freight train also questioned, were released after railroad and car company officials promised Coroner Oscar Wolff they would have them present at the inquest. Carl Olson, conductor, and Robert Glenn, motorman, of the car, said the crossing gates were up as the car started across the railroad right-of-way.

Physicians expressed doubt of the recovery of six of the injured, among them two small children and several women. The unidentified woman wore a masquerade costume and had only an initialed ring as a clue to her identity.

Coroner Wolff and Morgan A. Collins, chief of police, took personal charge of the investigation. John Gaskett, a railroad switchman, told questioners the crossing gates had been lowered while some cars were switched on another track, but had been raised when the freight train was about fifteen feet from the crossing. He said he shouted to the tower man to lower the gates and signalled to the engineer of the freight train to stop, but the collision occurred before he made himself heard.

Olson, the conductor, said he saw the towerman raise the gates and ran to the crossing. He looked in both directions, he stated, but did not see the approaching train and signalled the motorman to proceed.

The first two cars of the train were gondolas and bore no lights, investigators found.

Walter Vincent and Nicholas Weidel, engineers o fthe two locomotives of the train, said Gaskett had signaled for an immediate stop but momentum carried the train forward.

Most of the passengers were relatives and friends who had attended a party in the neighborhood of the accident.

DEM. CANDIDATE DAVIS CAMPAIGNED IN 17 STATES

New York, Nov. 3.—His platform campaign ended, John W. Davis, democratic candidate for president, rested at his home in Locust Valley today, confident that Tuesday's balloting would spell victory for the democratic national ticket.

The fight the candidate has made, his strenuous campaign tours through seventeen states, the delivery of more than two hundred major speeches, and the multiplicity of duties that fell upon him for personal discharge, had left their mark. It was to eradicate this and to prepare himself for the final event of the contest, the delivery of a thirty-minute address Monday night to a nation-wide audience of radio listeners-in, that Mr. Davis set apart today and gave himself up to virtual complete relaxation.

It was but in keeping, however, with his personal wishes that a single exception was made to the programme he had outlined for the Sabbath holiday. The exception, it was learned, was the writing of a letter to Mrs. Jessie E. Black of Mansfield, Ohio, the gold star mother who sent him the check for $57.50 which she had drawn from the United States Veterans' Bureau in payment on insurance held by her son, a World-war hero.

HIGGINS PHARMACY IN WESTERLY ON FIRE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, Nov. 3.—An alarm from Box 16, Dixon House square, was sounded on the bell of the Westerly fire department at 1.30 this (Monday) morning for a fire in the Briggs block, corner of Main street and Pawcatuck bridge. When the firemen arrived they found the rear end of the Higgins Pharmacy, No. 5 Main street, a mass of flames. The front of the store was filled with smoke with the fire shooting out of the rear window over the Pawcatuck river and eating its way through the partition into the restaurant next door. The upper floors of the building were filled with smoke. An alarm was sounded on the whistle of the Pawcatuck fire department and the P. S. Barber Hose Co. responded with aid from the west side of the river.

At 2.30 this morning the fire was under control. Ten streams of water were used and the damage is estimated at about $30,000. The larger part of the damage was done to the rear of the Higgins Pharmacy. The Equality Lunch room, Howard Clark's stationery store on the bridge, Westerly Cycle club, Clarence Roach, Albert Spicer, Jr., and Sr., dentists, Thorpe and Traynor and other tenants suffered from water and smoke.

The building is owned by Frank Robbins, of Worcester, and the Mendel Block estate of Worcester. The Westerly Textile Co., started their big pump but its services were not required.

FIRE SWEEPS 100 ACRES IN COLCHESTER SECTION

(Special to The Bulletin)

Colchester, Nov. 3.—Over 100 acres of woodland were swept over by a raging forest fire in the vicinity of Mill Hill in Colchester this afternoon and evening. The fire started about 4.30 o'clock and driven by gale winds swept over the woodlands carrying everything before it. Word was immediately despatched to the village that Levy's hotel, several small buildings and the mill property near the pond were in line with the fire and the chemical engine and pumper was sent to the pond and a fire fighting force of men from the village went out to head the flames away from the buildings.

Back fires were set but the high winds made it impossible to hold the flames and these fires spread rapidly, adding to the area covered by flames. By hard work the fire was checked before it reached the buildings and was headed up over Mill Hill. All efforts to check the spread were unsuccessful and if was believed that the fire would continue to sweep all before it until the Middletown road had been reached, a distance of over half a mile from the start of the blaze.

The entire space burned over was woodland and it was not known Sunday night how much damage would amount to before the fire was finally checked.

Butter shipped from Denmark to Great Britain in seven months this year weighed 100,000 pounds.

The Man Responsible For Labor's Downfall

Sir Patrick Hastings, K. C., the Attorney General in the Labor government of England, over whose action in the case of James R. Campbell, Communist editor, the storm broke which has resulted in Macdonald's fall. Speaking in the House during debate on the vote of censure against the Labor government, Sir Patrick declared that he regarded the vote as directed at him. His defense was that until the Commons began to investigate the case he had considered it of minor importance; but that he had found that Campbell had a good war record, was wounded and decorated, and was now temporary editor of the "Workers' Weekly."

GOV. SMITH OF NEW YORK CONFIDENT OF RE-ELECTION

New York, Nov. 3.—Confident of victory at the polls on Tuesday, Governor Alfred E. Smith, and Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, his republican opponent, have chosen New York city and its environs for their final drives, which on Monday evening will bring to a close one of the most strenuously fought gubernatorial contests in the state's history.

The governor, after delivering a non-political address at the opening of a National Radio Show here tomorrow night, will motor through his own district on the lower East Side for a final clean-up. Colonel Roosevelt will speak on election eve at Glen Cove, Long Island, and at Oyster Bay, his home, where he opened the campaign with his speech of acceptance several weeks ago.

New York city proverbially democratic, is looked to by Governor Smith's campaign advisers to give him a heavy plurality, as it has in years past. On the other hand, the republican managers expressed confidence that their nominee will make important inroads in the governor's vote here and will obtain a sufficiently large plurality up-state to offset the Smith plurality in New York, which even the republican leaders concede.

RORABACK PREDICTS 100,000 REPUBLICAN MAJORITY

New Haven, Nov. 3.—J. Henry Roraback, chairman of the republican state central committee, made a prediction last night that Connecticut would go over 100,000 republican. His statement follows:

"Since the nomination of the national ticket at Cleveland the only question regarding the campaign in Connecticut has been whether it would require five or six figures to name the Coolidge plurality in the state. The attempt of the democratic convention to name a ticket which could be sold in Wall street at par and above par to the western radicals in the same market settled that question.

"The republican state convention named a very strong candidate and since the opening day of the campaign the entire ticket has grown in popular esteem. In 1920 with a total vote of 363,751 the late President Harding carried the state over Cox by 108,517. This year the registered voters number approximately 500,000. I anticipate there will be at least an 80 per cent. vote cast, or 400,000, out of which number I expect to see President Coolidge have as large, if not a larger, plurality than President Harding in 1920.

"The state ticket will run correspondingly well. The only congressional contest has been in the Fifth district, where P. B. O'Sullivan, the democratic candidate, has endeavored by accepting the LaFollette-Wheeler endorsement to carry out the program of the national convention of his party. Suffice to say the conservative elements of all parties have now got his number and Glynn will be elected by a handsome majority. The local legislature may have 12 or 15 democrats in the lower house, and not over two or three in the senate."

PREDICTION MADE BY COL. HIRAM BINGHAM

Nov. 3.—Col. Hiram Bingham, republican nominee for governor, closed his speech at a republican rally held in the Hillhouse High school auditorium by telling his audience that he believed that Calvin Coolidge will carry Connecticut 100,000 strong on Tuesday next.

Col. Bingham's speech dealt chiefly with the republican administration of the state of Connecticut during the past five years. He recalled how the democratic administration had left a heavy debt as a legacy when Governor Holcomb came into office. This debt, he said, had been removed and today the state is able to show a surplus.

Col. Bingham said this was a record that the republican party makes that appeals to the voters for the suport of its nominees in the election next Tuesday. Referring to the democratic demands for the removal of the gasoline and personal tax, Col. Bingham said that the gasoline tax is something that is paid only by those who own and drive cars. It is a just tax, he said, for it is the theory that the people who cause hepairs to be made on the roads should pay for the repairs and is considered by thousands of people to be the fairest kind of a tax.

NEW ENGLAND UNITES WITH VIRGINIA COMMERCIALLY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, Nov. 3.—Virginia's dream of a coalition with the New England states manufacturing and business interests for the economic benefit of both was realized today when at a meeting of twenty New England business men with officials of the Virginia States Chamber of Commerce a joint committee was named. Clifford S. Anderson of Worcester, Mass., president of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, was elected chairman, and representatives from Virginia, Connecticut, Maine and Rhode Island were appointed to the body. The complete committee consists of Edward G. Stacey of Massachusetts, residing at Boston, general secretary of the Massachusetts State Chamber of Commerce; Stanley H. Bullard of Bridgeport, president of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce, and Waldo E. Clarke, mayor of New London. Edward W. Hyde, retired capitalist and manufacturer and a director of the port of Portland, will represent Maine; and Rhode Island will be co-operating through its own members. George L. Crooker, chairman of the Rhode Island commission on domestic science, and E. C. Southwick, manufacturer. The Virginia representative will be H. M. Thompson of Norfolk, secretary of the Hampton Roads Maritime exchange; Dr. Joseph H. Smith of Petersburgh, president, and Major Leroy Hodges of Richmond, managing director of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce. This committee will be called together soon to consider definite proposal for co-operation between Virginia and New England to increase coastal trade, to secure federal operation of the Cape Cod canal, vastly beneficial to the trade of both, for the establishment of a ship refuge at Assuteague Island, and for the solution of joint transportation and raw material problems facing manufacturers of both states. The New Englanders left today for their homes after a week spent in touring Virginia, during which time more than 1,500 miles of territory was traversed.

Ten million people have heard political speeches over the radio this year, according to estimates of experts.

Judge Samuel O. Prentice Died Sunday

Hartford, Nov. 3.—Samuel O. Prentice, former chief justice of the Connecticut supreme court of errors, died at his home here this afternoon after a long illness.

Samuel Oscar Prentice was born August 8, 1850, in North Stonington, the son of Chester Smith Prentice and Lucy (Crary) Prentice. He attended the public schools of North Stonington and prepared for college at the Norwich Free Academy, where he was graduated in 1869. He was graduated at Yale in 1875 and from the Yale Law school two years later, teaching at Hopkins grammar school in New Haven while attending law school.

After graduating he entered the law office of Chamberlain, Hull and White in this city and in 1876 formed a partnership with the late Elisha Johnson. This partnership continued until he was appointed to the superior court bench in 1889 by Governor Morgan G. Bulkeley. Eight years later when his term expires he was reappointed for eight years by Governor Cooke.

From October 1881 to October 1886, he was chairman of the republican city and town committees of Hartford and he was a delegate to the republican state conventions in 1886 and 1888. He was clerk of the Hartford County Bar association for twelve years, a member of the state bar examining committee from its formation and its chairman for five years until he resigned in 1918.

He was instructor in pleading in the Yale law school in 1896 and professor of pleading from 1901 to 1915 when he resigned. He was Hartford city attorney from 1882 to 1888 and in January of that year was appointed executive secretary to Governor Bulkeley.

Justice Prentice was an officer of Company K, First Regiment, C. N. G., from 1879 to 1889. He had been president of the Hartford Bar Library association, the Hartford Public Library association and the Watkinson Library of Hartford.

He was appointed a justice of the supreme court of errors of Connecticut in 1901 and became chief justice in 1913, serving as such until his retirement in 1920 upon reaching the legal age limit.

Justice Prentice was a member of the Hartford Golf club, Hartford club, the Graduates' club, of New Haven, the Monday Evening club of this city, the Society of Colonial Wars, the Connecticut Historical society and of the Asylum Hill Congregational church of which he was deacon. From 1913 to 1915, he was a member of the committee on missions of the National Council of Congregational churches.

Justice Prentice received the honorary degrees of doctors of laws from both Yale and Trinity in 1913.

The funeral will be held at the Asylum Hill Congregational church at 2.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, with the pastor, Rev. Willis H. Butler, conducting the services. Burial will be in Cedar Hill cemetery here. The honorary bearers will be Simeon E. Baldwin, of New Haven, Chief Justice George W. Wheeler, of Bridgeport, Justice John K. Beach, of New Haven, James P. Andrews, Dr. Melancthon W. Jacobus, Edward Milligan, Atwood Collins, Lucius F. Robinson, Edward M. Day, Louis R. Cheney, Archibald A. Welch, T. Balknap Beach and Morgan G. Bulkeley, Jr., all of Hartford.

DEATH RESULTED FROM FALL FROM A TRUCK

Westport, Conn., Nov. 3.—Michael Balotovick, 20 years old, of Trumbull, died in the Norwalk hospital early today of injuries received when he fell from a truck owned by the Overland Motor Dispatch company of Bridgeport, by whom he was employed, on Friday. He was endeavoring to make fast a chain which was dragging, and a lurch by the truck threw him into the road. The truck proceeded for nearly a half mile before the driver discovered his helper was missing. Coroner Phelan will conduct an inquest here.

Anti-Klansmen Coop Up 100 Klansmen

Mob of 1,000 at Muskogee, Okla., Dared Klansmen to Come Out of Hall.

Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 3.—One hundred members of the Ku Klux Klan were marooned in their meeting place in Henrietta this afternoon when 1,000 anti-Klansmen gathered about the hall and dared them to come out. It was reported here tonight. The Klansmen met to discuss plans for the election Tuesday, it was said.

The anti-klansmen, most of whom were members of the United Mine Workers of America, took "inventory" of the meeting from the roofs of surrounding buildings, the location and height of which made possible a good view of the interior of the klan hall, to see who belonged to the order. A rule of the miners' union prohibits members from holding membership in the klan.

When the klansmen discovered they were being watched a few left. But the greater number of them remained in the town hall until dark.

There was no violence of any kind.

GUARDSMEN SUPPRESS KLAN RIOTS IN NILES, O.

Niles, Ohio, Nov. 3.—(By The A. P.)—With Ohio National Guardsmen still patrolling the city today, Niles was quiet following yesterday's rioting between Ku Klux Klan forces and anti-klansmen in connection with a scheduled parade which did not take place. The list of wounded today still stood at about a dozen with four men in Warren City hospital, two of whom may die from bullets. No one was killed.

More than 600 troops were on duty this morning and others arrived during the day as parts of the various units of the 145th Infantry, ordered out by Governor Donahey.

Major General Benson W. Hough was in conference today with County Prosecutor Harvey A. Burgess, Sheriff John R. Thomas and Mayor Harvey C. Kistler discussing the possibility of bringin gabout criminal prosecutions of those responsible for yesterday's rioting, an investigation, with this proposal in view will be conducted by the county and city officials with the military co-operation, it was said.

Military authorities said that more stringent military control would be in effect tonight and orders would be strictly enforced to keep the streets clear. During the day automobiles were stopped and searched before entering the city and were not allowed within 150 feet of each other. Business houses were open as usual with the exception of pool rooms and picture shows, which were kept closed by the military authorities. Crowds were not permitted to gather.

All Klansmen had left the field early today where they assembled for yesterday's parade.

The two persons most seriously wounded in yesterday's rioting are E. G. Victor, of Farrell, Pa., and Ellsworth Keyser of Youngstown, both of whom Warren hospital physicians say, may die.

SEPTEMBER WAS GOOD MONTH FOR RAILROADS

Washington, Nov. 3.—During September Class 1 railroads had operating revenues of $540,741,000 against expenses totalling $381,573,750 with a net operating income of $116,718,000 according to reports compiled here by the bureau of railway economics.

While the revenues were one per cent. under the corresponding ones last year, the operating expenses were decreased by 8.4 per cent, under those of September, 1923. This, the report said, was due partly to a reduction of $23,919,000, or about 12 per cent in maintenance expenses as compared with the same month last year. Expentures during September for maintenance of way and maintenance of equipment were reduced by five per cent. and 15 per cent. respectively below the corresponding figures last year.

For the first nine months of this year, the bureau said, Clas One railroads had a total net operating income of $677,927,800, equivalent to a return of 4.21 per cent. on their property investment. For the same period last year the return was given as 4.62 per cent.

BRIGHT BROWNS AND REDS SANCTIONED BY FASHION

Paris, Nov. 3.—Fashion has virtually said good-bye to black, and brilliant browns and reds, greens and blue are the favorite colors for Paris winter season. The brighter shades made into gowns usually trimmed with fur are much inevidence.

Feathers also have become a decided feature of feminine wear, not only for the flimy dance gowns, but also the more formal dinner models and afternoon creations. Some of the models whoch have been seen are finished with a scarf softened by Strand upon strand of shaded grey ostrich fringe. Feathers are gradually regaining favor as hat trimmings, too—not the long ostrich plumes which adorned the picture hats of 1920, but scarfs of trich, powdered or gilded, made up into pompons or bouquets. Some evening and theatre gowns are worn with a cape of ostrich plumes dyed to match the color of the dress.

The beaded dancing frocks of the present season are much more elaborate than has been the custom of past winters. Gold beads on white are used to make attractive dancing costumes.

But feathers as trimming predominate, and cocked feathers have been pressed into service of fashion to replace the ostrich boas of last season. One model just displayed has a collar made of wine-red cock feathers and a cape ringed with the same material.

36 HORSES WERE BURNED TO DEATH IN FIRE IN BROCKTON

Four Buildings Were Destroyed, Causing Loss of More Than $200,000—Fireman Injured by Falling Beam—Fire Apparatus From Four Neighboring Towns Responded to Appeals For Aid.

Brockton, Mass., Nov. 3.—Four buildings were destroyed and 36 horses perished tonight in a general alarm fire which, for a time, threatened the entire Centerville section of Brockton, causing a property loss of more than $200,000. Richard Leonard, a fireman, was injured when a beam fell on him. It is not believed that he was dangerously injured.

The buildings destroyed included the stables of the Brockton Ice and Coal company where the fire originated, the company's office building, an outbuilding housing waxens, and the four-story factory building of the O. B. McBride company, automobile painters. Other small ice company buildings were also wiped out.

Fire apparatus from four nearby towns, North Abington, Bridgewater, West Bridgewater and Stoughton, responded to appeals for aid and only the best efforts of the combined forces prevented the fire from sweeping the district which is composed chiefly of wooden buildings and tenements.

The large city stables across the street from the ice company's plant frequently caught fire but were saved. A large lumber yard nearby was set fire in several places but quick work by the fire fighters prevented the spread of the flames.

The absence of wind, firemen said, saved the entire district from destruction. Sparks and heat from the fire carried and set fire to several tenements, forcing sparks and heat from the fire carried and set fire to several tenements, forcing more than a dozen families into the street but, closely watched by the fire fighters the flames were extinguished in each instance.

The cause of the fire, which had doomed much of the ice company's plant before it was discovered, could not be determined. Reports that a watchman, said to be on duty there, had not been heard from, could not be determined.

TWO YOUTHS NARROWLY ESCAPED DROWNING

Stamford, Nov. 3.—Frederick Schavori and Emil Mussio, of Stamford narrowly escaped drowning this afternoon when the seaplane in which they were riding was caught the light machine and turned it over and over, finally forcing it down into the water.

The plight of the, young men was seen by Dr. Walter Burke, a New York physicians, who makes his home at the extreme end of Shippon Point. His two sons, Walter, Jr., and Edward, started out in a rowboat to assist the men but were forced back before they had gone half way when their boat began to fill with water. In the meantime a number of launches had started out from the shore. The launch of the Luderf Marine company was the first to reach the two young men. The boat could not get close to the plane, however, and a small boat was launched. The men could not get close to the plane, however, and a small boat was launched. The men were taken off the seaplane in this boat.

CHLORINE TREATMENT FOR PUPILS WITH COLDS

Hartford Nov. 3.—Plans are being considered by the school comittee of the Arsenal district here for the installation of a chlorine chamber for the treatment of colds contracted by children and teachers of the school. Treatment will be voluntary and written consent from parents will be necessary before a pupil will be given the treatment provided the plan is adopted. According to the doctor who has been planning the treatments the cost of the apparatus a chamber for "gassing" the patients and an ejector to release the chlorine gas at a uniform rate can be installed at a cost of about 125. Chlorine gas was used in Washington with success in treating President Coolidge for a cold.

The Passedo boy was arrested but was leased later in the custory of his parents pending an investigation by the coroners.

COOLIDGE WOULD DEDICATE ARMISTICE DAY TO PEACE

Washington, Nov. 3.—Dedication of Armistice day, Nov. 11, to the establishment of permanent peace and the outlawry of war is suggested by President Coolidge in a letter addressed to James A. Drain, national commander of the American Legion.

"Growth of sentiment for the outlawry of war from this earth," Mr. Coolidge said, "has been an impressive fact of recent times. Men and women everywhere have been giving their best thought to bring this end into full realization.

"The inclusion of Armistice day in the list of dates commemorating great events in our national history," the letter said, "marked a significant change in our world relationships. Prior to that first Armistice day, which America greeted with such enthusiasm, our historic anniversaries had all been of exclusively national character. They recalled events of supreme importance in our nation's life, but of small value as links between that life and the activities of the outside world.

"When, by common consent, Armistice day was added to our calendar of memorial dates, it took its place as the one in whose celebration we will always be drawn closer to other peoples who stand for liberal institutions. Celebrated in many lands and by many peoples, it will remind them of their united efforts and common sacrifices in the bitterest crisis of civilization's history. It will always recall the fact that humanity has far more reasons for unity than for discord.

"It will emphasize the common ideals and aspirations which must help to draw all men into fraternity and set their feet in the way to peace. It will give an impetus to the ever-growing conviction that hatreds are needless and that rivalries ought to be only in good works aimed for the general advancement.

"It is desirable that Armistice day observations should impress these considerations of common concern and essential accord. They have in past years been thus directed, and we must all hope that they will be similarly directed this year. The growth of sentiment for the outlawry of war from this earth has been an impressive face of recent time. Men and women everywhere have been giving their best thought to bring this end into full realization. We shall on this international anniversary of peace restored turn our thoughts and endeavors to the ideal of peace perpetuated, assured and established as a universal benison. We shall not fail in acknowledging our obligation to those whose noble service won the victory and established our complete while Roth, who was said alive, and his dead son, Sidney, were found on the third fourth floor. It is believed they tried to make their way to the roof and were overcome by smoke. independence. But along with this we should have in mind the thought of peace gained for all the world and all time through co-operation of the same liberal forces that brought the victory."

FUR THIEVES MADE $6,000 HAUL IN NEW HAVEN

New Haven, Nov. 3.—A band of fur thieves raided the furrier establishment of David Kaletzkey, 241 Congress avenue, early this morning and escaped with all of the coats of value hanging about the store. The loss was estimated at $6,000.

Entrance was gained by using a pinch bar on a rear window which was barred. After prying open the window, the thieves entered the rear door. No attempt was made to blow the safe which contined furs of greater value than those taken. It is the opinion of the police that the thieves used an automobile to make their escape and that they were members of the same band that robbed fur stores in Hartford and Derby within the last month.

The break was discovered by Samuel Adler, who lives upstairs over the store and who found the broken window and the rear door open this morning.

FIVE IN STAMFORD HOSPITAL FOLLOWING AUTO ACCIDENT

Stamford, Nov. 3. — Five persons were taken to Stamford hospital today, three seriously injured, following an automobile accident on the Post road at the foot of Norton hill. The seriously injured are:

Ploughshare From Sword.

Mark Eben Cheney of Jamestown, N. Y., an 80-year old veteran of the Civil war, literally beat a sword into a ploughshare. Taking a doubleedge sword, two feet long, which had belonged to his grandfather, a soldier in the American Revolution, he had tened it to the beam of his plough as a cutter for the ploughshare. He has also turned over the blade of an old English lancer's spear to form a very satisfactory grubbing hook.

Through the efforts of James Haggerty, Civil war veteran and popular story teller, a Carnegie medal and substantial pension have been granted the young widow and children of a local hero who lost his life in an attempt to save that of another. Jan. 30 last Timothy G. McGillicuddy was drowned while endeavoring to rescue Ernest Morse, also of this city, his companion on a fishing trip at the Mansfield town pond. While cutting holes in the ice Morse fell through an air hole into the water. McGillicuddy responded to his call for help and taking off his overcoat threw one end to Morse, who grasped it. While pulling on the coat McGillicuddy slipped and fell through the ice and was drowned. Ernest Becker, also on a fishing trip on the pond, witnessed the drowning, and with additional help pulled Morse out to safety. Everyone else having apparently overlooked the matter, James Haggerty, although not having even a personal acquaintance with the hero, devoted much time and energy in communicating with the Carnegie hero fund commission. A special agent was sent here to confer with Mr. Haggerty and upon the latter's recommendation the award of a bronze medal with benefits of $70 a month for herself and $5 additional for each of the two children was granted the widow, Mrs. Louise Hornberger McGillicuddy, of 10 Meadow street, at the fall meeting of the commission.

The presentation of the national charter to the local Exchange club will be made at a special meeting this (Monday) evening by Herold M. Harter of Toledo, O., the first and only national secretary of the Exchange club of the United States. The spreading of Exchange clubs, which may now be found in every state of the union, has all taken place within a few years under the direction of Mr. Harter, who became general secretary of four such bodies in Ohio and Michigan.

At the Windham Coolidge club rooms in the Franklin block there was an informal rally of the Windham Coolidge Woman's club at which over 100 women met. The speakers—Mrs. Albert P. Chamberlin of Meriden and Mrs. Williams, the latter president of the Meriden Coolidge club—were introduced by Mrs. Bertha Thompson, vice chairman of the Fourth republican district. The Woman's Part in the Campaign and ni the Elections was the topic of the talk given by Mrs. Chamberlin. Mrs. Williams spoke mainly on various lines of club work. Both gave instruction of value on the proper method of casting a ballot.

Joseph Gingras, 69, of 52 Brook street, this city, is on the dangerous list at St. Joseph's hospital, suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and other serious injuries sustained when run down on the race track at Recreation park Saturday afternoon, shortly after 5 o'clock, by Roan Boy, one of the horses participating in the Overcoat Meet, matinee races. Roan Boy is owned by Jerry Youngs of Coventry and was being driven by Fred Maynard of Lebanon. On account of the semi-darkness of the late afternoon it is thought that the elderly man did not notice the approaching horse, as he stood a few steps out on to the track and watched the two other horses running the heat. Mr. Gingras was caught in the shaft by his clothing and thrown directly under the animal. Horse and sulky passed over his body. He was rushed to the hospital, where there was little hope for his recovery Sunday.

Rallies have been omitted to a considerable extent this year and party adherents are being reached through various other mediums, said to be more effective, by the democrats and republicans of this city, in an intensive drive to stimulate interest in the next Tuesday. Newspapers, window cards are popular of announcing candidacies ical creeds. Campaign mails and letters have been carried out of the local postoffice in immense bundles. Many of the candidates are using their photographs to create public interest in themselves. Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton, candidate for congress in the Second district, however, has confined his endeavors in campaigning to circulating 5,000 fliers in the 64 towns of Windham, New London, Middlesex and Tolland counties. His military and legislative history is given, along with an announcement that he was born in Mansfield. Various other facts brought out include: 25 years town clerk and treasurer of the town of Windham; representative in the legislature from Windham, sessions of 1917 and 1923; minority floor leader of session of 1923 and recipient of vote of thanks from the house for efficiency in discharging his duties; delegate to democratic national conventions in 1908 and 1924; veteran of Spanish-American war; past commander of Veterans' organization; for years a member of Connecticut National guard; during World war, chairman of Willimantic war bureau; member of Windham county war bureau; chairman of American Red Cross, Willimantic chapter; chairman of four-minute speakers; secretary of 17th district draft board and in charge of all of the selective service work locally during the World war. Due for this work was a compensation from the government of several thousands of dollars, which he refused to accept.

William Richmond, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, entered a demurrer in the police court Saturday morning, which was overruled by Judge Foss. Richmond was given the minimum fine of $100, $50 of which was remitted, leaving an assessment of $50.35, which was paid. Richmond's car collided with and damaged the tourist car driven by Costas Stamaton of this city on the South Windham road two weeks ago Sunday.

The voting booths for the First district in the lobby of the town building and at the Second district quarters on the second floor of the old town building on Church street were being put in place Saturday in preparation for the national and state elections of Windham Tuesday. The Third district booth is at the corner of Milk and Ives streets and the Fourth district voting place on Pleasant street. Eight new ballot boxes, built by Doyle & Murphy, were turned over to Town Clerk Fenton Saturday and a messenger from the office of the secretary of state delivered 7,000 official ballots to the town clerk.

At 11 o'clock Sunday forenoon funeral services for Leon C. Rathbun were held at his home in Hebron. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery in that town. Arrangements were in charge of Avery A. VanZandt.

Mrs. Rose O'Loughlin, 35, a former resident of Willimantic, died in New Haven at 9.30 o'clock Saturday morning.

Guide signs to the traveler, also marking the boundary lines of the town, have been placed along the highways by the selectmen, at the center of the bridge over the Willimantic river, the boundary line between Mansfield and Windham; at North Windham, beyond Hanson's store, the boundary line of Chaplin and Windham; at Park spring, at the fork of the Conantville-Storrs road, the boundary line between Mansfield and Windham; near the Byron Wilson home, the boundary line between Scotland and Windham, and 200 feet north of Williams' Crossing, on the Frank lin town line.

Several hundred democrats cheered enthusiastic addresses at a rally held under the auspices of the democratic town committee at the Gem theatre at two o'clock Sunday afternoon. Michael Connors of Enfield, one of the leading laborites in Connecticut and a nationally known speaker was first introduced. Dr. Edward G. Dolan of Manchester, old candidate for congress, Frank P. Fenton, were other speakers.

At the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bartell, of Main street, Master Billy Benoit entertained twelve friends at a Hallowe'en party Friday evening. Present were Jennie Schlenman, Gertrude O'Neill, Thelma and Eileen and Estelle Smith, Helen Rajchel, Dorothea Shortell, Roland Girouard, John Rajchel, Harold and Russell Tennant.

Engine Company No. 1, LaFrance pumper and hook and ladder truck, in charge of Lieutenant Henry Kelley answered a still alarm for a blaze in a large shed in the rear of the house at 563 Ash street, owned by Morris Kaplan and occupied by J. Sisen and family, at 11.45 o'clock Sunday forenoon. The firemen extinguished the blaze in quick order but found that the shed was a veritable fire hazard. The large cooking stove was nearly red hot and was set within a foot and one-half of the dry wood work of the shed. The window sash and base was burned. In addition to the poor position of the stove, the chimney was decidedly defective and within reach of the stove was a pile of hay and other inflammable material. In a large pot on the stove a chicken, plucked and cut open but undressed, was being boiled for the noon-day meal.

A number of the "Lincoln Cousins" were entertained recently by Everett Lincoln and his sister, Mrs. Alma Shales. The guests came in Hallowe'en attirements. They included Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Latham, Mr. and Mrs Frank W. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Lincoln, Miss Lucy Lincoln, John C. Lincoln, Miss Eva Perry, Mrs. May E. Russ, Mrs. Frank Webb, Mrs. John G. GEORGE CAISSE INJURED RETURNING FROM TAFTVILLE

Willimantic, Nov. 2.—George (Gyp) Caisse, 28, of Jackson place, this city sustained what are believed to be fatal injuries and is in an unconscious condition at St. Joseph's hospital here as the outcome of the wrecking of one of the two yellow and black taxi cabs owned by Albert Couto, of the Thread City Taxi firm, on a curve about midway between South Windham and Williams Crossing on the Norwich-Willimantic highway, after midnight, Sunday. The taxi car being operated by a son of the owner, Arthur Couto, 18, and riding in the front seat with the driver was Caisse. In the rear seat was Arthur Caisse, brother of the injured man, John Connors and Raymond Haddad, all of this city. The party were returning from a trip to Taftville and in rounding the curve the steering apparatus apparently went bad. Couto made a desperate effort to keep the machine in the road but it veered off to the right and crashed into the stat efence lifting one of the fence rails which glided over the hood of the car and crashed through the windshield, striking Geo Caisse a forceful blow. The bump had thrown Haddad to the floor in an almost kneeling position and the rail passed over his head, coming to a stop against the rear seat cushion. Haddad sustained a slight cut over his right hand. The remainder of the party, with the exception of Caisse, escaped injury. The cab was badly damaged and was hauled to this city for repairs. Caisse was rushed to the hospital by Louis Wilson of this city who arrived at the location of the accident shortly after it occurred. At the institution Sunday, it was stated that Caisse's condition was grave. He had not regained consciousness. It is believed by Dr. M. D. Riordan that Caisse is suffering from a broken collar bone, broken ribs and internal injuries. Action against Couto is being delayed by the police to await developments in the condition of the injured man.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

The New Haven Road Construction company finished building the road from Heald's corner to West Main street Saturday. The contractor was given 70 days within which to complete the work and the time expired Nov. 1. Fine weather contributed largely to having the job done within the specified time. Stafford Springs now has one of the best roads in the state and with the new roads leading into town from the surrounding country it is expected that there will be much automobile travel through here next summer.

Saturday was a holy day in the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches and there were services at each.

Donald Fisk was home from Dean Academy, Franklin, Mass., for the week end.

MUCH PLUNDER FOUND AT HENRY BREAULT'S HOME

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, Nov. 2.—As many as a dozen burglaries likely will be cleared up as the result of the arrest at Putnam of Henry Breault. Two rooms at the state police barracks here are so filled with stolen goods recovered from Breault's home as to make the place look like a small department store. The work of finding who owned these goods began with some success Sunday and will be continued today (Monday). The loot represents inroads as known, things taken in robberies at Onsco, Sterling, Moosup, Wauregan, Quadic and other places in the vicinity of Putnam. The value of the goods at the barracks runs into hundreds of dollars. Breault has been under surveillance for some time and now that he had been arrested, it is likely that there will be more developments as it is believed that he did not work alone

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Christopher Andrews, recently resigned as a member of the borough police force, had his head snapped back in a degree that caused it to crash against and break out the glass in the rear of the little coupe in which he was riding, when a trolley car ran into the rear end of his machine, while he was traveling north through the business section, opposite the Phoenix building, early Saturday evening. Mr. Andrews escaped injury, but his car was damaged.

From the account of the affair furnished the police, Mr. Andrews was proceeding north ahead of a trolley car when a machine swung out from beside the curb where it had been parked and blocked his way. He was obliged to stop rather abruptly to avoid a collision and when he did, the trailing trolley his his machine, throwing it against a light delivery truck belonging to Pierre Boulaine and parked at the curb. The accident brought the inevitable crowd of spectators and added to the traffic problem for a few minutes.

Saturday evening's rally in the interest of the democratic candidates for various national, state and local offices marked the end of such affairs for Killingly in the present campaign. The voters having a breathing spell today (Monday) in preparation for the voting on Tuesday. Addresses by Augustin E. Lonergan of Hartford, former member of congress and Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton of Willimantic featured the meeting in the town hall. Prior to the meeting, a band and a drum corps exerted themselves to arouse interest in the rally which drew a good attendance and was marked by much party enthusiasm.

As is always the case, either by design or negligence, numbers of property owners in the town of Killingly did not file accounts of their property in town, and now are subject to an additional assessment of 10 per cent.

Up at the state police barracks on North Main street, Sunday, there was a collection of recovered stolen goods that would give one a good start for stocking a store. The goods represented loot found at the home of Henry Breault in Putnam after he was arrested Saturday night.

Between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. tomorrow (Tuesday) the electors of this town will go on record for their favorite candidates for president. As has been mentioned before, the voting in this town will be by districts—the first district voters casting ballots in the town hall, the second district voters at Columbia hall in Dayville and the Third district voters at Paine's hall in East Killingly.

It was a great pleasure to the people of Danielson to hear Mrs. Katherine Bates Bennett at the Congregational parish house at a dramatic recital of The Fool, which has proved of unusual interest everywhere. By her gracious manner and by skilled impersonations Mrs. Bennett kept the closest attention of her audience. Mrs. Bennett is remembered as a former resident of Danielson and as a charter member of Sarah Williams Danielson chapter, D. A. R., under whose auspices the recital was given.

This day brings a blessing. It marks the end of political campaigning! And after tomorrow it will be possible to read a newspaper, open a letter, listen to a radio or attend a theater without being campaigned in the interest of some candidate or party. It will seem like vacation time. And it will be nice to know that the defeated candidates are good people, despite all that was said about them to get votes for their political antagonists.

Republican headquarters for the purpose of hearing returns from the election will be established Tuesday evening at the law offices of Attorney E. L. Darbie. A radio receiving set will be installed.

The traffic jam in the business section, Saturday evening, was about as dense as was experienced at any time during the warmer months of the year and gave drivers something to think about in getting a car through safely.

Tuesday evening the 43d division headquarters company basketball team of Putnam and a number of the men belonging to that command will come to the state armory here. The visiting team will play a practice game against the Service battery team, and the public will be privileged to witness it.

In more ways than one this has been a queer season. A man who planted beet seed last spring has grown a fine crop of Swiss chard. Saving the chard seed, he hopes to get some first class Connecticut broad leaf tobacco.

Services in observance of All Souls' day are to be held at St. James' church this (Monday) morning. Special masses, attended by many hundreds of parishioners, in observance of All Saints' day, were held Saturday.

Owners of woodland properties spent a day of apprehension Sunday, when a high wind out of the southwest threatened real disaster in case of a forest fire developing in this region. Happily, such a misfortune did not occur.

Mrs. Katherine McCormack, of Mechanic street, will have the members of the Treble Clef club at her home for a meeting on Wednesday evening of this week.

Home-coming voters will swell the tide of travel here today, and by the same token numbers resident in Danielson will go to their legal places of residence to vote on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Woodworth and Mrs. Emma Warren, whose son, Major Albert H. Warren, U. S. A., is an instructor at the United States military academy at West Point, were at New Haven Saturday, to see the Yale-Army football game.

Transportation arrangements have been so perfected that persons employed in manufacturing plants in Killingly will lose little time tomorrow in getting to the polls and back to their work again.

A special degree of strength will be Attorney E. L. Darbie's, in his candidacy for representative in this town tomorrow, because he is line for special preferment if elected to the next legislature, this resulting to the benefit of the town of Killingly in various valuable ways during the next two years.

Orient lodge, K. of P., has a meeting scheduled to be held at their rooms this (Monday) evening.

Arthur B. Beaudette of Fall River was a visitor with friends in Danielson over the week end.

Numbers of wells in outlying territory have gone dry during the past week, for the first time in the memories of those long familiar with them. Some farmers are now put to the necessity of hauling water for their stock.

Radio parties to hear election returns will run into dozens in number tomorrow evening in Danielson and the surrounding territory.

PUTNAM

Those holding claims against the First National bank are again being urged by the receiver, George M. Coffin to bring them to the bank and prove them. A dividend of from 20 to 25 per cent has been promised before Christmas but no one who has not filed a proof of claim can participate in the distribution of the funds in the receiver's hands.

It is necessary to appear at the bank with a statement of account in the checking department, or the bank book in the savings department, and to make oath to the claim. This can be done at the bank and without expense to the depositor or claimant.

Sportsmen are deploring the curtailment of the hunting season on account of lack of rain. While the governor has power to close the season, as has been done in account of the danger from fires, he has no authority to extend the season. This means a short season this year.

A danger signal with a reflector to show at night has been placed at the corner of Grove street and Killingly avenue, at the dangerous curve at the southeast corner of Grove street cemetery. This corner has been the site of many automobile accidents as it is a short turn and one comes upon it suddenly.

The engagement of Miss Exalie Riendeau of Providence street to Levi Dugas of Jewett City has been announced. The wedding and nuptial mass will take place at St. Mary's church, Putnam, Monday morning, Nov. 10th.

Invitations are being sent out by Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Elliott, of Thompson, for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Frances A. Elliott and Malcolm Kenneth Douglas, to take place at noon, Nov. 20th, at Thompson Congregational church.

The Monson Worsted company of Monson, Mass., against which it is understood the First National bank of Putnam holds a large claim, has been placed in the hands of a creditors' committee. Thomas J. Corcoran Jr. who started the company formerly lived in Putnam and was at that time agent of the French River Textile company. Mechanicsville. Corcoran was a personal friend of G Harold Gilpatric, cashier of the Putnam bank, and it is said that the bank, through loans made by Gilpatric, is a creditor to the amount of over $100,000. George M. Coffin, receiver of the Putnam bank, is one of the members of the creditors' committee. A number of Putnam people went to Monson to work for Corcoran and some of them became heavy investors, in comparison to their means, in Corcoran's venture. The mill is not now running.

Fred Mitchell of Goodyear was fined $1 and ordered to pay costs of $2.72 by Judge Geissler in the city court, Saturday morning, when found technically guilty of driving an automobile without a license. The case involved a question of law which was decided by the court in favor of the state. Mitchell purchased an automobile and had it registered in Connecticut. He wanted to learn to drive and was being taught by a friend from Rhode Island, who held a Rhode Island operator's license. Previous to 1923 it was decided by the Connecticut supreme court that any holder of a driver's license in any state could operate any automobile in this state for a thirty-day period without obtaining a Connecticut license.

In 1923 this law was changed. As the law now stands the holder of an operator's license in another state may drive an automobile in this state for a period of thirty days without being licensed in this state, providing the automobile he drives is registered in the same state as his operator's license is procured. As the Rhode Island friend of the defendant was driving a car registered in Connecticut he was therefore not complying with the law as it now stands. In view of the fact that the misdemeanor involved a technicality the minimum fine was imposed and all but the actual costs were waived by the court.

Machinery is being installed in the Morse mill on Church street, recently purchased by Strongman-Perkins Inc. There will be 200 looms in the plant and intermediate machinery to supply these machines, when the mill is fully equipped. Fancy textile novelties will be the product of the corporation and four of the five mill floors will be utilized. Shirtings, dress goods and draperies will be among the manufactured material. It is stated that it will require from 75 to 80 hands to operate the machinery purchased to date.

The superintendent of the new plant will be Alfred Pate, for the past three years general superintendent of the Dartmouth Mfg. Co., of New Bedford, a concern employing upwards of 2400. Mr. Pate is known in this section, as he was for a time superintendent of the Danielson Cotton company at Danielson. Later he organized the Fernlea Worsted Mills Inc., at East Killingly. Mr. Pate has a family of three children—two sons and a daughter—who will soon move to Putnam.

While people of this section of Windham county have responded generously to the appeal of the trustees of the Day Kimball hospital for financial support, so far the response has only been where the individual has been personally solicited. Any amount is acceptable in this campaign for funds and checks, money orders or cash sent to Charles H. Brown, treasurer, Putnam will be appreciated. The hospital has become a large institution with an ever-growing expense. It is doing a work in this community that appeals to all classes and ministers to all classes, in case of illness or injury.

As a part of its income the hospital had been receiving dividends upon $4,000, worth of the stock of the Putnam National bank. That stock has now become worthless. Not only this, but the hospital must pay, the same as other stockholders, an assessment of one hundred per cent on its holdings. This is a cash assessment of $4,000 and it is to raise this amount that an appeal is being made. So far one-half of the amount, $2,000 has been subscribed and paid by the trustees to the receiver of the bank.

A number of affairs to raise further money have been planned. Already one in a series of subscription bridge and euchre parties has been held and others are to be held at Hibernian hall, Pomfret. Mrs. L. L. Lorillard as hostess; at Pomfret hall, Charles Swain, host; at "Brick to High" the home of Miss Boult and Miss Stevens, Pomfret. These affairs were planned and arranged for by Miss Boult and Miss Noyes.

Those who have been patients at the hospital and feel grateful for its services, now have an opportunity to show gratitude in a substantial manner. It is the desire of the trustees to impress upon the people that small amounts are acceptable as the present financial situation in Putnam is well known. No one need hesitate to contribute, as every little helps.

The village of Eastford has the distinction of being the home of probably the oldest person in Connecticut. Mrs. Sarah Bosworth Bradway will be 107 if she lives until next April. She is a real Daughter of the American Revolution as her father served under General Putnam in the Revolutionary war. Although over a century, Mrs. Bosworth is possessed of all of her faculties, but she is blind. She eats what she desires and enjoys her meals. Naturally her tastes are for the plain foods she was used to as a child and young woman, but she denies herself nothing that her appetite craves.

This centenarian lives alone with her daughter, Mrs. Darwin P. Clark, who is eighty. Her son-in-law, Mr. Clark died a week ago at the age of 85. These two venerable women live in the peaceful village 14 miles from a railroad and refuse to have assistance in taking care of themselves or the home. The daughter is up bright and early every morning and prepares the breakfast. During the day she does the house work and prepares the other meals. She is in the full enjoyment of life and is often heard singing at her work.

Each year, members of Elisabeth Porter Putnam chapter, D. A. R., of Putnam, make a pilgrimage to Eastford in observance of their distinguished sister's birthday. They carry fruit and flowers and other gifts and for a short while listen to narratives of the years that few knew of except as handed down by history. Mrs. Bradway remembers it all and can tell of the tithing man at the church which many of the congregation reached Sunday on horseback, of the days of the tallow dip and the warming pan; of the spinning wheel and the home-spun garments. She not only can talk interestingly but enjoys it. Nothing but her sightless eyes denotes her extreme age. Mrs. Bradway is looking forward to the coming of the Putnam members of the D. A. R. to help her observe her next birthday, in April, 1925.

HENRY BREAULT, BURGLAR, STOLE FAR AND NEAR

(Special to The Bulletin)

Putnam, Nov. 2.—Capt. William Jarvis of the Putnam police arrested Henry Breault, 26, about 9 o'clock, Saturday night, on a charge of burglary. Following the arrest the captain and his men accompanied Breault to his home on Lee street and there found a quantity of merchandise. The police valued the property at around $2,000. In the arrest of Breault and the finding of the property, some of which has been identified, by storekeepers in Moosup, Attawaugan and Oneco, the local police and the state police believed they have solved the mystery of at least eleven burglaries of cross country stores of Connecticut, and as many in Rhode Island, extending almost to the suburbs of the city of Providence

Included in the goods found in the Breault home and alleged by the officers to be stolen are a radio set, phonograph, automobile tires and parts, clothing, underwear, tools, tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, groceries and various other articles of merchandise, such as is carried in a general country store. A long series of burglaries of country stores has been annoying the storekeepers in this corner of the state, from Attawaugan down through Central Village, Moosup, Sterling, Oneco and over the Rhode Island line, extending as far as Arctic. Whiel Breault did not admit any of the breaks to the police during his confinement over Sunday in the Putnam police station, the police feel certain that they have the person responsible for the many burglaries.

The finding of the goods in his home coupled with damaging statements the police claim he has made, convince the officers they are right. For a week or more Putnam police have known that merchandise was being sold at much below the wholesale cost of the goods disposed of. When they learned Saturday evening that Breault had sold a tub of butter and a tub of lard to a storekeeper at an extremely low price, they felt justified in making the arrest and the discovery of the alleged stolen property followed.

Breault has a criminal record, he has been in the Cranston, R. I., jail and was arrested and convicted in the superior court in Windham county for participating in the theft of an automobile. On account of his wife and children being dependent upon him for support, he was dealt with leniently. Since he was discharged from probation he has worked but little and has been under police surveillance. Breault will be turned over to the state police Monday morning, but the officers are not prepared to say with what burglar he will first be charged.

NOANK

The Rainbow football team played the eighth grade school boys Friday at Williams Park before a good sized crowd of fans. It was a close game. The school boys held them in the first half with a tie score and the last half the Rainbows came back strong and won, 13 to 6. Robertson was the star for the Rainbows. Bracci for the eighth made a 50-yard run. In about two weeks they expect to play the Stonington team.

Noank's World war honor roll is placed on the Baptist church lawn. The names of some are nearly worn off and it is badly in need of painting. Some think the ex-service men deserve a more respectable honor roll than the one which now stands sorely in need of attention. Others suggest a big boulder with a bronze tablet and would place it at the corner of Brook and Elm streets and have it seen by everyone as they enter the town.

Hallowe'en, someone put a mask on little Peter Guther's goat and most of the children were afraid of him.

WESTMINSTER

The Test of Faith is the mid-week home prayer topic for Nov. 5, Scripture I. Peter 1: 3-25.

The Canterbury W. C. T. U. Buell Union is to meet at the Plains with Miss Corey for another all day session Wednesday, Nov. 5. In the afternoon there will be an interesting program, one feature to be a report of the state meeting recently held at Bristol by Miss Sarah L. Hadley, who was present and participated in the convention.

Bennett's lumber camp after a few days' recess, has resumed work. Axel Helstrom and Fred Green are among the regular workers.

Forty-five new voters were made in Canterbury this year and more would have been had they considered the matter in time to take the necessary steps.

Mrs. Thomas Colburn and her mother, Mrs. Church were Norwich guests recently.

A very enjoyable ghost and witch party at the parsonage was the result of invitations not given out until early Hallowe'en week. Two fortune-tellers, an Indian and a gypsy, added much to the enjoyment. Most present were in costume and solemnly paraded before the judges who awarded the prize to Paul Miller of Fort Ned. Richard P. Davis and Mrs. Davies acted as judges. Some of the usual and some unusual stunts were tried, proving great fun. Standardised Hallowe'en refreshments were served and games were played.

The last of this year's fellowships of the Junior, Six Church, Conference of South Windham county is to be markedly patriotic, one feature being an address by State Librarian George I. Godard. Date, Nov. 13th, at Westminster church.

ARRESTED AFTER CRASH AT NORWICH TOWN

About 4.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, a Ford touring car driven by Henry Greenstein of Jewett City R. F. D., Route No. 4, and a Dodge touring car driven by Nathan Reppa of Vergnsen avenue, Norwich Town, crashed into each other near the Johnson Home at Norwich Town.

Mr. Greenstein, who is an insurance agent, was headed toward the city, and Reppa in the opposite direction on his way home. It was reported that Reppa was intoxicated and after passing the flashlight beacon in front of the Johnson Home, his car swerved to the left on the sidewalk, directly in the path of the Greenstein car. A large crowd congregated in a short time. Frederic H. Wyant, district agent of the Connecticut Humane society, who happened to be near by volunteered his services and directed traffic until the situation was cleared up.

The Jewett City car received a smashed fender and running board, broken windshield and tire demolished. Mr. Greenstein reported the accident to police station.

The Reppa car had a fender ripped off, one tire torn off and one axle sprung. The car was later removed to Shahan's garage on West Town street. Constable Fenton having been called took Reppa to police station, also took the car in his care. Friends of Reppa furnished bonds for him and he was released Sunday, to appear in court this (Monday) morning.

Saturday was a busy day for Constable Fenton, as he landed three drunks in the police station before 10 o'clock that night. One call came in for an unknown man lying drunk in the road near the Fair Grounds, and in company with Policeman Perry a quick run was made to the spot to get the man. About this time the third call came for another party at Norwich Town.

Snowdrift—fresh rich creamy cooking fat for making cake, biscuit and pastry and for frying

HOW SNOWDRIFT IS MADE

In September the fields of the South were white with cotton and cheerful darkies were slowly shuffling down the long rows, picking the snow-white bolls.

If it weren't for that cotton crop we'd be hungry people this year. In its way that cotton crop is as necessary as the wheat crop of the great Northwest, if we're to be a wholesome, well-fed nation. Cotton seed supplies something more than a third of all the fat we eat. More than a billion pounds a year. We'd be hungry people if it weren't for that cotton crop.

Does it seem odd to think of cotton in connection with cooking fat?

Or trees in connection with sugar?

Nature is very generous. We get maple sugar and syrup from a tree that may some day be the boards on our kitchen floor. We get a delicious, wholesome fat from a plant that may give us our gingham apron, too. Cotton is one of the most important food crops in this country.

When the cotton is picked it is taken to the gin, Eli Whitney's great invention, where the seed is picked out from the long, white fibre. The white cotton is baled and shipped off to the mills to be woven into cloth for the outside of us, and the seed to the "crusher" to become food for the inside of us.

The cotton seed, as it comes from the gin, is small and gray and looks a bit like a pussy-willow bud because of the short cotton fibre that clings to the outside. It is put into an ingenious machine where tiny knives scrape off this "lint" from the hull or shell, and, thoroughly scraped, the cotton seed is like a little, dark brown nut.

These seeds, or nuts, are cracked so as to get at the kernels or "meats," rich with oil, and then heated—"cooked," we say—in great steam kettles so that the oil can be easily pressed out. This job of cooking the "meats" is quite a skillful one. In our Company we're as proud of some of our old, experienced cooks as a good hotel might be of its chef. There is an opportunity for judgment and skill in this cooking and it makes a difference in the product.

When the meats are cooked, they are placed in huge hydraulic presses and the rich molasses-colored oil is squeezed out.

The quality of this oil will vary considerably. Cotton seed, for instance, is no more uniform than wheat or corn or any other crop. All the apples even from the same tree aren't going to be exactly alike and each exactly as good as the next. The quality of oil will vary, depending on the seed and the cooking, and our first opportunity to make Snowdrift better than any other cooking fat is to select only the choicest oil from the millions of gallons pressed.

The oil then goes to a refinery.

As it is pressed from the seed the oil is dark in color and has a decided odor and flavor. Some folks like this flavor. More don't. If you like molasses better than white granulated sugar, you might possibly prefer cotton seed oil before it was refined.

Molasses not only sweetens but flavors everything it sweetens. You "taste" the molasses in everything you sweeten with it. Refined sugar sweetens, but doesn't change the flavor. Similarly, good cooks want a fat that fattens or enriches food without making everything "taste" of the fat used. So oil refiners not only try to get all impurities out of the oil, but also try to take out the color and any strong flavor.

The ideal oil would be almost as clear as crystal—just pure, rich oil—100 per cent. fat—with no impurities, coloring matter or flavor whatever. The best we have ever seen (Wesson Oil) is such a pale, straw color that it is almost no color at all, and is so delicate in flavor that you really feel the rich, delicious oil in your mouth more than you taste any flavor.

There are many good refiners and most of the cotton seed oil on the market is pretty good. Ordinarily it bears about the relation to old-fashioned cotton seed oil that light brown sugar does to molasses, so far as color and taste are concerned. That is, it is yellow and has a distinct flavor that you may or may not like, but it is good, wholesome food.

Quite naturally, all refining isn't alike. When a thing takes knowledge and skill and experience some are bound to do it better than others—to say nothing of the difference in the standard of excellence that different men aim at.

Our next opportunity to make Snowdrift better than any other cooking fat is to refine our selected oil to a degree of purity and goodness that we do not believe is equalled by any other refiner. We do just that. By the Wesson method.

That doesn't sound like a very modest statement, but it's true. As a reader of advertisements you might be satisfied when we tell the truth and not expect us to be modest, too, about these things we're proud of.

The oil that is to be made into Snowdrift is refined by the Wesson method to a degree of purity and goodness that we do not believe is equalled by any other oil you could buy—100 per cent. pure, rich, nourishing food.

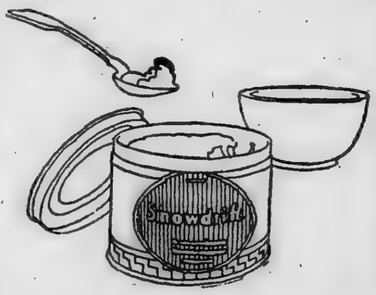
"The Doctor," as we call David Wesson (he is an eminent chemist, not a physician, and his official title in our Company now is Technical Director) is an authority on the refining of vegetable oil, and invented or discovered, or whatever is the thing one does with a method, a method of refining oil that was named after him.

The Wesson method of refining vegetable oil probably marked the greatest advance in the interest of the whole industry.

Choice oil, refined by the Wesson method to an unequalled purity and richness, is then ready to be made into Snowdrift.

Snowdrift is made entirely of this pure vegetable oil—nothing else—hardened into a creamy cooking fat, by hydrogenating, because—frankly—the women of this country didn't want to cook with a liquid fat but wanted their cooking fat to be white and solid and look like the old-fashioned hog lard they were accustomed to.

When you come to think of it, all fats are oils—or all oils fats, whichever way you want to say it. It is just a matter of temperature. At 30 degrees Fahrenheit vegetable oil, butter and hog lard are all solid fats. At ordinary room temperature the vegetable oil is liquid and the butter and lard still hard. Around 100 degrees the butter melts, vegetable oil and butter are liquid and the hog lard soft. At 115 degrees the lard melts and all three fats are liquid.



However, habit is strong. Years ago, when cotton seed oil was first offered to women as a cooking fat, they didn't want to use liquid fat. They wanted it white and solid.

The ladies usually get their own way.

It was discovered that oleostearine—tallow or beef suet—could be mixed with vegetable oil in some way or other, chilled and the mixture would harden into a solid fat with the appearance and consistency of hog lard.

For many years vegetable (that is, partly vegetable) shortening was made in this way.

Many manufacturers still make it that way—and tell you so on their labels if you will read all the small type.

But in the search for improvement an Englishman discovered that by hydrogenating it was possible to make a solid fat entirely of pure vegetable oil. Some of us are not acquainted with hydrogen except as a part of water. The only chemical formula some of us know, offhand, is H_2O—two parts hydrogen and one part oxygen—making pure water.

By adding a little hydrogen to vegetable oil under pressure and chilling it, the oil becomes quite hard at ordinary room temperature. And this hardened oil, itself a pure vegetable fat, can be used instead of tallow or suet to solidify more vegetable oil.

A small quantity of Wessonized oil has hydrogen added to it until it is a glistening, hard, white fat. A bit of this hardened oil is melted and mixed with the rest of the oil.

It is then poured into pans in which huge rolls are slowly turning round. These rolls are hollow and filled with brine from an ice machine, so that they are freezing cold on the outside. As these icy rolls dip into the pans of warm oil the oil is chilled and clings to the rolls like so much soft snow.

As the rolls turn round this soft, snowy fat is brought up out of the pan below and keen knives scrape it off into a "beater"—a large cylinder in which there is a rapidly spinning rod with blades like a giant egg-beater, which whip up the fat into a white creaminess.

Our method of hydrogenating is not an exclusive one, like the Wesson method of refining. All makers of pure vegetable cooking fat hydrogenate their oil in somewhat the same way. But even in doing somewhat the same thing there is opportunity for us to use the experience and skill of twenty odd years in making this process contribute to the superiority of Snowdrift.

Just the right degree of hardness in the hardened oil—exactly the right proportion of hard white fat to clear liquid fat—just the right chill—and judgment in the whipping—all these things give Snowdrift two qualities very different from other cooking fats and very popular with Snowdrift users. Snowdrift comes out white and creamy.

Snowdrift is always creamy and easy to use, no matter what the weather. It is never too hard nor too soft. You've probably tried cooking fat that got hard as a brick in cold weather, so you could hardly dig it out with a knife, and then so soft and mushy in warm weather that you almost had to spoon it. Hydrogenated fat tends to get too hard when it is chilled and to melt suddenly before it is very warm. The secret of Snowdrift's creaminess is to add so little hydrogenated fat. No matter what the weather Snowdrift is just the creamy consistency that a cook finds most convenient to use.

This isn't an accident. It doesn't just happen so. It is one of the results of trying for more than twenty years to make a perfect cooking fat—not only pure and good to eat, but pretty to look at and convenient to cook with.

From the "beater" Snowdrift is pressed—glistening, white, pure, rich and creamy—into airtight cans or buckets to bring it to your kitchen as sweet and fresh as the day it was made.

This airtight can is last, but far from least. The way we send Snowdrift to you may not seem a part of the story of making Snowdrift, but it is tremendously important, because on that airtight can depends what Snowdrift is like when you get it. It doesn't do you any good for us to make Snowdrift good unless it's good when you get it. Any cooking fat or shortening is fat. Any pure fat, without a preservative in it, will grow old and stale and finally rancid in the course of time—how soon depending somewhat on the weather.

It takes time for a cooking fat to make the trip from where it is made to your kitchen table. There may be a long railroad journey, or delays in shipping. There are sometimes long waits in grocers' warehouses and more or less time spent on your grocer's shelves. You might possibly get a can or bucket of cooking fat within a few days after it is made, but it is more likely to be several weeks old and sometimes months.

Of course, if you found fat objectionably strong or rancid, you wouldn't use it. But if the fat had grown old and stale, without actually spoiling, most folks would use it, think it was not a very good kind of fat, and never know what the real trouble was.

Lots of women have told us that they've used cooking fat of one kind or another all their life and never really knew, until they tried Snowdrift, how sweet and fine a fat could be.

We used to put out Snowdrift in ordinary cans and buckets and tubs, just like anybody else. Soon we discovered that in an open tub we couldn't be sure what Snowdrift would be like when you got it—we couldn't even be sure it was clean. After that we packed Snowdrift only in tightly covered buckets. Then, one day years ago, we found some Snowdrift on the shelves in grocery stores that we were ashamed of—Snowdrift that we couldn't believe was Snowdrift. The covered buckets had kept it clean—but that was all—and the Snowdrift was very, very stale. We realized then that lots of women might ask for Snowdrift and get this stale, ordinary fat instead of the good, fresh fat we'd made.

What was the use of all our care and pride in making Snowdrift the very finest we knew how if we sent it out and let luck decide whether you got it as good as we made it, or warm weather and standing on grocers' shelves had almost spoiled it before it reached your kitchen?

We put Snowdrift in an airtight can, so that when you open it in your kitchen it is as sweet and fresh and good as the day we make it.

Nothing but an airtight can or bucket will keep it fresh. A tight cover won't do, even if it is on pretty tight. Freshness depends on real airtightness, as you know if you have ever done any canning or preserving yourself.

If you ever find a can of Snowdrift that isn't sweet and fresh as the day we made it, the trouble isn't with Snowdrift, it is with that can. You've probably had an occasional jar of your own leak and the contents spoil. Once in a while a Snowdrift can doesn't stay airtight and the Snowdrift is no better than if it were packed in an ordinary tin or bucket. Take that can back to your grocer and get a can of real Snowdrift with our compliments—fresh and good as the day it was made.

In the early days a truly airtight can wasn't very convenient, but the goodness of fresh Snowdrift was worth the bother to open the most obstinate can. Now, in our constant effort to do everything we can to make Snowdrift a perfect cooking fat, we've even improved the can, so that it is right convenient to open and still keeps Snowdrift fresh.

That's the whole story of making Snowdrift.

The choicest vegetable oil—refined the Wesson way to a purity and goodness we do not believe is attained by any other cooking fat—hydrogen added to a bit of it—chilled—whipped into creamy whiteness—100 per cent. pure, rich, nourishing food—packed in a truly airtight can, so that when you get it in your kitchen it is as sweet and fresh and good as the day it was made.

CONNECTICUT WANTS NO CHANGE.

In connection with the selection of state officials who will direct the business of the state for the next two years, it is impossible to overlook the manner in which the affairs are now being conducted and from that decide whether there is a desire for a continuance of it or for something else.

Such a review can produce but one expression—Connecticut wants no change. The republican administration of state affairs for the past several years has been highly commendable. Because businesslike methods have been followed good results have been obtained. This is revealed in a striking way by the report of the federal trade commission, which was made up not for the benefit of Connecticut or any particular state, but for the purpose of comparing the conditions in all the states.

The cost of government increased everywhere during the war. It was expected that it would. In fact it was impossible to avoid it no matter which party was in power. But when from the list of 48 states it is shown that the percentage of increases for taxes in Connecticut was but 15.8 and that this was the lowest of the 48 states there is reason for giving recognition and endorsement to the considerate manner in which Connecticut affairs have been administered. Just what ground there is for gratification over the excellent showing can be gained from the fact that the average tax increase for the 48 states was 101 per cent and Connecticut showed but about one-seventh of that.

That tells why Connecticut has been able to reduce its large debt until it stands wiped out today. That explains why it has been possible to reduce the state tax and that shows why it is possible to show a surplus at the end of the year instead of the deficit which had characterized democratic years.

Connecticut has benefited greatly from republican state government. It should have no other thought that its continuance under the able leadership of Hiram Bingham and the republican ticket which he heads.

That Norwich may have the benefit of representation in the majority party in the next legislature it should insist upon the election of Messrs. Engler and Cassidy as representatives and Lee Roy Robbins as senator from the 19th district. Norwich needs their services and they are certain to be influential in the general assembly.

GET OUT AND VOTE.

Throughout the campaign there has been an effort made to impress the voters with the importance of going to the polls and voting. There has been an organized effort in this direction.

"No matter what your politics, go to the polls and vote," has been the sentiment put forth by one organization. On more than one occasion President Coolidge has laid stress upon the same idea. He has urged the need of a larger participation in the national election.

This is a matter which deserves the most careful attention. The importance of voting and the need of getting out the vote are perfectly apparent. Instead of being disposed to leave it to others, there should be a clear recognition of the duty that is involved. There is too much at stake at any election to be lukewarm or apathetic. It is not a question which should be decided by a few but one that calls for the expression of every voter who is physically able to get to the voting places. In this government of the people, for the people, by the people there should be a choice of officials by such a vote as to indicate the expressed will of a bigger percentage of the people.

The much sought franchise should neither be wasted nor carelessly treated. The most should be made of it every time it is possible to exercise it. Don't be a stay at home. Don't leave the election result entirely to others. You have an interest in it and your vote should be numbered among the others. If the right to vote is worth anything it should be used.

Get out and vote.

RE-ELECT FREEMAN.

Widespread disgust has been felt over the harmful effects which have been felt from the bloc influence and obstacles which have appeared in the present congress.

If it is the country's determination to elect Calvin Coolidge to succeed himself as president, which is now indicated, it should be impressed with the importance of giving him a congress beginning with next March which will be in accord with his policies. It is a time to give him a congress that is republican in fact as well as in name, a congress that will have a republican majority that will stay republican. This is of course what should be expected and what will happen if care is taken in the selection of the senators and representatives.

At this election it is thus the duty of Connecticut to send a solid republican delegation to Washington. It is a time for the reelection of the four republicans in the present congress who have stood loyally by the administration, and in doing so most ably represented their constituents, and in addition to make the fifth member a republican.

From the second district, in view of the conscientious and faithful service he has rendered for the past decade, Richard P. Freeman should be returned to Washington. His record justifies it and the district needs the continuance of a well tried and experienced legislator in the national legislature. The re-election of Freeman means the upholding of sound, progressive republican policies.

"HE SHOULD HAVE WAITED."

According to the Milwaukee Sentinel one victim of a railroad crossing accident is quoted as saying in her dying moments, "He should have waited."

It was advice that came too late. It was a recognition of the situation which made a great impression upon the mind of one who suffered from the failure to exercise due care. It was one more of those instances where life was exacted through the unwillingness to slacken speed or stop for a brief period for the sake of safety.

Almost every day there is repeated similar instances where those at the wheel of an automobile have driven the machine directly in front of or into a railroad train and sent some or all of the party to eternity.

It is time to realize that it is too late to decide that "He should have waited," after fatalities have occurred. The great need is to act so that just such deplorable tragedies will be prevented. Be careful before someone is killed. Stop, look and listen while there is time. Wait before it's too late. There's no question about crossings presenting a real danger that deserves respect.

LAST HOUR CANARDS.

We have reached that period in the campaign of 1924 which is subject to eleventh hour political efforts to muddle.

It is to be sincerely hoped that none will appear, but it is easily recalled what steps have been taken in recent campaigns to poison the minds of the voters with unjustified claims when no time is permitted to refute them. Such may be regarded as clever political tricks, but it must be recognized by the thoughtful voter that if there was any basis for them they would have come out before instead of being covered up until the last minute and then put forth without a chance being permitted for denial.

Last minute canards are always the outcropping of cowardice, and considering what their object is they deserve to be regarded as unworthy of any credence. The very fact that they appear when they do brands them as lacking the basis of truth which they pretend to offer. May this campaign end without any such efforts.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

No, Albert, there is no date when the White way must be put into operation.

The man on the corner says: Prevent wastefulness by not throwing your vote away.

If the people are going to elect the president they must get to the polls and see that they do it.

Election day should of course overcome the difficulty that has been experienced in getting rain.

Vote a straight republican ticket Tuesday and help create a new cause for thankfulness on Thanksgiving day.

John W. Davis says he is going to be elected. He will wake up from that dream on the morning of November 5.

The big quandary now is whether Indian summer will be recognized because of the delightful days that are preceding it.

The uncertainty which is felt by business in anticipation of election will be effectively overcome if Calvin Coolidge is elected on Tuesday.

Even though big railroads should go into bankruptcy through La Follette having his way concerning them that wouldn't cause Battling Bob any worry.

Have you promised yourself to get to the polls and insist upon getting representation for Norwich in the majority party in the next general assembly?

The announcement that Victor Berger is heartily in favor of the child labor amendment cannot be said to create a favorable sentiment for the constitutional change.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Flour should always be kept in a cool, dry place.

Iodine stains may be removed by strong ammonia water.

Starch will become clear if stirred with a paraffin candle.

Bread should not be put away until thoroughly cooled.

Be sure that any lettuce you use for salad is crisp and cold.

Keep a roll of transparent adhesive tape handy to mend torn pages or anchor loose sheets. Every music store carries it.

Cottage pudding is really a one egg cake served hot with a sauce and it may be varied greatly.

A novel method of preparation often means that vegetables not otherwise liked will be favorites.

Should fresh paint be spilled on the floor, pour vinegar over it at once and wipe up with a soft cloth.

If your salad dressing begins to curdle put in a little of the unbeaten white of an egg. You'll find it smooth.

Sauer kraut may be cooked by placing it in a large bean pot with three or four pork chops on top covered with cold water and baked three of four hours.

A combination of cucumber, celery, pineapple and black walnut meats chopped together and mixed with majonnaise dressing makes a most delicious sandwich for afternoon tea.

To make potatoes look white and floury, boil in as little water as possible, strain and take at once to an open door. Give the potatoes a vigorous shake in the saucepan and let it remain uncovered at the side of the fire for five minutes before serving.

WHEN MAKING COOKIES

When making molasses cookies try mixing the dough the last thing at night, ready to roll out and putting it in the ice chest or cellar till all ready to bake next morning. They will be so cold it will take but little flour and are easily rolled, as they will not stick.

CLEANING MIRRORS

The best way to clean mirrors is as follows: To a teaspoon of whiting add sufficient cold tea to make a paste. Go over the surface of the glass with a little warm tea, wipe dry, and then gently rub on the paste with a piece of flannel. When the whole surface of the mirror has been rubbed with the paste, polish the mirror with soft tissue paper.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Few things are more inviting or conducive to an appetite than a daintily arranged breakfast tray and a gift that any invalid will welcome consists of a tray of papier mache painted a cheerful yellow, and a breakfast set of deep cream color Italian pottery. A tray of painted tin may be substituted for that of papier mache.

White of egg should be added to the menu of the invalid whenever possible, as it is most nourishing. It can be beaten slightly and added to any farinaceous food just before serving without the patient knowing anything about it.

Doctors will usually warn a rheumatic person against eating sugar, berries, red meat and acid fruits and vegetables. The diet they recommend includes mutton and chicken broth and beef tea in small quantities, raw clams, oysters, boiled fresh fish, chickens and boiled bacon, corn or brown bread, green vegetables, toast, starchy gruels and arrowroot, and quantities of milk and water.

Those who must be on their feet a good deal of the day should take special care of these abused members. Much can be done to prevent foot weariness by changing shoes and stockings often. If you work away from home, take a change of footwear with you so that you can slip into fresh stockings and shoes during your lunch hour. Dust your feet with foot powder after you have removed your old stockings. This will rest your feet wonderfully. If you are a housewife, it should be a simple matter to change your shoes during the day.

SURPRISE APPETIZER

French chefs feature small mushrooms, cabbage slaw, or slices of tongue and asparagus tips as hors d'oeuvres. In Italy pickled mushrooms or anchovies are served. The Russian prefers his salted fish or nuts as a tempting first bite.

In America the green olive is generally found now on the appetizer dish served for savories or hors d'oeuvres. It may be prepared in many attractive forms and is therefore a favorite with both chef and caterer. Here is a popular new recipe.

Pit large green olives and fill with yolks of hard-boiled eggs mixed to a paste with a little butter. Lay an olive on a strip of bacon, sprinkle with paprika and a tiny pinch of mustard, roll up, fasten with toothpick and broil just long enough to crisp the bacon. Serve on toast fingers.

KEEP BANDAGES HANDY

A box of bandages should be kept handy in every household in case of accident. These can easily be made. Tear them from strong cotton cloth, unhemmed, an roll them tightly, making separate rolls of varying widths. Sterilize them by placing them in the oven, and then store them in a fruit jar.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Bead "chokers" of gold, silver or gun metalare very much in evidence these days.

The newest topcoats are of very swagger plaid materials and have an inverted pleat in the back.

Cross-stitch embroidery is effectively used on wool sweaters as a bit of extra embellishment.

Smooth, suedelike materials are liked for the three-piece suit of this season.

Gowns of silver or gold cloth are jeweled with imitation emeralds, sapphires and rubies as well as rhinestones and pearls.

The new necklaces all have very large and decorative clasps and frequently have three strands of beads where ther only had one formerly.

For women tired of the oriental or Spanish shawl effect in evening cloaks there is a new cloak built on loose and flowing lines like a "wrapper" or a college gown.

A raised waistline is one feature of some new winter coats. The raised waistline, indeed, is the only graceful one with a coat fitting as tightly as some of the late models.

A rather small hat of brown silk stitched with black is in favor now for afternoon wear. If often has a double pompom on the edge of the brim over one ear, the brim being narrow to the vanishing point.

Long fringed scarfs of fluted silk lace and huge squares of ombre crepe de chine and chiffon are among the novel ties of the new season.

Just at present the mode calls for fall frocks of black satin or bengaline that are worn under stunning coats of black otterman silk, for no one can have failed to notice that silks which have a corded surface are extremely modish.

STRAIGHT LINE SLAYS

There seems to be every indication that the straight line will remain, although in many instances it is given a new aspect by the introduction of gores often so placed that the back of the gown still retains the fashionable flatness. Occasionally a frock is shown with certain details of cut and trimming that suggest a raised or normal waistline. These gowns, however, are more frequently seen on women of more developed figures.

THE SILHOUETTE

The silhouette which apparently is to dominate the fall and winter season demands a perfect supple foundation and women who have gone without some sort of support during the corsetless era are now hastending to bring their figures back to the required slimness. The old-time corset has gone, but the new affairs that have taken their place are marvels of cut and fit and at the same time help to achieve a figure of natural graceful lines.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES

A blunted sewing machine needle may be sharpened by stitching through a piece of sandpaper for a short distance. This helps you until you can get a new needle.

When sewing with a double thread, make a knot in both ends and then draw through as usual. This will avoid the thread snarling, as it so frequently does when both ends of the thread are tied in the same knot.

To fasten off an eyelet so that it will not ravel work the last three stitches slightly loose, then run the needle back through them. With the point of the needle draw them up firmly and smoothly in succession, taking the one nearest the right hand first. Cut off the end closely.

It is nice to keep a sewing basket containing some work tucked in a cupboard drawer down-stairs. So often we must wait for some member of the family to appear before serving dinner and the time will not seem so irksome if one's hands are busy.

A RENOVATION TIP

Matting in front of a wash-hand-stan frequently becomes horribly shabby, while the fibres are still in good condition, and it seems extravagance to throw the mat away. This is an excellent way to treat a "tired looking" mat which has still many years of wear before it. Firstly, wash with soap and water, giving it a final rinse in plain cold water, and spread out to dry. When quite dry, paint with one coating of varnish wood stain, giving a second if the shabbiness is not completely disguished. A tint to tone with the curtains or carpet should be chosen.

When stairs are covered with matting it is a good plan to paint it before it is put down for the first time, as the traffic on a staircase soon destroys the freshness of the matting.

INK STAINS

Ink stains are difficult to remove because the composition of ink varies. Fresh ink stains can usually be removed by soaking in sweet or sour milk. Change the milk as it becomes discolored. This treatment will not injure colored fabrics. A second method is to wet the stain with cold water and apply a ten per cent solution of oxolic acid; let stand a few seconds and rinse thoroughly, preferably with water to which borax has been added. Several short applications of acid are safer than one long one. Lemon juice and salt will remove ink stains. Red ink is usually removed with cold water and ammonia.

KETCHUP HINT

If you run out of corks while bottling your ketchup cut mastehgard the size of the top of the bottle, dip it in melted paraffin and hold it on top of the bottle until cooled. You'll find it will stick. Then later you can cover the neck and top with wax and you'll find you have it perfectly sealed.

GERANIUM

If you have a rose-geranium pick a few of the leaves and put them on the bottom of the greased cake tin the next time you bake. They will impart the most delicious delicate flavor.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Peking has a daily newspaper published by and for Chinese women.

Mrs. Eva Storme is the manager of three fur trading posts in Canada.

Mrs. W. H. Loomis, deputy sheriff in Cody, Wyoming, has become known as a terror to bootleggers.

The International Federation of University Women has a total membership of 23,000, representing 30 countries.

The Boston Legal Aid Society, one of the pioneer organizations of its kind in America, has two women lawyers on its staff.

During the 10 years they have been employed in the United States Treasury Miss Bella Trouland and Miss Belle Landquist have established a record of counting $1,000,000,000 apiece, and without an error too.

CELERY LEAVES

The outside leaves of celery make an excellent dish if stewed either in a brown or white sauce, leaving the heart entirely untouched. Cabbage leaves, again, can be parboiled and wrapped round sausage-meat, and then the "packets" stewed in thick gravy.

A GOOD FUEL

A good fuel may be made by mixing small coal and dust with some heavy clay soil and forming the mixture into balls about the size of a big orange. Rubber gloves should be slipped over the hands when making the balls.

RECIPES

Almond Cake: Beat one-fourth cupful of butter and one cupful sugar to a cream. Add the beaten yolks of two eggs and beat all well. Then add one-half a cupful of milk alternately with one and one-half cupfuls of flour sifted with one teaspoonful of baking powder. Last of all add the egg whites beaten to a stiff froth and one-half a teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Bake and cover the tops and sides with soft shelled almonds, after the shells are removed, of course.

Little Pound Cakes: Cream one-third cupful of butter, beat in half a cupful of sugar, two beaten egg yolks, half a tablespoonful of milk and three fourths cupful of flour, sift a teaspoonful of baking powder and one-fourth teaspoonful of mace. When thoroughly mixed fold in two egg whites, beaten dry. Bake in small tins in a quick oven. The mixture need not be spread in the tins. It is rich and the heat will cause it to run and fill the tins.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Closed Season for Bass Now.

Mr. Editor: On the first page of your Oct. 31st issue there appears an item dated at Hartford, Conn., Oct. 30th, in which it is stated that Supt. Tiltcomb advises the sportsmen to substitute bass fishing for hunting while the closed season declared by the governor is effective.

This advice will prove rather embarrassing and doubtless costly to any who fish for bass after Nov. 1st, which is the beginning of the closed season for that fish. Nobody except the legislature can change the law. While the governor can shorten the season, he has no power whatever to lengthen it beyond the prescribed dates on the statutes.

So it is advisable that those who contemplate bass fishing should wait till next season. The open season is now over and our wardens must arrest any who violate the law regardless of from how high up the suggestions to the contrary may come.

Very truly yours,
GEO. S. BROWN.
Jewett City, Nov. 1, 1924.

A Tribute to James Henderson.

Mr. Editor: I saw in your paper the death of James Henderson. He was my boss in '65 and '66. He was a good man. I lived and worked in Norwich five years, three years for Walker, one year in Greeneville and one for C. H. Williams' tool shop. I helped build the Ella's engines and the sister boat also. Kit Moore was then my boss. So goes the time.

Respectfully yours,
J. ABNER GEER.
Mystic, Conn., Oct. 30, 1924.

The Child Labor Amendment.

Mr. Editor: The National Child Labor committee has explained to The Bulletin readers and public in general the object of the amendment to the Constitution. They assure us that measure merely accords congress power to pass a law regulating child labor. I have the text before me. As follows: "The congress shall have the power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age." My dictionary gives definition of prohibit: "To forbid by law." How do they conciliate their statement with the text of the measure?

Continuing they aver, it was their desire to regulate (yet they prohibit) the employment of children under fourteen (yet place eighteen the limit) in dangerous occupations, and also working unseemingly hours. Why wasn't suh conditions stated?

They state it will never be carried out as written.

What occult powers has the committee for knowing that congress will not follow the measure as written? My brain whirls! Is this a Will o' the Wisp affair? Now you see it, now you don't. Their whole reasoning is contradictory.

They place in the hands of congress this menacing measure, and calmly expect that our congressmen will painlessly extract the menace! I reiterate that its a pernicious measure!

We who oppose it do so! Firstly, because we think it unjust.

Secondly, that it is a move toward creating more bureaus and all the concurring expense to country.

Fourthly, we realize it gives congress absolute power to pass any kind of law it sees fit, and we do not feel congress should be given any such power.

Further, we feel it is the duty of every voter to defeat it.

A MOTHER.

Grace Alone in a Strange Country

Filled with the spirit of adventure, William R. Grace could not settle down in the little town of Queenstown, Ireland, where he was born.

When his father would not consent to his joining the English navy, he ran away to sea and as a cook's scullion worked his way to New York. A stranger there, he barely made a living, and after two year's of hardships yielded to his father's pleading to go home and take an interest in a ship chandlery in Liverpool.

Successful before he was 18, he tired of the tranquil business life and grasped an opportunity to go to Callao, Peru, where, from a small boat, he solicited orders in the harbor for Bryce & Company, ship chandlers. Soon he was so popular that he became a member of Bryce, Grace & Company. Then he married.

Peru was making great strides. He became interested in the government, and also accumulated riches. Taken suddenly ill, he went home, where he was influenced by his sister to take a deep interest in religion.

After a year of aimless travelling, he established in New York the house of W. R. Grace & Company to act as corresponders of Bryce, Grace & Company. Business rapidly developed, branches were established and the concern became the largest exporting house in the country.

After liberally aiding Peru in its war with Chile, he, with his brother, had to assume Peru's national debt and take over its national revenues. He developed Grace Brothers & Company of Peru and became interested in railroads, mines, banks and other business enterprises in North and South America.

In an effort to fuse Irving and Tammany Halls of New York, Grace was selected to run for Mayor, won by a few hundred votes, and at 49 became New York's first Roman Catholic Mayor. He soon split Tammany over patronage and although without a party brought about reforms, but was defeated for re-election. Two years afterward he was elected again and when Tammany later asked him to run he refused.

Grace was noted for his many philanthropies as well as for his riches political activities.

Serving by Growing

EVERY time an installer signs for a telephone instrument at the stock room counter and starts out for the home or office of a new subscriber, where he is to connect it with the Bell System, he is serving you.

Each new telephone added to the system puts you in potential contact with the users of this new instrument. Every new installation, anywhere, increases the scope of your service; makes your telephone more valuable to you.

Since the invention of the telephone in 1876, many improvements in equipment and in operating methods have combined to increase the value of telephone service to the individual subscriber. Not only has it been made possible to hear clearly over the telephone, and at far greater distances, but also to be promptly connected with a larger number of subscribers—for the telephone serves by growing.

The number of Bell System telephones is growing at the rate of about three quarters of a million a year—a fact which at once illustrates the increasing value of telephone service to existing subscribers and its increasing acceptance by the public as indispensable to modern life.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

There are few more mysterious figures in the world today than Sir Basil Zaharoff, whose marriage is reported from Europe. Although he is thought by some to be the richest man alive, nobody really knows who he is or what he does. His fortune has been established at over $100,000,000. He is interested in banking, in oil in armaments and in a hundred and one other things including the Casino at Monte Carlo. He shrinks from all kinds of publicity. His only hobby is cooking, and he has invented several new dishes. Now Sir Basil has married as mysteriously as he has done everything else. His bride was the Duchess de la Villefranca de los Caballeros, a Spanish noblewoman. Their marriage is said to be the culmination of a long romance. Twenty years ago Sir Basil swore his devotion to her, but not until now has she been free to marry him.

Stories That Recall Others

Brutally Frank.

Not many moons ago one of the gentry from a neighboring town had to be pulled into the city by a tow car from a garage. When his fallen chariot was under the roof of the motor hostelry he stood beside it with a garage mechanic and permitted himself a fond though sorrowful survey of its shining hulk. Presently he spoke.

"Do you have many of these cars around here?"

"No," said the mechanic without equivocation, "and there'll be a darn sight less next year!"

'A Big Car Out in Front.

The two little daughters were visiting mother's friend on the other side of the town. The friend had a large sedan. When mother arose to go, Mrs. X. told her that she would be over to see them soon.

"Well, when you come," the smaller of the two children said, "be sure you put your car right in front of our door. The kids in the house across the street told us we didn't have anything but Fords stop at our house!"

Sunday at 4 p. m., the Y. M. C. A. parlors were filled with men and older boys who were greatly interested in the service. After the opening exercises of hymns, scripture reading and prayer followed by vocal solos pleasingly rendered by Hugh Kinder, two short educational reels of moving pictures were shown, one "Transpdanting big trees" and on "The birth of the earth." These were followed by a fifteen minute reel on Boy Scout life, and this proved intensely interesting, as it showed a full days life in a Boy Scout camp, not only the fun enjoyed, but the real work done, and the fine discipline maintained.

Between the reels of pitures, General Secretary Edwin Hill gave a brief talk as follows: "I want to add a sentence to a familiar scripture passage found in the 19th Psalm, and make it read for the occasion as follows: 'Let the words of my mouth, and the meditations of my heart, and my loyalty to my country, be acceptable to Thee O Lord, my strength and my Redeemer.' All Boy Scout organizations and all the branches of the Y. M. C. A. believe positively in clean speech, and in a pure heart and in absolute loyalty to country. Notice how very personal these words are; my words, my heart and my loyalty. In order to have our words right, we must have our hearts right, for out of the heart the mouth speaketh. We cannot have our hearts pure unless we surrender it fully to Jesus Christ, and let Him control our lives. Let us practice genuine loyalty, to our friends, to our organizations and let us always be very loyal to our great America, the best country under the sun. Election is near; let every one who has the right to vote exert that right, for it is a shame that only about half the registered vofers of late have been true to this part of their citizenship Let us vote as a sacred duty and privilege on the coming Tuesday, and may God grant that the right men may be chosen to lead us in all that is right and just. Let us always be found in the path of duty.

SPEAKERS FAIL TO ARRIVE FOR NORWICH DEMOCRATIC RALLY

Frank P. Fenton of Willimantic, the party candidate for congressman from this district, and a few pinch hitters in the speaking line did their best to prevent the democratic rally in the town hall Saturday night from being a complete fizzle in the absence of the advertised speakers, but at 9.15 the audience was dismissed by Mayor Milo R. Waters, the chairman, when it was found there would probably be a long delay before the speakers they were waiting for would arrive.

However, Harry L. Brooks, democratic nominee of lieutenant governor, who had been speaking at New London arrived here about 10 minutes after the rally had dispersed, and Charles G. Morris, the nominee for governor, who had also been at New London, reached here about 9.45.

The democratic state headquarters which had the assignment of dates made a bad mixup for the Norwich rally. Charles G. Morris, candidate for governor, Congressman Don Halsey of Virginia and Assistant District Attorney George S. Hornblower of New York, who had been announced for the rally here, were also dated for New London, and none of them reached Norwich in time for the rally.

Mr. Fenton was also dated for rallies at Mystic and Danielson, but he was prevailed upon to come here for a short talk and left immediately afterwards for Danielson.

Knowledge of the mixup did not come to the democratic town committee until 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and they worked frantically to fill the vacancies but without success except as to securing the attendance of Mr. Fenton.

The hall was a little over half full when Mayor Waters called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock and introduced Mr. Fenton, charging that the country had been under the most corrupt national administration ever known and the democrats were fighting against great odds. The local committee, he said had received little aid from national headquarters, but was doing its work alone here. He introduced Mr. Fenton as the democratic leader in the lower house in the last legislature and a great worker.

Mr. Fenton declared he was glad to be in Norwich, the city where he had been nominated and without his seeking. He was willing to make a fight in this normally republican district to help elect that great American, John W. Davis. (Applause.)

He spoke of the records of some of the "best minds" in the republican administration, with which he said everyone was familiar, and he went on to an attack on the "Brass Tacks" advertisement which has recently been used by the republicans in Connecticut, showing that the tax increase in this state has been the smallest of any state in the Union If he had time, he said, he could disprove every statement in the advertisement by the figures of the former state treasurer. He went on to speak of the per capita cost of government in Connecticut, which he said was $12.10, as compared with New Hampshire $11.74, Vermont $11.13; Massachusetts $9.98; Rhode Island $10.51; New York $11.30. The reason, he declared, was in the failure to have a central purchasing agency for the state institutions, a measure that had been pigeonholed in the last legislature. He read a eology of Mr. Davis from the Yale Review and said the party could also be proud of its candidate for governor who would not be dictated to by any political machine.

After a ten minute interval, State Senator Herman J. Gibbs of Yantic was called from the audience to speak and he was followed by Albert W. Lillibridge, representative from this town. Both spoke briefly of the work that had been done in the legislature by the democrats.

Ex-Mayor Jeremiah J. Desmond, who was referred to as an old democratic war horse, was next drafted from the audience for a few remarks, responding with a spirited but brief talk in which he declared that this was a campaign in which he would have liked to be in the fight with his coat off because the issues were vital. The rank and file of the people were honest in either party, he declared, but corrupt leadership had, brought evil repute. He affirmed that there was housecleaning needed in Hartford as well as in Washington and he hoped to see the democratic ticket win in the national and state election.

Ex-Mayor T. C. Murphy was likewise called upon making a brief response and following his talk the rally waited for about 30 minutes until it was dismissed by the chairman.

PINOCHLE CLUB ENJOYS HALLOWE'EN MASQUERADE

Transported to a strange land of ghosts, gobblins, black cats and other spooky beings, where the only vegetation was cornstalks, autumn foliage, big golden pumpkins and scarlet berries, sixteen members of the Saturday Night Pinochle club were entertained Saturday evening at the home of Drs. John and Marie Boynton at 124 Platt avenue, at a Hallowe'en masquerade. The home was beautifully and attractively decorated in a color scheme of orange and black enhanced by autumn foliage, scarlet berries and cornstalks with golden pumpkins arranged about the room. In each corner of the large living room was a large branch on which wisely perched a number of black owls.

With the guests all in costume and the only light from candles, the scene was one of bewitching beauty. After the guests had unmasked pinochle was played for which prizes of a true Hallowe'en nature were given, the first lady's prize being a bag of flour which was won by Mrs. George E. Stevens. The gentlemen's first prize was a bushel of potatoes won by Myles E. Standish. The consolation prizes, a head of cabbage and a pumpkin were won by Edward H. Crowell and Mrs. Myles E. Standish.

Mrs. Boynton served a dainty Hallowe'en supper after the evening of cards. The dining room was artistically decorated in Hallowe'en colors and novelties. Those present were Drs. John and Marie Boynton, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Gerorge A. Risley, Harry C. McNaught, Miss Etta A. McNaught, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Washburn, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Crowell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kromer and Mr. and Mrs. Myles E. Standish.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT TAFTVILLE MAENNERCHOR

A very pretty and enjoyable Hallowe'en party was held Friday evening at the Taftville Maennerchor club. The hall was tastefully decorated in Hallowe'en streamers and novelties of all sorts and dancing and Hallowe'en games were enjoyed.

In the games the Misses Freda Thoma, Gladys Thoma and Elsie Heberding won the girls' prizes and Edward Stefanick, Henry Seidel and Robert Pilling carried off prizes for the boys.

Later in the evening ice cream, cake, fancy cookies, fruit punch and candy were served by the committee.

Those present were the Misses Wilhelmina Krauss, Bertha Thoma, Louise Krauss, Hilda Thoma, Freda Thoma, Margaret Heibel, Margaret Seidel, Anna Volkmann, Gladys Thoma, Lillian Stitch, Irene Stitch, Emma Spielvogel, Hilda Spielvogel, Mildred Kloss, Freda Bauer and Elsie Heberding and George Krauss, Herman Krauss, Henry Seidel, Fred Seidel, Thomas Coleman, Edward Stefanich, William Mish, Edward Benoit, Alfred Puchta, Lawrence Heibel, Robert Pilling and Walter Hafner.

LEGIONAIRES INVITED TO PARADE ARMISTICE DAY

Word has been sent out to all Legionaires of the city and town to be ready to participate in the big Armistice Day parade and invitations have been extended to all ex-service men and women to meet with the Legion at the Fletcher Post rooms on Main street at 1.15 o'clock on the afternoon of November 11th. Disabled veterans are asked to get in touch with Legion members who will provide transportation.

Notices have also been sent out regarding the next New London District meeting which is to be held at the state armory in New London on Sunday, November 16th, when it is expected that an exemplification of the ritual will take place. Many Norwich members have already signified their intentions of attending the meeting and it is expected that Norwich will go to New London strong on that day.

Owenoco Hallowe'en Party.

Instead of a regular meeting Friday evening the Owenoco Camp Fire Girls held a Hallowe'en party at the home of their guardian, Miss Dorothy Holden, of Pine street. The barn was decorated with corn stalks, pumpkin moonshines and orange streamers. The costumes of the guests were varied and very amusing. Hallowe'en games were played after which appropriate refreshments were served.

PASTOR URGES VOTERS TO EXERCISE FRANCHISE

It is as important to do our duty as American citizens Tuesday as it is to worship God on Sunday, said Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., in his Sunday evening sermon at the Central Bautist church. The evening service had two special features. It was choir night and in addition Rev. Dr. Pitt spoke on the topic, A Preelection Message. If politics have gotten into a bad mess we have ourselves to blame, said Dr. Pitt. He said the indifference of many voters is becoming alarming. One of the alarming things has been the indifference of the voters. In the last presidential election only 50 per cent of those entitled to vote cast their ballots. The pastor called attention to the fact that the women have a part in the choice of a man to head the government. The woman owes it to her sex and to her country to get out and do her duty on election day. Dr. Pitt said that those who fought and bled for prohibition can feel safe that the prohibition question doesn't come up in this election. One of the outstanding citizens, whom you all know, said two years ago that it would only be a question of time before the prohibition amendment would be changed. He is not saying that today. Let us in a spirit of true Christianity approach the election as a privilege. Let us realize what it cost our fathers that we might have the privilege of selecting the men to head this government. It is as important to do our duty as American citizens on Tuesday as it is to worship God on Sunday. God forbid that any one of us should fail to do his duty.

As it was choir night a special programme was given by the organist and quartette as follows: Toccata (Frysinger); Melody (Hedman); choir numbers—O, For the Wings of a Dove (Mendelssohn); Consider and Hear Me, (Pfueger); I Will Mention (Sullivan); Even Me (Warren); God is a Spirit (Bennett).

Rev. Dr. Pitt announced that immediately at the close of the service there would be an informal reception in the chapel for the organist and members of the choir. Practically all those present at the service attended the reception.

A. O. H. DIVISION HOLDS ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, observed its 53rd anniversary Sunday with a very large attendance in A. O. H. hall, including visiting members from Division No. 2, and from the Taftville division, and there were also present members of the three divisions of the Ladies' Auxiliary. The meeting was presided over by President Martin Burke and opened with the singing of America with Edward T. Connelly as song leader. The record of important events of the division was read by the secretary.

There were interesting remarks by County President John Hourigan of Jewett City and members of the various divisions represented. There was considerable enthusiasm regarding the participation of the division in the Armistice Day parade and celebration as a number of the members of the division served in the army and navy during the war. The division now has a membership of 125 and about $4,000 in the treasury of which sum $3,000 is in Liberty bonds. Division No. 1 was one of the first organizations to offer its money to the government. A luncheon was served at the close of the meeting and Herbert H. Smith's orchestra furnished music. The newly elected officers of the division are:

President, Martin J. Burke; vice president, Peter D. Sullivan; recording secretary, Michael O'Connor; financial secretary, James Quinn; treasurer, Michael J. Malone.

RELIEF CORPS SUPPER WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

From 5 to 7 Saturday evening at the Buckingham Memorial, a largely attended supper was given by Sedgwick Warmen's Relief corps in which the Hallowe'en idea was carried out in the aprons and caps worn by the waitresses and the table decorations. The executive committee was in charge with Mrs. Lydia Perkins, acting chairman, assisted by members of the auxiliary, and the inviting menu sustained the enviable reputation made by the Relief corps for the suppers it serves.

MADAME LOUISE DOTTI DIES IN NEW BEDFORD

Friends in this city have learned with regret of the death, Friday, of Mrs. W. R. Swift, known to the musical world as Madame Louise Dotti, teacher of voice and gran opera singer, at New Bedford, Mass. Mrs. Swift, who was a former resident of this city was 78 years old. She leaves a brother, William S. Doty, of 41 Cliff street, a retired policeman.

Mrs. Swift, whose maiden name was Mary Louise Doty, had a world wide reputation as a teacher and singer and most of her life had been spent in the Massachusetts city where she met and married Mr. Swift. For some time she was soprano at the Unitarian church of New Bedford and appeared in several amateur roles. Later she studied with Lyman Wheeler, of Boston, after which, in 1873, she went abroad with her husband and child to further her course of study. She sailed upon the ill fated steamer, Ville Du Havre which was rammed when in mid-ocean during a dense fog and sank in 20 minutes. Of the 313 passengers on board only 87 being saved, among them Madam Dotti and her husband, their child being lost.

They were picked up by a passing steamer and taken to England where they replenished their needs, then continued on to Italy. In Milan, Mrs. Swift commenced her studies under Sangiovanni and from the beginning made most remarkabe progress later being engaged by the government at Sicily to appear in theatres. Later she travelled in Italy doing opera work.

Returning to America in 1879 Madame Dotti was immediately engaged by Colonel Mapleson for his grand opera company, then being organized. After that Madame Dotti appeared on the stage in America and England many times meeting with great success, and in 1880, she appeared in New Bedford playing the title role in "Il Travatore." After several years of concert work Madame Dotti taught in the College of Music at Chicago later in the College of Music in Cincinnati, attaining high honors in her work at both colleges.

In 1881 as a member of the Mapleson Grand Opera company she was associated with Adelina Patti, Lillian Nordica, Nellie Melba and many other stars of the profession, noted in the musical world.

SAYS POLITICAL FIGHT IS BITTER IN MAINE

Says Androscoggin to Shetucket, or Religion and Politics in Maine, was the subject chosen by Rev. J. Harlow Graham for the evening sermon at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, the sermon dealing with interesting insights into the minds of religious people of Maine, not, as Rev. Mr. Graham expressed, having to do with any personal view he might take on the matter.

I have just spent two weeks, he said, in a section of Maine noted for its natural beauty and while there I visited industrial towns and saw one of the largest power plants in New England. Besides the beauty of the country another thing struck me and held me, he said, and this was when I learned that Maine, especially in this district, has a larger proportion of college graduates than any other section of this country, while I found that every family intended that the children should receive an education and that every son and daughter should receive a college education. There was no foreign problem in the section I visited, it was Americanism at its best.

I found that students of high schools graduates of colleges all supported the church. Of course he said I was there to assist in raising money. The academies in that state needed money to pay teachers a living wage and to make necessary repairs. The work is vital and is carried on among what is known as college groups. Students are taught to read the Bible and study geology and biology without losing faith. Life proves that morals and religion are close together and we must hold these people at the time they need us most. Our fathers evidently succeeded in teaching the principal of conscience better than we, they taught the young to know that if they did wrong they would suffer. Today it is getting so that we cannot trust people who have no moral training. If moral training were not slighted we would have fewer Loeb and Leopold cases. We must train conscience.

We of the Methodist Episcopal church have reason to be proud of our five theological seminaries, the largest of which is in Boston, the largest Protestant trainfig school in the world, from which leaders have gone out into the world, not only into our own faith but into the field of other denominations. It is known that if the problems facing America are to be solved they must be solved by the church and its people. Lawyers and all court officials admit that this is the work of the church.

In closing Rev Mr. Graham touched lightly on the political situation in Maine, showing how closely it had aligned with religion, and stated that from all sources the fight there this coming Tuesday was destined to be bitter waged, many people in Maine believing in separation of church and state in every manner, particular emphasis being laid upon the question of money to support schools not strictly public.

Everywhere he said, one hears of Coolidge and people believe in his honesty.

From conversation, said Rev. Mr. Graham, it was evident that Davis was not considered to any great extent but LaFollette was, that is, he was considered dangerous by some and great by others, sentiment among the ministry being about evenly divided on this question.

Great moral questions must come into politics during the next 30 years, said Rev. Mr. Graham. We will see more great moral issues enter politcs during the next 20 years then have come into politics during the past 40 years. The next 20 years cannot be termed "barren years," for people in the church, are taking an interest in politics.

As a final message the speaker urged the congregation t exercise their right to vote in the coming election, stating that they should vote; that they should take advantage of this great political liberty given every voter, for at the polls, he said, every one does have a vote by which they can express themselves.

MOOSUP DEFEATS HARTFORD CHAMPS EASILY IN LAST GAME OF THE SEASON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Moosup, Nov. 3.—The last baseball game before the winter snows was played here this afternoon at the Carpet grounds between Henry H. Loughran's Moosup Town team and the Herrups of Hartford, the locals winning 6 to 1. Although it was November mild weather prevailed and the conditions were ideal for baseball. The crowd was fairly large considering the lateness of the season and the game sets a record in Eastern Connecticut for a late season game.

Moosup won the game in the first inning when the locals scored 5 runs due to Shovac's wildness. Couillard and Burns the first two men up for Moosup walked and then scored when Joe Faber crashed out a double. Clabby singled and Mills followed with a double that scored Faber and Clabby, Mills scoring a little later on an infield out.

From then on the game was a pitching battle between Davis and Shovac, Davis allowing but 3 hits in the seven innings he pitched. Mills finished the game for Moosup and did not allow a hit. Shovac was removed in the sixth inning when he showed signs of weakening and Fisher took up the pitching duties.

The seventh inning saw two circuit wallops, McKernan scoring the Herrups only run when he caught one of Davis' hooks on the nose for a homer. Joe Faber in his turn at bat duplicated the feat at the expense of Fisher. The score:

"WHO WILL STOP GRANGE?" IS CRY IN THE WEST

Chicago, Nov. 2 (By the A. P.).—As Illinois plows through its western conference schedule, beating its championship contenders by the largest scores the Big Ten has known since the performances of the Minnesota eleven in 1916, the football question of the season takes new form.

The question at the start of the season was "Who will stop Illinois and Grange?"

Now it's "How long can they keep it up—and will Grange be stopped?"

No team nor player has captured popular favor in the western conference years as have Illinois and the famous "Red" Grange, and, to neutral observers, the Illinois eleven is regarded as almost a perfect team, capable of gaining yardage and not weakening its defense to any serious degree even with Grange viewing the proceedings from the sidelines.

Coach Zuppke of the Illini proved this yesterday in the 36 to 0 triumph over Iowa when Grange was yanked out of the game after playing three periods.

The other Big Ten games—Chicago 19, Purdue 6, Michigan 13, Minnesota 6, and Northwestern 17, Indiana 7, demonstrated that deception rather than power is the greatest factor in crossing goal lines.

Chicago and Minnesota alone have favored the smashing game and Chicago has developed one of the strongest plunging attacks in the country.

Minnesota's smashing led by Lidberg and Schutte has so far failed to be complemented by the passing and running game that can convert long marches into touchdowns.

Michigan's deception plays have given nearly all its scoring. Beginning with the Michigan Aggies' game, Yost and Little's eleven has made every one of its scores by a quick attack depending on a few plays, otherwise playing a waiting game for a favorable position on the gridiron. Against Minnesota yesterday, Michigan scored twice on fake field goal kicks, one turned into a pass and the other into a run.

Wienecke of Northwestern yesterday used an individual deception play for touchdown when he dived over the Indiana line. The hurdle is seldom used, being illegal except against an opponent who is technically on the ground. It was such an opportunity that Wienecke seized. Baker of Northwestern now leads in goals, with 5, among Big Ten games. Michigan and Minnesota alone have made no field goals.

Purdue completed a 40-yard pass for touchdown on a play that finished after the final pistol.

Ohio became the real mystery of the conference with its third tie game of the season, 7 to 7 against Wooster. Ohio has risen to unexpected strength whenever defeat threatens. How strong Ohio's defense is no one knows, and this eleven has the tradition of rising to unexpected power at the end of each season against Illinois, while its deception game for passing and running is always best in the last quarter.

The offensive ability of Notre Dame's secondary team showed to better advantage against Georgia Tech. While it was scored upon the first few minutes of play—Williams booting a field goal from Notre Dame's 42-yard line—in the third and fourth periods Coach Rockne's substitutes gained regularly through Tech's line, off tackle and around the ends. Three of the five touchdowns made by the Rockmen were scored by the reserves.

Marquette, undefeated since November, 1921, lost to Creighton, 21 to 7.

BENKERT LEADS EASTERN FOOTBALL SCORERS

New York, Nov. 2 (By the A. P.).—Benkert of Rutgers and Tryon of Colgate, as their teams played minor opponents, took a leap ahead of other eastern candidates for high point scoring honors after Saturday's games. Benkert leads with 82 and Tryon has 80.

Bruder and Farley of West Virginia also fattened their totals in the Mountainer 71 to 0 victory. Bruder made 35 points and jumped to third place with a total of 66. Farley, making 21 points, leaped to sixth place with a total of 58, one behind McBride of Syracuse and four back of Kruez of Pennsylvania.

Benkert leads in touchdowns with 13. Tryon has 12 and Bruder 10. Hazel of Rutgers leads in points scored after touchdown, with 15. McBride of Syracuse follows with 12 and Farley of West Virginia and Prevost of Penn State are tied for third with 11 each.

McBride has made 6 goals from the field, Kruez and Prevost 5 each and Hazel 3.

The complete records of all eastern players who have made 24 points or more follow:

AMERICANS REACH FINALS IN MEXICAN TENNIS

Mexico City, Nov. 2 (By the A. P.).—Vincent Richards of New York, partnerde with Ray Casey, the California singles champion, and the Kinsey brothers, Robert and Howard, had little difficulty in winning their way into the men's doubles finals of the international tennis tournament here today. Richards and Casey defeated Claude Butlin, formerly open champion of Mexico, and Franz Gerdes, Mexican Davis cup player, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2, while the Kinsey brothers defeated Tom Ferrandini and R. E. Callahan, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Mary Brown, United States, was forced to put forth her best efforts to defeat Miss Penelope Anderson in the semi-finals for the women's singles, winning 6-3, 6-3, 6-4. Miss Charlotte Hosmer won the right to face Miss Brown in the finals Monday by eliminating Miss Winifred Suhr, 6-2, 6-0.

PLAYER-WRITER QUESTION TO BE SETTLED IN DECEMBER

New York, Nov. 2.—The special committee of seven which will study player-writer interpretations to the executive committee of the U. S. L. T. A. at its December meeting, has been completed by the selection of Devereux Milburn, Grantland Rice and George Wharton Pepper, United States senator from Pennsylvania.

Milburn was captain of the American big four polo team which defeated England this season. Rice is a sporting writer. The three men were selected by the four previously named, Arthur Hellen, S. W. Merrihaw, J. Y. Merserau and W. T. Tilden, 2nd.

The committee will attempt to solve the controversy in tennis circles in which the national champion, W. T. Tilden, 2nd, led forces opposed to the interpretation of the rule by the U. S. L. T. A.

BRADY-BARNES TEAM BEATS JONES AND TOLLEY

New Rochelle, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Mike Brady and Jim Barnes, metropolitan professionals, won from Bobby Jones of Atlanta, national amateur champion, and Cyril Tolley, former English amateur champion, 6 and 5 today in a 36-hole match played at the Wykagyl Country club for the benefit of crippled children of New York and Atlanta.

Barnes had low score in the morning round with 75. Brady took 77, Jones 78 and Tolley 79. In the afternoon Brady was out 36, and each of the others required 37. The match ended at the 13th hole. Barnes did the last four in 16 and the others each took 17.

PENN IS ONLY TEAM IN EAST THAT HAS NEITHER BEEN DEFEATED NOR TIED

New York, Nov. 2.—(By The A. P.) Eastern football has come under the peaceful domination of the Quaker. Pennsylvania is the lone important team neither defeated nor tied.

The Quakers maintained just enought supervision over Lafayette Saturday to conserve a touchdown scored by Laird in the third quarter by a forward pass after Fairchild had received a punt played badly by Ernst. The Leopards had the ball thre fourths of the time, used a wider range of plays and gained more ground; but when their goal line was threatened the Quakers said nay. Berry's field goal was the Leopard's only score.

It was Lafayette's first defeat of the season. The game was hard and rugged, with little brilliance. It may have decided the mythical eastern championship as only Penn State and Cornell, each defeated twice, remain in the path of Pennsylvania.

Syracuse, the third team which went into Saturday's game neither beaten nor tied, had its record marred with a 7 to 7 tie by Pitt. As a result the Orange dropped into the second group with Rutgers and Dartmouth, each of which has now won five and tied one. Rutgers had an easy 30-6 win over Franklin and Marshall and Dartmouth beat Brown 10 to 3, largely through the splendid running of Hall and Oberlander. Keefer starred for the Bruins.

Yale remained undefeated but had a second tie game added to its record when Army tied it 7 to 7 in an exciting and hard-fought battle before 78,000 people. Pond dashed 50 yards for a touchdown in the first period but thereafter the Cadets maintained a persistent attack, several times balked by fumbles, but finally rewarded in the final quarter when Wilson went over.

Army made 10 first downs to three for Yale and completed three passes to none for Eli but Yale's faculty for averting disaster although physically outclassed again saved the only undefeated member of the Big Three. Leigh, also undefeated but with two tie games, won from Muhlenberg by the narrow margin of 5 to 0.

Cornell added another to its astonishing performances of the year by coming out of retirement to defeat Columbia 14 to 0. Except in the first and fourth quarters when Columbia had scoring chances, the big red defense which had cracked in other games, was impregnable. On the other hand, Dobie's team had the punch at the goal line which it lacked against Williams and Rutgers. Molinet, a Cuban halfback led the attack.

The game was witnessed by Mrs. Percy Haughton, whose husband died last week while directing the work of the Columbia eleven. Cheering was not eliminated but an impressing tribute to the dead coach was delivered by both halves. Similar gestures of respect were made at New Haven, Philadelphia and at Cambridge where Harvard subs won from Boston University 13 to 0.

Princeton had little trouble winning from Swarthmore 21 to 6 but Navy surprised by holding Penn state to a 6 to 0 score. Prevost kicked two field goals for the points. Colgate had another easy foe, winning 42 to 0 from Providence. West Virginia piled up a 71 to 0 victory over Bethany and Carnegie beat Western Maryland 27 to 0.

ENGLISH THINK BASEBALL IS VERY MONOTONOUS

London, Nov. 2.—Americans who scorn cricket as a slow and soporific sport ought to be told that the English, at least some of them, think that baseball is monotonous. Such was the conclusion of the cricket experts of the London newspapers who reported the first of the games played between the New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox in the British capital last week.

"An inning by the dullest professional cricketer who ever dawdled through the leaden hours on an English cricket ground has infinite variety when compared with the thwackings of a baseball star," was the sober judgement of the Manchester Guardian reporter. "He has only two possible strokes: one, is the slow one with a cross bat; the other is a smothering stroke which will enable him to bolt for first base as in tip-run while the pitcher and catcher tumble over each other in rescuing the ball from the mid-wicket.

"What usually happens is that the striker slogs the ball into deep field, high in the air, whence it descends into one of the capacious gloves whose wearers are quite infallible in getting to the right place for the catch.

"There is no obviously perceptible variation in the pitching which is all as fast and furious as may be, but, of course, there is enormous skill in it."

BAKER AND GRANGE ARE TIED FOR HIGH POINTS

Chicago, Nov. 2.—(By The A. P.)—Scoring in each department, Ralph Baker, of Northwestern today remains at the top of the western conference point scoring column although tied this week with the famous "Red" grange of Illinois, Baker added a touchdown, a field goal and two goal kicks to his string Saturday, while Grange added two touchdowns to make up the one point difference of last week. Rockwell of Michigan kept close up with a touchdown and two point kicks.

Gallivan, a second string backfield man at Illinois, who jumped up among the leaders last Saturday while Grange was held out of a practice game, demonstrated his merit against Iowa Saturday by adding two touchdowns.

Baker also leads the field goal kickers with five as Hancock of Iowa was unable to do anything against Illinois, Britton of Illinois, having again the most opportunities, lead the point kickers with fifteen. Rockwell of Michigan, went into a tie with Sloats of Indiana for second with eleven apiece followed by Baker with nine.

The leading point scorers follows:

	Total	td	fg	g
Baker, Northwestern	54	6	5	9
Grange, Illinois	54	9	0	0
Rockwell, Michigan	47	6	0	11
Gallivan, Illinois	44	7	1	1

ILLINOIS LEADS WESTERN CONFERENCE FOOTBALL

Chicago, Nov. 2.—(By the A. P.)—With two of its toughest rivals overwhelmed and three more strong ones to face, Illinois reigns supreme in the western conference football race today.

Chicago and Ohio state also remain undefeated, but each has tie scores on its record. Chicago's tie score came in the Ohio State game, while the Buckeyes have a tie with Iowa also on their records, they were held to a third tie in a non-conference game Saturday with Wooster, one of the Ohio conference leaders.

Northwestern crept into the won column for the first time in three years, while Wisconsin, Minnesota and Indiana have yet to win a conference game in with the Illois cyclone two weeks hence.

Standing of the conference teams, with points scored and opponents points for all games including non-conference games, follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Tied	Points	Opp. Points
Illinois	2	0	0	103	30
Chicago	2	0	1	64	19
Ohio	1	0	2	27	10

Highly Prized Medal

The medal of honor of the United States, given for bravery on the field of battle, was instituted by a law approved July 12, 1862. It is authorized by congress and awarded for particular deeds of distinguished bravery in action. Congress did, however, on March 26, 1776, order a gold medal struck for General Washington. Before this was made a silver medal was voted, struck and presented to Lieutenant Colonel Fleury for his gallantry in the assault upon Stony Point, July 15, 1779.

How Expression Started

"The greater the crime the higher the gallows," was at one time a practical legal maxim in English common law. In 1638 Patrick McGregor, alias Gilderoy, a notorious robber, was hanged at Edinburgh on a gallows so high that his body "looked like a kite in the clouds." Tradition says the gallows were 30 feet high. The expression "higher than Gilderoy's kite" is an allusion to this famous hanging. It means very high.

The Choice of Champions!

It's no accident when coaches like Ortner of Cornell, Norgren of Chicago, "Pat" Page of Butler, Allen of Kansas and Ryan of Windsor all pick Converse Basketball shoes for their men.

They know that footwear is the most important item in their team's equipment. They want the best, and they know what is essential in the best basketball shoe,—minimum weight, combined with perfect traction, glove fit, complete comfort and maximum wear.

Season after season, Converse shoes have met the rigid requirements of these men and a hundred others at the top of the ladder. We know they'll satisfy you.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre

Starting today is the big day at the Broadway theatre where Gus Hill and Hank Brown's super minstrels will hold forth for three days. The presence constitutes a genuine treat gain week for local theatregoers. The performance is complete with a minstrel first part, an olio, sketches, vaudeville teams and an afterpiece in which the entire company participates including the Gus Hill minstrels band, which precedes this afternoon performance, stages a parade about the downtown street.

Among the principals are "Hi" Tom Ward, Hank Brown, Billy Chase, Gus Hill's Symphony and Jazz orchestra, the St. Felix sisters, the classiest sister team on the stage. Harry Conley, Reggie Gallipean, Brown Hank and Brown, for the past 30 years headliners on Keith vaudeville time, the Great Gaylor and many others. The entire production is staged under the direction of Hank Brown.

Billy Chase, "Hi Tom" Ward, Goffney Brown and Tommy Hayes are the end men, while Hank Brown is the interlocutor. Among the numbers are "A Little Ray of Sunshine," a comic song, J. Gaffney Brown; "When You Are in Love With Some One," a ballad by Miss Lillian Gray; specialty by Hank Brown, "Hi Tom" Ward and Billy Chase; "Turnkey Jones" by Reggie Gallipean; "Comic Effusions," by Billy Chase, and specialties and dances by 16 other artists including a jazz band. The olio includes the Great Gaylor, the St. Felix Sisters, a specialty of yesterday and today; Tom Ward, Harris and Brown in their own vaudeville sketch, "Gen'l Hattack" Fred Smith in "Nutty Jazz" followed with a grand finale in which the entire company participates.

Palace Theater

Madonna of the Streets, Edwin Carewe's latest picture featuring Dolores Cimova and Milton Sills, opened last night at the Palace theater, where it will be shown until Wednesday. The picture is the first the famous Russian actress has appeared in since she deserted the cinema for vaudeville and the legitimate stage two years ago.

Madonna of the Streets, a story of London, is taken from The Rag Messenger, by W. B. Maxwell, English author of worldwide popularity. The book has been acclaimed as one of the most notable literary products of the modern school of English authors, and the scenario is the best that Nazimova has ever chosen. The picture is not only interesting in itself because of its story interest, but it allows both Nazimova and Sills to show their best acting ability.

Playing with Nazimova and Sills is an all-star cast including Clara Gillingwater, Vivian Oakland, Constenay Foote, Harold Goodwin, Robert Gore, John T. Murray and Tom Kennedy.

Palace Theater

Harold Lloyd introduces a new type of light automobile to the screen in his latest comedy, Hot Water, which will be the attraction at the Palace theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday. He is the sole creator, the inventor, and the producer. It is a Butterfly Six (no advertising intended) and if, through it, you don't receive more laughs than you have had for many a day, there is something wrong with your sense of humor. Your funny bone needs chiropractic treatments.

For the Butterfly Six is the center of one of the swiftest and funniest factions that has even been seen in one of Harold Lloyd's films. There are two other rib-ticklin consequences in this picture that are guaranteed bluechasers, but the one involving the Butterfly Six is the best of either.

Breed Theater

Kathleen Norris' famous story, Butterfly, has been converted to the screen with remarkable fidelity to Clarence Brown, Universal-Jewel naturization of the story, which has its local opening at the Breed theater tonight.

Laura La Plante handles the title role with the finesse of a veteran "stager," and proving that comedy is a great field of training for dramatic acting. Ruth Clifford as Lucy, the older sisters carries the role of a wholly self-sacrifice with conviction and surety of poise, without doubt the greatest piece of acting she has ever registered in a film play.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE AWAKES

Is There For Honest Poverty

Is there, for honest poverty,
That hangs his head, and a' that?
The coward slave, we pass him by,
We dare be poor for a' that!
Our toil's obscure and a' that;
The rank is but the guinea-stamp,
The man's the gowd for a' that!

What though on hamely fare we dine,
Wear hodden grey, and a' that;
Gie fools their silks, and knaves their wine,
A man's a man for a' that!
For a' that, and a' that,
Their tinsel show, and a' that;
The honest man, though e'er sae poor,
Is king o' men for a' that!

Ye see yon birkie, ca'd a lord,
Wha struts and stares, and a' that;
Though hundreds worship at his word,
He's but a coof for a' that;
For a' that, and a' that,
His ribband star, and a' that;
The man of independent mind,
He looks and laughs at a' that!

A king can make a belted knight,
A marquis, duke, and a' that;
But an honest man's aboon his might,
Guid faith and a' that,
Their dignities and a' that,
The pith o' sense, and pride o' worth,
Are higher ranks than a' that.

Then let us pray that come it may—
As come it will for a' that—
That sense and worth, o'er a' the earth,
May bear the gree and a' that;
For a' that, and a' that,
It's coming yet for a' that,
That man to man, the warld o'er,
Shall brothers be for a' that!

—Robert Burns.

The Tiger

Tiger! Tiger! burning bright,
In the forest of the night;
What immortal hand or eye
Could frame thy fearful symmetry?

In what distant deeps or skies
Burned the fire of thine eyes?
On what wings dare he aspire?
What the hand dare seize the fire?

And what shoulder, and what art,
Could twist the sinews of thy heart?
And when thy heart began to beat,
What dread hand? And what dread feet?

What the hammer, what the chain?
In what furnace was thy brain?
What the anvil? What dread grasp
Dare its deadly terrors clasp?

When the stars threw down their spears,
And watered Heaven with their tears,
Did he smile his work to see?
Did he, who made the lamb, make thee?

Tiger! Tiger! burning bright,
In the forests of the night,
What immortal hand or eye
Dare frame thy fearful symmetry?

—William Blake.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

Several weeks ago we talked, in a brief way, about the enormous damage ants do in some parts of the world. How, millions of these tiny creatures, all working together, can eat up the whole inside of trees and even destroy houses by eating their way up through the timbers and wooden walls, so that the houses finally collapse. People, for the most part, regard the ant as a nuisance but in Burma, a far distant land, the natives have a way of putting them to work.

In that country the people grow and sell to people in other lands what is known as sandal wood, which is one of the most valuable and useful timbers in the world. However, the greater part of every tree cut down is useless for only a fragrant scented heart has any commercial value. If it was necessary to transport and export the whole log the cost of getting it to its destination would make the cost of the sandal wood enormous.

Here is how the natives get rid of the useless part of the logs. The trees, after being stripped of their branches, are allowed to lie just where they have fallen. The soft, sappy wood, which is useless as far as commercial value is concerned, attracts millions and millions of ants who abound in the forests there, and which find this particular kind of wood a real feast. So they help themselves to the wood and in doing this they help the sandal wood grower and merchant, for they eat all of the log but the hard and scented sandal wood heart. In this way the ants do for nothing work that would require many human hands and when they get through with a log the sandal wood heart is ready to be picked up and sent to the market.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES

A Walk in the Woods

Dear Uncle Jed: One day one of my playmates and myself were going through the woods for a walk. We had our dogs along and tried to chase them after squirrels. When we had gone only a little way into the woods we came to a tree with a large nest in it. The tree was too far from the others for any squirrel to jump to so we thought if we could set up in the tree, we could chase the squirrels down and then the dogs could chase them and get them. We did so and got three squirrels. When we had gone a ways further we came to an Indian chair. We stayed there a long time and found a few indian relics. It was now getting near dinner time so we thought we would start homeward. On our way home we got one more squirrel. We got home just about dinner time. After we had dinner we took our squirrels out in the shed and skinned and cleaned two apiece. After we had this done we took them in the house and gave them to my mother who cooked them for supper. After we had supper it began to grow dark so my playmate went home. He said he had a very nice time and wished that I would come to his house some day and — would try and have another good time.

Saw Army Airplane

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to write to you about an exciting half hour. Last Saturday while I was out the door I saw something in the air which at first I thought was a bird. Upon second glance I saw it was an airplane. It was coming toward me. It went over my head and then circled around. It dropped about six feet then went higher in the air again. It circled around two more times. The third time we could see the propeller turn around. We could also see smoke come from the engine. We afterwards learned this was when they put more gas in the tank, which was the cause for their landing. They then dropped suddenly and landed on one wing. They turned bottom side upwards, with a crash.

We started running to where it had landed, thinking someone had been hurt or else killed. When we were near there we saw two men crawl out from under the plane. They were not hurt at all. The men, officers in the army went to find the people who owned the lot to tell them they were going to leave the plane in the lot. No one was at home. I guess the people who owned the lot were greatly surprised to find an airship in their lot when they reached home.

The lot where the plane is has been very popular all day. Many people have been to see the plane. They began taking parts of the airship for souvenirs so a man came to stop people taking things from the plane. It is going to be taken away tomorrow on a truck.

Naughty Helen.

Dear Uncle Jed: There was once a little girl named Helen. She was so naughty, that everybody hated her. Even her mother disliked her. If they asked her to do anything she would say, I won't and I can't.

One day her mother bought her a pair of shoes but she would not wear them. Her mother made her wear them. When her father told her to go to the post office the shoes would hop to the post office as fast as she could go. If her mother asked her to do anything she would say no, but the shoes would carry her where ever she was called.

When the bell rang she did not go to school but her shoes hopped to school and got her there just in time or she would have been late.

When she was in school they built houses of pegs. She had built one very large and a little girl went by and broke it down. She went to kick the little girl but her foot stood in the air. The children laughed at her and the little girl pardoned her so her foot went down. When recess came the boys were playing ball. The ball went over the fence and no boy could jump the fence. Helen with her new shoes jumped over and got it. The boys were very fond of Helen after. When Helen got home she did all the things her mother told her to and she went to bed very happy. She had learned a good lesson that day. The next day her shoes no longer ran her errands for Helen had learned to run them herself.

Our Bird Dog

Dear Uncle Jed: We had a dog that was all black excepting a little white under his breast. He was a bird dog.

When my father would go out hunting he would go and scare the birds up and my father would kill them. Then the dog would see where the birds went and he would go and get them, and bring them back to my father.

About two years ago he had a cancer in his throat. Papa tended to him and he got all right. He was getting pretty old, but when he saw papa take his gun he would run and bark.

He was sick again this summer only it was worse. He was fourteen years old. My father tried to cure it but it was so bad that he could not. He was so weak that he could hardly stand up and could hardly eat.

He fell off of a bank and hurt himself.

He could not get up so my father had to shoot him. My brother dug a grave and buried him. One day I went down to my sisters flower bed and got some flowers. I put them in a can of water, then I put them on his grave.

Our Hallowe'en Party

Dear Uncle Jed: Last year Oct. 31, we had a fine Hallowe'en party at school. We had great fun and played lots of games. One good game we played was, "Getting Apples." We had a small water pail full of water and apples were rolling on the top. Each child would put his head in the water pail and try to get an apple with his teeth. Some of us got our faces all wet but we only laughed because, it was great fun. We also played other games seeing who could pin the donkey's tail in place. We got premiums for doing all this by our teacher. She gave us candy and peanuts also. Our teacher is very kind to us. She plays games with us in the afternoon recess if she has time.

I was glad to see my letter published in the paper Monday. I hope you will print this one also. I remain your Wide Awake.

My Dream

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first story I have written to the Wide Awakes. Last night I had a dream. It was a fight between the gypsies and all the people of Preston City.

We won the fight. The gypsies gave up because they were getting hurt and went to their own city where they belonged. The fight was caused because the gypsies said they were going to live in our town.

A Strange Dream

Dear Uncle Jed: I had committed a terrible crime. What it was I do not know to this day. Two policemen took me to prison and told me I was to be hanged the next day.

Next morning when they brought me my breakfast, which consisted of plain bread and water, one of them said, "The judge has changed his mind and says you are to be shot instead of hanged."

The minutes passed one by one till the appointed hour for my death came. Two men took me out of my cell. They then stood me against the wall of the adjoining room and taking their guns aimed at me. One of them started to count slowly, one, two, and as the 'three' leaped out of his mouth they shot and I instantly fell to the floor.

You can imagine my surprise when I woke and found that I had fallen out of my bed and was lying in a heap on the floor.

Somebody's Home

Dear Uncle Jed:. As we were walking up Main street in a typical cotton mill village in Connecticut there passed across our visions a large attractive residence on which one was forced to gaze.

It is scarcely large enough to be called a mansion because its size compares well with its approximate two acres of well kept surroundings. The elevation of the gray wooden, white trimmed structure consists of three stories, topped by a gray slate roof so interwoven with red slate as to form a distinct pattern on the abruptly sloping roof.

On the southwest corner of the house is a cone figuration which appears to be over the hall. Towering above the inclining roof are two square red brick chimneys in keen contrast with the fireproof shimmering roof.

To lower our eyes brings forth the attractiveness of numerous large paned windows beautified by exquisite immaculate curtains. At the right of the entrance is an immense window at the top of which is stained glass.

As we come forward toward the picturesque scene the first thing we notice about its surroundings is a well trimmed hedge forming a beautiful boundary between his property and his west neighbor. The soft, velvety level lawn which is well-governed is divided into two sections by a cement walk leading to the front entrance from the smooth durable sidewalk.

An electric lamp is posted on guard duty at the right corner of the lawn where the walk leads to the house. There is a birch and elm tree each side of the walk on the green grass placed something like the double two domonoes the elms being situated closer to the street.

At Bronx Park

Dear Uncle Jed: One day my father and I went to Bronx park in the Bronx. The first animals we came to were the elephants which I fed with peanuts. Then we saw some seals in the water. One lady while leaning over dropped her ring in the water. It sank to the bottom and no one could get it. Then we saw a lion and cubs, some tigers and a big crocodile which tried to get through the iron fencing. We also saw some big turtles carrying boys around on their backs. I saw a zebra with its white stripes. It looked very funny.

It was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon when my father said he'd go over to my cousins house and wait until I came back. So I said alright and went on looking. I went into a big birdhouse and saw all kinds of birds, from a little sparrow to a big eagle. And I saw all kinds of water animals. I marveled at everything. It was getting night so I thought I'd go home. That night I had a big story to tell my parents.

Mittens and Peter

Dear Uncle Jed: I want to tell you about my cat and rabbit. I used to have. My cat is gray and white and his name is Mittens. Because he has four white paws. The rabbits name was Peter. He was black with a little white spot under his chin. Everything that Mittens did, Peter did. We have no Peter now.

How Mutt Got His Name

Fire Drill Day

Uncle Jed: Fire drill day was a very nice day. The Norwich Fire department turned out in force, in the afternoon and practiced on putting out a fire on Union square.

They used two engines and three or more hydrants to throw water from. They had five streams of water in the air, all at one time. It was a grand sight. One of the engines threw a stream almost as high as the city hall clock.

They also had one stream of water on the roof of the masonic temple. The other streams of water were between the masonic temple and the city hall, on Broadway. The water fell like rain, and produced a great spray at times. When the sun was shining it produced a perfect rainbow.

There was a large crowd of people there. The spray of water made them move back at times.

Likes His Teacher

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my school. There are six grades. I am in the third grade. The studies we have are reading, spelling, arithemetic, language, history, geography and I like spelling best of all. At the noon hour we go for a walk. When we come back we play football. I like my teacher very much.

Our Dog Fritz

Dear Uncle Jed: I am writing this story, and I hope it will succeed. It will be about our dog. His colors are black yellow and at the tip of his tail it is white. When he was small he was very cunning. When my mother would give the cats some milk he would run in and drink it himself. But when he wasn't hungry he would spill the milk out. One day when he was about eight months old he followed us to school. He was looking all around the school ground to find us. But he didn't find us. But when the bell rang and the children went in school he followed them in. He went to the kindergarten. I guess he went to learn some manners. I think so.

Milking the Cows

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about our milking machine. We have two heads and two pails. Each head sets on a pail. When both sets are going we can milk four cows. Now let us take one set of tubes which milks one cow. There is one long air tube, which runs from the pail to the teat cups where it connects with four more tubes which makes the suction on each teat so as to get the milk. Next there is a long milk tube. About a third of the way down this tube is glass so as to tell when the cow is done milking. This tube also connects with four short milk tubes which carries the milk into the long tube where it is carried back to the pail. We can milk very fast with the machine. We have a large air tank and a pump run by a two horse power engine. On top of the tank is a gauge. We have that set so as to have the right suction and if there's too much it goes out the top of the gauge. We have had the machine about a year now. The cows like to be milked with it. One night while my father left them a little while one of our big cows laid down with it on. This is the second time I have written to you.

Where Crude Rubber Comes From

Dear Uncle Jed: I thought I would write and tell you about crude rubber which we learned in school.

Crude rubber is obtainable from the milky juice of the trees and only can be grown in tropical countries. Rubber cannot be raised in the United States. But yet this country uses three fourths of the world's supply of crude rubber. Rubber trees are grown in wild states in South American countries. The demand of rubber has become so great that the United States is forced to import crude rubber from British possessions. There are many plantations in India, Africa and Australia. The rubber from these plantations is much purer than that taken from trees that are grown in the wild states. The British are able to control the world's rubber supply.

IDA M. ROODE, Age 14.

Precious Metals

Dear Uncle Jed: I am writing you a story about precious metals and I hope you will be interested in it.

Gold and silver are called the precious metals because small amounts of them have a high value. They are used in making coins, ornaments and many artistic as well as useful things. These metals are most commonly found in mountain regions. The reason for this is that the rocks in such regions have been folded, cracked, or crushed, and sometimes heated. In some places the metals have been dissolved by water in the rocks and deposited in pockets and cracks along with other substances, thus making mineral veins, composed of ore.

The sides and tops of mountains have been worn away by frosts, glaciers and streams. Where the rocks contain veins of gold ore, these also have been worn away, and particles of gold are mingled with the sand and gravel which are carried down the mountain and deposited by streams.

Making Health Posters

Dear Uncle Jed: I am a pupil in grade four. This year we are making posters. The first we made was Red Cheek Local. Every Friday we write some health chore which we bring pictures for during the week. Some of the stations we stopped at are Bathtub Vale; East Toothbrush Vale; Brink Water; Hair Brush Heights; Laughing Village; Orange Valley; Oatmeal; Cocoa Crossing; Butter Square; Toast City; Toilet Vale. I enjoy doing this work very much.

Enjoyed Her Vacation

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the second time I have written to you. I enjoyed my vacation very much. I did not go away. I had lots of fun at home. I went in swimming most every day. I like to go to school. My teacher is a very good teacher. She is not cross. She has to be sometimes when some in the schoolroom are not good. We have a new singing teacher. We have a new superintendent. He is a jolly man. I like him. We are 35 in our room. We have just enough seats for all. The mills in the big cities are starting on full time. In Attawaugan the mills are not running on full time. Some people are having very hard times.

Hallowe'en is coming soon. Thanksgiving is coming too. All the holidays are near now. It seems like we are going to have very hard winter. It is going to be very cold. I hope there is lots of snow. We go sliding and have fun. We go gathering nuts now. They are nice to eat when it snows, or rains hard and we cant go out.

A Visit to New York

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my trip to New York. Four years ago I spent two weeks there. I saw many interesting things. While in Hoboken, New Jersey, I saw the large boat called the Fatherland. It was an awful large boat. I also watched the seaplanes on the water. I like to watch them. My mother took us over to the Aquarium. It is a large building with fish of all kinds, turtles, sea lions, snakes, and many other things. I hope when I am older to see it again. We also went to Central Park and saw all the animals. I liked that best of all. I am sure all the Wide Awake boys would enjoy a trip to New York.

My Pony

Dear Uncle Jed: I am writing to tell you about my pony. His color is blue roan and I call him Blue because of his color.

His height is about four feet and he weighs about seven hundred and one half.

He is a saddle pony and when I put one foot in the stirrup he is off in a gallop. He came from the west. He has a brand on his shoulder. It is P. K. His mane comes down below his shoulder. I take him after the cows every night. He drives them well. And when they won't get up he strikes at them with his hoof. They stand and look at him when I go into the pasture. He goes fast. Last Thursday every time I went into the barn I brought him an apple.

I will close now hoping you and the Wide Awakes will enjoy my story as much as I do "Blue."

Two Hunters

Dear Uncle Jed: One day when I was in the woods, I met a man out hunting. He asked me where there was some game. He said he had walked this far and had not found a thing, so we went on together. Before long we found several squirrels and a rabbit. Then I left and went on. While I was walking along I saw five deer. One was a big deer with horns and the others were small, but when they saw me they ran away. After a while I met the hunter again and he told me he had caught some more squirrels and also had two partridges.

Likes To Read

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the second letter that I have written to you. I like to write letters to you. I like to read, too, and I hope I shall get a book some time. I am nine years old and in the fifth grade. My brother is eleven years old and in the eighth grade. He likes to read, too. He has also written a letter to you.

MORRIS HELLER, Age 9.

A Story About Wolves

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to the Wide Awakes and I hope they will like my story about wolves. One day a farmer in Illinois found seven wolf cubs in a hollow of a log. As they were very young he knew that their parents were not far away and being anxious to catch their parents and the progeny he dug a hole in front of the log, set a trap and covered it with dirt. He knew that wolves gnaw their feet off when caught in a trap, so he watched around the neighborhood, with some of his dogs.

Presently the dogs gave chase to a big male wolf which had approached the log, but apparently lost the scent and came back.

In the morning the farmer found his trap unsprung and intact but a hole scraped in the side of the log and the little ones taken away.

This was the work of the mother wolf while her sagacious partner was throwing dirt so to speak in the eyes of the farmer and the dogs. They were discovered about a mile away under a heap of leaves and were destroyed.

My Bible

Dear Uncle Jed: We had some exercises in Sunday school, and I was presented a nice Bible. I think very much of my Bible. We are promoted to a higher class.

A Sad Fish Story

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. I am going to tell you about my first fishing experience. One day last summer I went fishing with my brother and caught a fish. I was so happy I ran home with it as fast as I could to show it to my mother. She said I could clean it and she would fry it for me right away, so I went out doors and started to clean it. A cat came around the corner and grabbed it and ran under an old floor. I felt very sorry and I hope none of the Wide Awake boys or girls have had such a sad experience as I had.

GEORGE GRIFFING, Age 9.

Autumn

Dear Uncle Jed: I wonder if any of the Wide Awakes ever realized the splendor of autumn, the glory which I am going to relate now.

Autumn is a very bright, beautiful and pleasant season. The leaves on the trees are of many wonderful colors which only Mother Nature can make. The most skillful artist would find it a task to paint autumn exactly. The leaves on the trees are so magnificent that we are hardly able to appreciate the splendor, and we cannot deny that one of the greatest gifts which Mother Nature has bestowed upon us is the beauty of fall. The air is cool and clear, and the sky as blue as a gentian. The farmers are harvesting their crops, and the merry children patiently husking corn.

The walnuts are falling freely from the trees, and the sunbeams sparkle like diamonds on the pond nearby. It is more than a pleasure to be alive and well during this wonderful season to describe fall and all hear work.

His First Letter

Dear Uncle Jed: I am seven years old and in the second grade. I like to go to school. My little brother goes to school, too. He is in the first grade. I go to school in a new school house. It is not all done yet. This is the first letter I have ever written and the first one that I have written to you.

PETER NIEROSKY, Age 7.

Grandmothers Birthday

Dear Uncle Jed: I want to tell you what a good time I had on my grandmothers 74th birthday. My grandmother, my cousin, my two uncles, my two aunts, my father and my mother, my two brothers and myself went to Masons Island. We dug clams for our dinner and we bought crabs from a man on the island. At dinner time we made a fire to heat some stones to bake our clams on.

We made a chowder and boiled the crabs. We carried with us some lemons to make some lemonade also some bananas and cake. We all sat down on the grass and at our dinner. It tasted good. I'm afraid I ate more than my share. Don't you think this was a nice way to celebrate grandma's birthday.

Gave Hallowe'en Party

A very pretty hallowe'en party was given Friday evening by Miss Jane Nowick at her home at 35 Prentice avenue. The house was prettily decorated the color scheme being black and orange. There were 24 present and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all with appropriate games. Vocal selections were rendered by Lou Tighe, accompanied by Miss Leah Addleston on the piano. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Sadie Mopsick and Miss Leah Addleston.

Calls for Fire Department

The fire department responded to a telephone call Friday for a chimney fire in the house at No. 92 Sherman street owned by the Falls Co. Forty gallons of chemical were used in extinguishing the blaze. Saturday morning at 11.30 o'clock a telephone call was received for a brush fire on the land owned by Gilbert S. Raymond in the rear of Copper street. The fire was extinguished in a short time. The damage was slight.

The will of Mary Rich Richardson, filed in Newport, R. I., bequeaths to the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, all articles which are at present loaned to the institution, together with Italian majolica and old pewter.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

A Visit to the Ragged Rabbit Giant

"Wake up, wake up, it's early morn!
The Big Red Rooster is blowing his horn.
The Morning Glories have opened their eyes,

Hopping out of bed, the bunny boy parted his hair down the middle of his back with a little chip, and pulling on his khaki jacket and trousers, he skipped down the stairs and into the kitchen where Lady Love, his pretty bunny mother, had prepared breakfast. The Clover cereal was steaming in a big china bowl; the Carrot Cakes lay heaped up high in a platter and two cups of Turnip Tea stood at either end of the little table.

He came to the steep, high hill.

"Cuckoo, cuckoo," seven times
Went the little clock-house bird.
And then she sang a pretty song,—
The sweetest every heard, while the two little rabbits ate their breakfast.

As soon as the bunny boy had brought in the kindling wood, fed the canary and polished the front door knob, he kissed Lady Love goodbye and hopped down the winding path through the bramble bushes out to the Sunny Meadow. Timidly peeking here and there to see if Danny Fox were hiding behind a tree, he said to himself, just under his breath, so that Billy Breeze might not carry the sound of his voice across the meadow to the old stone well on the other side where Old Man Weasel lived in the big crack.

"I wonder where I'll go today.
There's no one 'round with whom to play.
I guess I'll try the leafy wood.
I'll have some fun if I am good."

Then away he hopped, cherry clip, tipperty lip, up the Old Cow Path and into the Shady Forest, where he followed the winding trail in and out among the rocks and the bushes. By and by, after a while, he came to the steep, high hill, on the top of which stood the big stone castle of the Ragged Rabbit Giant.

"I hope he's home," sighed the bunny boy, quite out of breath from climbing, as he knocked tipperty tap on the baseboard of the great, high door, as big as the side of a barn and twice as high.

"What's that?" thought the big Ragged Rabbit Giant, laying down the morning paper and walking over to the door. "Hello!" he shouted, looking down at the little rabbit, whose cap barely reached to the big man's shoe-tops. "Look who's here, dear, Oh dear!

Goodness me, the Ragged Giant was dreadfully and fearfully tall. The little bunny could hardly see the lower button on the big man's waistcoat, and to look into his face the little rabbit had to lean over backwards.

"Come in," invited the Ragged Rabbit Giant in a kind voice and bending down, he picked up the bunny boy. Then, closing the door and turning the key, which was as big as a pitchfork, he sat down in his big chair. All of a sudden, the great Grandfather Clock in the corner went "Ding, dong, bell," and in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

NEW LONDON POLICE ON WATCH; WARNED OF NEW YORK MURDERS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Nov. 3.—Practically the entire vigilance of the police department tonight is being utilized in the watching of the numerous Chinese places of business and places of abode of the Chinese race, for the authorities received information on Saturday that there was liable to be one or more Chinese murdered here by members of the notorious Nip Sing society, whose murders have become a common occurrence in New York the past month. All the Chinese laundries, restaurants and tea and coffee stores were watched from early evening until well along in the night, by officers in plain clothes, to be on the alert for any move that might be made by members of the New York gang to kill any of the local Chinese. Whether the local Chinese are members of the Nip Sing society, or whether they are opposed to its teachings and workings it is not known, but it is known that several Chinese have exhibited a great deal of interest in the murders and happenings of the membership in New York of late. An unusual incident connected with the reception of the information by the police was that all of the Chinese laundries were closed tonight and where the buildings heretofore have been illuminated, darkness prevailed.

The information was given that within a few days it had become known that killings were planned for Chinese in New London, New Haven, Bridgeport and Hartford; that the planned murders were to occur simultaneously in each of the four cities between 9 and 10 o'clock.

Samuel Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Harris, Howard street, has returned home, having spent four months in Los Angeles, Cal.

Herbert M. Morris has returned to his home in Philadelphia, after having attended the funeral Friday of his uncle, William H. Morris.

Evidently the same gang that has been guilty of causing false alarms to be sent in and which a few months ago caused the fire department several needless runs, operated again this evening, for shortly before 9 o'clock an alarm was rung in from Box 13, at the approach of the Thames river highway bridge and the corner of Harrison street. As soon as the department arrived at the box it was evident that a fire did not exist and that the alarm had been pulled in by someone desiring to bring out the department as a joke. The same box was pulled three or four times about four months ago by members of a gang residing in East New London and when there was no fire. On one occasion the same box was pulled twice within an hour.

Edwin Keeney is confined to his home, 28 Pearl street, by an attack of bronchitis. Mr. Keeney is 94 and because of his advanced years his improvement is not rapid.

Mrs. Benjamin Beebe, wife of Lieutenant of Police Beebe, is confined to her home, School street, because of a weakened condition of the heart.

The traffic signal at the corner of Jefferson avenue and Broad street is out of order. The signal is of the "blinker" type and is located at one of the most dangerous intersecting streets of the city.

William Keegan, Waterbury police department detective, is in New London and will attend the funeral tomorrow of Mrs. Walter M. Ickrath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis A. Jones, whose death occurred in Pittsburgh last Thursday of peritonitis.

Complaint was made to the police this afternoon by an employe of the Town Hill garage, Bank street, because of youths smashing windows of the place by throwing stones.

Sergeant James D. Gaffney officiated tonight as acting lieutenant of the police force, taking the place of Lieutenant Beebe, who was off duty, taking the final monthly night off duty that he will be entitled to prior to his retirement which will occur on Dec. 1.

Eugenio Trapotano, 52 Howard street, complained to the police tonight that some time during the afternoon or early evening his 15-foot sharpie was stolen from the rear of his residence and where it had been moored in Shaw's cove. The boat is painted gray inside, and green outside.

There has never been an election in which so little money has been wagered as is at stake on the voting contest that will take place Tuesday. There is practically no betting for the idea that Coolidge will be chosen is so strong hereabouts that enormous odds are asked by those who will risk any cash against the president's success. A little betting is recorded on the result of the gubernatorial election in New York state. There is no betting on the result in Connecticut.

There is a greater number of vacant tenements in New London now than at any time in four years.

Lam Tet, one of the most popular Chinamen ever located in New London, who was in the restaurant and laundry business here several years, recently located in Willimantic, where he is managing an eating place. He was in New London Friday for a few hours when he looked up former friends and passed some time with them.

A grass fire that threatened to communicate to adjoining buildings on Crystal avenue, near Lewis street, this afternoon at 12.30 caused an alarm to be rung in from box 14, corner of Crystal avenue and Lewis street. The fire was extinguished quickly, but required the use of a considerable amount of chemicals.

The funeral of Antone Pecara, 66 Shaw street, who was almost instantly killed at Stanton Hill, near Mystic, Wednesday afternoon when thrown from an automobile, owned and driven by Claude Jette, of Danielson, an employe of the state highway department when the machine crashed against a tree, was held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. The mass of requiem was sung by Rev. William C. Fitzsimons. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Jette, who is at liberty on bonds of $5,000 charged with manslaughter, will be given a hearing in the Groton town court Monday morning.

George Sullivan of Warren street; Mrs. Natalie Tetlini, Main street, and Joseph Carmichael, of the U. S. S. Red Wing, United States Coast guard, were patients dismissed at Lawrence Memorial Associated hospital Saturday.

Freight steamer Golden Gate, which arrived in port a week ago with a cargo of lumber consigned to a Hartford concern, cleared this morning for Boston, the discharge of the cargo having been conducted Saturday.

A Ford touring car owned by Samuel Katz, 433 Bank street, was stolen from the Katz residence, Saturday afternoon. The theft of the car was reported to the New London police department and a request was made of the state police at Groton and Chesterbrook barracks and Norwich police, Hartford and New Haven to be on the lookout for the stolen car.

Alexander Fakouri, 18, of 57 Denison avenue, was arrested this morning by Patrolman William Babcock upon complaint of Fakouri's brother, E. J. Fakouri, proprietor of a restaurant at 167 Main street, who charged that the former was a vagrant. The accused was made a prisoner and will be presented in the police court Monday morning.

An automobile owned and operated by Thomas E. Caron, 118 Ashcraft road, collided with a commercial truck owned by the New Haven Dairy company and operated by William J. Riordan, Saturday, on Howard street. Both cars were damaged. Caron explained the cause of the collision being due to his machine skidding on the moist pavements.

Mrs. Minnie A. Taylor, 3 Lark street, Providence, has communicated with the New London police in an effort to locate Charles A. Farland, whom Mrs. Taylor has reason to believe is in New London. Mrs. Taylor stated that last August Farland entrusted to her the care of Taylor's little son and since that time she has not seen nor heard from Farland.

Joseph Parrone, of Green street; Mrs. Samuel Katz and infant son, Jay street; Samuel Rutberg, Shaw street; Mrs. Michael Horbeck, Truman street; Thomas Vescigilo, Westerly, Charles Regan, Stonington, and Louis Aulietta, Westerly, patients at Home Memorial hospital, returned to their respective homes Saturday.

George Brown, 15 West Coit street, was taken into custody Saturday afternoon charged with operating his automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was released upon furnishing a cash bond of $100 for his appearance in the police court Monday morning. Brown was operating his machine through Bank street and at the corner of Howard street the operation of the car was so noticeable to Traffic Officer Dennis Cavanaugh because of the irregular course that it took that the officer held the driver up and it was then revealed that Brown was intoxicated.

Sergeant Nelson and Patrolman George Laboue were kept away from duty today because of indisposition that caused them to be confined to their homes.

Patrolman John Clifford in making his rounds early Sunday morning discovered the rear entrance to the store of Fisher, florist, 100 State street, unsecured and yith the key in the lock The place was secured and the key deposited at the police station where it was turned over to an employe of the place this forenoon.

E. W. Maxson, 24 Garfield avenue, was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman John Clifford, charged with obstructing traffic on Golden street. He was released, but will be given a hearing in the police court tomorrow morning. Maxson had parked his automobile in front of a driveway, the motionless car preventing other machines from entering or leaving the rear of property where they were being used on construction work.

The democrats had a rally at the Lyceum theatre Saturday night, but the attendance was not a quarter what was expected it would be. The speakers were Chester C. Morris, the candidate for governor; James R. Mc candidate for lieutenant and John C. Geary. Mr. Geary alluded at President Coolidge as a "fifth-rate lawyer." Mr. May's address, read from written copy, was the most dignified of the talks. The gubernatorial candidate declared that the finances of the state were indifferently handled and attributed the high expenses of the state to the careless republican policies.

Palestine Commandery, Knights Templar, attended religious services at the First Church of Christ this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Rev. Dr. J. Romeyn Danforth delivered the sermon, which was most timely and eloquent. The attendance was very large.

That newly invented signal light at the corner of Bank and State streets which has been out of condition since it was installed about a month ago, was put into use again this afternoon. Whether it will prove to be what is needed has not yet been demonstrated, but the light is to have a trial.

WOMAN SAT ON HIS LAP, LAWRENCE MAN LOST $180

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Nov. 2.—Annie Sevelodosky, married, was taken into custody Saturday evening by Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman Augustus Ray charged with the theft of $130 from John Maurias, 18 Bennett street, Lawrence Mass. The woman was later released upon furnishing a surety on her bonds of $500 for appearance in the police court Monday morning. Maurias is being held a prisoner at the police station to assure his presence to testify against the accused.

According to Maurias, he went to a house at 20 Hill street, in company with a male companion, late Saturday afternoon, and when he reached the place the Sevelodusky woman and her husband were in the house. Mrs. Sevelodosky, it is claimed requested her husband to go to a store to make a purchase and after the husband left the house, Mrs. Sevelodosky made advances to Maurias, finally sitting in his lap and it is claimed, that while there the woman succeeded in removing the wallet, containing the money from Maurias' trousers pocket. When Maurias discovered that his money was gone he made a demand for it, the woman expressing ignorance of Maurias' wealth, complaint was made to the police. The arrest of the couple followed.

JEWETT, CITY

Tuesday the polls will open at 6 o'clock and will close at 6 in the afternoon. There were 169 new voters made this year. The whole number of voters in the town is 1228. Of that number 988 are in the first district and 240 in the second. There are 428 women voters, 851 in the first district, and 82 in the second.

Hallowe'en socials, parties and dances were held at homes, schools and churches Friday and Saturday night, and the children had the time of their life, parading the streets in all kinds of rigs. Grown-ups wished they were young again, to join in the sport. Both in the Methodist and Congregational vestries were weird decorations and the season's games were played. Saturday several Jewett City people attended the service at Old Trinity church in Brooklyn, the church which is opened only once a year when people come from various sections of the country to attend. People were noted from Naugatuck, Glasonbury and Mansfield.

Sunday afternoon, about a thousand persons observed All Souls' day by making a pilgrimage to St. Mary's cemetery in Lisbon, where Rev. J. J. McCabe and Rev. J. J. Tyler conducted a memorial service, the senior choir of the church singing hymns.

Mrs. G. H. Prior addressed Estelle Circle in Bridgeport on its 23th anniversary October 23rd at the home of the invalid. Estelle Temple, for whom the circle was named and who was one of the nominating committee of three who proposed Mrs. Prior's name as state president, three years ago. The 24th she attended the Long Island county conference. The 30th she addressed the Rhode Island state conference at Westerly. This week Thursday and Friday she will preside at the council meeting in New York of the King's Daughters international officers.

Some way Friday, one of the paper boys' bundles of 92 papers went astray, and could not be located. It would save the boys lots of trouble if, when papers are left at wrong stations. The Bulletin office would be notified. This particular boy went to every northbound trolley all day, hoping to receive the lost bundle. Then when he collected on Saturday he had lost a customer through no fault of his own. Joseph Chmura, Joseph Wolkosky, Bennie Slonski and Raymond Bugbee are faithful newsboys, no complaints having ever been received since they took over the route.

WESTERLY

The final gun in the 1924 presidential campaign will be fired by Westerly republicans this (Monday) evening with a monster rally parade to be participated in by three bands and 91 the republicans in sight, with many in automobiles. The parade will form on Elm street under Marshal Col. Everett E. Wilcox, town clerk of Westerly, with Col Charles H. Ledward as chief of staff. The parade will move as follows: Through Broad street, High street, Canal street, Pleasant street, Pierce street, High street, Grove avenue, Broad street, West Broad street to Moss street and countermarch. The bands participating will be the George C. Moore band, Westerly band and the Westerly Elite band. Quantities of red fire will be burned as the parade progresses.

The semi-final effort of the republican campaign was a rally held in the Westerly town hall when men and women voters were invited to hear about the republican candidates and republican principles. Residents of Westerly of Italian descent were present in numbers to listen to speakers in the Italian language, who addressed the voters of Westerly. Town Councilman Louis J. Rossi presided and introduced the speaker, who was secured by Miss Helena Papalia, Edmond Pasetti and Charles Ruisi, members of republican town committee. The speakers were Vito N. Famiglietti, a contractor of Providence, a former member of its common council and grand venerable, Order Sons of Italy of Rhode Island. Silverio Gianotti connected with a Providence banking house; Cav. Luigi Scala of Providence; Luigi Cipolla, a Providence bank official, and L. V. Jacvoni, a lawyer and former member of the Rhode Island legislature, who spoke at the previous republican rally, were present and were given an enthusiastic reception by their hearers.

A false alarm for fire was sounded on the whistle from Box 41, Clarkeville, at about 1 o'clock Sunday morning. The F. S. Barber Hose company responded and found the alarm a fake.

Four cases of small pox were discovered Saturday afternoon in Pawcatuck, by Dr. Michael H. Scanlon of Westerly. One of the cases was a malignant type, it being that of 10-year-old Mary Lavanti, who resides with her parents at 55 Morgan street, Pawcatuck. The Levanti family has resided on the West Side for the past three months, coming to Westerly from Fitchburg, Mass. In the family are two boys of 13 and 18 years respectively, who have been vaccinated and who have attended the parochial school on Liberty street. Beside the boys are two children of 4 and 6, who have sore marks and are recovering from an attack, and a baby of two and a half, who has been exposed sufficiently to become affected. Dr. Scanlon on his discovery immediately called Health Officer Dr. C. F. Congdon of Mystic, who confirmed his diagnosis and who will come to Pawcatuck, this (Monday) morning to decide what measures to take to prevent a spread of the dread disease. It is said that a pupil of the West Broad street grammar school, having played with one of the Levanti children has been placed in a position to contract the small pox. A Pawcatuck officer has been stationed at the house, which has been quarantined and the house is being given strict attention by West Side officials.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur N. Nash returned to Westerly Sunday afternoon after a three or four days' vacation visit in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. George Downing of Wakefield visited their daughter, Mrs. T. Edward Peabody and family on the West Side over the week end.

Mrs. Ethel Guinn of Westerly and East Orange, N. J., is visiting in Providence this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. King have left for Louisville, Ky., to attend the bottlers' convention being held there.

Mr. and Mrs. George Parker, of Norwich, were in Westerly Saturday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Ella D. Peabody, held Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Taylor of Framingham, Mass., formerly of Westerly, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Reuben H. Austin in Westerly.

Henry A. Stahle was the host Saturday night to a post-Hallowe'en party in honor of Loren McLaren, of Westerly, whose birthday it was.

ROBERT SANKEY SHOT BY NATHAN TINKER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, R. I., Nov. 2.—A fatality occurred at Bradford, Sunday noon, at 11.15 o'clock, when Robert Sankey, 10, was shot through the heart by Nathan Tinkler, while the latter was shooting a trapper Regar revolver at bottles and cans placed in the rear of the house in which they lived at Douglas Park, Tinkler, who was a member of the 243rd Field Artillery company of Westerly, and partially deaf, had purchased his revolver the day before and, having used up his box of 22's short had taken 22 longs and loaded the chambers of his gun. Robert Sankey was playing in his rear yard with a hatchet near a clothes post, just as a small dog crossed the line of fire and running after the dog the firearm was discharged just as the boy came in range. Tinkler is reported to have asked the boy if he had been hit and he said "Yes" and dropped dead. Dr. Robert Marr was called and he summoned Medical Examiner M. H. Scanlon of Westerly, who was accompanied to Bradford by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown of Westerly.

In his excitement Tinkler threw the gun into the back yard, where it was found later, when searched for by Chief Brown, who took possession of it. The medical examiner rendered his findings to Coroner John Ferguson, Jr. On his return to Westerly late Sunday night from Providence and who will probably direct that an inquest be held. Robert Sankey Jr., was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sankey of Bradford and was popular with his playmates.

DUCK HUNTER WOUNDED WHEN GUN IS DISCHARGED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, R. I., Nov. 2.—Joseph Burdick, 21, of 7 Noyes avenue, Pawcatuck, son of Fred V. Burdick, was most seriously wounded while shooting ducks with two companions, about 8.45 o'clock, Sunday morning, on Charlestown pond. The accident is reported to have occurred when, in company with Raymond Potter and Fred Clark, of Westerly, in a boat the property of Amos E. Burdick. They were in the breachway of the pond. Clark had a six-shooter pump gun and had just shot at a duck from the rear of the boat, while Burdick was in the bow. The gun was laid down and as the boat rocked a little, Burdick lost his balance, at the same time the gun was discharged. It was loaded with No. 2 shot. The charge being at close range had little chance to spread and entered Burdick's back on the right side, just below the rib, making a three-inch hole. A handkerchief was thrust into the wound and the wounded man brought to the office of Dr. Michael H. Scanlon in Westerly by Colby Crandall, who arrived on the scene with his automobile soon after the accident occurred. At the office of Dr. Scanlon temporary treatment was given and the wounded man placed in the ambulance of the Westerly Sanitary corps accompanied by Clark and taken to the Rhode Island Hospital in Providence. They were accompanied by the young man's father and his uncle, Amos E. Burdick of Pawcatuck.

WORKED SUNDAY TO SET UP VOTING MACHINES

Workmen were engaged Sunday at the town hall in setting up the voting machines for election day Tuesday. The work would have been done Friday and Saturday but was postponed because of the progressive and democratic rallies there on those two evenings in order that the space taken up by the machines might no encroach on the seating space in the hall.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

New York, Nov. 2.—(By the A. P.)—A pronounced rally in security markets, an easier tone in money, halting markets for farm products and a somewhat firmer tone in metals were the chief characteristics of the past week in business and finance.

Conditions in important industries have shown little change on the whole. The decline in crude oil production has continued and further drafts also have been made both on crude oil and gasoline stocks. Meanwhile the pressure of the market lifted the leading refiners in this territory have advanced the price of refined. Well informed quarters believe that further advances both in refined and crude may occur before the end of the year, following the precendent or recent years.

Earning statements of motor manufacturers of the third quarter now coming to hand confirm earlier reports of improvement. From now to the end of the year however output is expected to decline. Meanwhile there is evidence that the automobile trade, equally with merchandise retailers and wholesalers, have found the western farmer a less ready spender of his new wealth than had been anticipated. Price reductions by at least two companies have taken the trade by surprise which had been hoping for a move in the other direction in order to help profit margins.

In steel the feature of the week was the publication of the earnings statement of the U. S. Steel corporation for the third quarter. This had been preceded by reports of a number of the large independents showing decreased profits or small deficits. The corporation, however, was able to earn all but three cents of its extra dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock in addition to the regular dividends. Since the corporation represents nearly half of the steel evidence that the general business had been running along pretty well after all, close observers of the industry meanwhile prophesy a pickup after election, and in this they concur with the manufacturers themselves.

Further proof that business is being done in good volume is not lacking. In addition to rising figures fr bank debits and bank clearance good indices of trade activity, there is the testimony of the railroads. Freight car loadings for the last week for which figures are available—that ended October 18—were the largest for any single week in transportation history, amounting to 1,103,336 cars. The unprecedented grain movement was, of course, a prime factor, but loading of merchandise and miscellaneous freight also figured largely in the gain. At the same time a tabulation of the recently published September earning statements indicates that the class I carriers earned net operating income of $120,000,000 in September. This would make the net the highest since operation under the transportation act began and would mean 5.79 per cent. earned on property valuation. In September 1923 the roads earned $93,236,000 net.

TAFTVILLE

An attempt was made Friday evening to break into the basement of the Peoples Store, Inc. One of the wire doors was torn from its hinges and an unsuccessful attempt made to force the inner door. Both doors leading into the basement showed signs of forcing. A screw driver and several large pieces of wood were found in the rear of the building. Some believe that it was only a Hallowe'en prank, but others think that it was a real honest-to-goodness burglar who meant business.

A Hallowe'en social and dance was held Friday evening in the Parish hall and was attended by a great many, some of the guests coming from out of town. The music was furnished by the Idel orchestra, of Stonington Pond, and dancing continued until 11.30.

Miss Helen C. Aberg has returned to Willimantic after spending several days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Axel L. Aberg of North Third avenue.

Saturday afternoon found most of rs of the Taftville Boat and removing their craft from tet river. The canoes which s been "parked" under the tlan spruce trees on the have now been taken to the homes of their owners where they will spend the winter and get new coats of paint early in the spring. As usual, the row boats have been drawn up on the river banks.

Miss Dorothy Wood, who has been spending the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs John Wood and family of South Second avenue has returned to the State Normal school in Willimantic.

Harold Heap has returned to Adams, Mass., after passing several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Heap of South Second avenue.

Fred Marcotte who has been spending several days this week at the Ponemah house, has left town

Miss Eva Nagle, who has been a patient at the Backus hospital has returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Nagle of South Second avenue.

Miss Ruth Pollard, R. N., was been a recent guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Dodge of Block Island, R. I.

At the morning service of the Taftville Congregational church, there was a celebration of the holy communion by the pastor, Rev. Edwin O. Crowdis. In the evening the meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was led by Miss Elizabeth Houston

Alexander Goulet of the Ponemah house has resigned his position with the No. 4 weaving department of the Ponemah Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Aberg entertained a number of friends at a Hallowe'en supper party Saturday evening.

George W. Meyer and Miss Blossie M. Meyer of Linden have returned from a few days' stay in New Bedford, Mass.

The members of the entertainment committee of the Taftville Congregational church fair, and the members of the dramatic club who are to take part in the play at the fair are to meet this (Monday) evening in the vestry of the church.

Ozias Tetreault, Jr., of South A street has resigned his position with the Ponemah Company.

None of the political parties appear to be pushing their campaigns very vigorously in the village this season. In fact, it is the quietest election campaign ever remembered by the oldest inhabitants. The days seem gone forever when torchlight processions and banners galore were seen on the local streets, and when even the youngsters of the town formed in line immediately after school and paraded with burning brooms and tin pans, shouting their candidate's name at the top of their lungs until supper time. Only the Coolidge, Davis and LaFollette buttons on coat lapels remind one that election is near.

Miss Eva Nagle who has been a patient for the past few weeks at the William W. Backus hospital is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Nagle of South Second avenue.

The voting machine in Ponemah hall has been inspected and made ready for use on Tuesday.

Arthur McGuinness of Pelham Manor, N. Y., was a business caller in the village Friday.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF TAKING PASTORATE AT NORWICH TOWN

REV. GURDON F. BAILEY

Sunday was the fifth anniversary of Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, as the beloved pastor of the First Congregational church, where he took up his active duties just five years ago, to a day, November 2, 1919. At the morning worship he preached a most impressive sermon from the Gospel of John 1:38, Master, Where Dwellest Thou? The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed at the conclusion of the sermon, a large congregation receiving communion with Rev. Mr. Bailey officiating, assisted by the deacons.

When the old First Congregational church of Norwich was looking for a pastor to succeed Rev. George H. Ewing, who resigned in December, 1918, to take up Y. M. C. A. work in France, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, of Collinsville, Conn., chanced to occupy the pulpit one Sunday the following summer, not as a candidate, but only using one of his vacation Sundays in preaching. Before he left town he was asked if he would consider a call should one be given him, and although it came as a surprise to him, the answer seemed rather encouraging. The suggestion was made by him later that perhaps the people had better hear him again some Sunday. This was done and the call was sent him, the acceptance coming in due time, and on November 2, 1919, he began his labors here.

Mr. Bailey was not a stranger to many in the parish as during his studies at the Norwich Free Academy he was for a time a member in the home of Rev. Mr. Weitzel, a former pastor of this church, and was at that time connected with the Y. P. S. C. E. of the church.

Five years have passed and the expectations of the members of this church have been more than realized. He has proved to be just the man needed for pastoral work, one to vitally interested in the young people, and a faithful preacher of the Word, his sermons always having something fresh and practical.

During the five years of his pastorate 94 persons have been received into the church on confession of faith, and forty by letter from other churches, making a total of one hundred and twenty-four.

Nineteen have been removed by death and 18 by letter to other churches with a total of 35, thus leaving the membership larger by 89 than it was when Mr. Bailey began his labors.

At his suggestion some of the members made a substantial addition to the individual communion set of the church. He was the prime mover in the plans for the observance of the 50th anniversary of the organist which was very successfully and pleasantly planned and carried through.

The church property, too, has been very much improved, as the chapel has been thoroughly renovated inside, the church shingled, and both buildings painted, while at present the interior of the church is undergoing re-decoration. These have all had the interested planning and support of the pastor.

Soon after joining the New London Association of Churches and Ministers, Mr. Bailey was made registrar in place of Rev. C. A. Northrop, who left town to reside with one of his daughters in Danbury. He also is active in town and school affairs, and is fortunate in the possession of the love and esteem of everyone in this community, and his people certainly wish for him many more fruitful and pleasant years with them.

Since coming to Norwich Town Rev. Mr. Bailey has ingratiated himself into the hearts of the people. Whenever wise counsel has been needed, he in his Christian ministrations and help to others, has done much with his cheery smile and kind words, to brighten thoughts and cause a memory picture that is everlasting.

An ecclesiastical council was held at the First Congregational church June 16, 1920, which was attended by the pastor of several of the Norwich churches, also Taftville, New London, Groton, Bozrah, Franklin, Stonington, North Stonington, Ledyard, Mystic, Montville, Lisbon, Hanover, Jewett City, Preston, Griswold, Collinsville, as well as invited ministers from New Haven, Gales Ferry and Norwich. At this gathering an impressive installation service was held for Rev. Mr. Bailey. The sermon was by Prof. Henry Hallen Tweedy of Yale university, a classmate of Mr. Bailey. His text was, "He that is not with Me is against Me." The charge to the minister by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, of New London, was most impressive. Rev. Samuel H. Howe, D. D., of Park Congregational church, offered prayer; and the right hand of fellowship was by Rev. Alexander H. Abbott of the United Congregational church, Norwich.

Rev. Mr. Bailey has been in the ministry for thirty-one or more years, having successfully filled a pastorate in West Avon, 15 years at Westbrook, nine years at Collinsville and the remainder at his Norwich Town pastorate. He was born in Groton, was graduated from Norwich Free Academy in the class of 1887, the first class to be graduated from Slater Hall, at which time he delivered an oration. In 1891 he graduated from Yale and later from Yale Divinity school.

In reviewing his experiences in his life's work a while ago, Rev. Mr. Bailey said that he could recall nothing but deeds of kindness and many pleasant acquaintances as well as dear friends, always ready with counsel and help towards himself and his family. For his part, the remembrance of duty done, service and help rendered; uplifting and inspiring and comforting of others, had brought him as great a blessing, as those helped.

ATTENDED GET-TOGETHER OF LEGION AUXILIARY OFFICERS

Mrs. William E. Bogue, Mrs. George Fraser and Mrs. John B. Oat of the Women's Auxiliary of Robert O. Fletcher Post, No. 4, American Legion, attended the "get-together" meeting of the department officers of the American Legion Auxiliary held at the Hotel Bond in Hartford, Sunday afternoon from 3 until 6 o'clock.

The meeting was open to auxiliary members from all parts of the state and several hundred members attended the meeting and banquet. The speakers included the national vice president of the women's auxiliary, State Commander E. P. Armstrong of the American Legion, and others.

The Norwich members are expected to give a detailed report of the meeting when the local auxiliary meets this (Monday) evening at the legion post rooms on Main street for the regular session. Plans have also been made for a gathering at 7 o'clock when the members are to work on poppies in preparation for Armistice Day.

SAILORS HELPED FIGHT GALES FERRY FIRE

Passing automobilists joined the Gales Ferry fire department Sunday afternoon in a successful fight against a grass and brush fire on the property of Charles H. Brown at Brown's crossing that threatened the dining hall at Harvard quarters and several dwelling houses. The duty officer at the submarine base sent a truck load of sailors from there who were a valued addition to the fire-fighting force.

The blaze was reported to have started from sparks from the 4.45 train on the Norwich and Worcester road. The fire burned over several acres before it was checked.

NORWICH TOWN

The family at the Sheltering Arms was pleasantly surprised Friday afternoon when assembling at the supper table, to find the dining room attractively arranged for Hallowe'en. The decorations comprised festoons of orange and black crepe paper, black cats, witches, etc. The entire arrangement was in the hands of the nurses, who spared no efforts in making the hour merry for those present. A very fine supper was provided for the family.

Friday evening at the home of Miss Dorothea Buckley, on Town street, a delightful Hallowe'en party was held, twenty-two young people attending in costume. The rooms were decorated with Hallowe'en colors and chrysanthemums. The games, music and dancing were in charge of Miss Alice Kennedy, a special feature being the singing of the Agony male quartet. The costume prizes were awarded Miss Louise Avery and Robert Avery. Doughnuts and cheese, fancy cakes, apples, candy and fruit punch were served by the hostess.

WORLD-WIDE FUNERAL FOR CATHOLICS TODAY

For the millions of Roman Catholics throughout the world this is a day of mourning, a funeral day, every mass a requiem, all music a dirge. Rev. Rocco J. Guerriero reminded the congregation which filled every pew at St. Patrick's church Sunday, at the 8 o'clock mass. This is because the commemoration of All Souls' Day, Nov. 2nd, which this year fell on Sunday, is deferred to today, the 3rd.

In the consoling doctrine of the communion of saints, November is set apart as the month when the living devote special prayers and good works to helping the dead—those holy souls, who, while in expiation of faults which still render their souls unworthy to enter the presence of an all-perfect God, can be aided by the prayers and almsdeeds of their friends on earth—particularly by the offering of the Holy Sacrifice of the mass. Father Guerriero repeated the appeal of holy Job, xix, 21, "Have pity upon me, have pity upon me, at least you my friends, for the hand of the Lord hath touched me." The love we profess for our friends in life, he declared, should not end when they have passed to their eternal reward; but should manifest itself in redoubled efforts at this time for their souls, with which all may not be well, due to traces remaining of faults and blemishes for which they must atone, since nothing defiled can enter the presence of God.

In this church today (Monday) there will be masses at 5, 7 and 8 o'clock, a solemn requiem mass at 8 for those memorialized by their relatives and friends.

Saturday, All Saints' Day, there were services at the same hours, Rev. Rocco J. Guerriero singing the high mass at 8, Father Gelivin and the rector, Father May, reading the low masses at 5 and 7 respectively. In the high mass, the choir gave the majestic Ghegorian mass, in all its solemnity and beauty. Wherever there were solo portions, Mrs. Frank Farrell's voice was heard very pleasingly.

Hallow'en Masquerade

An enjoyable hallowe'en masquerade was held Friday evening at the residence of Mrs. John Coffey at 2 Church street. The house was prettily decorated in hallowe'en effects, streamers and novelties. Music and the usual hallow'en games were enjoyed. Master William Johnson of Church street, won the prize playing the donkey game and Josephine Wilmot won the second prize.

Nuts, assorted cakes, apples and peanuts also different assortments of candy were served by Mrs. Connor and Mrs. Coffey.

Those present were Harry Wilmot, Josephine Wilmot, John Wilmot, Mrs. Mary Wilmot, Josephine Johnson, William Johnson, Edward Bavenie, B. Olsen, Mrs. Margaret Conner, Shirley M. Coffey, Master Bob Coffey and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Coffey.

Of North Carolina's 560 college graduates of 1923 who have become teachers in white high schools, 349 entered the rural high schools and 201 went into the city high schools.

DECLARE BANKERS TRUST IS IN SOUND CONDITION

A clean bill of health financially has been given to the Bankers Trust Co. by the state bank commissioners who have been in charge of the bank's affairs for a week, ever since they were brought here through the discovery of the defalcation of $146,000 of the former treasurer, George A. Finn.

WEST END COMMUNITY PLANS FOR ELECTION NIGHT

The West End Community association, an organization composed of residents of the West Side and East Great Plain, and which since its institution, has promoted a number of community affairs that have been very successful, is planning to hold a get-together meeting in the Elizabeth street school, on election night, Tuesday, Nov. 4th.

The committee which has made the arrangements for the affair is as follows, Mrs. Clarence Smith, chairman; Mrs. John McWilliams, Mrs. Walter Holden, Miss Marion Holden, Mrs. Frank I. Royce Mrs. Paul A. Brown, Miss Mary E. Coughlin, Mrs. Herman Pukallus, Mrs. M. L. Bergstresser, Mrs. D. Lewis Browning, Mrs. Frank T. Maples, Mrs. S. Slosberg and Mrs. Harry Fenton.

The programme as outlined by the committee, will consist of square dances, games, music and refreshments and in addition election returns will be received by radio and then posted on a blackboard for the information of those interested

In preparation for the event the women of the committee will meet at the Elizabeth street school on Tuesday afternoon to prepare the refreshments which will consist of sandwiches, cake, coffee, etc. They would be glad to have the assistance of others in the work and all the women of the district who are willing to help are asked to communicate with Mrs. Clarence Smith, Elizabeth street. It is expected that there will be a large attendance of both men and women from that section. There will be no admission fee of any kind, although a silver collection may be taken up to defray the cost of the refreshments.

The association is making preparations to care for a large attendance and wants every resident of that section to attend this old-fashioned jamboree, and to come with the expectation of having a good time and getting better acquainted with each other. While everybody will be welcome, the committee in charge of this community affair has requested that no children under 16 years of age will be permitted to attend unless accompanied by their parents. The present officers of the West End Community association are: President, Paul A. Brown; vice president, Mrs. Clarence E. Carpenter, Mrs. M. L. Bergstresser, Mrs. Herman Pukallus; secretary and treasurer, Frank I. Royce; assistant secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Edwin F. Griffith.

HELD HOUSE WARMING WITH HALLOWE'EN WHIST

An attractive hallowe'en whist and house warming was given Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Herman Retkovske at her newly built heme on 276 Boswell avenue, by the Women of Mooseheart Legion. The house very prettily decorated in orange and black.

Seven tables of whist were played, the prizes being awarded as follows: First, ladies, Mrs. Richard Carter; second, Mrs. Ida Monroe and the consolation to Mrs. M. Adams. The first gentlemen's prize went to Mrs. Hulda Jensen; second, George Lee and the consolation to Mrs. S. Cohn.

The punches were Miss Frieda Retkovske, Miss Rose Thiel and Master George Cohn who was in full dress Indian costume.

Music was furnished by the Misses Anna Retkovske and Rose Thiel, piano, accompanied by Miss Beatrice Cohn, violinist. There were also ukelele solos by Miss Anna Retkovske.

During the evening a very pretty presentation speech was made by Mrs. Charles Beaver when she presented Mrs. Retkovske a fire dollar gold piece. Refreshments were served to 33 guests by a committee consisting of Mrs. Arnes Hastedt, Mrs. H. Retkovske and Mrs. S. Cohn.

GOLDEN JUBILEE RALLY BY M'KINLEY AVE. CHURCH

The fiftieth anniversary of the dedication of the McKinley Ave., A. M. E. Zion church will be celebrated on Sunday and Monday, November 16 and 17, 1924. In view of the fact that there is no other special effort in the church's programme this year, the members have pledged themselves to make this the one big financial event of the conference year in which each will give five dollars. In this way they hope to realize the amount necessary to put down new carpet on the church floor. There will be three services Sunday, the 16th, in each of which an opportunity will be given to make thanksgiving offering. The celebration will close Monday evening, the 17th, with an anniversary supper served by a committee of ladies followed by a free concert.

CURIOS FROM THE ORIENT IN PLAUT-CADDEN WINDOW

A section of the Orient transported to a Norwich street. That is the impression given by one of the great display windows in the Plaut-Cadden Main street store, where are shown specimens of the interesting, rare and costly curios and articles of workmanship brought by the members of the firm from the different countries visited while on a world-round trip a few months ago. The exhibit will continue until Wednesday any way, and maybe longer. Already several teachers have made arrangements to take their classes to view the beautiful collection.

First to catch the eye are the wall panels, all in the most intricate hand embroidery. One of the most striking depicts the famed lacquered bridge at Nikko, Japan, the bridge which General U. S. Grant was given permission to cross—but which privilege he tactfully gave up, knowing that it was a sacred structure. His refusal to cross made a great and favorable impression upon the Japanese. Nearby, hangs a panel reproducing Fujiyama, the sacred mountain, a volcano, always covered with snow. A large and elegant example of tapestry shows lions, also in hard-work and also from Japan.

Lamps and shawls from Japan are flanked by rugs from China. There are beautifully embroidered ceremonial kimonos from Japan—worn only once—and that at marriage. A curiosity on a tabouret is a cheroot from Rangoon—similar to the cheroots referred to by Kipling, a foot long and smoked by the women of that country. A rare candlestick from India is not far from a richly worked Batick bag from Java, every piece of this bag being done separately, by a curious use of wax. Leate, in this case made of colored paper although the traditional garlands are of flowers, is a souvenir of Honolulu, the colored chain thrown about the necks of visitors as an emblem of welcome and good luck, to be thrown back upon the water on leaving the port, as a token that one intends to come again. Trays of beaten copper, silver wondrought bowls, shoes and socks from Japan, sandals from China, Javanese fans of painted rama hide, bronze bookends of Japanese workmanship, Mah Jong sets which small boys were seen making from ivory, ivory-cut beads, also necklaces of mother-of-pearl secured from the shells of oysters brought from the South Sea Islands, jewel boxes made in Japan and sold for but a few cents, although of dainty design, all are in the display, together with an Oriental runner from Cairo, the type on which a whole family will work for weeks and months.

Specimens of Chinese headwear are interesting—a Cooley hat of reed worn by the boatmen and one for use in the rice fields of a different design. There is a cruel looking sword from Algiers, a pole of Jap bamboo, which, in appearance a cane, opens up and is a fish-pole. Exquisitely worked Jap pajamas are conspicuous in the collection, in sizes for adults and children. The table in the center of the window has an Angora cover from Cashmere, in gay dyes. A teakwood chair from China is cunningly carved, and there is a great peacock chair from Manila that is one of a set which the firm owns.

As regards the ivory beads, children from eight years up may be seen working on these necklaces. There are exquisite vases from Egypt, a dinner gong of wonderful tone from Burmah, marvelous lamps—including one in blue and white porcelain from Japan, its artistic shade in delicate tints of Batick work. Significant is a Cooley coat, the insigna on the back of each coat indicating the rank of the wearer. Magnificently embroidered shawls include one from Canton, in Spanish type, and a beauty from Peking.

There is local interest in an enlarged picture at the front of the display which gives a good idea of the sacred deer of Nara, which run unmolested about the streets. Rutherford C. Plaut, of the firm, is shown feeding these revered animals, which come at the signal of a whistle blown by the guides.

Most interesting is a plate in alabaster which reproduces the ornate interior of the celebrated Tay-Mahel, of India, the only structure in the world which is absolutely above criticism—a temple built over 300 years ago, which it took 20,000 men twenty-one years to complete.

Trays of star sapphires in the display catch the eye of every jeweler who sees the collection. These are exquisite and very costly, and many of them are rare.

Not shown in the window, but in the curios brought back by Mr. Cadden, is a necklace from a tomb, its figures hand-made, many of them turquoise, designed to ward off evil spirits, this particular necklace coming from the Tomb of the Bulls, at Memphis, on the edge of the Desert of Sahara. It is probably 3,000 years old.

There was a constant throng about the store window all day and evening Saturday and as the news spread, this crowd increased in numbers. Such an opportunity to view priceless treasures is one of a lifetime and doubtless will be improved by thousands in and about Norwich before the curios are removed.

The United States bureau of education has been asked to conduct home economics conference at the bay section and at the southern section of the California' State Teachers' Association.

POETRY

BEAUTY FOR ASHES.

"Give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness." Isaiah lxi-3.

This thought is too great for rhyme:
"Beauty for Ashes;"
The exchange of worthless things
For those supreme;
The grave that separates,
The God that frowns on joy,
The tragic road to heaven,
Adherence to nescient thought,
Insistence on foolish will,
The fear of precedent,
The dominance of gold,
The lust for worldly power,
The love of self alone;
These—these are the ashes of life.

This thought is too great for rhyme:
"Beauty for Ashes;"
The barter of narrow creed
For one sublime;
The understanding soul,
The thought that Death is kind,
That angels live on earth,
That smiles are more than tears,
That words do not make prayer,
That work can cure our ills,
That faith will move the world
And God and Love are one;
These—these are the beauties of life.

This thought is the essence of song:
"Beauty for Ashes;"
It is not strange,
The Master is calling on you to exchange
Take joy for your mourning, wear garments of praise,
And live in the fullness of life all your days.

—Charles L. H. Wagner.

SONG.

Because the rose must fade,
Shall I not love the rose?
Because the summer shade
Passes when winter blows,
Shall I not rest me there
In the cool air?

Because the sunset sky
Makes music in my soul,
Only to fall and die,
Shall I not take the whole
Of beauty that it gives
While yet it lives?

Because the sweet of youth
Doth vanish all too soon,
Shall I forget, forsooth,
To learn its lingering tune;
My joy to memories
In those young eyes?

If, like the summer flower
That blooms—a fragrant death,
Keen music hath no power
To live beyond its breath,
Then of this flood of song
Let me drink long!

Ah, yes, because the rose
Fades like the sunset skies;
Because rude winter blows
All bare, and music dies—
Therefore, now is to me
Eternity!

—Richard Watson Gilder.

A species of worm that lives only in ice and can not withstand even the heat of the human hand has been found and photographed by a scientific expedition that recently went into the Olympic mountains. The ice on Dodwell-Rixon peak in the Olympics was found literally alive with these worms. They are black, thin and about half an inch long. When the sun is out they crawl into the interior of the ice, where the temperature is lower. Scientists with the party said that so far as they knew these worms never had been found before in the United States. While the worms were photographed, it was impossible to get any of them out of the mountains alive. When the ice surrounding them begins to melt they die immediately. What they live on is still a mystery.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE CALLS UPON ALL AMERICAN CITIZENS TO VOTE TODAY

In Talk Over the Radio Last Night Mr. Coolidge Appeals to the Voters to Exercise the Right of Franchise "Without Reference to Party"—Exhorts Citizens to Make Their Own Choice of Public Officers "Solely in the Light of Their Own Conscience"—Advises Voters to Disregard Appeals to Passion.

Washington, Nov. 3—President Coolidge in a talk over the radio tonight to the largest audience ever addressed in one circuit, called upon the American citizens to go to the polls tomorrow and make their choice of public officers "solely in the light of their conscience."

The president appealed to the voters to approach the ballot box "in the spirit that they would approach a sacrament, and there, disregarding all appeals to passion and prejudice, dedicate themselves truly and wholly to the welfare of their country."

He declared the decision should not be so directed that a minority would control the government, and asked that every one who has the right to vote, "without reference to party," exercise that right tomorrow.

The text follows:

"The institutions of our country rest upon the faith in the people. No decision that the people have made in any great crisis has ever shown that faith in them has been misplaced. It is impossible to divorce that faith which we have in others from the faith which we have in ourselves. The right action of all of us is made up of the right action of each one of us. Unless each of us is determined to meet the duties that come to us we can have no right to expect that others will meet the duties that come to them. Certainly we cannot expect them so to act as to save us from the consequences of having failed to act. The immediate and pressing obligation for tomorrow is that each one of us, who is entitled shall vote. That is a function which cannot be delegated which cannot be postponed. The opportunity will never arise again. If the individual fails to discharge that obligation, the whole nation will suffer a loss from that neglect.

System of Self-Government.

"America, more thoroughly than any other country, has adopted a system of self-government. Sometimes we refer to it as the rule of the people. Certainly it is a system under which there is every opportunity for self-government and every encouragement for the people to rule. Ours has been described as a government of public opinion. Of course public opinion functions all the time. It no doubt has the influence on the actions of the executive and legislative branches of our government, and even though it be imperfect on any given occasion it is probably, as time passes, reflected in the courts. But all the influence of public opinion all the opportunity for self-government through the rule of the people, depends upon one single factor. That is the ballot box. If the time comes when our citizens fail to respond to their right and duty, individually and collectively, intelligently and effectively at the ballot box on election day, I do not know what form of government will be substituted for that which we at present have the opportunity to enjoy, but I do not know it will no longer be a rule of the people, it will no longer be self-government. The people of our country are sovereign. If they do not vote they abdicate that sovereignty, and they may be entirely sure that if they relinquish it other forces will seize it, and if they fail to govern themselves some other power will rise up to govern them. The choice is always before them—whether they will be slaves, or whether they will be free. The only way to be free is to exercise actively and energetically the privileges, and discharge faithfully the duties which make freedom. It is not to be secured by passive resistens. It is the result of energy and action to live up to the full measure of citizens secured by passive resistance. It is the result of energy and action..

Requires Intelligent Action.

"To live up to the full measure of citizenship in this nation requires not only action, but it requires intelligent action. It is necessary to secure information and to acquire education. The background of our citizenship is the meeting house and the school house, the place of religious worship and the place of inteddetual training. But we cannot abandon our education at the school house door. We have to keep it up through life. A political campaign can be justified only on the grounds that it enables the citizens to become informed as to what policies are best for themselves and for their country, in order that they may vote to elect those who from their past record and present professions they know will put such policies into effect. The purpose of a campaign is to send an intelligent and informed voter to the ballot box. All the speeches, all the literature, all the organization, all the effort, all the time and all the money, which are not finally registered on election day, are wasted.

Majority Should Rule.

"We are always confronted with the question of whether we wish to be ruled by all the people or a part of the people; by the minority or the majority; whether we wish our elections to be dominated by those who have been misled through the presentation of half truths, into the formation of hasty, illogical and unsound conclusions; or whether we wish those to determine the course of our government who have through due deliberation and careful consideration of all the factors involved reached a sound and mature conclusion. We shall always have with us an element of discontent, an element inspired with more zeal than knowledge. They will always be active and energetic, and they seldom fail to vote on election day. But the people at large in this country are not represented by them. They are greatly in the minority. But their number is large enough to be a decisive factor in many elections, unless it is offset by the sober sound thought of the people who have something at stake, whether it be earnings from investment or from employment, who are considering not only their own welfare but the welfare of their children and of coming generations.

"Our institutions never contemplated that the conduct of this country, the direction of its affairs, the adoption of its policies the maintenance of its principles, should be decided by a minority moved in part by self-interest and prejudice. They were framed on theory that decisions would be made by the great body of voters inspired by patriotic motives. Faith in the people does not mean faith in a part of the people. It means faith in all the people. Our country is always safe when decisions are made by a majority of those who are entitled to vote. It is always in peril when decisions are made by a minority.

Women Voters.

"Lately we have added to our voting population the womanhood of the nation. I do not suppose that George Washington could be counted as one who would have favored placing upon the women of his time the duty and responsibility of taking part in elections. Nevertheless he had such a deep realization of the importance of their influence upon public affairs at the time when we were adopting our federal Constitution, that he wrote to one of them as follows:

"'A spirit of accommodation was happily infused into the leading characters of the continent, and the minds of men were gradually prepared, by disappointment, for the reception of a good government. Nor could I rob the fairer sex of their share in the glory of a revolution so honorable to human nature, for, indeed, I think you ladies are in the number of the best patriots America can boast.'

"The praise of Washington was none too high. Without doubt the intuition of the women of his day was quick to reveal what a high promise the patriotic efforts of Washington and his associates held out for the homes and for the children of our new and unfolding republic. What was then done by indirect influence is now possible through direct action. The continuing welfare of the home, the continuing hope of the children, are no longer represented by an expectation. Experience has made them the great reality of America. If the women of that day were willing to support what was only a vision, a promise, surely in his day they will be willing to go to the ballot box to support what has become an actual and permanent realization of their desires.

"But the right to vote is conferred upon our citizens not only that they may exercise it for their own benefit, but in order that they may exercise it also for the benefit of others. Persons who have the right to vote are trustees of the benefit of their country and their countrymen. They have no right to say they do not care. They must care. They have no right to say that whatever the result of the election they can get along. They must remember that their country and their countrymen cannot get along, cannot remain sound, cannot preserve its institutions, cannot protect its citizens, cannot maintain its place in the world, unless those who have the right to vote do sustain and do guide the course of public affairs by the thoughtful exercise of that right on election day. They do not hold a mere privilege to be exercised or not, as passing fancy may move them. They are charged with a great trust, one of the most important and most solemn which can be given into the keeping of an American citizen. It should be discharged thoughtfully and seriously, in accordance with its vast importance.

"I therefore urge upon all the voters of our country, without reference to party, that they assemble tomorrow at their respective voting places in the exercise of the high office of American citizenship, that they approach the ballot box in the spirit that they would approach a sacrament, and there, disregarding all appeals to passion and prejudice dedicating themselves truly and wholly to the welfare of their country, they make their choice of public officers solely in the light of their own conscience. When an election is so held, when a choice is so made, it results in the real rule of the people, it warrants and sustains the belief that the voice of the peoples is the voice of God."

HUNDREDS OF TORCHLIGHT PARADES IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 3.—The red flares of hundreds of torchlight parades burned on New York's streets tonight as one of the most colorful and exciting bugernatorial campaigns in the Empire State's history came to a close.

Indications point to a record vote tomorrow. More than 3,858,000 citizens will be entitled to cast their ballots, a total greater by 275,000 than the registration for the presidential election four years ago.

Governor Alfred E. Smith, in a driving finish against his republican opponent, Theodore Roosevelt, concluded his campaign with a final appeal to the voters of his own precinct on the lower East Side. Colonel Roosevelt likewise chose home territory for his wind-up, addressing meetings at Glen Cove and Oyster Bay.

Before leaving his New York headquarters late today the colonel received a telegram from President Coolidge congratulating him on the "strong campaign" he had made and the contribution he had "rendered to the cause."

WOODCHOPPER SHOT DURING FIGHT IN CAMP

Milford, Mass., Nov. 3. — Samuel Sherrett, a woodchopper, died today at Milford hospital from the effects of a gunshot wound said to have been received earlier in the day during a fight in a woodchopping camp in West Upton. Police are investigating and have made one arrest but have not preferred charges against the prisoner.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

City of Berlin Loan.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—The city of Berlin has negotiated a loan of $3,000,000 through a syndicate of New York and Frankfurt banks. The loan, which is for a term of one year, is the forerunner to further similar transactions, it was said at municipal headquarters today.

OPTIMISTIC REPORTS MADE TO PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

Washington, Nov. 3.—The last day of the campaign passed quietly for President Coolidge, who spent today at his desk, attending to routine business and receiving callers.

Most optimistic reports on the political situation were given the president by three of his cabinet officers who dropped in at the White House at different times. Other messages also were received during the day, leading C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to Mr. Coolidge, to speak most confidently of the outcome tomorrow.

Secretary Hughes, who returned today from a tour into New York, reported conditions there "most encouraging." Secretary Davis brought a similar message on his return from a long trip into the middle west. Secretary Wilbur told the president late reports to him from California indicated a plurality there in the election for the republican national ticket of 100,000 to 150,000 votes.

Mr. Coolidge during the day completed preparation of the radio address for delivery to the public tonight and late in the day took a long walk about the city. Most of the cabinet officers had left the city tonight to return to their homes for the purpose of voting.

No particular plans have been made by President and Mrs. Coolidge for receiving election returns. They expect to have with him tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston. There is a radio set in the White House, and returns also will be received in the executive office by telegraph.

MYSTERY IN THE DEATH OF CHARLES ROGERS

New Haven, Nov. 3.—The mystery surrounding the death of Charles Rogers of this city, who died Saturday from injuries received during an automobile ride with Miss Marjorie Schneider, daughter of a prominent merchant here, has not been cleared up tonight. Coroner Eli Mix refusing to comment on the investigation he is making. Rogers was found lying over the wheel of his machine in North Haven. The windshield of the car had been shattered and the door of the automobile was lying in the road. The young man died later of a fractured skull.

The coroner questioned several witnesses today, including Miss Schneider, but has not completed his investigation. Miss Schneider, when questioned by the police Saturday night, said that she had fainted and did not know what happened. A story reaching the police was that Rogers applied his brakes suddenly to avoid a collision and was thrown through the windshield.

Regarding the door of the car, which was found in the roadway with no apparent cause for its displacement, Coroner Mix said that his investigation had disclosed that it had been jostled out of place several times recently and was not securely bolted to the machine.

VESSELS IN COLLISION IN VINEYARD SOUND

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Nov. 3.—The four masted schooner Elizabeth Bandi of Georgetown, Me., arrived here this afternoon with her bowsprit gone and all sails and rigging which had been attached to it carried away as a result of an early morning collision in Vineyard sound with the steamer Horwick Hall of New York. Captain Torrey of the Bandi reported that his schooner was anchored off Noboska owing to the strong northwest wind which was blowing when the Horwick Hall struck his craft.

The steamer, he reported, proceeded on her course eastward only slightly damaged. The Bandi, which was bound for New Haven, Conn., from Cheverie, N. S., will be towed to New Haven.

MRS. HARDING REMAINS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Marion, O., Nov. 3 (By the A. P.).—The condition of Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, wife of the former president, who has been ill at the home of Dr. Carl W. Sawyer here for several weeks, was reported unchanged tonight.

Weakened by grief at the loss of her husband, Mrs. Harding suffered a second shock with the death a few weeks ago of Dr. Charles E. Sawyer, personal physician to the late president and a long time friend of the family.

LAST SURVIVOR OF THE IMMORTAL LIGHT BRIGADE

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Nov. 3.—Ellis Cuttin, believed here to be the last survivor of the immortal Light Brigade, cast his last vote today. It was for Coolidge and Dawes. He is dying from paralysis and physicians said he probably would not be here to learn whether his vote had helped elect the republican candidates. It was an absent voter's ballot, brought to his bedside.

ASSUMES COMMAND OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS

Dublin, Ga., Nov. 3.—General James A. Thomas of Dublin, Ga., today issued orders that he had assumed command of the United Confederate Veterans following the death of Gen. W. B. Haldeman, commander, last week. General Thomas is the senior lieutenant general of the Army of Tennessee and has served as commander of the Georgia brigade.

BILLS OF INDICTMENT AGAINST OIL COMPANIES

Danville, Va., Nov. 3.—A grand jury in the corporation court of Danville today reported to the county true bills of indictment against the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, the Texas company, the Red C Oil company and the Gulf Refining company, charging violation of the Virginia anti-trust statutes enacted less than a year ago.

F. O. Lowden Would Decline Portfolio

Informs Farmer Friends Why He Does Not Desire to Become Secretary of Agriculture.

Oregon, Ills., Nov. 3.—(By The A. P.)—Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, today in replying to farm organizations seeking to recommend him to President Coolidge for the post of secretary of agriculture stated that because he felt that he could be of more help to farmers outside the department than as its head, he should, if the position were tendered him feel it his duty to decline.

The former governor who declined to be the republican nominee for vice president, even after the republican national convention had voted for him last June, telegraphed his reply to the various organizations which have requested his permission to indorse him for the secretaryship to succeed the late Henry C. Wallace.

Mr. Lowden's telegram follows:

"Your telegram received asking me if it would be agreeable to me for your organization to indorse me for position of secretary of agriculture. I can't tell you how much I appreciate your interest. I have given the matter the best consideration of which I am capable. As I think you know, for a number of years I have been earnestly advocating farmers' organizations as the only method for permanent betterment of farm conditions.

"I am aware that it is often said that there are too many farm organizations. That may be true, but I am sure that there is not enough real, practical, effective farm organizations to put the business of farming upon an equality with other industries in this highly organized world. Farmers have the power within themselves to effect such organizations. If they can be persuaded to the necessity of organization they can now organize independently of the department of agriculture. If they are not so persuaded the department of agriculture can help but little.

"I am convinced that I can be of more service in helping to bring about the more effective organization of farmers outside the department of agriculture than I could in the department, for the head of the department must of necessity devote the largest part of his time to administrative routine. For the reason above I shall ask you not to indorse me for the place because if it were tendered I should feel it my duty to decline. I am none the less grateful, however, for your kindness in the matter.

"FRANK O. LOWDEN."

NORWICH MACHINE HITS MAN IN NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Nov. 3.—An automobile owned and operated by Jacob Feldman, 44 Market street, Norwich, struck Genaro De Luca, 30 Moore avenue, this evening on Bank street. De Luca is now a patient at Lawrence hospital, suffering injuries not yet definitely determined as it is possible that the man has been internally injured.

Le Luca who is about 60, and weighs about 225 pounds, was walking along Bank street about 7 o'clock in front of his place of business. He started to cross the street, accompanied by a child and just after stepping from the sidewalk to the highway, he was run down by the machine operated by Feldman. Pedestrians and Traffic Officer Dennis Cavanaugh, the latter having been on duty at the corner of Bank and Howard streets, went to De Luca's assistance and as it was apparent that De Luca was injured he was taken to the institution without delay.

Feldman was not taken into custody but is evisited the police station and made a report of the accident.

FISHING PARTIES RESCUED BY AN EXCURSION BOAT

New York, Nov. 3.—Four fishing parties comprising thirty-two men and two boys, were brought to safety today by an excursion boat and a seagoing launch from Ambrose Lightship after riding out the night in one of the heaviest gales the fisherfolk have experienced in many months. The death list remained at three, two of whom are unidentified. One small vessel went down.

A seaplane flying over Long Island sound opposite Stamford, Connecticut, was hurled about by the gale and finally plunged into the surf. Frederick Schavior and Aemil Mazzio, pilot and mechanician, were rescued an hour later by a powerboat.

POLITICS NOT CAUSE OF EXPULSION OF KLANSMEN

Wichita, Kans., Nov. 3.—Charles H. McBrayer, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, Realm of Kansas, in a telephone conversation from his home at Kiowa today branded as "absolutely false" the alleged statement by Fred Robertson, democratic state chairman, that two members of the WKlan were suspended from the organization for supporting democratic candidates in the November election.

Mr. McBrayer said the two were suspended "because they were stirring up strife and disturbance within the Klan, and not because they were supporting certain candidates."

STATE DEPT RECEIVES REPORT FROM CHINA

Washington, Nov. 3.—The state department was advised in a report received today from the American legation at Peking forwarded yesterday through Brigadier General William Connor, commanding the United States Inantry at Tientsin, that the troops of General Feng Yu-Hsiang had occupied Poitang. The report said that all precautions had been taken against the entry of soldiers into Tientsin and that General Feng had been warned to observe the protocol of 1901.

BAY STATE EXPECTS RECORD POLL IN TODAY'S ELECTION

Boston, Nov. 3.—With a registration more than 200,000 greater than of 1920 and prospects of fine weather Massachusetts tonight looked for the polling of a record vote in tomorrow's presidential election. In several cities it was planned to toll church bells and sound factory whistles at the opening of the polls to remind citizens of their duty.

Eleventh hour statements by the several party organizations claimed victory by varying majorities. The republican state committee predicted a sweep for its ticket, which includes Speaker Frederick H. Gillett of the national house of representatives, the nominee for United States senator. United States Senator David I. Walsh, democratic candidate for re-election, claimed that he would win by 50,000 majority. The LaFollette forces foretold a win for their forces by 100,000 margin, basing the claim on the large number of voters.

On the eve of the election leaders of all parties generally relaxed campaign efforts and awaited the verdict. Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, democratic candidate for governor, who is opposing Lieutenant Governor Alvan T. Fuller, republican nominee, was the exception to the rule embarking on a last minute "swing around the circle" which included Springfield, Worcester and Boston.

Rumors that attempts to vote illegally would be made in many Boston wards, led Supt of Police Crowley today to issue special instructions to policemen assigned to election day details. These officers were ordered to scan carefully lists of persons sick in hospitals, serving terms in penal institutions, or reported ill at their homes, in an effort to prevent "repeating." The police were also instructed to prevent the counting of ballots before the closing of the polls.

PRE-ELECTION STATEMENT BY COL. HIRAM BINGHAM

New Haven, Nov. 3.—Col. Hiram Bingham in a pre-election statement issued tonight said:

"So far as I can see, judging by the people with whom I have talked in different parts of the state, President Coolidge will be re-elected by a large majority, because so many people seem to realize that he is the kind of honest, straightforward,—hard-working man that we have learned to trust. They also believe that Dawes is the same type of man. The ticket is well balanced, I think.

"So far as the state ticket goes, we have tried to present the faces regarding the last nine or ten years of republican administration, and we believe that the people of Connecticut want to continue the republican policy of pay as you go and keep out of debt."

WEALTHY DETROIT MAN SUICIDES IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 3.—Lester J. Leopold, 35, said to be a wealthy Detroit furniture dealer, killed himself in his room in the Hotel Martinique today by shooting himself in the head with a shotgun which he held between his knees. Leopold, the police said they had learned, had been despondent because of continued ill health.

A note found on the table in Leopold's room requested the motel management to notify Dr. A. Lyons in Brooklyn. A letter, stamped and sealed and addressed to Mrs. Jeannette Hansworth, Atlanta, Ga., a traveler's check fro $1,000, numerous checks on western banks, a gold watch and a diamond stickpin also were found on the table.

WIDESPREAD SEARCH FOR MISSING MOTOR YACHT

Washington, Nov. 3. — A request that all vessels in the North Atlantic assist the cruiser Trenton in her search for the missing motor yacht Lief Erickcson was broadcast by the navy department today from the Arlington station. The message said:

"Trenton sails today to search for yacht Lief Ericcson missing 45 days. Was making passage from Greenland to Labrador. Any vessel sighting or communicating with Lief Ericsson requested to inform Trenton and navy department."

GERMAN SUGAR AGAIN ON SALE IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 3.—German sugar sold in the New York market today, for the first time since 1920. A local refiner was reddied with the purchase of 7,000 tons of the German raw beet product, of which one thousand tons will be shipped to this country. The remainder was resold abroad. The purchase price of four cents a pound represented a slight concession from the price paid for Cuban sugar, although sales of Cuban raws late today were reported at the lower basis.

FLAGS HALF-MASTED FOR SENATOR COLE

Los Angeles, Nov. 3.—Flags were half-masted throughout Los Angeles tonight for Cornelius Cole, United States senator of Civil war days, who died at his home here today, aged 102 years and 2 months.

The venerable legislator and "Forty-Niner" had been in failing health for several months. Death was attributed to incipient pneumonia, a touch of heart trouble and old age. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

WATERBURY SCHOOLS TO CLOSE ARMISTICE DAY

Waterbury, Nov. 3.—For the first time since 1918, the public schools of Waterbury will be closed on Armistice day, Nov. 11, a vote to that effect having been taken today by the full board of education without a dissenting voice. Appeal was made to the board of education by the joint veterans' committee, representing all the veterans' organizations of the city.

ELECTION-EVE ADDRESSES BY COOLIDGE AND DAVIS WERE BROADCAST BY RADIO

Millions in Their Own Homes Listened to the Final Admonitions by Rival Presidential Nominees—Fair Weather is Forecast For the Entire Country Today—Predicted That the Vote Will Greatly Exceed Any Ever Recorded in a Presidential Election—Entire Membership of the House and 34 Senators Are to Be Elected—Thirty-four States Are to Elect Governors.

Washington, Nov. 3.—(By the A. P.)—The presidential campaign was brought to a novel and dramatic conclusion tonight with an audience of millions listening in their own homes to election-eve addresses by two presidential nominees.

A far-flung net work of radio stations took command of the air to carry to the country the final pre-election admonitions of Presidential Coolidge, delivered from his study in the White House, and of John W. Davis, speaking from a radio studio in New York city.

Never before had the voters witnessed so near an approach to a joint debate a few hours before the opening of the polls, between two outstanding figures of a campaign.

Never had so great a multitude been able to hear, as from one platform, the voices of two men who have been lifted to the highest pinnacle of party leadership.

Momentarily the spectacle jostled out of public view the loud and persistent claims of victory that emanated in the final hours of the campaign from the headquarters of all parties. It overshadowed for tonight even tomorrow's election itself, at which the nation will choose between Coolidge, Davis and LaFollette, will elect a new congress, and will fill a governor's chair in each of thirty-four states.

Both the president and his democratic opponent chose the occasion to say a word for a full poll of voting strength—an objective which kept party managers, great and small, busy throughout the day and far into the night.

A forecast of fair weather for virtually the entire country, with dry roads in the agricultural sections of the middle west, led to predictions that tomorrow's vote would be by far the largest ever recorded in a presidential election.

On election day President Coolidge will remain at work in the White House having sent his ballot by mail to his home voting precinct in Northampton, Mass. Mr. Davis will be at his home on Long Island, and Senator LaFollette, the third entry in the three corner presidential contest, will cast his vote in Madison.

All three have arranged to receive complete news reports of the election returns, Mr. Coolidge in his study, Mr. Davis in his Locust Valley residence and Senator LaFollette in the governor's suite at the Wisconsin state capitol.

Two vice presidential candidates also prolonged their speaking campaigns until tonight, Governor Bryan spending the final hours before election in a circuit of five Nebraska cities, and Senator Wheeler winding up his long speaking tour in Baltimore. Having concluded his campaign Saturday, Charles G. Dawes, rested at his home in Evanston.

During the day new figures regarding campaign expenditures were filed in Washington but in no case did the totals give bring party statistics down to date. The latest officials reports made to any government authority show collections of $3,742,000 by the republicans up to October 31; $618,311 by the democrats up to October 29; and $245,000 by the LaFollette-Wheeler managers up to October 10. Chairman Borah of the senate campaign fund investigating committee announced that no statement of committee conclusions would be issued pending a resumption of hearings after election.

The rival claims of victory issued tonight by political leaders did not differ materially from their estimates of several days ago, although each headquarters declared it had received reports of a definite last minute drift to its candidate.

The republicans clung to a minimum prediction of 350 electoral votes for Coolidge, out of a total of 531, and declared that figure probably would be surpassed in a landslide carrying with it a decisive republican majority in the new congress and sweeping republican state tickets into office in all doubtful states.

Democratic headquarters repeated its expressions of confidence, but went no further toward specific claims than to issue a statement saying that all the border country from Maryland to Oklahoma was safe for Davis, and that he would carry a substantial block of states in the east and west. Indiana, New Jersey and Oregan, were mentioned as likely to go into the democratic column.

As for the LaFollette manager, the again declared that a "great victory for the progressive cause" was in sight. They insisted that whatever the outcome of tomorrow's voting the independent group had established itself as a permanent factor in American politics which ultimately must force a reconstruction of party lines.

Should neither Coolidge, Davis, nor LaFollette receive 266 votes in the electoral college—a clear maority, over all—the election of a president would go into the house of representatives under the Constitution. In that event the house would vote in February, and only the three candidates who received the highest electoral vote would be eligible. But the choice would be made by the present almost evenly balanced house, and not by the new one that is to be chosen tomorrow.

Congressional Contest

Although the LaFollette-Wheeler coalition was not formally entered candidates for the senate and house in its independent column on the ballot, the fight for control of the next congress has assumed a triangular aspect almost paralleling the three-cornered contest for the presidency. The big question in the minds of party leaders is whether a clear majority of republican "regulars" or democratic "regulars" will be shown when the votes are counted, or whether the LaFollette bloc will continue to exercise a balance of power as it does in the present congress.

Of the 435 seats in the house, 224 now held by republicans, and 206 by democrats. There is one farmer-labor representative, one socialist and one independent. Six seats are vacant. The republican total, however, includes 10 representatives from Wisconsin, and a number from other states, who have followed the lead of Senator LaFollette to the extent of voting repeatedly in opposition to administration policies. A lesser number of democrats also are regarded generally as belonging to the LaFollette bloc, and are not counted as an integral part of the democratic strength in the house.

Of 96 places in the senate, the republicans have 48—a bare majority—and that number includes Senator LaFollette, and several others who frequently have aligned themselves with him and against the regular republican leadership. There are 43 democratic and two farmer-labor senators and two vacancies.

Among the 34 senatorships in dispute at tomorrow's election, 17 are now held by republicans, 15 by democrats, and one by the farmer-labor party, in the person of Magnus Johnson, of Minnesota, a candidate for re-election. One is vacant—that held by the late Senator Colt, of Rhode Island. The other vacancy, caused by the death of Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, will not be filled tomorrow but at a later special election.

Nine senators are to be elected in rock-ribbed democratic states of the south—one each in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas, and Virginia, the others are in Colorado, (2) Delaware Idaho Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigina, (2), Minnesota Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire New Jersey, New Mexico, Oklahoma Oregon, Rhodel sland (2), South Dakota, Tenesee, West Virginia, and Wyoming.

34 States to Elect Governors.

Governors are to be elected in fifteen states where the present governor is a democrat. They are Arizona, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Kansas, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

In nineteen states where governors are to be elected the present chief executives is a republican. These states are: Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Legislative Proposals

An unusual number of legislative proposals are before the people of the various states for determination tomorrow by direct popular vote. No less than seven states—Alabama, Colorado, Kansas, Maryland, Montana, North Carolina and Oregon—will vote on questions relating to a state bonus for veterans of the World war. Four—Florida, Michigan, Mississippi and Oregon—will vote on proposals relating to a state income tax levy. Massachusetts and Minnesota will decide whether to impose a state gas tax, and Michigan, and Washington will settle long-pending disputes over the abolition of privately regulated parochial schools.

In only two states will the voters go to the polls solely to case their ballots for presidential candidates and members of congress. They are Maine, which held its state election September 8, and Arkansas, which did so on October 7.

Office Hours: 9:30 to 12 m.; 1:30 to 6 p. m.

Windham's 8,750 voters will turn out in force today (Tuesday) to participate in the battle which will begin at 6 a. m. and come to a close at 5 p. m. The total voting list is divided as follows: First district, 1,010; second district, 2,040; third district, 1,287; fourth district, 1,427. Democratic and republican officials at their headquarters Monday figured on bringing out 85 per cent. of the entire voting population to the polls, 4,500 votes in all. This would be 618 votes cast in all of the four districts an hour or a close average of 105 in each district. 4,426 votes were cast in 1922 and 4,897 in 1920. Women will take part in the national elections for the second time in the history of the country. Windham will most probably be the last town in the state to announce its results, as has been customary. Frank P. Fenton of this city, candidate for congress from the Second district is expected to draw a large vote including the strength of the LaFollette-Wheeler party. Scratched ballots delayed the announcement of the final results until 12.45 the morning after the last national elections and it is likely that there will be the same cause for late counting this year. Over 500 new electors about half of whom were women were made, during the September and October drives for new voters. Two years ago the democrats copped a majority of votes for the state ticket, 63 over the republicans. Spellacy was in the lead over McLean for United States senator by 114 and Jodoin led Freeman for congress by 182. Fenton and Laramee led their opponents by 326 and 216 respectively and Judge Otto E. Robinson for judge of probate won over James F. Twomey by 191. Charles A. Gates broke the records for sheriff over John O. Fox by 826 votes majority. The twelve surrounding towns are all strongly republican, with the exception of Ashford, where inter-democratic friction may throw that town over to the republican ranks. In several of the smaller towns the democrats have endorsed nominees for various offices. Coventry has two voting districts, one at the town hall in South Coventry and the other at the church chapel at North Coventry. The polls will open at 6 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. At Andover the polls will open at 6.30 a. m. and close at 5 p. m. Columbia and Hampton open at 9 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. Ashford and Willington at 6 a.m. and close at 5 p. m. Information to the voters has been issued from republican headquarters regarding boundary lines of districts in the following order: First district, residing west of center of Walnut street, vote in town building. High street entrance; second district, residing east of center of Walnut street, and west of center of Jackson street, vote in old town building on Church street; third districts, residing east of center of Jackson street, Windham and North Windham vote at booth on Milk street, near railroad crossing; fourth district, residing on south side of Willimantic river and South Windham, vote at booth on Pleasant street, near foot of South street.

St. Mary's R. C. church held a large congregation Sunday afternoon when a memorial service for departed members of the church was held. Rev. J. J. Papillon officiated and he was assisted by Rev. Fathers H. C. Beloc and E. A. Mathieu. Garde St. Cecelia acted as guard of honor for the various parish societies who formed in a procession from the school yard and moved into the edifice as Chopin's Marche Funire was played on the organ by Mrs. J. F. Gendreau. Musician Aime Marcoux sounded "Taps" and Director Gendreau sang "Les Dernieres Paroles du Christ." The choir sang the Gregorian arrangement of "Libera Me Domine" Rev. Father Papillon delivered a brief sermon. The parish societies taking part were: St. Anne's society, Conseil St. Cecile, No. 113, L'Union St. Jean Maptiste d'Amerique, Children of Mary, League of the Sacred Heart, Conseil Florimond, No. 74, L'Union St. Jean Baptiste D'Amerique, St. Jean Society and Les Artisans.

John Kennerson died at his home in Ashford Saturday afternoon. He was born in Taunton, Mass., July 8, 1860, a son of John H. and Hepsy (Clark) Kennerson. He is survived by several nephews and nieces.

The bearers at the funeral of Leon C. Rathbun, held Sunday noon in Hebron were Roger Porter, Herbert and Horace Porter, Harold Gray, Christopher Miner and Morrill Griffin. Avery and Van Zandt were in charge.

The funeral of Mrs. Alice Wilcox was held at 62 North street Monday afternoon at one o'clock. Rev. James H. Graham officiated. Burial was in Windham. The bearers were Arthur Everett, Earl and Frank Kimball, Ray Wilcox and Wesley Ide. Avery and Van Zandt were in charge of the arrangements.

An original method of imposing justice was employed in Adover Sunday afternoon, when the fathers of nine home town boys, Deputy Sheriff Allison L. Frank and State Policeman Hardisty, of Stafford barracks, presided quietly over the labors of the nine youngsters while they raised and put back into place a small building on the Julia Perkins farm, which they had tipped over as a hallowe'en prank.

Through the courtesy of Harold I. Phillips a five tube Atwater-Kent radio set has been installed in the hallway of the town building to give the public the opportunity to listen in on the election returns.

Acting Mayor George W. Hickey announces the observance of Forget-Me-Not-Day next Saturday and he plans to appoint a committee of arrangements for the proper noting of the day.

Rev. Charles M. Kelley, at the several masses Sunday at St. Joseph's church made reference to the fortitude of the late pastor of the parish, Rev. John E. Clark during his last illness. He stated that Father Clark was thinking of his parishioners and their welfare at all times, as well as of the progress of the parish work. Father Kelley spoke of the many charitable deeds performed by Father Clark which were unknown to the parishioners and asked that their prayers be offered for the repose of his soul. As the pastor in charge of the parish, he asked that the people continue their spiritual and financial assistance to the parish work, as in the past.

A party of 20 friends was entertained by Miss Mildred Swanson at her home, 414 Pleasant street, Saturday evening, in honor of Miss Marion Cleland, of Plainfield, who has a position at the Normal school. The house decorations were of the hallowe'en type and the guests were received at the door by a ghost. Games were played and refreshments were served.

There was a small fire in a barn at 563 Ash street, owned by Morris Kaplan, Sunday morning at 11.25 o'clock. The blaze which was caused by sparks from a wood stove, started in the outer walls of the building. Engine Company No. 1 used three gallons of chemicals to extinguish the blaze. The damage which amounted to $150 was covered by insurance.

Miss Emily Green was given a party by a number of girl friends Saturday night at her home. Those present were Misses Fannie Brown, Frances Smith, Doris Maynard, Mary and Mildred Rogers, Mrs. Ida Wheaton, Mrs. Eva Brown, and Miss Emily Green besides the member of the family and several out of town friends. Music and a dainty luncheon added to the pleasure of the evening.

Harry C. Young possesses what he thinks is the oldest political campaign button in the country, dating back to an era before 1860. The button, which is flat, is one and one-half inches in diameter with the inscription, "Long Live the President" and the initials "G. W." around the face of the button. Ralph Buckley of Ware, Mass., who was with Mr. Young, found the button Sunday in the ruins of the old General Nathaniel Lyon home, in Eastford. The button is supposed to have been in use during the campaigns when George Washington was running for his second term for president of the United States, if the inscription is considered. General Lyon, who was the grand-uncle of Harry C. Young, was the first Union Civil war general killed in battle, the date being August 10, 1861.

Mrs. Harold S. Maine and son William have returned to their home after spending the week-end with friends in Boston.

Brevities

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans of Norwich entertained Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wade and children Marion and Stanley.

Miss Ellen Thornberg spent the week end in New Haven where she attended the Tal-Army football game.

Among those who attended the McCormack concert in Hartford Sunday were Mrs. Fred L. Avery Miss Annie Backus, the Misses Matilda and Frances O'Neill, Mrs. A. W. Turner, Miss Sara Keevers, Miss Alice Alford and Mr. and Mrs. John Collis and son, John, Jr.

DEATH OF GEORGE CAISSE RESULTS FROM INJURIES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, Nov. 3.—George Caisse, 27, of 19 Jackson place, died at St. Joseph's hospital shortly before midnight Sunday from injuries received when a taxicab owned by Albert Coutu of 42 Walnut street and driven by his son, Arthur Coutu, 18, struck and partly ripped up the state road fence, a short distance east of the power house in South Windham. Caisse sustained punctured lungs, a broken collarbone and broken ribs when a rail of the fence crashed through the windshield and struck him in the right side. The party was returning from a trip to Taftville and besides the driver and Caisse were Arthur Caisse, 30, of Waterbury, brother of the dead man, John Connors, 35, of 67 Milk street, and Raymond Haddad, 23, of 13 Jackson place, this city. Following the death of Caisse, Medical Examiner Dr. Louis I. Mason was notified. In communication with County Coroner A. G. Bill of Danielson permission was given for the removal of the body to be prepared for burial. Coroner Bill will conduct an inquest in this city at 10 o'clock this (Tuesday) forenoon. Arthur Coutu has been notified of the hearing and left in the custody of his father. No specific charges have as yet been made against him. Caisse was to have celebrated his 28th birthday next Saturday. He was born in this city, the son of Joseph and Alphonsine Riquier Caisse. Besides his parents, he leaves three sisters, Mrs. Theodore Rocheville of Taftville, Mrs. Wilfrid Rocheville of Canada, and Mrs. Thomas Kelly of New York; also two brothers, Arthur of Waterbury and William of New York city. The death of George Caisse places his family in pitiful circumstances. A week ago the father sustained a shock and lies in a helpless condition at his home. Arthur Caisse came here from Waterbury to call on his sick father. The fence rail which killed his brother grazed his body as it struck the back seat.

PHILIP M'GEE, 100, DIES AT TOWN FARM

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, Nov. 3.—Philip McGee, 100, the town of Windham's oldest resident, died at Windham town farm Monday morning from infirmities of age. The centenarian had been an inmate at the institution for half a century and had been unable to do any work in the past 35 years. For 50 years he has been a resident of Willimantic. He leaves no relatives.

JEWETT CITY

A Jewett City man while in New York last week secured a specimen ballot of the sort that will be voted in that city today (Tuesday). The blanket sheet is 66x20 inches and contains 364 names. The ballot is marked to illustrate how to vote a straight democratic ticket. Each column is headed with the official emblem of the party. Robert M. La Follette is shown as running on two tickets, the progressive and socialist party. The emblems shown are the sun, eagle, maineau, arm and hammer, liberty bell and sickle and hammer. The ticket is on exhibition in Hourigan Bros.' window.

GALES FERRY

Rev. W. D. Woodward, pastor of the Gales Ferry M. E. church, for two and one-half years, preached a farewell sermon, at a well attended service in the church Sunday. Rev. Mr. Woodward spoke from these words, to the young people, How to Talk, Luke, 4.22, preceding his sermon from 2 Corinthians 13:11, "Finally Brethren farewell." Be perfect, be of good conduct, be of one mind, live in peace, and the God of Love and Peace shall be with you." At the offertory a duet, He Leadeth Me, was sung by Mrs. Monett A. Lawson and Miss Gertrude Allen. Anouncement was made at this service by Nelson Parker, that an informal reception would be held at the Parker house, his home, Monday evening, Nov. 3, from 8 to 9.30 o'clock, for Rev. and Mrs. Woodward that all their parishioners might greet them before their removal to Staffordville, to which church Rev. Mr. Woodward has been transferred by Rev. W. H. Bath, district superintendent.

The closing hymn, God Be With You Till We Meet Again, was sung by choir and congregation.

At the Sunday school session, at noon, Assistant Superintendent, D. C. Perkins was in charge and Rev. Mr. Woodward spoke to the children. Rev. Mr. Woodward spoke at the evening service at 7 o'clock from Phil. 3:13-14. Forgetting those things which are behind, etc. The junior choir sang an offertory selection, also sang in closing, the Epworth League benediction.

Station Agent A. O. Faford responded to a telephone call from Mrs. Walter T. Clark about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, stating that a brisk fire was burning at Brown's crossing east of the railroad track, east of and above the bridge there, and Mr. Faford telephoned the New London office for assistance. It is supposed that sparks from the locomotive on the 4.30 train to Worcester ignited the grass, which is very dry and crisp. Among people who went from the village to the fire were D. R. Povey, Peter Hoffman, A. O. Faford and the residents at Brown's Crossing, Courtland E. Colver of the Submarine Base, with a chemical portable fire extinguisher did effective work and the fire was controlled.

The attendants at the Gales Ferry public library for October, were Mrs. J. A. Birch, Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham and Mrs. Everett Noyes.

WESTMINSTER

In 1824, just 100 years ago, a similar condition to that now painfully possible confronted this country. There were three candidates—William H. Crawford, Andrew Jackson and John Quincy Adams. Crawford recieving the largest number of votes in the electoral college, but not a majority. According to the Constitution, the election went to the house of representatives, where the fight was hot, charges and countercharges being made on every hand. In course of time John Quincy Adams was elected president, although in the electoral college he had the smallest number of votes of the three candidates. If all qualified citizens will vote at the election Tuesday, Nov. 4, the election of president will not need go to the house. In 1920, not even one-half of those qualified voted.

Fire Warden Fred Lachapelle states that no more fire permits will be issued in this town until after a heavy rain has fallen.

Democratic and republican nominees are very busy presenting their claims to possible voters throughout the town.

Many of the teachers of Canterbury elected to attend the state teachers' meeting Friday, Oct. 24th, in the section held at the state capital, and made the trip in Fred Hicks' automobile.

Mr and Mrs. Andrew Nash of Darien were guests of Mrs. Nash's sister and husband at Elm Arch farm the 19th.

Miss Anna P. Smith of Central Village, daughter of John Staples Smith and great-great niece of Rev. John Staples, first pastor of Westminster, whose remains repose in the Westminster church yard, accompanied by Miss Julia of North Woodstock, and by Mrs. Everett E. Brown, of Black Hill, made a pilgrimage to the graves of their ancestors in Westminster last Thursday. The great Bible, owned and used by the first pastor, was presented to the church as a valued heirloom by Mrs. John Staples Smith.

The new voters of Canterbury made this year are:

Republicans: William Finn Marion Finn, Willis L. Bennett Alfred Ntz, Delia Thibeault, Lillian Dean, Robert H. Dean, William Kendall, Clara Kendall, M. Lila Howe, Elsie R. Linton, Emma E. COLUMBIA

James A. Utley was severely injured Tuesday last when a drag loaded with stone which he was driving collided with a stone wall, throwing him with much force against it and bruising his shoulder and legs badly. He was able to be about in a few days.

A masquerade social was held Hallowe'en by the Christian Endeavor society at the chapel. There was a large attendance, the members being very attractively dressed, representing many characters.

Ghosts moved stealthily around the grounds of the chapel, which is quite near the cemetery, and held weird conversations with the living. All partook of light refreshments, played games and passed a very pleasant evening.

Horace Griggs, 89, until recently a resident of Columbia for the past 36 years, died at the home of his son John in Hollister, Mass. Mr. Griggs was the last Civil war veteran residing in Columbia. He was a member of Company A, 26th Connecticut Volunteers, in the Civil war. He is survived by his wife, three sons, two daughters 25 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Griggs passed their 63d wedding anniversary in June last. So long as Mr. Griggs was able, it was his delight to play the drum in the Memorial day parade. The funeral was held on Wednesday, the 29th. Burial was in Willimantic cemetery.

Employes of the state highway department were in town Thursday putting the roads in good condition for the winter. The selectmen of the town have also been engaged during the past week in repairing the country roads.

Mrs. Chester Windsor with her children of Providence spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Clayton E. Hunt.

At the church service on Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. C. C. Haun, administered the holy communion to a large congregation and preached on Repentance. The Christian Endeavor meeting in the evening was led by Mr. Haun, the subject being What Jesus Said About Faith. It was announced that an orchestra of six pieces which has been leading the music for the past two Sundays will continue to do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson D. Merwin have closed their cottage at the lake and have been spending week ends at the home of Mrs. Lula McCorkell on the Green.

Raymond Squier was badly scalded Friday while thawing out the radiator of his car, which had been frozen Thursday night.

Miss Amelia Fuller, who is living with her sister, Mrs. William Anderson, at Old Hop River, has been occupying her house on the Green during the past week.

HOPKINTON

The board of canvassers met in the two voting districts of this town Tuesday, Oct. 28th, and prepared the voting lists to be used at the general election today, Nov. 4th. There are 1,388 names on the lists, divided as follows: Voting district No. 1, 810; voting district No. 2, 578.

Joseph Gibson is making extensive improvements on his property at Hopkinton City.

Charles Ross Kenyon has had the chimneys of his house repaired.

The public schools of this town were closed Thursday and Friday, as the teachers attended the institute in Providence.

A brush fire Saturday burned over considerable territory on the south part of the farm owned by Dr. H. L. Johnson.

Funds have been raised to cover the roof of the meeting house of the Second S. D. B. church and an effort is being made to secure enough money to paint the house.

Frank W. Mills called on relatives in East Greenwich Sunday afternoon.

The families of D. Walter Blake of New London and Thomas A. Grieve of Norwich visited at the home of Daniel E. Blake Sunday.

Mrs. Benjamin F. Clarke of the Shore road, Westerly, visited last week at the home of her brother, Alonzo P. Kenyon.

RECOMMENDED BY HER DOCTOR

Found Strength by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kaskakee, Illinois.—"My mother-in-law always took your medicine for weakness, and when in the Change of Life it did her so much good that she induced me to take it for a weakness I had for a year and a half. It has strengthened me and now I have a nice baby boy. I do all my own housework now, and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I have the opportunity. I am taking it again for weakness, as my family doctor has recommended it for this purpose."—Mrs. HARRY COULON, 924 North Harrison Ave., Kaskakee, Illinois.

Real Evidence of Merit

For the relief of female weakness, pains and backache, nervousness and irregularities, with other troubles common to women, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine.

Its worth is thoroughly established by such letters as the above. There are women everywhere, who, having received benefit, gladly tell other women about it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theater

Gus Hill's minstrels opened last night at the Broadway and took the city by storm. Their street parade first was great. While they have a small band led by Ed Nickerson it sounded like 30 men and was immense.

The show with Hank Brown, Hi-Tom Ward, St. Felix Sisters, Billy Chace and Smith's Jazz band of eight and the Great Gaylor, was the best seen here this season. The scenery was beautiful and the wardrobe clean, neat and attractive.

These 19 funsters and musicians fully maintain the reputation of the two leaders made years ago on the Keith circuit. Featuring the first part are the peculiar drolleries of Brown, High Tom Ward and Billy Chase whose convulsing mannerisms are not duplicated by any known performers.

Charlotte and Henrietta St. Felix, last of the four who started in the Black Crook in 1872 and still favorites, rival young steppers in song and dance, singing favorites of 20 years ago in which they scored at Tony Pastor's.

It's a well dressed show in which Smith's Jazz Band does its part and more.

The photoplay with Lionel Barrymore, Seena Owen, Gaston Glass and Flora La Breton in I Am The Man scored very big for it is a living document from the book of life.

Breed Theater

Jazz saturation is the latest scientific term!

It was invented by Clarence Brown, now a picture director, formerly an electrical engineer—and this same Jazz Saturation is one of the principal attributes of Butterfly, the spectacular filmization of Kathleen Norris' novel, showing at the Breed theater today and Wednesday.

The new Universal production deals with classic music versus jazz—and real love versus flirtation, as parallels in an astounding story of two sisters, their love affairs and the complications thereof. Eight famous players appear in the leading roles; Laura La Plante, Norman Kerry, Ruth Clifford and Kenneth Harlan as the four principal figures; Freeman Wood Cesare Gravina, T. Roy Barnes and Margaret Livingston as the "counterplot" characters. The production was made by Clarence Brown, of The Signal Tower and The Acquittal fame. Will Rogers in You Can't Park There and the Pathe News make up the remainder of the bill.

Election Returns at Y. M. C. A.

All friends of the Y. M. C. A. are invited to the "Y" building this (Tuesday) evening from 7 to 12 o'clock to listen to election returns by the Western Union system. Seats will be provided and the evening will be a pleasant one. Light refreshments will be served. Both men and women invited.

By a new invention bowling balls are cleaned as they pass through a feltlined ring attached to the return track.

TODAY'S EVENTS

This is the day of the great quadrennial battle of the ballots in the United States.

The third party movement, with its national ticket, has helped to make this election one of the most important of recent years.

The entire membership of the house of representatives in the sixty-ninth congress will be chosen by the voters at the polls today.

One-third of the membership of the senate, or 32 out of 96, will be elected, with the addition of one in Colorado and one in Rhode Island, caused by vacancies.

Thirty-two states will elect governors, and in a number of other states a choice of minor state officers, members of the judiciary, or legislatures will be elected.

One of the gubernatorial contests attracting most attention is that in New York, where Governor Al Smith democrat, is opposed for re-election by Theodore Roosevelt, standard-bearer of the republicans.

For the first time in the nation's political history two women are candidates for governor on major party tickets. They are Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in Texas and Mrs. Nellie Ross in Wyoming, both democrats.

Numerous referenda are to be passed upon by the voters in the different states, ranging in interest and important from the daylight saving question to proposals for state constitutional conventions.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

One Order of 28,000 Bottles

Another new record for Dr. J. F. True & Company of Auburn, Maine—an individual order to a New York City concern totaling over 28,000 bottles of Dr. True's Elixir has just been shipped.

What a noticeable contrast is here when one looks back to the year 1851, the time when Dr. True's Elixir first made itself known. In those days if Dr. True delivered a few dozen bottles a week to his neighbors he would have considered it wonderful and well worthy of his endeavors to prescribe a genuine and reliable laxative to the suffering.

With the trend of times we find the two sons of Dr. True furthering the good work—still producing the same true family laxative in greater and greater quantities to meet the needs of humanity. The identical same ingredients of natures herbs as used back in 1851 are compounded into Dr. True's Elixir today and the hustling throngs in far distant big cities' centers seek relief from constipation by turning to Dr. True's Elixir—the true family laxative.

The Dr. J. F. True & Company are to be congratulated on this record shipment of theirs. The popularity of Dr. True's Elixir is unquestioned and deserved.

"I had rather wear my hair long and have a few people say that I'm old fashioned, than to have it cut off and be classed as 'just another bobbed-haired girl.'"

This is Jobyna Ralston's reply to all questions relative to the clipping of her long brown curls. That is her own personal interest in the matter. As a matter of professional interest she couldn't have her hair bobbed if she wanted to. She is under contract to Harold Lloyd with a stipulated phrase in the contract that she is not to bob her hair during the interval of her engagement with him.

Miss Ralston has appeared with Lloyd as his leading woman in his three latest productions, Why Worry, Girl Shy, and Hot Water, the last of which will be shown at the Palace theater next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Although my hair is long, I have no trouble putting it up," Miss Ralston says. "I have a lot of fun experimenting with different types of hair dress that I would be unable to do if it were bobbed.

"I like to play golf too well to sit around a stuffy hair dresser's shop, and, as my hair is naturally curly all I have to do is to dampen it a little tuck in a few hairpins and I'm ready for work or play.

Palace Theater

Milton Sills, when he started his screen career several years ago, was known as a leading man suitable for society roles.

It was in The Sea Hawk, in which he played the exiled Englishman of the Elizabethan era who turned pirate, that Sills had his first opportunity to step out of society clothes and prove his versatility. Madonna of the Streets, the Edwin Carewe production which is the First National picture at the Palace theater, is his second.

The role of the wife is played by Nazimova, the famous Russian actress, who returns to the screen in Madonna of the Streets after a two years' absence. The drama as interpreted by these two stellar players is said to be one of the most powerful that Norwich has shown in many a day.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Fire on the roof of the Leavens building, in the heart of the business section brought out the fire department on an alarm from Box 23 shortly after 9 o'clock Monday morning. This fire easily might have developed into a disastrous one, but it was quickly conquered, the most serious damage being from water that seeped down through the big frame structure and through the apartments of Henry Babson and into the Woolworth store on the street level.

It is believed that the fire was caused by sparks from a chimney falling on the wooden shingles, which are as dry as tinder, after more than a month without rain. A considerable section of the roof toward the rear of the building and some of the roofing boards were burned off before the fire was out, but this damage was not heavy.

The firemen experienced difficulty in getting their ladders unrough the alleyway between the burning structure and the adjoining building to the south but the handicaps considered, did good work.

Chief A. P. Woodward said after the fire that it gave him some anxiety, for should a fire get out of control in the locality where this one occurred, the loss would likely be the heaviest Danielson has experienced in a score of years from such a cause. For this reason no chances were taken in trying to control the fire with chemicals.

The Leavens building is one of the largest frame structures in the business section, running through from Main to Academy streets. The entire lower floor is occupied by Woolworth's where there was some damage by water. The apartments on the second floor are occupied by Mrs. Mary Gates and by Henry Babson. On the second floor the damage was mostly by smoke and water, exclusive of the fire damage to the roof.

A message received here Monday by Judge A. G. Bill brought news of the death in Pasadena, Ca., Sunday night of William N. Webster, 80, formerly engaged in business in Danielson. Mr. Webster was a veteran of the Civil war, in which he served as a member of a Massachusetts regiment. Burial is to be in Pasadena. Mr. Webster leaves his wife, a son and three daughters.

Preparations are being made to change over the Whitestone mill of the American Woolen company and it is anticipated that operations will be resumed at this plant in Elmville at an early date. It was stated Monday that the business of the big corporation is improving and that the Elmville plant, closed since early in the year, will be running again sometime this fall.

A "No Parking" sign has disappeared from its location near the junction of Reynolds and Broad streets. The matter has been reported to the police and Chief John McFarland was engaged Monday in trying to find out who might be interested in taking such a thing and to what use they might put it.

Members of the Bohemian club will gather at their rooms tonight (Tuesday) as is their custom on election nights, to hear what the nation has said about picking a president and other officials for the next four years. This year one of the finest radio sets procurable will tell the Bohemians what has been going on in the land. Loud speakers will be placed at two different points in the rooms. In addition there will be a smoker and refreshments will be served. It is anticipated that most of the 200 members of the club will be on hand.

Members of the fire department were called out for the second time Monday forenoon, this particular alarm being a still one, to fight a fire in the dump off Mechanic street, near the Henry Myers property. Another fire in this dump Friday night was the cause of the firemen being called out on a box alarm. Evidently the fire had been smoldering since that time. After Monday's fire some lengths of hose were left there so that in case of another outbreak there will be no need for the department to respond.

Strictly fresh eggs direct from the poultry yards are continuing on their way to the dollar mark per dozen. The price in Danielson already has touched 90 cents.

Judge W. Fenner Woodward, who has been confined to his home by illness the past ten days, is resting more comfortably and showing some improvement.

This is the last day for all to enjoy their Coolidge and Dawes markers on automobiles. Some of the markers will be a bit out of place tomorrow.

Rev. Peter Kostopoulis of New York came here Sunday to officiate at the christening of two sons of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Berris of Spring street, the children's names being Nicholas and Demosthenes, and of Arthur Metaxis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Metaxis, also resident on Spring street. Guests were in attendance from Boston and other cities in Massachusetts. A banquet was served for the guests of the interested families.

Hunters count today as rounding out a lost week of the hunting season—and no rain promised for the immediate future, although the weather report forecasts cloudy for today. Experienced hunters are getting some consolation out of the fact that hunting dogs do not follow well on such dry going and figure that under the circumstances they have not lost a great deal of profitable sport in so far as getting game is concerned.

The polls will be open in the town hall today from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. The same hours for voting will be in effect at Dayville and at East Killingly, the other districts of the town. The election organizations of the town are complete and everything will be in readiness for the voters when the polls open this morning.

All money deposited on or before November 5th in the savings department of the Windham County National bank, Danielson, Conn., will participate in the savings dividend payable December 1st.—adv.

Needham B. Brown is leaving to-day to take up his new duties as agent of the Shawsheen mills of the American Woolen company at Andover, Mass. Mr. Brown for several years past has been agent of the Whitestone mills of the American Woolen company at Elmville.

Young people who have reached 21 years of age during the past month and who had qualified to be voters were admitted Monday by town officials charged with that duty. These young people will participate in today's election.

Kitchen range parlor stove, gas range for sale. Call Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. F. M. Reed, 2 High st.—adv.

A political contest in which there is more than ordinary interest is that for state senator in the Twenty-ninth district. The candidates are County Commissioner Urgele LaFrance of Central Village, republican, and Judge Oscar F. Atwood, Brooklyn, democrat. Their friends will be out hustling in their interest today.

A number of women electors will act as election officials in Killingly today as has been the rule for several years in this town.

With the election settled, members of the Civic federation hope to concentrate public interest on the fact that they are going to have their annual Tag Day next Saturday.

Offers of bets of 5 to 2 that President Coolidge will be elected today went without takers in Danielson Monday.

There was no session of the town court Monday, a case that was set for a hearing being adjourned to a later date.

Killingly grange conferred the third and fourth degrees on candidates at its meeting Monday evening.

Mrs. Alfred L. Rose will have the members of the Woman's auxiliary of St. Alban's church at her home for a meeting Thursday afternoon.

Radio returns from today's election will be received by the members of Quinebaug lodge of Odd Fellows at their rooms in the town hall building this evening.

President Coolidge's radio address by radio from Washington late Monday night was picked by numbers of listeners in this section. The address was re-broadasted for this territory from a Providence station.

Specimen ballots were available here Monday and will be today for those who wish to study them before casting their votes.

In connection with the building of concrete sidewalks in Danielson much stone curbing is being discarded and will be available for other uses.

Members of the Windham County Agricultural society will hear reports covering the year's activities when they meet in Unitarian hall at Brooklyn next Saturday.

Dr. J. L. Renehan was called away, Monday, on receiving notic that his brother-in-law, Harry M. Mitchell, is dead at Waterbury.

HENRY BREAULT, PUTNAM, BOUND OVER FOR BURGLARY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Danielson, Nov. 3.—After pleading guilty before Justice Arthur Mathewson, in a Plainfield court, Monday afternoon, to three burglaries charged against him, Henry Breault, of Putnam, was bound over to the superior court under bonds of $5,000, in default of which he was committed to the jail at Brooklyn to await trial.

The breaks that Breault admitted were made at The Square garage in Plainfield, at Milligan's garage in Wauregan and at Habbib Abbod's store in Moosup. Breault also admitted burglarising the Cozy Corner, owned by Mrs. Ella Lathrop, North Main street, Danielson, a barber shop in Oneco and a store at Ballouville.

Breault was arrested Saturday night in Putnam after he had aroused suspicion against himself by offering a tub of butter and a tub of lard for sale at a ridiculously low price. When his home was searched, goods estimated to be worth as much as $2,000 were recovered and some of these goods already have been identified as stolen from places he has since admitted breaking into. Other goods remain unidentified as to ownership, at the state police barracks here.

PUTNAM

Miss Clara C. Larned, president of the Putnam Coolidge club, is in receipt of the following telegram from William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee:

"An important election confronts us. To uphold the Constitution and preserve uninterrupted stability and prosperity it is essential the full republican vote be cast for Coolidge and Dawes. The service of the women has been inspiring and unsurpassed. It deserves the grateful appreciation of the republican party as upholders of the Constitution. Fly the Stars and Stripes from your home on election day and make it a patriotic occasion.

"WILLIAM M. BUTLER, Chairman."

Miss Larned is urging the members of the club to carry out the suggestion of the national chairman by putting out flags on buildings and homes.

Members of the club under the direction of Mrs. Archibald Macdoald will serve "hot dogs" and hot coffee this (Tuesday) evening in the vacant room on Union street near the Putnam News company's store. It is anticipated that this will be appreciated by the election night crowd, out to get the returns and to view the slides to be thrown on the screen in Union street, as the returns come in.

Henry Breault of Lee street, arrested by the Putnam police Saturday night charged with burglary and in whose home was found about $2,000 worth of merchandise alleged to be property stolen from cross country stores in eastern Conecticut and Rhode Island, after spending Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night in the Putnam police station, was taken to the state police barracks in Danielson Monday afternoon. Officer Arthur Williams who came to Putnam to get Breault said Breault would be arraigned in Plainfield court on a charge of burglary.

The state officer arrived in the early morning and spent the hours until early afternoon in consultation with Breault. It is understood that Breault confessed some of the breaks before being taken from the police station.

William Sullivan, 48, is dead at his home in the Manhasset village. He had been in poor health for some time the end coming at an early hour Sunday morning. Mr. Sullivan came to Putnam from Burlington, Vt., about 15 years ago. For some years he was employed by the H. K. H. Silk company, but for a number of years was employed on the truck of the Manhasset Manufacturing company until the company went out of business. He leaves his wife and five children living in Putnam.

Rev. Roscoe Nelson, pastor of the First Church of Windsor was recently awarded a prize of $150 offered by a New York periodical for the best letter on "Who Gets My Vote and Why?" This item is of interest to the older citizens of Putnam for Mr. Nelson was for several years principal of Putnam High school and his wife was Miss Alice Cook, a former Putnam high school teacher. Mr. Nelson entered the ministry soon after leaving Putnam.

Edward H. Burt started on a trip to Worcester in his automobile, Sunday, and was taken ill on the road and had to return to his home on Grove street, where he is now confined.

Cold weather is on the way. Already winter clothing is being planned. What shall we put on the children? Most of their days are spent indoors at home, or at school, where the air is warm, often overheated. It is practically summer temperature. Common sense indicates that we dress them lightly indoors, protecting them from the more severe weather without, by warm outside wraps. Light clothing indoors, rooms kept at a temperature of 68 and freely aired. Plenty of sleep. These things help to prevent winter colds. The Well Child Conference to be held Wednesday of this week at the high school auditorium, from 2 until 4 p. m., will take up the subject of Winter Clothing for Children as the topic of discussion. These conferences are held under the auspices of the state board of health, department of child hygiene and are absolutely free.

All Souls' day was observed at St. Mary's church, Sunday afternoon when a procession was formed in front of the church, including the pastor, Rev. Charles F. Bedard, assistant pastors, Rev. Adrian Dyeman and Rev. Arthur Routhier, altar boys, school children, members of St. Anne society, the St. Jean Baptiste society and the Holy Name society. At the cemetery "Libera Me, Domine" was sung by the church choir and prayer were offered for the departed members of the parish.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lown entertained at a masquerade bridge party at her home on Grove street, Saturday evening. Te decorations were in keeping with Hallowe'en. Four tables were in play and before play began the guests unmasked. Refreshments were served during the evening. Those present were: Dr. and Mrs. Karl T. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. John Mass, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sheriff, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis T. Chaplin, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keith, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Macdonald, F. W. Seward Miss Snyder and David Lowe.

there is no better home treatment than Linoxine. It is a pure, safe remedy containing flax seed oil, irish moss, glycerine and other quickly effective and highly beneficial oils. Children like it. Linoxine promptly relieves the choked-up condition of the head and throat, soothes and heals the sore, irritated bronical passages, stops the cough by natural means and provides best and nourishment to the whole system, thus helping the child throw off the cold. At the same time it supplies new strength and nourishment to the wasted tissues. Wise mothers are never without Linoxine.

WESTERLY

To the music of two brass bands, a Scotch bagpipe band and a drum corps a republican rally parade moved through the principal business streets of Westerly and Pawcatuck, Monday evening. The parade was led by Col. Everett Whipple as marshal and he had for his aides Col. Bourden A. Babcock, Captain Shelby Nicholas and George Elmer Leonard. Members of the Westerly Town Council, Stonington selectmen, republican town committee of Westerly and Pawcatuck, together with republican clubs on both sides of the river made up the column.

As the line passed through Broad street a barrage of Roman candles, red and green fire with sparklers, marked the progress of the heads of the division; automobiles with posters brought up the rear. The marchers carried lettered banners with campaign slogans. The sidewalks were thronged with interested onlookers. Many automobiles parked along the line of march. Returning to Dixon House square, the musical unit faced the post office and the organizations alternated in lively selections.

Today, election day, various manufacturing plants are closed entirely or in part, the Bradford Dyeing association being closed for the entire day while the plant of the C. B. Cottrell and Sons Co., will be closed from 13 until 2 o'clock. In Westerly, the polling places will be in the Westerly town hall on Broad street, the first district using the east side of the hall and the second district the west, and the polls are open from 9 until 5 o'clock. In Pawcatuck the ballots will be cast at the Liberty street court house, the hours of voting being from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The directors of the Westerly Masonic club voted Monday night to extend the use of their club rooms to the members and guests of the Westerly Cycle club whose quarters were flooded with water, early Monday morning.

Returns from the presidential and state elections will be received in many public, club and business places in Westerly this (Tuesday) evening. Radio will enter largely in broadcasting the result of the day's poll. The Westerly Masonic club has planned for an open night and to get returns on a special Western Union wire, and refreshments will be provided. The Westerly Cycle club, previous to their disastrous fire of early Monday morning, had planned to entertain, when over 200 were expected in the club rooms, which had recently been redecorated and renovated, returns to be received with a large radio set, but the fire will prevent this. Republican and democratic headquarters in Westerly will receive the returns. Many other social and fraternal organizations have planned for a bulletin service or have installed radio. The Pawcatuck Seventh Day Baptist church vestry will receive radio returns after the Woman's Aid society supper and the returns will be available in the vestry of the First Baptist church, where the Men's club of the church entertains. Uncounted private homes will have hook-up on which the progress of the election will be followed.

The Watch Hill fire district today (Tuesday) will hold an adjourned meeting, when the out of town Westerly voters coming to exercise their franchise, as they own property at Watch Hill will also attend an adjourned meeting of the district set for election day in order to insure a large attendance. The fire district meeting will be held at 2 p. m. at Norman hall, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. Bai Lihme. One of the principal matters for business will be to take action on the report of the committee appointed last summer to investigate inconsistencies in the district charter and to recommend modifications. This committee is composed of Henry L. Burdick, William J. Battey, Daniel P. Larkin, Horace E. Burdick and Mrs. A. E. Dick.

The new Pleasant street school building was opened Monday morning, with grades III, IV, V and VI holding classes in the new structure. One division of grade III remains in the old wooden building, together with grades I and II. These three grades take up five rooms of the old building, while the others occupy the 12 rooms of the new.

Miss Ann Elizabeth Carr and Miss Lucy M. Crowley were automobile visitors in New London Monday night.

Miss Elizabeth Socall of Pequot avenue, New London, was the week end guest of Miss Rose Wein, making the trip by automobile.

Clarence E. Roche and Miss Elizabeth M. Frizell were among Westerly people in attendance at the Yale-Army football game at New Haven.

Miss Dorothy Sullivan was a visitor with friends in Boston during the week end. Accompanied by her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Powers, of Groton, the trip was made by automobile.

Miss Sadye York was a week end visitor in Boston.

Miss Augusta Stanton, returning home from her school duties in Massachusetts, was the week end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Stanton.

Mrs. Fred W. Schwenk and daughter, Miss Marion K. Schwenk, have been confined to their home by illness.

Mrs. Nathan Wein left Westerly on Saturday for a visit in New York city.

The public schools of Westerly opened again Monday after being closed last Thursday and Friday, that the teachers might attend the Rhode Island Institute of Instruction in Providence.

Many guests are expected from Norwich and New London to attend the C. C. C. dance this week.

By deed filed in the office of the Westerly town clerk Nov. 1st, Lewis S. McNeill conveyed to William D. Howard, both of Westerly, a certain piece of land on the south side of School street, for the erection of a dwelling.

Eugene E. Lamphere, of the new Washington Trust building, experienced considerable difficulty Sunday night in leaving the sphere of his activities—in other words he got locked in the bank. It happened about 7 o'clock when he had been in the building for some time, the elevator service was stopped, the hallway lights turned off and the janitor had locked the doors. Groping his way downstairs with the aid of lighted matches he reached the bronze to the glass swinging doors but could go no further. Rapping on the door he attracted the attention of a passerby, who notified Police Officer Fred T. Mitchell, who in turn notified the janitor and "Jean" was let out. This is the second case of a party being locked in the new bank building.

STONINGTON

Harry H. Doty, 50, died at 10.40 Saturday night at his home on Elm street, as the result of a shock sustained about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. In the morning he was about his work as usual in the Atwood machine shop and he worked about the house in the afternoon. Beginning to feel very ill Dr. W. T. Veal was summoned and he found that Mr. Doty had suffered a shock. Mr. Doty spent all his life in this locality. He was born in Stonington on April 20, 1874, the son of Edward W. and Sarah Holmer Doty. He was educated in Stonington schools and in Auburn, R. I., under Professor Keyes' teaching. He worked in the Brayton pharmacy for a few years and took the state examination for an assistant pharmacist and followed that profession for several years. He was employed by the Atwood Machine company at the time of his death as overseer in Mrs. Chesebro's room. Mr. Doty was a member of Pequot council, No. 442, R. A., of Stonington and was its collector. He married Lillian M. Brayton April 25, 1911. His wife and mother survive him.

Mr. Doty was a member of the Second Congregational church and a member of the board of trustees.

Party workers in Stonington are planning to get out the vote today (Tuesday). Each side is active enough to insure a large vote. The polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m. Many persons will get the returns by radio. The official ballots for use in the five districts of the town are in the custody of Town Clerk Elias B. Hinckley.

Rev. Jonathan G. Osborne, pastor of Union Baptist church, Mystic, preached at the Pawcatuck Seventh Day Baptist church Sunday in place of Rev. Henry M. Thompson of the borough, who was unable to keep his engagement because of illness.

The Buick car of Matthew Graham was badly smashed about midnight Saturday while he was on his way from a dance where he played in the orchestra. The accident took place on Montauk avenue and was due, it was said, to Graham being crowded off the highway by a machine going at a fast rate of speed. His car went into the side of the road and into a wall. Mr. Graham's shoulder got a slight sprain.

The delivery carrier out of Stonington post office has been extended to take in the section known as Grand View park. Warren S. Wheeler will go that far, while Harry Wood will take in the section north of the borough proper.

Frank Cidali is the happy owner of a football sent to him Saturday by Captain Lovejoy, captain of the Yale football team. The local boy and the captain met at the Yale bowl last season and exchanged views on points of the game.

On a high power radio in the rooms of the Mistuxet club the members on election night will get the returns. A chowder made by Harry F. Chesebro will be served.

Miss Marjorie Ferry was home from Waterbury over the week-end.

Edwin P. York and family of New York have been visiting at the Hill, their summer home.

John H. Tillinghast, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Wilcox were in New Haven Saturday attending the Yale-Army game.

Mrs. J. H. Shackley, Misses Anna P. and Dorothy Shackley are in Providence Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Shackley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Crandall have returned from a visit in Springfield, Mass.

Mrs. Vera Tillitson has been on a brief visit to her home here from Wickford, Mass.

NOANK

The World Wide Guild of the Baptist church is to meet Friday evening with Miss Millicent Kelly.

Harry Park, John Ellis, W. A. Cook motored to Westfield, Mass., Sunday.

Constipation dulls the youthful mind—makes children backward in their studies—makes them listless—and can lead to serious diseases. Constipation is a dangerous disease.

You cannot afford to take chances in getting relief. You cannot afford to experiment or put off. Kellogg's Bran brings relief—permanent relief if eaten regularly. Even in the most chronic cases of constipation it is guaranteed to bring results. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and crumbled, has brought relief to thousands because it is ALL bran. Remember, only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It causes regular, healthy, normal action. For it works as nature works. It is ALL bran.

Have your children eat it regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the wonderful recipes on every package.

The flavor is delicious—a crisp, nutlike flavor that delights the taste. Different by far from ordinary brans, which are unpalatable.

Begin serving Kellogg's Bran, cooked and crumbled, to your children to-day. Eat it yourself. The leading hotels and clubs serve it. Made in Battle Creek. It is sold by all grocers.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

During the month of October there were 34 building permits issued by Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton for dwelling houses, garages and alterations to present buildings. The total valuation on the new work as estimated by the owners is approximately $100,000 of which the largest is the alterations to the block on Franklin square owned by Peter Selias. The contract for the work on this building has been awarded to Contractor P. F. Sweeney who has already started on tearing out the walls and underpinning and installing new steel and concrete work. The estimated cost of the alterations will be around $30,000.

During the past week ten permits were granted at the office of the fire marshal for new buildings and alterations and the total valuation was approximately $50,000 which includes the alterations to the Selias property.

The building permits granted during the past week are as follows:

To Homer J. Monty to erect a garage at 54 Fairmount St. for Mrs. Harriet M. Steere. The garage will be 18x18 feet with cement foundation and floor.

To F. S. Armstrong to erect a two-family house on Otis street for himself. The house will be 20x48 feet with stone foundation and frame construction. Mr. Armstrong will build a four-car garage, 18x43 feet of frame construction.

To Joseph E. Rodurgel to erect a frame garage, 19x22 feet, at 18 Tanner avenue.

To Sam Bellone to build a frame garage in the rear of his house at 92 Division street. The garage will be 20x20 feet.

To John Bellone to erect a frame garage 20x20 feet in the rear of his new house at 94 Division street.

To P. F. Sweeney, contractor, to make extensive alterations to the building at 231 Main street, owned by Peter Selias. The alterations will include the setting of cement piers in the cellar on which will rest steel posts. The floors will all rest on steel girders. The first floor will be of tile and the second and third floors of wood. The front will be in plate glass set in copper. The walls will be of brick and the roof will rest on steel girders and will be covered with tar and gravel.

To Vicenty Osik to erect a frame garage 20x20 feet, on Russell road.

To Paul E. Winkel to alter and add to his present house on Hickory street.

To John Caraka to erect a frame garage on Fourth street. The garage will be 12x15 feet.

New London

The foundation is being constructed by Thomas Oechailini, Chelsea street, for the proposed building for Meyer H. Holdengesky, 108 State street, to be erected on the site of the structure destroyed by fire.

Plans have been prepared for a frame cottage on Park street, Ocean Beach, for Louis Lubchansky, Howard street. The house will be arranged for 32 rooms, with a dining room, 35 x55 feet. It will be 97x38 feet, with an ell, 56x38 feet. The usual improvements will be provided. Bids are being received by the architect.

The permit has been issued to Frank G. Lester, 245 Montauk avenue, for alterations to his dwelling on Montauk avenue. There will be interior changes requiring new plumbing and electric wiring. The work will cost about $2,000 and will be done by day labor.

Plans are being prepared for a residence for Joseph Schwartz on Easterly place, Ocean Beach. The house will be of frame construction, arranged for seven rooms. It will be 22x34 feet, with brick fireplaces and the usual improvements.

Joseph Schwartz, 213 Montauk avenue, is having plans drawn for a dwelling on Bentley avenue. The plans will call for a frame house to contain 10 rooms. A similar house will be erected on Westerly place for Michael Schwartz, 41 Squire street, and Abner Schwartz.

A local architect has completed plans for a two family house on Darrow street for Salvatore Cuppello 91 Truman street. The proposed house will be 28x53 feet, of frame construction, with tile baths, steam heat hardwood finish and other conveniences. A three-car garage will be erected in the rear.

A local architect is drawing plans for two new store fronts for Charles Satti's building on Bank street, opposite Montauk avenue. The fronts will be of plate glass and copper. The building will be extended to the building line and interior changes made. The proposed work will require new electric wiring and new plumbing.

Applications for Building Permits

Julia K. O'Sullivan, stone garage, West street, $800.

Frank G. Lester, alterations to dwelling, Montauk avenue, $2,000.

Josephine Woltvsick, garage addition, Lincoln court, $100.

J. P. McKenna, frame garage, Center street, $200.

Number of permits for the week, 8; estimated cost of buildings, $3,600.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

In Norwich during the past week there were 17 sales of real estate as compared to 16 sales for the same week in 1923. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $36,925 and and $21,450.

There were 4 sales of real estate in New London during the past week as compared to 9 sales for the corresponding week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $18,290 and $41,000.

Building Costs Stabilized

Building costs throughout the entire country are well stabilized, according to a recent survey of S. W. Straus & Co. Assuming that the information upon which this statement is based is reliable the declaration is one of importance. Due to the changed conditions existing since the war there has been a tendency on the part of prospective builders to put off new work until costs might be reduced to what could be considered a normal level. It is not yet fully realized that the pre-war 1913 standard of comparison a obsolete and that a new normal must be substituted. Because of the improved labor conditions obtaining in the building trades and allied industries there can be no return to the prices of 1913. And for the most part there is no desire for such a return. The Straus report, dealing with present prices says: "A number of current indexes of construction costs indicate a further decline during September. The decline in variously measured from slightly under one to about one and three-quarters per cent, and is attributed largely to continued weakness in the steel and lumber markets. While pig iron rose somewhat as compared with August, structural steel shapes were off about 15 cents. In lumber conditions varied somewhat with different grades and different centers. The Middle Atlantic states showed a decided downward trend, whereas in the west the declines were largely offset by increases. Lumber prices generally, as also lumber production and shipments, are below the levels of one year ago. Comparative stabilization exists in the starting materials market. Sand, gravel and crushed stone show few changes, though increased firmness has been evident in a number of places. Cement, though below the levels of a year ago, has experienced few changes in recent weeks. Boston and Los Angeles show slight increases, while in Portland the movement has been the other way. Much the same can be said of common brick. In New York and Chicago, prices remained about the same. Boston had a slight increase, while in Dallas, both brick and hollow tile fell slightly. In the labor market there was no widespread tendency toward wage increases in September. In fact, there were more cuts than raises, although reductions were very slight. The elimination of bonus payments in the building trades have been eliminated in a great many cities.

State Building Situation

The record of building permits granted in the leading towns in the state for the week show a total of 384, for buildings costing $1,478,654, compared with 313 a year ago, when the buildings cost $893,425, and 278 permits in 1922, with a total of $1,-703,771.

VOTE TODAY, AND VOTE RIGHT.

The presidency of the United States from the fourth of next March rests with the voters of this country. This important decision hinges upon their action at the polls today. It can be decided by a few, but it should be determined by just as large a proportion of the voters as is physically able to get to the voting places.

It is a time for giving deep consideration to the best interests of the country, to the soundness of government and to the effect which the result is bound to have upon the industrial activity and prosperity of the nation.

For a stable and efficient government it is a time for the voters to cast their ballots for Calvin Coolidge. Votes which are cast for other candidates for the presidency simply invite the possibility of Charles W. Bryan for president, there can be no belief that the majority of the voters of this country are desirous of any such outcome.

Furthermore there can be no belief that those, who are willing to invite the chaotic conditions which would result from the placing of a red flag over the white house, can attract the support of the thinking individual who is able to distinguish between sound principles and empty promises. There should be a strong aversion to throwing away votes for the bearers of such standards.

For the safeguarding of the election, for keeping the choice of the president in the hands of the people and out of the control of congress and for the purpose of insuring four years of able and economical government it is the duty of the voters to get out to the polls today and to stand solidly for Calvin Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes.

In addition the importance of giving the president a working majority in congress and putting an end to the deplorable and obnoxious bloc control that has too long prevailed cannot get too much emphasis.

It is a time to stand for constructive government based upon sound and not radical principles. It is a time to build up, not to tear down.

It is a time to make the best possible use of the ballot. Make your vote count. Do not throw it away!

Stand by the Constitution and against those who would wreck it. Stand for the Stars and Stripes and not the red flag of destruction.

Pull the top lever, thus voting a straight republican ticket, and rest assured that you are rendering an actual service to self, to neighbor and to the country in general.

Vote, vote early and vote right.

Vote for a republican national government, congress included, that will be a credit to the nation.

Vote for a republican state government, that will mean the continuance of high grade service.

Vote for republican town and senatorial representation that will insure influence in the majority party of the next legislature.

Today is the day; tomorrow will be too late!

Do not stay at home!

Don't be a slacker!

FRANCE AND RUSSIA.

By the recent action of France in signifying its recognition of the soviet government in Russia there was a departure from recent French policy and a following of the British plan. What the effect may be upon Premier Herriot now that it has been seen what the reaction has been in Great Britain to the MacDonald relations with Russia remains to be seen.

France has about faced upon the Poincare policy. It has decided that the time has come to enter into closer relations with Russia and it has recognized that the soviet government to the government now in control there. As was the case with Great Britain there is much that remains to be determined. There are important matters about which negotiations must be arranged. France has many claims and apparently considers that it stands a better chance of realizing on them through the course it has adopted than by refusing to recognize. It seemingly believes that there is a chance for getting somewhere instead of nowhere, while the failure to recognize up to now has not brought any weakening of the soviet regime.

The aim of the recognition and negotiations which are to come is to bring about better relationships between the two countries. This is being resorted to in spite of the fact that the same course followed by the British failed to accomplish anything very satisfactory for the British. Possibly France will be able to get more out of it than the British did, but the possibility of getting just as little and perhaps not as much is equally as good. France is making an experiment which is being closely watched at home and by others who are interested in the Russian situation.

The polls in Norwich will be open in all districts today at 6 a. m. and remain open until 5 p. m.

THE STATE TICKET.

While according all due importance to the national election today, sight should not be lost of the need of so using your franchise that Connecticut will be assured of the continuance of high grade government.

It is a time to give endorsement to the efficient manner in which the affairs of state have been conducted, the careful oversight of financial administration, the wiping out of the indebtedness, the keeping within the appropriations so that each year shows a surplus and the reduction of the taxation.

Certainly Connecticut wants that continued. It will be continued if the republican ticket is elected.

Many matters of importance will come before the next session of the general assembly. This is the election at which the members of that body will be determined, and it is the duty of the voters to select those in whom they have confidence and from whom they can expect to obtain the highest degree of service.

Consideration must be given to good government and to good law making. No one will dispute the claim that the next legislature will be under republican control, the same as it has been for so many years.

Connecticut has every reason to place its confidence in Hiram Bingham for governor and the other state officials who have been nominated with him. The wisdom of electing representatives to the legislature who will be numbered within the majority membership should need no urging.

Pull the republican lever, for a straight ticket, and make sure of it.

JUSTICE S. O. PRENTICE.

From one corner of the state to the other there has been general recognition of the services which have been rendered to this commonwealth by Samuel O. Prentice during the many years that he has occupied a place on the bench, where for so many years he presided over the superior court and in later years was not only a justice of the supreme court of errors but chief justice of the state.

Five years ago there was sincere regret that the age limit made his retirement necessary. Still greater is that regret today as the state mourns his loss. A native of North Stonington, though for many years a resident of Hartford, his worthwhile qualities were impressed upon those who knew him or had opportunity to come within the circle of his influence.

His selection for a judgeship, followed by his steady elevation, discloses all too clearly his ability as a jurist. The manner in which he was sought for public trusts indicates his position as a man among men.

He was a man of high ideals, not given to ostentation, deeply interested in and devoted to his responsibilities. He was a companionable man of pleasing address and many friends who appreciated his excellent traits and fine sterling character. His death adds another to the several sons of eastern Connecticut who have attained much prominence in legal circles and whose passing has marked recent years. Justice Prentice's career was a credit to himself, the town whence he came and to the state which he so faithfully served.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Every voter, man or woman, should get to the polls today, if able, and vote.

Don't waste your vote. Join the majority; vote republican and insure four years of prosperity.

Pull the top lever for a straight republican vote, a vote for good national and state government.

Are you going to do your bit to give the president a congress in sympathy with his policies?

The man on the corner says: Those who go to the polls believe in a proper performance of a duty.

Don't cast your votes today in such a way as to give Bryan a chance to sit in the white house.

It cannot be said that the democrats of Norwich were very well impressed by their candidate for governor.

Are ex-Premiers Asquith, Lloyd George and MacDonald all hoping to come back the way ex-Premier Baldwin has?

Get to the polls as early as possible and avoid the rush and wait later in the day. You can vote but once but you can vote early.

Just as soon as the heat of the campaign abates it can be expected that the rains will come and winter and congress will soon be with us again.

Over in England they not only bring prisoners to trial quickly and avoid long trials, but they also know how to have short political campaigns and get results.

THE SHOES THEY WEAR

"What bothers me," began the man who was always bothered by something, "is why, when the windows are full of spiffy shoes with straps running every which way and diamond-shaped holes and square holes and pointed holes cut all over them, there are so many fearful-looking feet and ankles to be seen on the streets! I don't see how the girls manage it!

"Where they dig up the footwear they display is beyond me! Nice old ladies who by good rights should be shuffling along in prunella gaiters—I never saw a prunella gaiter, but I expect they look the way they sound step out briskly in satin slippers cut down to the soles, and flesh-colored hosiery. Their poor old feet bulge and twist but it's gramma's day as well as the flapper's, and who is to gainsay her?

"The bigger ankles a girl has the madder she is over pale-colored hosiery. If a woman weighs 210 she rushes in and purchases chiffon hosiery, sunburnt tint, warranted visible a block distant, and then she adds a pair of the most elaborately cut and strapped slippers she can find. The shoe spreads out six inches wide across her foot, her foot swells and bursts out through the straps in nice little cushions, and her ankle tries to do its best, like a grand piano support. Above all this, she sails along, entirely satisfied with her effect.

"And the shoes that do not fit! Shoes too short, too long, too narrow or too wide, mostly too short! It is the heels that offend me mostly. There should be a law that every girl child should be taught with her A B C's and the ten commandments that it is her bounden duty to have her heels straightened every three weeks if not oftener. Let her do without sodas if she has to, but, for Pete's sake, spend the money at the cobbler's! I claim that nobody with runover heels can be self-respecting. They make one sloppy mentally, too. If you have to walk at an angle instead of squarely on the ground your brain gets one-sided.

"The young persons wearing these blond shades of shoes and hosiery are so amiable, too, about matching colors. The trimming on their gown may be cocoa and in that case they are dead sure to select hosiery that is ecru with a green cast and shoes that are just three shades off and the three colors hit a sensitive person squarely between the eyes and sent him away moaning his heart out.

"You may not believe me, but only yesterday I saw a maiden tripping it down Wabash avenue clad quietly enough with the exception of her footgear. She wore reddish hosiery and bright orange kid strapped slippers. In one block she was the cause of three auto collisions, two bumped street cars and innumerable lesser accidents, when observers' feet were walked on. I haven't the remotest idea what her face was like, so you can see how the misguided girl failed to hit the mark at which she was aiming.

"There are two species of footwear which are warranted to send most any man reeling away stricken with an overwhelming sorrow. One is tan shoes, which are light colored and verge on the yellow and the other, the positive limit, is wrinkled stockings. Wrinkled Hosiery to an aesthetic person, is the last insult. And you can see them in any direction. If they aren't wrinkled at least the seam doesn't follow straight up the back, as it should, but gee-haws about drunkenly to the left or right.

"Any girl who permits her hosiery to assume this wavering attitude is careless and shiftless to the core, and

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Prince Humbert of Piedmont, whose engagement to Princess Marie Jose, daughter of the King and Queen of the Belgians, is expected to be published officially today in Rome, is the only son of the King of Italy and heir apparent to the throne. A few days ago Prince Humbert returned from a tour of the principal countries of South America, representing his first extensive trip abroad. The Prince was trained for a military career and saw real fighting on the Italian front during the late war. His education was received from private tutors. At 11 years of age he was initiated into the Boy Scouts. He became a private in the Grenadier Guards in 1921, and was promoted to be a corporal in the following year. He is now a first lieutenant. The marriage of Prince Humbert and Princess Marie Jose is expected to draw Italy and Belgium closer together and will also unite two of the conspicious Catholic families of European royalty.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Child Labor Arguments.

Mr. Editor: This writer is not desirous to be heard again on the above topic, for in many respects today argument is futile, but he would like to call attention to the lady's letter today, signed "A Mother," and to note its superiority to anything that has been said on the other side, and especially to its superiority to the two semi-official letters that appeared in support of the proposed interference by congress in what is really a family matter.

The two letters referred to give no "guess work" as to what congress may or may not do in relation to child labor of 18 years—and assume that its acts will be more humane and benevolent toward all children than their parents will be, in fact, protect the 18-year-olds against the acts of their parents, and defend them against abuse. This writer has no children of 18 years that he desires to exploit for profit, but he has been a child himself of 18 and less, and he has reason to thank his parents for nurturing him up to usefulness during the juvenile period. For, in those years, more than in the later time, the principles of industry and of character are formed and fixed. Let us affirm that all education is not to be acquired in the public schools, nor is it all embraced within an academic diploma. Some have reached the highest heights without either—and some the lowest depths with both. The public school has a great task and large obligation but it is not everything.

It goes without saying, that the family, and not the state, is the unit of society civilized and uncivilized. That acquiring the multiplication table and comic sections are not education per se, but only implements for practice in useful employments for the benefit of those who possess them, and for the good of society, during the generation in which the possessor lives—education can be turned to bad account when combined with idleness. This is no new theory: we have seen the demonstration. It is an old saying—that "an idle man is the devil's workshop" and this is even more true of a boy's or girl's workshop.

JOHN TROLAND.

Norwich, Nov. 3, 1924.

The Child Labor Amendment.

Mr. Editor: Permit me, if you please, to make a few remarks regarding a letter appearing in a recent issue of The Bulletin referring to the child labor amendment and signed by Jean M. Heer. Time and again I have seen camouflage statements that were worded in such vague terms as to make both those who were for a measure and those who were against it believe that their views were represented. Mrs. Heer has done her very best to create the impression that the purpose of the proposed amendment is solely to give power to congress to regulate. As a matter of fact, Section 1 of the amendment says that congress shall have power to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age. Surely the meaning of the word prohibit is the same in New York as elsewhere. I would be glad indeed if I could agree with Mrs. Heer and her associates. However, it seems to me the friends of the amendment are exaggerating the evils of child labor and it is the duty of every right thinking person to oppose them. It appears from their statements that all persons under 18 are dumb-heads who are forever losing hands—and even arms—while employed and the only fit employment for such people is manicuring.

We often hear it said that the reason why federal legislation is necessary is because the states have failed to give their children adequate protection and that parents are ignorant, selfish and brutal and are so cruel as to not recognize the welfare of their children. It would be better if reformers would enter their activities in those states where abuse exists instead of tinkering with our Constitution and violate state rights. If this amendment comes to pass it is reasonable to expect federal control of education will follow.

The enactment of the amendment is considered proper because of the far reaching consequences to the generations to come. It is the aim of the backers of the amendment to place so many restrictions in the employment of children that it will become impracticable for employers to have them in their establishments. It is certain that should children be kept out of industry, most parents would have to depend on charity in order to raise a family. It is easy to say that an economic adjustment would follow, but it would surely be a long time before the earning power of heads of families would be increased enough to offset the earnings of children. Lack of space prevents me from pointing out many evils that would probably result should the amendment be ratified. The purpose of this letter is to urge every believer in the Constitution to make an effort to prevent ratification by Connecticut. The election on Tuesday has very little bearing on the matter since all three presidential candidates have at some time or other made utterances in favor of the amendment—for political reasons.

Now the most effective way we can help defeat this measure is for us to write to our representative in the state legislature and protest against ratification. This amendment will be presented in January 1924 by the governor to the Connecticut state legislature for ratification.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germ that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Harding Began to Work Early in Life

Son of the village doctor at Corsica, Ohio, Warren G. Harding had very few luxuries and much hard work to do when he was a boy.

Six years old when the family moved to Caledonia, he soon afterward entered the village school, working on the farm or in the village in spare time. At 11 he was printer's devil in the shop of the weekly newspaper, and afterward worked in a sawmill and with the construction gang of the Toledo & Ohio Central Railroad.

At 16 he entered the Ohio Central College at Iberia, earning his way by helping the village printer. Bright in his studies, he became a teacher in Caledonia after his graduation at 17, earning $30 a month. His father wanted him to study law and after six months of teaching Warren entered a lawyer's office in Marion, to which the family had moved. But his money soon gave out and he tried to sell insurance.

When his father bought a half-interest in the Marion Daily Star, young Harding and an ex-carpenter tried to get out the paper but the sheriff soon took possession of the plant. After a brief experience as a reporter for the Marion Mirror, he helped organize the town band and for a while had to depend on his earnings as tenor horn player.

Borrowing $100 from his father, he joined with two others and bought the Marion Star plant. Then followed a hard battle, but he made the newspaper one of the most successful in Ohio, and was successful in other business ventures.

Delegate to the state Republican convention at 22, he took a keen interest in politics. Running for county auditor in the democratic county, he was snowed under. At 34 he was elected state senator. Four years later he was made lieutenant governor.

In 1910 he ran for governor, but a party quarrel brought about his defeat. He considered quitting politics, but took part in the Taft campaign two years later. In 1915 he was elected United States senator, and after serving five years was elected president by an unprecedented popular vote.

And when he died last year, at 59 he was mourned not only by his own countrymen but by all the world.

A Little Talk on Thrift

Good Appearance

A movement is in progress which has for its object the encouragement of better standards of dress among the men of this country.

There come to the mind with the mention of this movement the problems of personal thrift in dress. These are questions of more importance than might seem to be the case at a casual glance.

It cannot be denied that appearance influence our judgment of others. For example, the young man who is applying for a position is at a great disadvantage if he is slovenly attired or if he is flashily over-dressed. It is not the amount of money spent on clothes that counts; it is the general impression of neatness, cleanliness, self-respect, success, ambition and respect for the good opinion of others, all of which are in part conveyed through the medium of one's apparel.

One of the outstanding characteristics of the miser is his slovenly, illkempt appearance. One of the predominating characteristics of the spent thrift is his tendency toward flashy clothes.

In this day and age of the world, no man, especially the young man with his hopes and dreams of great success, can afford to neglect his personal appearance. Clothes do not make the man, but a good appearance is part of one's equipment for the battle of life.

Any movement which has for its object merely making people spend more money for clothes is economically unsound, but any educational movement which seeks legitimately to sensible practices in these matters is worthy of praise.

The desire for fine clothes and the ambition to dress better than others has proven the downfall of many. But it is within the meaning of good thrift to dress sensibly. Money spent to maintain such standards is not wasted.

Veterans' Bureau has just announced that all beneficiaries of the bureau residing in the state of Connecticut should hereafter deal with the regional office for the state of Connecticut located at 983 Main street, Hartford. This office was opened last week in record time by a staff of four experts sent to Hartford by Mr. Head.

"The U. S. Vetreans' Bureau has 9,000 claimants in Connecticut, of which 2,500 are active cases and the fact that their claims and all the correspondence relating to them were transferred from New York to Hartford in twenty-four hours without any interruption in the service is a record for speed," Mr. Head said.

These cases were handled in the New York office until five o'clock last Monday afternoon. The Connecticut claims had been segregated from the others in this area, each man's case reviewed and simultaneous with the review a notification was sent to the claimant advising him that his claim folder had been transferred to the state regional office and that all matters pertaining thereto in the future should be handled there. At eight o'clock that evening all of those cases were loaded on two army trucks. This included filing cabinets and other necessary equipment. That evening the additional personnel selected as being necessary to establish the Hartford office left for that city. The equipment and files arrived the following noon after an all-night drive, and Wednesday, at nine o'clock in the morning, the new office started to function under the direction of Captain Thomas J. Bannigan, who is in charge as regional manager. On Wednesday, at noon, all the card awards for compensation were prepared and sent to the district office in New York, where checks were made out and mailed on Thursday.

The polls in Norwich will be open in all districts today at 6 a. m. and remain open until 5 p. m.

She Threw Away Calomel and took Beecham's Pills

"I felt so miserable," said the young woman cashier in a fashionable New Jersey hotel. "A friend suggested calomel and I was about to take it.

"Another friend noticed the calomel on my desk and cautioned me against it. She said her sister took calomel and ate some fruit and the combination 'salivated' her—loosened some of her teeth and made her very sick.

"Fearing that my stomach might be in an acid condition, I bought a 25c box of Beecham's Pills and took a dose. The next day I felt fine and I haven't needed anything during the three weeks since.

"I wouldn't take anything but Beecham's now. Some of the other girls here take Beecham's and all say they are wonderful."

SPHINX TEMPLE DIVAN COMING FOR PARADE

An unusually interesting feature for the Armistice Day parade here was made public Monday night by Chairman Arthur E. Story of the parade committee when he announced that the divan, patrol and fife and drum corps of Sphinx Temple, Mystic Shrine of Hartford, has accepted an invitation to be here for the parade.

This is an unusual honor that will be accorded Norwich and the soldiers and sailors of the town whom the day is to honor. The Sphinx Temple representatives will reach here by noon Tuesday, and will be given a dinner at the Masonic Temple by their Norwich friends, this part of their entertainment being independent of the Armistice Day committee.

It was also announced that the Norwich Rotary club has secured Colt's band of Hartford to lead them in the parade.

CASH OFFER OF $2,250,000 FOR CITY GAS & ELECTRIC PLANT

The city of Norwich has been offered $2,250,000 cash, or $2,500,000, of which $1,750,000 would be paid in cash and the remainder in 15-year 5 per cent notes, payable $50,000 a year, for the municipal gas and electrical plant and assets. The offer, which is open to Nov. 15, has been made by Bodell & Company, investment bankers of Providence, Boston and New York, presumably in the name of an unnamed client. Announcement of the offer was made to Mayor Milo R. Waters, Monday, through a communication he received from James L. Case, president of the board of gas and electrical commissioners. Monday night at the November meeting of the council, Mr. Case's communication and a copy of the investment bankers' communication to the gas and electrical board which accompanied Mr. Case's communication to the mayor, were read to the council. On motion of Alderman Henry Gebrath a committee of three headed by the mayor was appointed to take the offer under consideration, Mayor Waters appointed Alderman Gebrath and Alderman Edward Crooks to act with him on the committee.

Petitions Presented.

The meeting was called to order by Mayor Milo R. Waters and the usual procedure was carried out in accepting the minutes of the previous reading. Petitions were received and acted on as follows:

From Edward Kirby and others, asking the city to replace a bug light on Oneco street with an arc light and also asking that the light at Lincoln avenue and Oneco street be changed to throw more light on the easterly side of Oneco street. Referred to the police commissioners with power.

From Susan Chrest for permission to connect her premises, No. 117 Cliff street, with the sewer in Cliff street. Referred to public works committee, which later in the meeting recommended the permission asked for and the committee's recommendation was adopted.

From Walter M. Cowan for the removal of a tree in front of his premises, No. 76 Newton street. Referred to the public works committee and tree warden with power.

G. Warren Davis for an electric light on Corning road. Referred to the police commissioners with power.

From Henry Bode, asking that a tree be removed from in front of his premises, No. 171 Laurel Hill avenue. Referred to the public works committee and tree warden with power.

Ask Traffic Rule Change.

A petition was received from John A. Ferguson, James C. Mara, Mrs. Edwin Fay, Peter Sellas and James J. Madden, all engaged in business on Franklin square, asking that the council reconsider that section of the proposed traffic ordinances prohibiting parking in front of their places of business between Ferry street and Rose place. They represented in their petition that the street at that point is wide enough to allow for parking and stated that they did not ask for a 30-minute parking limit but would like to have a five or 10-minute parking limit in that particular zone.

Mayor Waters stated that the traffic rules committee have taken this matter into consideration and that the changes asked for have been made. The petition was ordered placed on file.

The quarterly report of the cashier of the water department, the monthly report of the street commissioner and the monthly report of the city treasurer were received and accepted.

Postpone Traffic Ordinances.

The committee on the new traffic ordinances recommended that action be postponed until the December meeting and the proposed traffic ordinances accordingly went over until that meeting for action. Other than the announcement made by Mayor Waters in regard to the Franklin square petition mentioned above no announcement was made regarding the changes that have been made in the proposed traffic ordinances since the public hearing held recently.

Alderman Gebrath, in reporting progress, stated that the public works committee is favorable to the acceptance of Howard street as a public highway as soon as the street is put in condition acceptable to the street commissioner. The report was accepted as one of progress.

Alderman Patrick F. Sweeney, reporting for the police commissioners, stated that in response to petitions the commissioners have granted a light on Arnold street and a light on Garfield avenue.

Falls Mill Whistle.

The city clerk then read a communication from Kenneth B. White of the Falls Cotton Co., calling attention to the fact that several years ago the company installed a steam whistle at the mill. As the whistle was a source of annoyance to some of the neighbors in that section it was silenced by a court injunction. Mr. White stated that as the people who complained of the whistle have moved away the company would now like to have permission to use it again. It would not be necessary to blow the whistle any earlier than 6.45 a. m.

Mayor Waters said he failed to see where the city has anything to do with the matter and that the mill company should take the matter up with the court. The communication was accepted and ordered placed on file.

Offer For Lighting Plant.

The offer for the purchase of the city's gas and electrical plant was then presented to the council in the following communications read by City Clerk Weston C. Pullen:

Norwich, Conn., Nov. 3, 1924.

Hon. Milo R. Waters, Mayor of the City of Norwich, Connecticut.

Dear Mayor Waters: I am enclosing herewith a copy of a letter addressed to me as chairman of the board of gas and electrical commissioners, by Bodell & Company, investment bankers, of Providence, Boston and New York, dated October 14, 1924, in which an offer is submitted for the purchase of the property and assets of the gas and electrical department of the City of Norwich.

The matter was submitted to the board of commissioners at a special meeting held Friday evening, Oct. 31, 1924, at which time it was unanimously voted that the said offer should be submitted to you, with the recommendation that the same be given thorough consideration and investigation.

If the members of our board can be of any service to you in connection therewith, we shall be very glad to render such assistance as you may desire.

Very respectfully,
JAMES L. CASE,
President.

Letter Makes Offer.

10 Weybosset Street,
Providence, Rhode Island.
Oct. 14, 1924.

Mr. James L. Case, Chairman, Board of Gas & Electrical Commissioners, Norwich, Conn.

Dear Sir:—It is our desire to purchase the property and assets of the gas and electrical department of the city of Norwich and to that end we are willing to pay $2,250,000 in cash, or we would be willing to pay a total of $2,500,000, provided the city would accept $1,750,000 in cash and $750,000 in 15 year 5 per cent notes, payable $50,000 each year, of a corporation to be organized to acquire the property.

This offer is made subject to our obtaining satisfactory rights to operate the property, and also that there will be no substantial change in the assets of the department, except for its routine and current operations.

We are prepared to deposit with any bank or trust company that you may designate, any reasonable sum that may be required as an evidence of our good faith.

This offer is open for your consideration, up to and including Nov. 15, 1924. We would appreciate it, however, if a much earlier reply could be given.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) BODELL & CO.

At the conclusion of the reading of the offer Alderman Henry Gebrath moved that the matter be referred to a committee of three to be headed by Mayor Waters. The motion was adopted and Mayor Waters appointed as the other two members of the committee, Alderman Gebrath and Alderman Edward Crooks.

Claims For Damages.

The following claims were then disposed of:

Claim for $25 from C. Edward Smith for injury to person and apparel in fall on Franklin street Oct. 20th last. Referred to the finance committee and the corporation counsel.

From Miss Margaret A. Curry for injuries received in fall on Main street near the Somers building, Oct. 14th, owing to the defective and unsafe condition of the sidewalk. Referred to the finance committee and the corporation counsel.

The council accepted the resignation of Fred P. Shea as a supernumerary police officer. On motion of Alderman Sweeney, George Hollingsworth and Fred P. Shea were appointed special constables, the city clerk being requested to cast one ballot in favor of the appointees.

On motion of Council N. J. Spellman James D'Atri was appointed a special constable, the clerk being requested to cast one ballot in his favor. This was to correct an error in Mr. D'Atri's first name when he was originally appointed some months ago.

The council then authorized the appropriation of $7,000 for the completion of the North street sewer. This was the amount voted at the special city meeting last week, as an additional appropriation to complete the work.

Department Bills.

Bills were approved as follows: Water department, $3,570.92; Stony Brook improvement bills, $7,748.85; public works, regular, $12,923.68; permanent street improvement, $4,753.89; police department, $6,860.57; street lighting, $782.29; fire department, $7,718.76; cemetery department, $916.66; recreation department $297.68; gas and electric department, $59,521.07; park department, $739.77; finance department, $70,298.63.

As there was no other business to come before the council the meeting adjourned about $9.30 o'clock.

The polls in Norwich will be open in all districts today at 6 a. m., and remain open until 5 p. m.

PHILATHEA BANQUET WITH ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The Philathea class of the First Baptist church held its annual meeting Monday evening in the church parlors, preceded by a banquet which was enjoyed by over 25 members. The banquet was served at 6.15 o'clock with the following menu:

Escalloped Potatoes
Rolls Pickles
Waldorf Salad
Cake Coffee
Neapolitan Ice Cream
Assorted Fruit.

Following the banquet the annual business session was held and plans for the ensuing year were discussed. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Louis A. Wheeler; 1st vice president, Mrs. Clarence Smith; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Howard Smith; secretary, Mrs. James Tourtellotte; treasurer, Mrs. Louis Browning; teacher, Mrs. J. E. Leach; assistant teacher, Mrs. Phoebe Bogue; press correspondent, Mrs. M. E. Maguire.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the annual banquet comprised Mrs. M. E. Maguire, chairman; Mrs. Louis A. Wheeler, Mrs. Charles Marsh and Mrs. Fred Freeman.

GASOLINE AND AUTO STARTS COLCHESTER FIRE

Colchester, Nov. 3.—A fire this afternoon destroyed a barn, a tractor and 15 tons of hay on what is known as the William Bill place in the town of Hebron, on the Colchester line. The loss is estimated at $12,000.

Edward Gillette, of Colchester, with three others went to the barn this morning to bail hay. When the engine being used back-fired, Gillette secured some gasoline in a cup. This caught fire when it was in his hands and when he threw it from him, the blaze spread to the barn. The building was destroyed before all could be secured.

Gillette was badly burned about the hands and face.

EXPECTS NORWICH TO GO REPUBLICAN BY 1,500

Without intending to make an election prophecy, a well known democrat remarked Monday evening that he expected to see Norwich go republican by at least 1,500, if not more

Four years ago in the presidential election, when the town went republican, Harding led Cox by 1,589 votes.

BOSTON TENOR IN ARTISTIC SONG RECITAL

Joseph Lautner, tenor, of Boston, gave a most artistic song recital on Monday evening in Slater hall annex under the auspices of the Norwich Music Association. Mr. Lautner possesses a voice of exquisite quality which he uses with splendid vocal art. Aside from this qualification his interpretive ability is intelligent and wholly satisfactory. A clear and easy diction is evidently another of Mr. Lautner's accomplishments and was a big factor in the evening's success.

The French songs were particularly well sung—the "Romance" of Debussey with its floating tone quality and musicianly shading was a gem. The American group was well chosen and given with the same sincere artistry that characterized the entire programme. The "Tosca" aria deserves special mention. It is difficult to find any flaws in Mr. Lautner's performance, he is unusually well equipped for a young singer and should go far. Miss Chapman as accompanist gave pleasure with her sympathetic and helpful piano work.

This second meeting of the association has more than kept up to the standard of artistic presentation in the following programme:

If Thou Thy Heart Wilt Give Me	Bach
I Attempt From Love's Sickness to Fly	Purcell
When I Am Laid in Earth	Purcell
Come and Trip It	Handel
E lucevan le stelle From Tosca	Puccini
Widmung	Schumann
Die Mai-nacht	Brahms
Rencontre	Faure
Romance	Debussy
Palen Noel	Massenet
Sea Fever	John H. Loud
May Day Carol	Deems Taylor
Then Finish the Last Song	Charles F. Manney
A Brown Bird Singing	Haydn Wood
Love Went a-Riding	Frank Bridge

MANY PLACES ARE TO RECEIVE ELECTION RETURNS

Election returns are to be received in so many places in the city that there should be few interested voters who will not be able to get somewhere to hear how the votes are coming in.

Republican headquarters on Broadway announced that returns would be received there and that the public be welcome.

The Arcanum club is to have a private wire to its club rooms and will serve a supper for its members at 6.30 as preliminary to receiving the returns. Other places which are planning to receive returns are the Odd Fellows, Namrod Grotto, Young Men's Christian Association, Knights of Columbus, and West End Community Association.

The Bulletin will have its usual board in front of the building on Franklin street on which the figures will be shown by lantern slides as fast as they are received.

NORWICH SHOULD EXPECT ABOUT 9,400 VOTING

Norwich will have approximately 1,300 more voters this year than in the presidential election four years ago and if the same proportion votes now as did then there should be a total of about 9,400 cast.

The town cast approximately an 86 per cent. vote four years ago, when 8,430 out of the 9,722 registered were recorded as voting. This year there are approximately 11,000 votes, which should give a total vote of 9,400.

The total registered voters in each district are approximately as follows: First 4,429, Second 1,921, Third 1,616, Fourth 1,198, Fifth 1,209, Sixth 744.

COUNTY DETECTIVE LEWIS NOW NORWICH RESIDENT

County Detective William Lewis, who is attached to the office of Prosecuting attorney Arthur M. Brown, has recently removed from New London to this city, taking a residence on Laurel Hill avenue.

His change of residence has been made because of the necessity of being close to the prosecuting attorney as the active work of the county detective in connection with criminal cases can more easily be handled when he is in close touch with the prosecuting attorney's office.

WEDDINGS.

Marikle—Murphy.

In St. Mary's Memorial church, Monday morning, Edward Vincent Marikle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marikle of Mystic, and Miss Mary Adelaide Murphy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Murphy, were united in marriage by Rev. William A. Keefe, rector of the church. During the nuptial mass Miss Josette Lavalle, cousin of the bride, rendered Ave Marie.

The bridesmaid was Miss Irene J. Donahue, of Brighoon, Mass., and the best man was William A. Johnson of Mystic. The bride was charming in a gown of coral georgette, ostrich trimmed, and carried an old fashioned bouquet of chrysanthemums and baby breath. The bridesmaid was gowned in platoon blue with silver lace trimmings and wore a hat of black and silver. She carried yellow chrysanthemums.

After the ceremony there was a breakfast and reception at the Wauregan hotel. During the day the bride and groom left for an automobile trip to the Adirondack Mountains. They will be at home in a newly furnished residence in Mystic after December 1.

The groom is a native of Haverstraw, Mass., and is engaged in the trucking business in Mystic. His bride was born in this city and has resided with her parents at No. 109 Central avenue.

Brown—Cruthers.

In New London, Sept. 22, 1924, Irene May Cruthers of Norwich and Paul B. Brown of Cattlesburg, Kentucky, were married by Rev. Walter P. Buck

Mr. Brown is employed by the U. S. government as chief petty officer on the submarine S-1. His bride is the daughter of Albert E. Cruthers and Sadie Ladd Cruthers of 130 Washington street, and was born in Baltic. She graduated from the Norwich Free Academy class of 1922 and for the past two years has been a student nurse at the Backus hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home in New London.

Duffy-Wilber

Cards have been issued announcing the marriage in Hartford, April 28, 1924, by Henry H. Hunter, J. P., of Robert E. Duffy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Duffy of 25 Shuitas Place, Hartford, and Miss Hecla Brewster Wilber, daughter of Mrs. and the late James F. Wilber, of 174 Elizabeth street, Norwich.

Gravener-Kirk

Miss Jean Mae Kirk, daughter of Mrs. Mary Kirk Sargent of Niantic, was married Saturday afternoon at the residence of the Rev. George Potter, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Niantic to Lewis Gravenor of Waterford.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. B. F. Sergent, of Niantic. Mr. Gravenor is foreman at a bakery in New London. The couple will reside in Waterford, Cohanzie district, and will be at home after December 1st.

FINED ON TWO CHARGES IN COLUMBIA COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

Columbia, Nov. 3.—The complaint against Joseph Novak of Bolton preferred against him by Grand Juror D. A. Lyman, Columbia, for reckless driving, driving without license, being intoxicated while driving in Columbia Sunday afternoon was brought before Justice Hubert C. Collins for trial this evening at the town hall. The defendant admitted the charges of driving without a license and reckless driving but pleaded not guilty to the charge of intoxication. Several witnesses testified that he had all the appearances of being drunk but failed to prove the charge. Novak testified that he took a drive Sunday afternoon from Bolton to Columbia and was racing with another car containing two of his friends and that his car upset when leaving the road and passing over the ditch, pinning him under near the car. He was, however, uninjured. He was fined $45 on the charges of driving without a license and reckless driving. The costs of the case were $23.56 together with the fine $45 were arranged for by Charles Pinney, the owner of the car.

Allen Macdonald who was riding with Novak was charged with intoxication and pleaded not guilty. Five witnesses testified that he was drunk and the court sustained the charge, fining him $5 and costs, amounting to $13.26, totaling $17.26 which he paid.

WET DRIVER FINED 200 WITH COSTS

Nathan Repps of Norwich Town was fined $200 and costs in the city court Monday morning on the charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated, having been arrested Saturday night after a collision at Norwich Town with the machine of Harry Greenstein of Jewett City.

Henry Crowder, 38, of Hanover, who has made several appearances recently before the court on the charge of intoxication, was again in court and was given a sentence of 6 months at the state farm for inebriates.

Winthrop Tirrell Elected.

At the annual fall meeting of the New England History Teachers association, held in Boston last week, Winthrop Tirrell of the Boston High School of Commerce was elected a member of the council to serve for one year. Mr. Tirrell formerly resided in this city and is a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy.

A Real Remedy For Falling Hair

Found at Last—Parisian Sage Shows Results at Once or Nothing to Pay.

If your hair is falling out, prematurely gray, brittle, lifeless, full of dandruff and your head itches like mad, quick action must be taken to save your hair.

Don't wait until the hair root is dead, for then nothing can prevent baldness.

Get from Lee & Osgood Co. or any good druggist today a bottle of Parisian Sage—it's inexpensive, and there's nothing else you could use that's so simple, safe and effective.

You will surely be delighted with the first application. Your hair will seem much more abundant and radiant with life and beauty—all itching ceases and your scalp feels cool and comfortable. Parisian Sage is in great demand by discriminating women because it is daintily perfumed, does not color or streak the hair, and keeps it lustrous, soft and fluffy.

ARMY-NAVY BASKETBALL TEAM, EASTERN CONN. CHAMPS ORGANIZE FOR SEASON

Now that the baseball togs have been parked among the mothballs up on the shelf and the moleskins will soon follow the attention of the sport loving fans of Eastern Connecticut are beginning to ask the question, "Is there to be basketball this winter?" This question is answered by the announcement that the Army and Navy club of Taftville will put on a fast team that will rank with any in the state. It will be remembered that last year some of the fastest teams in New England were brought to Taftville, including the Boston Whirlwinds, a team that was at the time making a strong claim for national honors.

At a recent meeting of the Army and Navy club the club voted to support a team this year and John Murphy was elected manager. Mr. Murphy handled the affairs of the club last season and his record showed that he is perfectly able to continue the good work again this season. Basketball last season was not what would be termed a riotous success financially but Mr. Murphy deserves much credit for the splendid showing that was made. The fans last year were hesitant about attending the games but it is hoped that after the sample of basketball given last season they will give better support this year.

The Army-Navy team was composed chiefly of local boys and gave the fans of Eastern Connecticut some of the fastest basketball seen in this part of the state and was considered one of the fastest quintets in New England. The management is already bidding for games with some of the states leading aggregations and intends to give the true lovers of the sport the same brand of basketball that they received last year.

The team had its first workout Monday evening in Parish Hall and if it is possible expects to play the opening game on Thanksgiving Day against the Recs of South Manchester. The following men are expected to start the season: Joe Belair, one of the flashiest forwards that ever trod a chalked court Jim Murphy, Bob Cardie, Harry Mills, another ball hawk that has attracted attention outside the home court, and the Coleman brothers.

Any team desiring games may address all communications to John H. Murphy Army-Navy Club, Taftville, Conn.

The polls in Norwich will be open in all districts today at 6 a. m. and remain open until 5 p. m.

CHAPMAN TECH BEATS STONINGTON HIGH 6-0

Before a large crowd of fans, including many from Westerly, Stonington, Norwich and Mystic, Chapman Tech beat S. H. S. 6-0 in Stonington Saturday afternoon. The New London football team did not get their touchdown till the last two minutes of the final quarter. Throughout most of the game Stonington outplayed the Chapman Tech team and had opportunities to score on two different occasions. In the first half of the game play was almost entirely in Tech's territory and McCaffrey, the S. H. S. quarterback, barely missed a field goal, the ball hitting one of the uprights. Coffee got off some fine kicks in spite of poor passes from his center. Fans were surprised to see J. Brown, Chapman star halfback, enter the game, as announcement had been made in two newspapers that he would be unable to play because of infraction of school rules. In the third quarter S. H. S. had a fine chance to score. Brown attempted a field goal from about the 30 yard line, but Barstow broke through and blocked the kick. Shortly after the final period start Chapman took the ball on their 30 yard line and started a march up field, making six successive first downs. After the first down Stonington stiffened and three downs netted but six yards. However, on the fourth play Kannenburg shot through a hole at left tackle and scored the only touchdown of the game. The goal try was missed. S. H. S. showed plenty of power and fight throughout the game. Chapman Tech practically cinched the league championship.

Several stars were in the S. H. S. team but the outstanding ones were in the backfield. Both Cowan and Levanti tore off long gains through the Chapman line and proved effective on the defense. Coffee did well with the punting assignment and McCaffrey ran the team well. For Chapman Kannenburg and Brown were outstanding players in the backfield. On the line Hewitt and Martin were the bulwarks. The lineup follows:

Bryer		Caruso
	Left End.
Cronin		Hewitt
	Left Tackle.
Foote		Pongetti
	Left Guard.
Barstow		Martin
	Center.
Borer		McGuire
	Right Guard.
Emmet		Cruise
	Right Tackle.
Nichols		Aquilla
	Right End.
McCaffery		Everts
	Quarterback.
Levanti		Williams
	Left Halfback.
Cowan		Kannenburg
	Right Halfback.

Referee, Ensign Durgin; umpire, McDongal; head linesman, H. Gillimer, Tracy; touchdowns, Kannenburg; substitutes—Chapman, J. Brown or M. Brown, Combois for Everts.

SUB BASE DEFEATED BY PROVIDENCE STEAM ROLLERS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Providence, Nov. 3.—For the fourth time this year, the Providence Steam Rollers, recognized New England champions, set back a team from the Nutmeg State. This time the confident Submarine Base eleven, invading its neighboring state, had to taste defeat as did Bridgeport and New Haven before it. The Whalers did well to hold the Steam Rollers to a 17 to 0 score, for it looked as though the total would be much larger.

With Captain Spellman, formerly of Brown, and Golembeskie of Holy Cross, only two of the numerous college players who were included in the Roller lineup, playing fine football, it was an easy matter for the fast Roller backs to scamper over the goal line twice, and add three more points by means of a field goal. After the Rollers had scored three points by means of a field goal by Collins, the Base began a short drive that netted them little for their trouble. The half ended and stopped what promised to be a touchdown.

The second half was more Steam Roller than the first, and the Base could not break up the successful march down the field that resulted in two touchdowns. It was a monotonous march with a bang, bang at tackle with an occasional end run. There were large openings in the gobs' line which made it easy for the locals to make gains.

The lineup:

Submarine Base.		Steam Rollers.
Compton		Lowe
	Right End.
Andrulot		Mullen
	Right Tackle.
Mays		Braney
	Right Guard.
Hart		Shurtleff
	Center.
Wickwire		Avedesian
	Left Guard.
McKernan		Spellman
	Left Tackle.
Murphy		Lester
	Left End.
Kelly		Oden
	Quarterback.
O'Hare		Collins
	Left Halfback.
Brooks		Corcoran
	Right Halfback.
Locke		Tonry
	Fullback.

Score by quarters:

Steam Rollers	0	3	7	7	—17

Touchdowns, Rollers, Oden, Lowe; goals after touchdowns, by drop kick, Collins 2; field goal, Collins; officials—Referee, O'Halloran; umpire, Kehoe; head linesman, Jamison; time of quarters, 15 minutes each.

Substitutions — Submarine Base, Hess for Wickwire, Robbins for McKernan, Jones for Locke, Meska for Brooks, Bailey for Hart, Meska for Brooks, Honeycutt for Meska, Ancti for Honeycutt, Hart for Bealey; Rollers—Golembeskie for Lester, Kirby for Corcoran, Higgins for Mullen, McGill for Kirby.

ACTIVE SEASON AHEAD FOR LIGHTWEIGHT BOXERS

New York, Nov. 3.—The heads of inactive wearers of pugilistic crowns will lie uneasy this week, as strong rivals peer into the throne rooms on their way to battle for the right to challenge.

The most seriously threatened will be Benny Leonard, ruler of the lightweights for many years. On Friday night at Madison Square Garden Sammy Mandel of Rockford, will meet Jack Bernstein of Yonkers for the third time. The winner of this bout will be matched with the victor in the Sid Terris-Luis Vicentini fight arranged for November 28.

The ultimate winner of the informal tournament will emerge as the logical challenger to Leonard and, in the opinion of many critics here, will probably be the next champion. There are doubts of the ability of Leonard to make the lightweight limit again and a conviction that he will be beaten if he does.

Vicentini is the hitter. Terris the flash, Mandell, the best rounded fighter, and Bernstein the veteran of the challengers. Mandell and Terris are favored to meet in the final.

Among the flyweights, with champion Pancho Villa forced into semi-retirement by an edict of the State Athletic commission, Al Brown, a wiry Panamanian, will make his "downtown" debut in New York next week against Tommy Milton. The two lads are regarded as the best of the flyweight aspirants.

Brown is a hitter and if brought along slowly, looks, to the majority of sport writers here as a potential champion.

He will probably be matched with Frankie Genaro if he defeats Milton.

The third defeat, thought yet vague, is to Jack Dempsey heavyweight champion, now in New York "fighting the footlights." Sully Montgomery, former center college football player, will meet Quintin Romero, Chilean slugger, in the main bout of a heavyweight tournament at the garden Wednesday evening. Pat Lester and Tony Fuente, coast sensations, will be brought along later to meet the winners of the tournament.

The much-discussed match between Romera and Luis Firpo may become a possibility before January 1 if Romero survives his tests up to that time and assuming that Firpo defeats Charlie Weiner in their Newark battle November 12.

Harry Wills, crown prince of the heavyweight realm, is due back in town this week after a long vacation following his victory over Firpo.

SEASON TICKET HOLDERS NOT TO GET YALE-HARVARD TICKETS

New Haven, Nov. 3.—The applications for Yale-Harvard football tickets have exceeded the supply by thousands, it was announced by the Yale Athletic association tonight. The plan of the Yale authorities whereby the holders of season books will be entitled to apply for one ticket for the Harvard-Yale game will have to be abolished, according to a statement by H. F. Woodcock, general manager of the association. The Harvard authorities have requested their full quota of tickets which is approximately 30,000.

FOSTER SHATTERS TWO RECORDS IN EASTERN CONN. BOWLING LEAGUE

Two Eastern Connecticut League bowling marks were smashed at the Aetna alleys Monday evening when Mike Foster smashed through for high single with 143 and then piled up 374 for high three strings. This mark passed Dugas who held the record with 362. King of Moosup held the high single mark with 138 made early in the season. Foster who has been bowling in top form for the past five weeks, continued his pin smashing getting 124 in the first game to which he added 143 in the second but in the third he fell below his standard and hit only 107.

The Aetna Five, aided by Foster's excellent work and Louis Hull's total of 321, took three straight from the Palace team. Every man on the Aetna team hit for better than 300, and piled up a team total of 1610, the second highest team total of the season.

For the Palace Tommy Simcox rolled 340 for high total and had 125 for high single. The score:

LAWRENCE DROPS THREE TO MOOSUP FIVE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Moosup, Nov. 3.—Moosup retained possession of first place in the Eastern Connecticut Bowling league here tonight when they defeated the Lawrence Five three straight games. Moosup won the first two strings easily but tied with Lawrence in the third. Two extra boxes were rolled to decide the string, Moosup getting 106 and the Lawrence 90. Wukas was high man with 122 for high single and 320 for high total. The scores:

Moosup
King	118	103	92—	313

PEERLESS TAKES TWO GAMES FROM TAFTVILLE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Nov. 3.—Low scores dominated the bowling match at the Peerless alleys this evening between Taftville and the Peerless. The Peerless bowlers improved every string, while Taftville fell below the succeeding strings. This final improvement enabled the Whalers to win two strings out of three.

After some dillydallying by bowlers on both sides, a strong finish by Dugas gave Taftville its only string of the evening. But with Belcher hitting 120 and Farrell toppling the strings over for 114 the second string easily went to the Peerless by 22 pins. The final string saw Taftville outclassed by 47 pins.

Captain Belcher of the Peerless was easily high for the evening, hitting 120 for a single and 331 for a high triple. Dugas with a single of 112 and a total of 309 was next in line for individual honors. The scores:

Peerless.
H. Sistare	93	84	94—	271
Cooper	107	94	96—	297
Farrell	93	114	107—	304

RICHARD RETAINS TITLE AS CHAMPION OF MEXICO

Mexico City, Nov. 3.—(By The A. P.)—Eastern and Western United States today combined forces to win the men's doubles championship of Mexico when Vincent Richards and Ray Casey defeated Howard and Robert Kinsey, American titleholders, 6-3, 8-6, 6-3, 6-4 in the doubles finals of the International Tennis Tournament.

The California stars, Miss Mary Browne and Miss Charlotte Hosmer, also clashed for the singles title with Miss Brown victorious over her younger rival in straght sets, 6-4, 6-2.

The triumph of Richards and Casey over the champion Kinsey brothers furnished the surprise of the tournament which was equalled only by the elimination of the champion women's pair—Miss Browne and Mrs. Louise Dudley—in the semi-finals by Miss Winifred Suhr and Miss Marion Williams.

The play in the finals of the men's doubles was notable for the excellent work of Robert Kinsey, resulting in the second set going into 14 games.

Howard Kinsey apparently was away off his usual game.

Miss Browne experienced little difficulty in winning from Miss Hosmer, although she started the first set brilliantly by winning the first, third and fourth games, weakened under the strong, steady attacks of Miss Browne.

Vincent Richards today retained the singles tennis championship of Mexico by defeating Howard Kinsey in the final event of the International tournament which has been in progress here for some days. The score was 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

FABER'S DEMONS SWAMP BATTERY B. INDOOR TEAM

At the State Armory Monday evening Faber's Demons swamped the Battery B. indoor baseball team 24 to 14 in a hard hitting game. The Battery failed to play the fast game that they did last week while the Demons fielded fast executing three triple plays during the game. Eddie Burns, playing his first indoor game, featured for the Demons.

TIGERS PLAN OFFENSIVE AGAINST YALE AND HARVARD

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 3. — The Princeton football team today commenced an active week during which Coach "Bill" Roper hopes to build up a variety attack of such force that the elevens of Harvard and Yale fall prey to the Tiger on successive Saturdays.

Roper was frank to admit that he was not over impressed by Princeton's victory over the Swarthmore Quakers and promised that practice this week would be strenuous, although his recent ruling to abandon actual scrimmages with an opposing line has not been altered. Work will be concentrated on new plays and the perfection of an aerial attack designed to bother the Crimson next Saturday at Cambridge and the Bulldog November 15 in Palmer stadium.

The Orange and Black suffered no casualties in the last game and the team was intact at practice today. Lining up wth the same faces that started against the little Quakers.

MASTER CHARLIE BRINGS SEASON'S WINNINGS TO $95,026

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 3.—Master Charlie, imported colt belonging to W. Daniels, Chicago stockman, by winning the Kentucky Jockey club stakes at Churchill Downs Saturday, took the lead of the season's two year old winners. With the addition of this rich feature to his former winning he topped the juveniles with $95,026 to his credit.

Mother Goose, the H. P. Whitney, is second with $72,755, then follow singlefot with $32,000 and sunny man with $30,175. Several others earned more than $20,000.

Master Charlie was imported from England and sold at Saratoga for the paltry sum of $1,000. He is by Lord Archer from Bachelor's choice by Bachelor's Button.

This si not a fashionable breed in England, although t has no blemishes, according to experts. Lord Archer as a sire is little known.

This is the first time in the recollection of turfmen that an imported colt has headed the two year winners in America.

YALE TEAM INTACT AFTER ARMY GAME

New Haven, Nov. 3.—All of the Yale varsity football squad who were in the game against the Army on Saturday reported at the field today and it was announced that there were no injuries. The varsity went through a long signal drill with the lineup the same as that which started Saturday's contest. Previous to the signal drill Head Coach Jones called attention to varsity faults shown by the game against the Army.

During the varsity signal drill there was a scrimmage between a varsity team made up of substitutes generaled by Eddie Bench at quarterback. This is the first time Bench has been in scrimmage for more than a week. Lloyd Brown, a former Roxbury player, was moved over from the scrubs and given a tryout on this team. The team played the first scrubs team and made two touchdowns.

There will be a brief scrimmage for the varsity tomorrow and on Wednesday the varsity will play the freshmen for the second time this year.

ROCKNE PRESENTED WITH AUTO BY NOTRE DAME ALUMNI

South Ben, Ind., Nov. 3.—Knute Rockne, Notre Dame athletic coach, motored about South Ben today in a new automobile which was the gift of the St. Joseph's Valley Notre Dame Alumni association. The car, which has a limousine body, is equipped with numerous accessories. It was presented to Rockne prior to the Georgia Tech game Saturday.

Two Hockey Players Sold

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 3.—Alf. Skinner, with the Vancouver Hockey team of the Pacific coast league since 1917 and Fred "Smoky" Harris, who has figured on coast league teams line-ups since 1912, have been sold outright to Boston, where they will play for Art Ross, it was announced here this morning.

NORWICH TOWN

A most enjoyable Hallowe'en party was held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller, of West Town street. The rooms were decorated in orange and black crepe paper. Festoons were carried from the ceiling to each place at the dining room table, in the center of which was a large bouquet of pink and white chrysanthemums. Those present were Mrs. Anna Lamb and son, Walter, Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Budd and daughter, Helen Rudd, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fulton, Mrs. Marie Williams and son Earl and Mr. and Mrs. Miller and daughter Dorothy Grace Miller. Diving for apples and a peanut hunt were games enjoyed by the children. Walter Lamb was heard in several recitations. Mrs. Miller was assisted by Mrs. Williams in serving cake, cookies, cocoa, apples, candy and peanuts. In diving for apples, Walter Lamb won the prize.

John Carter of 8 Pleasant street gave a party last week to 18 friends in observance of his eleventh birthday. Music was furnished by Walter and Chester Majeski on their mandolins, and Roderic Jarvis, violin. Mrs. Lewis Iris was at the piano. The children seated at a table were served sandwiches, jello with whipped cream, fancy wafers, cake and cocoa. Mrs. Richard Carter, mother of the little host, was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Daniel Wheeler. On the table were two birthday cakes one made by the young man's mother and the other the gift of his grandmother. At each plate were Hallowe'en favors of paper caps. When the candles on the cakes were lighted the house was dimmed, making a pretty picture with the children around the table. In several locations about the house Hallowe'en candles were hidden. Alice Cummings receiving the prize for finding the largest number of pieces. Hallowe'en games were played. Those who received prizes were Charles Wheeler, John Fields, Walter Murphy, Ralph Mitchell and Walter Majeski.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Sullivan and children, Woodrow and Charles Sullivan, for more than two years residents of West Town street, moved Friday to an apartment in the Harland house, on Sentry Hill.

Several friends were pleasantly entertained Thursday evening at a Hallowe'en party given at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Hardy Pettis of Elm avenue.

The house was elaborately decorated with orange and black. Among the games which furnished much merriment were Thank You and Getting Acquainted with the Green Family. During the evening, Mrs. Pettis served doughnuts, grape juice, apple juice, cake, ice cream and orangeade. The Hallowe'en favors were paper caps.

In appreciation of Rev. Mr. Bailey's work in Norwich Town described in Monday's Bulletin it is an outstanding fact that not by any effort on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Bailey but because of what they themselves are, true friends of all members of the parish and also especially of all who through sorrow and loss need friends—have they won the strong affection of this people. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and members of the family have been a large factor in the Sunday school and missionary work in its organizations and forms including Christmas trees, cradle rolls and children's Sundays. In a suburban church like that in Norwich Town its constituency partly from country places more or less remote such faithful parish work as well as all help on the part of those moving into this vicinity, is especially appreciated.

In a letter of recent date to her parents Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Avery of West Town street, Miss Gertrude S. Avery who is en route to India, under the direction of the Eastern Connecticut branch of the Woman's Board of Foreign Missions, stated that she was to sail from Marseilles, France, Saturday, November 1st. Miss Avery who in company with others sailed from New York for foreign ports, October 4th, expects to reach her destination about the middle of this month.

At the First Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday morning, Rev. James B. Aldrich spoke briefly from Hebrews 2:9. But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honor; that He by the grace of God should taste death for every man.

Miss Florence Brown was the leader of the Young Peoples Christian Endeavor service, when the topic was "What Jesus Said About Faith." Mark 11:20-26. This was followed by evening sermon by Rev. Mr. Aldrich, who chose for his text, Mark 12-32. And the scribe said unto Him, Well, Master, Thou has said the truth; for there is one God and there is none other but He.

The officers of the Congregational Young People's Christian Endeavor society were installed by Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, representing the prayer meeting committee, at its meeting Sunday evening. At this time also, previous to the installation service, the flower committee was revised by electing these members, Miss Doris Browning, chairman, George Hyde, Miss Helen Avery, Miss Bernice Underwood, Miss Ethel Whaley and Miss Louise Avery.

The newly elected chairman of the lookout committee, Miss Mabel Corrigeux having resigned, Miss Elizabeth Avery was appointed to succeed her. Miss Corrigeux still to be a member of that committee.

Rev. Mr. Bailey was the leader of the meeting, when the topic assigned was, "What Jesus Said About Faith."

"The Test of Faith" is to be the theme of the mid-week prayer service of the Congregational church, Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin I. Kennedy of Town street, were guests Sunday at the home of Mr. Kennedy's mother, Mrs. Charles P. Kennedy, of Danielson.

Having passed two weeks at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Geer of West Town street, Mrs. Edwin Olcott returned Friday afternoon to Hartford. She was accompanied by Mrs. Geer, who with other guests motored to Hartford.

Miss Catherine Brown of Oneco street was a guest over the week end recently at the home of her cousin, Miss Mildred Chesbro, of Mystic.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morse and little son, Joseph, Jr., for nearly a year, residents of Town street, and Mrs. Morse's sister, Miss Ellen Perkins, formerly of New Hampshire, a student at Norwich Free Academy, moved Friday to Boswell avenue.

A hallowe'en social was held Friday evening in the vestry of the Methodist church. The room was attractively decorated, with the usual hallow'en colors Apples were hung in doorways, and black cats, witches and goblins looked out at visitors from different corners of the room. Games were played. A feature of the evening was the "Gruesome Tale," which was told by Lewis Aldrich in ghost costume. Doughnuts, punch and apples were served. For favors each one received a lolly-pop doll in hallowe'en costume.

CHARTER FOR WILLIMANTIC EXCHANGE CLUB RECEIVED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, Nov. 3.—The Willimantic Exchange club was presented its charter at a special meeting held Monday evening in a local hotel, with Mayor George W. Hickey, state officers, members of various clubs and President Standish of the Willimantic Rotary club as guests. The session opened with a grand march by club members and guests. America was played by a three-piece orchestra led by Ralph Gibson. Following an excellent luncheon, the meeting was enlivened with the singing of popular songs. President Dr. George E. Wilcox of the local club delivered the address of welcome, after which he was officially presented a gavel by President William Hanmer of the Hartford club, the pioneer club of Connecticut. Introduced by President Wilcox, Mayor Hickey welcomed the advent of the new club and expressed his utmost confidence in its success. James P. Bath, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was another speaker. President Harry W. Standish of the Rotary club spoke on behalf of its members and congratulated President Wilcox on the success of his work in organizing the Exchange club here.

He remarked that such a club is a great asset to any community and he hoped for cooperation between Rotary and the infant organization. In closing his address he said that he looked forward with anticipation to a joint meeting of the clubs, Dr. Stoddard of Meriden, president of the state exchange, expressed his interest in the extension of the club and predicted that a similar body would be soon formed in Putnam. The reading of the charter by Secretary Roderick H. Jodoin followed upon its presentation by National Secretary Harold M. Harter. In recognition of its work in organizing the Willimantic club, Secretary Harter presented the Hartford club a service banner and two of its members, Roy Ulrich and Robert Yergason were awarded service buttons, for their part in the work.

The national secretary then spoke at length on the purpose of exchange clubs, the unit of service is the keynote of the organization. Like all other service clubs such as Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions, it backs every movement on foot for civic betterment, conducted on a friendly basis it is more of an associate than a rival to other service clubs, its aid being identical, namely, that of encouraging business in any community and making it a better place to live in. The speaker touched on the qualifications of the members and urged the local body to try to organize a club in Putnam. The meeting closed with several popular songs. Present as guests from Meriden were Dr. Stoddard, state president; Robert Hinfield, Edward Gardner and Fred Hunt from Hartford, William Hanmer, William A. Fenn, Raymond Corey, Herbert Walker, Walker L. Taft, S. L. McGee, J. W. Hellinz, C. W. Bevier, G. Watson, George Hollister, T. Jones, Clinton G. Nichols, Roy Ulrich and Robert Yergason. Other guests were National Secretary Harter, Mayor George W. Hickey, President Harry W. Standish of the Rotary club, James P. Bath, president of the chamber of commerce, Attorney Harry S. Gaucher and Albert J. Fournier of this city, Dr. Harry Belue and James Johnson, of Scotland and Dr. Downing of the Mansfield state training school and hospital.

MAINTAIN TRAFFIC POLICE FOR WINTER SEASON

Police commissioners in all cities of the state have been requested by the state motor vehicle department not to reduce their forces of traffic officers this winter until weather conditions cause an appreciable decline in traffic. With the increased use of closed cars, decrease in traffic to a point where there is less need for supervision no longer comes with the advent of cold weather, according to department statistics, but follows a snow or sleet storm or extremely cold weather. The result is that, in cities where traffic supervision was withdrawn at the beginning of winter last year, the accident rate was abnormally high.

"It is my belief that last season's open winter occasioned an over-percentage of traffic hazards," says a letter which Commissioner Stoeckel of the motor vehicle department has written to the police authorities of the cities. "As you will remember there was no snow such as would stop traffic during the whole winter. As a result of this, there was hardly any withdrawal of motor vehicles from use. Without knowing the procedure in city police departments it occurs to me that probably winter is the time during which the supernumeraries and extra men are laid off to reduce the force to an economical working point.

"Commencing the first of May, 1924, when I suppose full police supervision was renewed, and right through to date, the beneficial effect on traffic is clearly shown."

The letter concludes with the request that each city try to "keep as many men as possible on traffic as long as conditions need it, and not plan to economize by withdrawals."

A Raw, Sore Throat

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Just spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It is fine for quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest. Keep it handy for instant use.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

NEW LONDON COUNCIL ASKED FOR APPARATUS FOR PEQUOT HOSE CO.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Nov. 3.—The city council this evening received a petition signed by some 120 taxpayers in the Fifth ward—what is known as the Pequot section, asking for a reliable piece of fire apparatus for Pequot Hose company. It was represented that the apparatus of the company now is positively obsolete and that it cannot be depended upon with any certainty. The Fifth ward has, it is declared, 57 1-3 per cent of the taxable property of the city and has less protection from fire than has any other section. The business portion of the city alone has more investment than has the Fifth ward. Henry R. Bond spoke for the petitioners and the taxpayers going back to the time when the Pequot company received its equipment largely from the late Dr. Appleton, a summer resident, and the taxpayers who individually gave to equip the company. Mr. Bond said that the city gave only a single thousand dollars to the company. He pleaded for prompt action on the petition, which was presented by Councilor Fox. The result was that the committee to which the petition was referred will give a hearing on the matter next Monday evening and be prepared to report the matter to the council without delay.

The city manager recommended the sale of the ferryboat Mohegan which is in use to carry pedestrians and vehicles across the river and then to purchase a boat for the ferry that will carry foot passengers only. It was represented that the boat at present owned by the city can be sold for money enough to buy the boat wanted and have something to spare. The city manager was directed to get the figures for which the Mohegan can be sold and to ascertain for what money he can get such a boat as he has recommended and to report to the next meeting of the council.

Ex-Mayor Morgan asked the city to abolish the present ordinance as to the burning of leaves in the city and to thus save a large amount of money that is now wasted in carting leaves to the dumping ground. The request was tabled until such time as the matter may be investigated and acted upon intelligently.

An automobile owned and driven by Murray J. Zuckerman, 88 School street, and a machine operated by Miss Mabel E. Fellows, of Niantic, were in collision late this afternoon on Willetts avenue, at the corner of Montauk avenue. Both cars were damaged and both drivers will be in the police court tomorrow morning as both Zuckerman and Miss Fellows placed blame upon the other for the crash.

Miss Fellows was operating her machine in a westerly direction on Willetts avenue. At Montauk avenue, her car had practically crossed the highway when the machine operated by Zuckerman and being driven in a northerly direction came along and crashed against Miss Fellows' car. Neither Zuckerman nor Miss Fellows were injured.

An automobile owned and driven by Richard Erskine, Station 6, Waterford, was damaged late this afternoon on Main street when the car was struck by an automobile, owned and operated by Harry J. Hyde, 167 North Main street, Fall River, Mass. Although Erskine's machine was struck with considerable force and then toppled over on its side, the owner escaped injury other than sustaining injuries of a minor nature.

Erskine was operating his car in a southerly direction and when near Federal street the wheels followed the tracks of the Connecticut company. When the driver attempted to guide the machine from the rails, it skidded and Erskine lost control of the steering wheel. The car finally proceeded partially across the street and in front of Hyde's car, which was about to pass and headed in a northerly direction. Hyde's automobile struck Erskine's car with great force, causing the latter machine to careen and then fall over upon its side.

The police tonight continued a watch of the Chinese restaurants and laundries and places of abode of Chinese as a precaution against any attempt by members of the Nip Sing society of New York to kill off any of the local Chinese as a result of the New London department having received information Sunday from the New Haven police that such an attempt was planned for New London, as well as New Haven, Bridgeport and Hartford. While the watchfulness was carried on it was not with the rigidity as marked the lookout for strange Chinese about the city Sunday night. As a result of the activities of the police several of the Chinese population have openly expressed a fear for their lives, stating that it would not be surprising if members of the New York society attempted to carry on their murderous pursuit outside New York, where eight murders were committed within a week.

All of the laundries, which ordinarily are native by the employment of from three to six Chinese on Sunday nights and which were closed last night, were open this evening.

In the Groton town court today, Morris Dorsky, of Connecticut avenue, this city, was arraigned on a charge of violation of the automobile laws in passing a motionless trolley car on Thames street a week ago. He was fined $25 and costs. The car that Dorsky was operating approached Broad street at a time when a Groton & Stonington street car was receiving passengers. Among the passengers was Miss Mary L. Rice, of Bellevue place, this city. As she stepped from the sidewalk to walk in the trolley car Dorsky's machine approached the car and instead of stopping his machine Dorsky operated the automobile against Miss Rice, knocking her down and severely injuring the woman. Dorsky was taken into custody following the accident by state police of Groton barracks.

Richard Ralph, a soldier stationed at Fort Wright, was fined $3 and costs on a charge of intoxication. Ralph was about the borough Saturday afternoon much the worse for overindulgence in liquor.

Announcement is made of the anproaching marriage of Miss Marion Isabelle Fraser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer Fraser, of East Lyme, and Harvey H. Watrous, son of Mrs. Olive Gray, of the Harris building apartments. No date has been given out for the wedding.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hewes have returned to their home, Thames street, Groton, having spent two months at South Strafford, Vt.

H. L. West, 63 Lincoln avenue, is in Chicago where he will remain a fortnight before resuming his duties as manager of the New England Collapsible Tube company.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. O'Keefe have returned to their home, Montauk avenue, after having visited relatives in Rockville and Guilford. Mr. O'Keefe is employed as general clerk of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad in this city.

William Goldberg, about 16, of Tilley street, son of the late Morris Goldberg, a former Bank street second hand dealer, was taken into custody this afternoon by Traffic Officer Frank Linehan, charged with passing fraudulent checks. He is being held a prisoner at the police station pending the convening of the police court tomorrow morning.

Goldberg recently visited the New London City National bank and procured a quantity of counter checks. He then started to fill them out and caused them to be so written as to purport to be the issue of his father. He was successful in negotiating several of the checks, but not for any large amount. A few days ago he visited the bicycle store of Morgan & White at Groton and negotiated two checks, one of which went toward the purchase of a bicycle which wheel he was riding when taken into custody on State street. A member of the firm of Morgan and White lodged complaint with the New London police and Goldberg was picked up when he attempted to pass the traffic officer.

Goldberg has passed numerous other worthless checks, but in each instance his mother has refunded the amounts to those her son has victimized. It is not believed that the youth is mentally sound for he has exhibited symptoms of weak-mindedness for some time.

The 15-foot sharpie, owned by Eugene Tromantano, 52 Howard street, reported stolen from its mooring in Shaw's Cove Sunday was found this afternoon adrift in the cove, the boat broke away from its mooring.

Master George Davis of Waterford; Master Albert Bunnell, Mystic; Mrs. Joseph Regan and infant daughter, Mott avenue; Miss Thelma Griffin, Lincoln avenue; Mrs. Brenna Williams, Hartford; Mrs. Albert Sringer and infant son, New York; Michael Placenva, Denison avenue, and John Sterns, of the U. S. S. Red Wing, were patients discharged at Lawrence hospital Sunday and today.

The funeral of Mrs. Marion H. Ickrath, wife of Walter M. Ickrath, of Pittsburgh, formerly of New London, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis A. Jones, 3 Ocean avenue, whose death occurred Thursday at Pittsburgh from peritonitis, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. A mass of requiem was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. William C. Fitzsimons. Following the mass Edward Murray sang "Some Sweet Day." The bearers were S. Victor Prince, John Daly, Edmund Reed, George Gadbois, Christopher Barry and William Keegan, the las named of Waterbury. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Wallace Grimes, 68, died this morning at his home, Quaker Hill, Waterford, after a lingering illness with heart trouble. He was a carpenter by occupation, but had not been employed at that trade for two years because of ill health. Mr. Grimes is survived by two sons, Albert Grimes of Waterford and Frank Grimes, this city.

Thomas Payton, about 50, formerly proprietor of a store on Eastern Point road, Groton, died Sunday at Home Memorial hospital in which institution he had been under treatment for but two days. He is survived by his wife and one son, Thomas Payton, Jr., of Groton.

An automobile owned and driven by James Foster, 621 Main street and a machine owned and drive by Philip Brenner, 53 Summer street, were in collision this morning at the intersection of Glenwood and Ocean avenues. Both cars were damaged.

Benjamin L. and Elizabeth H. C. Armstrong have sold a house and lot on Vauxhall street to Mima Jeffrey.

David Lamond and others have sold a house and lot on Ocean avenue to Gertrude A. Dutton.

There was a change in temperature of about 20 degrees from Sunday evening to this morning, producing the weather condition of which Mark Twain alleged New England was capable in any 24 hours from July to June.

George Brown, a young man residing on West Colt street, was fined $100 in police court this morning for being so indiscreet as to operate an automobile when he had partaken of so much liquor that he was incompetent as a chauffeur. Brown acknowledged his guilt when arraigned. Officer Dennis Cavenaugh arrested Brown Saturday afternoon because the movements of the automobile were such as to attract attention even from persons of the sidewalks. Brown did not menace the lives of others in automobiles and he escaped any accident, but that was only mishap deferred so he was called to account. He was fined $100, which was letting him off easily as the fine was the minimum. After the session of the court Brown said he was not guilty, but that he made that plea anyhow. It was an expensive plea to make for it cost him about $115.

Peter Lambrick, with a police court record as long as a modern kid glove, was fined $5 for intoxication. He made every effort to escape any penalty, but he did not succeed. His record was against him. A drunk from Waterford was also fined, but he was pleased when he escaped with as small a penalty as $5.

PLAINFIELD

The Sacrament of the Lord Supper was administered at the Congregational church on Sunday morning.

Then dedication services of the church and the memorial organ was held at three o'clock. Rev. Sherrod Soule of Hartford gave the address and selections were rendered by the choir and the male quartet. Miss Florence Leech played a violin solo and James Royal sang. Mrs. Henry Leach was at the organ. Rev. William Fryling of Wauregan assisted the pastor in the service.

The dance at the Community house Friday evening was the greatest success of this year.

Miss Rose Vendetti spent the week end with relatives in New London.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchel Brissett attended the Witches' Hallowe'en party at the Cekkonet in Sekonk, R. I., Thursday evening.

Many local young men attended the dance in Pachaug Saturday evening.

John Nolan and family motored to Providence Saturday, to visit friends.

Wilfred Lamoutte was a business caller in Providence for the week end.

Last evening brought to a close the campaign by the local parties speeches being given nearly every hour of the day. Local bets are placed at 5 to 3 that the town goes democratic.

Saturday evening the townsmen wondered where the Klan meeting was held, as many cars passed through with local members as passengers. One man closed his place of business in order to attend the meeting. It was rumored that the meeting Saturday night was the last open air meeting this year.

Rev. R. R. Morrissey, pastor of St. John's church urged his people to do their duty as Catholic American citizens and cast their vote today. It has been predicted that Plainfield's vote will be larger than any year in the past.

Many of the local baseball fans witnessed the baseball game in Mossup Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Arnold have returned to their home in Montreal, after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Ardeland Henesault.

Miss Isabel Henault spent the week end with Willimantic relatives.

Miss Celia Isreal motored to her home in Willimantic and spent the week end with relatives.

Completes Road Contract.

The contract awarded to the F. B. Miller Co., by the New York highway department for construction of 3¾ miles of concrete road between Hoosic Falls and Cambridge has been completed. The entire stretch of concrete was poured in about 50 working days and the bid was approximately $150,000. Mr. Miller is in New York shipping the big paver and other equipment to this city.

Cabarets in London are giving way to "small and intimate" dance clubs with floor space for only a few couples.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

Always Help Mother

Now, let me think where we left off.
Did the Giant give a hurricane cough,
Or spread on his face a lovely smile
When the little rabbit took off his tile?

Dear me, maybe you don't know what "tile" means, little reader. So I'll explain before you hunt for the dictionary. It means "hat." Yes sir, that's what it means, just as sure as you're an inch high and I'm your Uncle Dave.

"How's my bunny boy this morning?" asked the big rabbit man, stroking the little rabbit's head with his big hand, wide as a palm leaf fan and forty times as thick.

"He left your lollypop he had over there."

"If I feel as well tomorrow as I do today I'll hop a mile in a minute," answered the little rabbit. "That's how well I am. I ate my clover cereal this morning. I always do to please mother and to grow up a big man. And I drank a glass of milk and ate a lovely carrot cake."

"At a boy," laughed the good natured Ragged Rabbit Giant, and, goodness me! his laugh was so hearty that all the leaves trembled and a brick fell off the tall chimney nearly hitting a tiny ant on the head as she hurried into her little sand house in the garden.

"After breakfast I helped Mother," went on the talkative little bunny. "I fed the canary, filled the wood box with kindling wood and polished the front doorknobs."

"Did you really?" asked the Ragged Rabbit Giant.

"Yes, I did really," answered the little rabbit. "I always do every morning before I go out to play."

"Help your mother all you can,
Little girl and little man.
She's a loving, watchful friend.
Loyal to the journey's end."

"Want a lollypop?" asked the big rabbit man, quick as a wink or a twinkley flink.

My goodness, how the little rabbit's eyes sparkled as he answered. "Yes, thank you, Mr. Ragged Rabbit Giant."

Carefully placing the bunny boy on the arm of the big chair, the obliging bunny giant walked out to the icebox in the kitchen and the next minute he returned with the largest lollypop the little rabbit had ever seen. Would you believe it, the candy part was as large as a wagon wheel and the stick as long as a broom handle!

But, dearest me and perplexed you! The bunny boy couldn't hold it even when he used both front paws and leaned against the giant's leg. No, he couldn't, and the big immense lollypop would have fallen to the floor with a tremendous crash if the big kind rabbit man hadn't held it with his strong right hand.

"How can I carry it home," asked the little rabbit, a tear rolling down his cheek at the thought of losing such a lovely luscious, licious lollypop, and in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

Choir Director at Webster.

The members of the Sacred Heart church choir, at Webster, Mass., under the direction of Adolph Dugas, formerly of Norwich, organist and director, have started rehearsals for the "Mass in Honor of the Blessed Virgin," which will be sung by the choir at Christmas. This mass is the most difficult of any that has been attempted by a choir in the town, and explains the early start made by the choir on the programme.

It isn't work that kills. It's the worry caused by having to work.

MAKES OLD FOLKS FEEL YOUNG AGAIN

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets In Great Demand By Aged People.

Nowadays old folks are increasing their strength and vitality by the use of Cod Liver Oil, which according to medical men is full of vitamines and is the greatest body builder in the world.

Of course they don't take the nasty tasting, evil smelling, stomach upsetting oil itself. Few sensible people do that in these enlightened days, when McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—sugar coated and easy to take—are sold in every drug store in the land—60 tablets for 60 cents.

Old people who want to keep young and vigorous as long as they can will find that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are just what they need to keep in first class condition.

Scientists tell us that "Cod Liver Oil is useful during every stage and age of life" but at no time is its wonderful building power more clearly demonstrated than in old age.

Why not get a 60 cent box today and increase your already decreasing energy and strength. Take them for 30 days and note the pleasure you get from feeling younger again.

There is no question but what they will help you. But of that you must be the judge—if they don't help — your money will be returned by the druggist from whom you bought them — for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets are rigidly guaranteed. Be sure, however, to get McCoy's—the original and genuine. Mail orders filled by McCoy Laboratories, 533 Fifth Ave., New York City. Ask Lee & Osgood Co. about them.

NORWICH DOINGS 75 YEARS AGO

The sale of the Norwich Car Manufacturers plant on the Norwich and Worcester line was one of the largest deals Norwich had witnessed in some time. This great manufacturing plant was one of the best in the country, employed about 200 hands and did an annual business of about $200,000.

That these were busy days in Norwich and vicinity is shown by news in the Courier of 1849 which told of railroad lines being laid rapidly in many section of the state, one most interesting to Norwich being that of the railroad (now the Central Vermont) the rails of which were laid from New London to Willimantic 75 years ago this week. Norwich people in 1849 were patiently awaiting the sound of the whistle which would mark the opening of this new line.

Other items of interest to Norwich and vicinity, published in the Courier are given in part as follows:

Tuesday, October 30, 1849—Francis Sheffield, clerk of the Pawcatuck bank, has sent out notices to stockholders to the effect that the second installment of twelve dollars and one half per share of the capital stock must be paid on the 31st day of October, or all stock will be forfeited that it not paid for on or before that time.

We regret to state that a man by the name of Farley, acting as a temporary brakeman on the Norwich and Worcester road was killed yesterday, having been struck on the back of the head, near Jewett City, as the train passed under a bridge.

On Sunday a lad of seventeen years of age, son of a Mr. Taylor of Yantic, was killed by being precipitated from a hand-car while it was in motion, and falling with his neck directly across the track, the car ran over him death being instaneous.

Five schooners, two sloops and one propellor arrived at the port of Norwich yesterday their cargoes consisting of fish, oil, flour, coal and cotton. During the same day two schooners, one sloop and one propellor cleared the port.

Under the direction of Mr. Preston the board of officers, consisting of Com. Shubrick, Commanders Buchanan, Dupont and Upshur, Surgeon Rueckenberger, Prof. Chauvenet and Mr. Howlason, conveyed at Washington, recently to prepare a plan for the reorganization of the Naval school at Annapolis and extending the means of professional education to officers of the navy. An establishment properly appointed and assimilated in its character to the military academy at West Point cannot fail to exert a most beneficial influence upon the future navy of the United States.

Thursday, November 1, 1849—The receipts of the Norwich & Worcester railroad for the first three weeks of October are $14,617.42 as against $11,-628.10 during the same time last year, showing an increase of $2,889.32 or approximately 25 per cent.

Forty-two miles of the Hartford and Providence railroad, extending from Willimantic through Hartford to Plainville on the New Haven and Farmington railroad will be completed and opened for travel in the course of the next week.

We are glad to hear that the teachers institute now in session in Greeneville is numerously attended, one hundred and eight teachers having been present yesterday. Mr. Banard, the accomplished commissioner of schools was in attendance and last evening delivered a public address in the Baptist church of Greeneville to a large and highly interested audience.

The rails are laid on the New London and Willimantic railroad from Norwich to New London excepting for the last half mile at the latter city. They are also laid from Norwich to Willimantic with the exception of a section at the Falls in this city. Cars may be expected to run in a few days from Norwich to Willimantic at which place there will be about a mile on which rails are yet to be laid to complete the connection with Hartford. We learn further that a commodious and substantial depot at Willimantic has just been put under contract, a depot which is to be used in common by the two roads.

Saturday, November 3, 1849—In a published weekly list of new patents issued from the patent office in Washington, we find the announcement of an invention by Ashbel B. Hale, one of our Norwich physicians, for an improvement in an instrument for arresting hemorrhage from internal organs. We learn that the instrument in the hands of practitioners is destined to prove an invaluable auxiliary in emergencies.

It is with pleasure that it is noted that a projected course of popular lectures is to be delivered in this city during the coming winter. The committee that has these lectures in charge comprise William A. Buckingham, John Dunham and Joseph Monds.

Appearing in the advertising section of the Courier of this date is a notice of the public sale of the Norwich Car Manufacturers. The property to be sold consists of a brick, slate roof building, fifty by one hundred feet, another slate roof building forty by one hundred and ninety feet, the engine room and dry house and several smaller wooden structures, together with the machinery, tools, fixtures, steam engine and boilers and other machinery which constitute as complete and extensive an establishment for the manufacture of railroad cars as any in the country. The plant employs between 100 and 200 hands and does a business of $200,000 annually. It is situated on the Norwich and Worcester railroad at the head of navigation of the Thames river about a half mile from the city.

Due to the steady rush to the California gold fields the total number of vessels that have left the United States for California, from the commencement of the excitement, is as follows: ships, 186; barques, 175; brigs, 119; schooners, 82; steamers, 7; total, 573.

Of the above there have arrived at California to date, 56 ships, 45 barques, 35 brigs, 28 schooners and four steamers, a total of 167. The rest are enroute.

MARKET FLUCTUATED

New York, Nov. 3.—Mixed price movements took place in today's stock market with trading featured by the extensive pre-election evening-up of commitments by professional operators. Standard rails and industrials displayed a firm undertone while a number of specialties, particularly in the food group, were bid up briskly on what appeared to be buying for the account of pools.

There was a marked absence of trade news during the day making up of the call money rate from 3 1-2 to 3 per cent. was generally regarded as incidental to the heavy transfer of funds around the first of the month, and was not much of a market factor.

Nearly two score stocks attained new peak prices for the year including Maxwell Motors "A" and "B", United States Distributing common and preferred, United States Cast Iron Pipe, Commercial Solvents, B. Postum Cereal Loose Wiles Biscuit, American Radiator, Savage Arms, Montgomery Ward, Baldwin preferred, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit preferred and International Nickel preferred. Daniel Boone Woolen Mills and Otis Steel broke through their previous year's lows

Railroad shares moved within a narrow range although good buying was reported in Union Pacific, Atchison, Great Northern preferred, Rock Island and some of the other western carriers. Missouri Pacific issues yielded slightly despite the announcement hat October traffic was the largest of any monh in the road's history.

United States Steel common fluctuated within a range of three-quarters of one point. Closing 1-8 higher at 109 5-8. American Can showed a net gain of 5-8 at 137 5-8 while Baldwin closed 1-3 lower at 121. United States Cast Iron Pipe was run up to a record top at 122 7-8 at the expense of an overcrowded short interest and then eased to 121 1-2, where it was up 1 3-4 on the day.

Bullish demonstrations were successfully conducted in a number of specialties including International Harvester, Allis Chalmers, H. R. Mallinson and Iron Products, the net gains ranging from 1 to 3 1-3 points.

There were a few outstanding soft spots. Utah Copper dropped nearly two points on a few sales and Railway Steel Spring broke 6 3-4. Net losses of two to four points also were registered by American Car and Foundry, American Tobacco "B" Associated Dry Goods, Fisher Body, Houston Oil, Manhattan Electrical Supply and Submarine Boat.

The time money market was quiet with 60 and 90 day loans quoted at 2 3-4 to 3 instead of 2 1-2 to 3, the prevailing rate last week, and 4 to 6 months maturities quoted at 3 to 3 1-4 instead of 3 1-4 to 3 1-2. No explanation was forthcoming for the stiffening of near dates and the easing of the longer maturities.

Foreign exchange rates have been advanced steadily for about a week, turned slightly reactionary today. Demand sterling ruled about 5-8 of a cent lower around $4.63 3-4 and French francs dropped 3 points to 5.24 cents.

BOND MARKET

New York, Nov. 3.—With firmer money rates prevailing, the bond market today developed an easier tendency although price changes generally were held within narrow limits. Pre-election influences dulled the edge of trading.

Coincident with the extension of a $3,000,000 loan to the City of Berlin, demand for the new German bonds improved and the price moved up fractionally, at one time going to 94 1-2. Before the expiration of the Berlin loan, which is to run for one year, it is understood that longer term financing, totaling perhaps $25,000,000 will be arranged. Negotiations are expected to be closed shortly for a $20,-000,000 advance to the city of Hamburg.

Higher money rates promoted some unloading of Liberty bonds. Offerings of the fourth 4 -4c were especially heavy, but were well absorbed, and the closing quotations presented only a trifling net loss.

Trading in corporation bonds was marked by considerable irregularity. Railroad issues showed little change and Virginia-Carolina Chemical liens were about the only weak spots in the industrial list. Denver Gas & Electric Refunding 5's which advanced 2 1-4 points, were the main feature among public utility bonds.

The present lull in new financing is expected to continue until a day or two after election.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—With the United States' visible supply of wheat reaching a total of almost 90,000,000 bushels today and with all the grain exchanges in the country closed tomorrow on account of election, the wheat market showed a downward tendency, most of the time today. Closing prices here on wheat were unsettled, 3-8 to 1 1-8c net lower, December 139 3-4 to 139 7-8 and May 145 5-8 to 145 7-8. Corn finished at 3-8c off to 1-4c advance, oats varying from 3-8c decline to 1-8c gain and provisions unchanged to 25c down.

Although an increase of 2,135,000 bushels shown today in the domestic visible supply of wheat was by no means a surprise, the announcement had a noticeable effect toward emphasizing the views of traders of the bear side of the market. It was pointed out also that supplies of ocean passage were 16,000,000 bushels in excess of the aggregate a year ago.

Bullish new unofficial estimates of the 1924 yield of corn helped to rally the corn market from declines due to sympathy with wheat and to excellent weather for conditioning corn.

Oats followed corn.

Packers' selling eased the provision market.

COTTON

New York, Nov. 3.—Cotton Spot quiet; middling 23.75.

CURB MARKET

New York, Nov. 3.—Uneven price movements took place in today's curb market but the major activity was on the upward side.

Another sensational gain in United Bakeries, which was run up to a record top at 168 7-8 and then eased to 160, up 11 1-2 points on the day, was one of the day's features. Buying of this issue and Ward Barking B, which closed slightly lower at 41 1-4, was based on merger rumors.

Radio shares were mixed, a gain of 1 3-4 by Tower Manufacturing being offset by a similar loss in Dubilier.

MYSTIC

Preparations for the election today (Tuesday) are being completed. The polls open at 6 a. m. and close at 5 p. m., the place of voting on the Stonington side of the river being the B. F. Hoxie Engine Co. room and the courthouse at the head of Dudley's Hill on the Groton side. For the benefit of new voters who are unfamiliar with the ballots used on election days, sample ballots have been placed conspicuously in several stores. The ballots used for voting are white and printed in black ink but otherwise are exactly like the sample ballots and contain the same printed instructions at the top. There are several points that new voters should keep in mind when they go to cast their vote: First, that no mark other than the cross work (X) is permitted on ballots, and this cross mark wherever used must be made with a pencil having a black lead; second, never attempt to make erasures if a mistake is made in marking ballot but return it intact to the booth tender from whom it was received and secure another ballot; third, see that ballot is folded same as when received before passing out of the voting booth to deposit ballot; fourth, don't deposit ballot until your name is checked by the checks in charge of the voting lists. Only those who assist in counting votes at the close of the voting have any idea what strange votes are sometimes cast. To draw a line through a name or mark a ballot other than with the cross mark (X) makes it void.

TAFTVILLE

At a meeting of the Union St. Jean Baptiste, at which 400 members were present, 75 new members were initiated Sunday afternoon at the Parish hall. This large class was assembled through the efforts of a committee in charge of a membership drive of which Joseph C. Marsan was chairman. The total membership in the local chapter is now 500. Henry T. Ledoux, of Nashua N. H., one of the national officers of the Union was in charge of the initiation and also made an address. Representatives from the chapters in Jewett City, Norwich, Plainfield, Willimantic, Moosup and Woonsocket, R. I., attended.

...evening, the Congregational Sunday school was entertained by the Endeavor society in the parlors of the church. The orange and black were used. Appropriate games were played, and refreshments were served. The committee in charge were Miss Bertha Monty, Miss Elizabeth Houston and Miss Mary Greenhalgh.

Miss Sallie Grant has returned to the Hartford hospital training school after spending a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Grant of the Canterbury turnpike.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lambert of Bristol, Conn., spent a short time this week with Mr. and Mrs. Hormisdas Lambert of Merchants avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Pingree of Goodyear, have been recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pingree of North Third avenue.

The Ideal orchestra gave a very pleasing musical program at the William W. Backus hospital, Sunday afternoon.

Richard Oat of Norwich is the guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Aberg and family of North A street.

A meeting of the entertainment committee of the Taftville Congregational church annual fair, and the members of the Dramatic club who are to take a part in the plays, was held Monday evening in the vestry of the church. A three act play will probably be presented on the first night of the fair, with a minstrel scheduled for the second night.

Miss Sophie Thoma of Lisbon has returned from Washington, D. C., where she has been spending a week.

Henry Seidel of Providence street. John Henry Murphy of Merchants avenue and Robert Pilling of Providence street have returned from New Haven where they attended the Yale-Army football game.

Mrs. John Dougherty of North A street is a patient at the Backus hospital where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Miss Veronica Gabiga of Lisbon has resigned her position with the No. 4 weaving department of the Ponemah company.

An enjoyable hallowe'en party, to which the guests came masked and in costume was given Friday evening by the members of St Veronica's T. A. & B. society in their rooms on Providence street.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Troeger and family have moved from North Third avenue to North A street.

Mrs. Eugene M. Monty of Riverside Grove is on an automobile trip to Canada.

The intersection of many of the village streets are being filled in and graded.

The funeral of Mrs. Henry LeClair was held Monday morning from the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Gagnon on South B street, with a high mass of requiem sung at Sacred Heart church. Rev. Henri F. Chagnon was the celebrant, Rev. Frederic R. DesSureault, pastor of St. Joseph's church, Occum, was deacon, and Rev. U. O. Bellerose was sub-deacon. Friends acted as bearers, and there was a large attendance at the service. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery where Rev. Father Chagnon read the committal service.

Mrs. George Vidal, who before her marriage was Miss Elmina Belair of Providence street, brought her vigorous campaign to a close Monday. She is a candidate on the republican ticket for representative from the second district of West Warwick, R. I., where she now makes her home. Speaking before an audience of several hundred women, Mrs. Vidal denounced state government as it is now being conducted in Rhode Island. "The democratic minority in the senate, led by the democratic lieutenant governor," she said, "has so acted during the past two years as to make every patriotic citizen of Rhode Island blush and be ashamed to admit to strangers within our midst that we are citizens of a state where such conduct is permitted or even tolerated. The history of Rhode Island is a glorious one. We are all proud of it. We teach it to our children that they may be better citizens for it. Let us keep it untarnished. Let us, women of the state, and men, too, so act that we can still turn to its pages with pride and say, I am a citizen of Rhode Island." Mr. Vidal is opposing William E. Reddy, democrat, and although she is the first woman ever nominated from the district the political bees are buzzing in West Warwick as they haven't buzzed for years.

A bet has been made between "Nip" Beauregard and Ed LaFleur, both of Fancy Corner. It is this: If LaFollette carries his own state of Wisconsin in the election today, Eddie pushes Nippy to the Wheel club in a square-wheeled wheelbarrow, if he does not, Eddie does the riding and Nippy furnishes the motive power. Blair Cormier will act as pacemaker, and Dynamite Jack will act as starter, but not with the implements of his calling, but the ordinary way. If Nippy wins his bet, it will be a case of bring your own megaphone if you wish your opinion to be heard. Redfra and all the fixings are to be furnished by Wilfred Dupuis.

A RELIABLE COUGH REMEDY

Why experiment with unknown remedies for that cough or cold when you can secure Foley's Honey and Tar Compound? It is a safe and reliable remedy for the relief of coughs, colds, hoarseness. Equally beneficial for young and old. Mrs. Anna Cornell, Bridgeton, N. J., states: "I bought Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for my cold and find it great." Insist upon the genuine. Refuse substitutes. Lee & Osgood Co.

NORWICH HAS 50 DAY SUPPLY OF WATER IN THE TWO CITY RESERVOIRS

The long spell of dry weather through October and before then has brought Stony Brook reservoir to the lowest point it has ever reached since the city has been drawing water from there. The reservoir is now 22 feet down from full pond, only five feet from its extreme depth, but there is still water coming from there into the city pipes as there is an outlet at the 34-foot depth.

Fairview reservoir is down 2 feet, 3 inches, from full pond, making this the main source of supply now, and the city still has a 50 day supply of water in the two reservoirs, according to Superintendent John J. Corkery. October gave only .20 of an inch of rainfall, the lowest for the month that was ever recorded on the water department records, but there should be a normal precipitation in November that will send the mark in the reservoirs climbing back towards full pond.

The dry season has been favorable to the work on raising the dam at Stony Brook five feet and this has gone ahead with good speed so that the concrete on the main dam has all been laid. The work will now go ahead on the side dam and it is predicted that the concrete here will all be laid by the middle of November.

SAYS VOTING WILL SHOW OUR PATRIOTISM

At the noon meeting Monday at the Richmond Radiator Co., Rev. Charles H. Ricketts spoke on The Reward of Faithfulness. The meeting was held as usual under the auspices of the local Y. M. C. A.

The speaker said his topic was suggested to his mind by reading the second chapter of the Book of Revelation, in the last clause of the 10th verse are these words: "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." The two words "cross" and "crown" are oftentimes used together, and the meaning is, if one bears the cross now, he will wear the crown then.

If one is faithful to the requirements of life he will be fully acquainted with the cross. The word appeals to intelligent humanity as symbolic of hardships, cares, stern duties and sacrifices. A realization of the cross stirs up the iron atoms of a man's blood and spurs him on to do his level best; it makes him feel the fight he ought to put up with what is wrong in his surroundings, and most of all with what is wrong in himself.

We stand face to face with wrongs, and our faithfulness will be measured by our ability to deal with them adequately. There are outstanding things that make a bid for our faithfulness, and as the Kingdom of God, the family and the political state.

As tomorrow is the time appointed for the Jelura, the main emphasis was laid upon the latter. No form of government depends on faithfulness more than ours. We are insistent that our representatives be faithful to their duties, but we are very faithless in our duty in putting them into office. Our presidential contests do not call out a majority of the voters. We lifted up our hands in amazement at the landslide in 1920, but in the light of cold facts it was positively disgraceful, because 51 per cent. of the voters stayed at home. We can't excuse the disgrace by saying that the foreigner did it because the foreigner was there doing his duty like a man. Statistics show that it was native-born Americans who were the greatest offenders. There is no better way of showing our patriotism than by doing our political duty at the polls.

HAD LARGE PATRONAGE FOR G. L. CLASS SUPPER

The baked bean and salad supper served by the C. L. class of Trinity Methodist church Saturday evening was a decided success. Mrs. Andrew Crowe acted as chairman of the committee in charge and had as her assistants Mrs. Olive Roberts, Mrs. G. Greenlaw, Mrs. A. Durie, Mrs. C. Allen, Mrs. H. D. Hinkley, Mrs. W. Stelzner, Mrs. H. Cochrane and Mrs. H. C. Mason.

The meal consisted of baked beans, cabbage, salad, boiled ham, pickles, and chili sauce, rolls, cake and coffee.

The following acted as waitresses and served nearly two hundred patrons: The Misses Bertha Hahn, Mary Gray, Isabelle Shearer, Libby Peckham, Dot McNeely, Sue McNeely, Edith Fellows, Estelle Purvis, Mrs. W. F. Hill, Mrs. F. Cruthers, Mrs. O'Mara, Mrs. Saunders, Miss Flye and Miss Perkins.

LAYING CEMENT FOR ROAD AT PLAINFIELD

Work is progressing rapidly on the Jewett City-Plainfield highway, the cement being laid on one side of the highway from Bishops crossing nearly into Plainfield. It is expected that this side will be completed within another week with the exception of two stretches held open to allow entrance from side roads to the main highway.

When completed this highway will be one of the best in this section of the state and a road that has for years been in a deplorable state will become as modern as any in the state.

HALLOE'EN PARTY IS HELD ON PLAIN HILL

There was a very enjoyable masquerade party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Santo of Plain Hill.

The guests arrived about 8.30 p. m. The party started with a grand march around the rooms led by Carlton Smith, Jr., and Loretta O'Neill as Jackie Coogan and a little ballet dancer. The rest of the guests followed including Mrs. Frank H. Santo and Julia Santo as gypsy girls, Mrs. Carlton Smith and Mrs. Herbert Lappy as old fashioned girls, Miss Phyllis Erving as an Egyptian maiden, Mrs. Winfred E. Smith as a fairy, Mrs. Frank O'Neil as a Japanese girl, Frank Santo and Herbert Lappy as the honey boys, Carlton R. Smith and Winfred E. Smith as clowns, Robert Stott, Jr., and Henry Hensler as comedians, Frank O'Neil as a tramp, Theodore Garceau as a country sheriff, Walter Murphy as an Indian girl. Little Natalie Santo drew much attention as a clown.

Hallowe'en games were enjoyed until 10.30 when a buffet luncheon was served of fruit, cake, doughnuts, cheese, coffee and cider.

After luncheon piano and violin selections were rendered by Miss Julia Santo and Theodore Garceau, also ukulele and singing by Theodore Garceau and Phyllis Erving.

Dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

The polls in Norwich will be open in all districts today at 6 a. m., and remain open until 5 p. m.

SUNLIGHT MAKES MORE COLORING IN THE BLOOD

The statement was made at a meeting of the medical officers of the state tuberculosis sanatoria at Niantic on Monday that the sunlight treatment at the Seaside Sanatoria is producing a great increase in the coloring matter of the blood, technically, the hemoglobin.

Dr. John F. O'Brien, superintendent at the Seaside, made the assertion in presenting the tabulated results of the blood contents and the microsopic demonstrations of the blood contents, the work of himself and his staff during the past six months. He reported that the sunlight treatment, although increasing the coloring matter of the blood, does not make any consistent changes in the proportion of red and white blood cells.

The address of Dr. O'Brien was given in explanation of the remarkable cures of bone tuberculosis which are taking place among the patients at the Seaside.

DANIEL BARNETT ELECTED TO KNIGHTS OF THE ROAD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 3.—Daniel J. Barnett, a resident of Norwich, Conn., was today elected sergeant-at-arms, with the picturesque title of Sir Bounce M. Hard, of the "Knights of the Road," a newly formed organization at the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, that requires for membership that a student shall have "beaten" his way to some athletic contest, a distance of at least 250 miles.

Mr. Barnett, who is a charter member of the organization, is a member of the junior class at the Worcester engineering college, taking the course in electrical engineering.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH WILL HOLD MEMORIAL

The second annual Memorial meeting of the Central Baptist church will be held Thursday evening in connection with the family gathering of the church.

Those who have died in the past year for whom the memorial service will be held are: Mrs. Henry Haskell, Mrs. John H. Cranston, Clinton Christman, Mrs. Charles W. Gale, Mrs. Anna Libby, Mrs. Lorenzo Armstrong, Mrs. Charles Billings, Mrs. Charles Rogers, Mrs. Alonzo Keables, Judge Lucius Brown, Walter Rogers and Mrs. Grant Troland.

CONGREGATIONAL COUNCIL TO REVIEW HANOVER RESIGNATION

An ecclesiastical council has been called by the Hanover Congregational church for next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock to review the church action in accepting the resignation of the pastor, Rev. Roderick MacLeod, and to advise members in the dissolution of the pastoral relation. The members of the New London Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers have been invited to be represented by the pastor and delegate, and the Plainfield Congregational church has been invited to the council.

Given Surprise Party.

Miss Mary Donovan was pleasantly surprised at her home at 16 Washington street last week by thirty of her friends. Games, singing and dancing were enjoyed by all. Solos were rendered by James Service with Miss Katherine McCann at the piano, and a quartet consisting of Mr. Boyd, C. Lee and Mrs. Malone, accompanied by Miss Gertrude Platt. Banjo selections were rendered by Miss Edith Graves and Walter Float.

Those present were the Misses Nellie Garvie, Blanche Lucier, Marie Ducharme, Margaret Duffey, Jeanne Foster, Mildred McCann, Catherine McCann, Edith Graves, Mary Donegan, Mary Foley, Miriam Sullivan, Gertrude Platt and Mr. Boyd, Clarence Lee, Martin Maloney, James Garvie, Matthew Garvie, Charles Saunders, John Donegan, Thomas Duff, Walter Float, Francis and Joseph Donovan.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. M. Donovan, assisted by Miss Mildred McCann and Mrs. M. Platt.

McAll Auxiliary Sunday.

Sunday, Nov. 9, has been appointed by the American McCall association as McCall day in order to give the American Sunday school children the opportunity to help the children of France. Contributions will be received by Mrs. S. H. Howe, the treasurer, and a meeting of the Norwich auxiliary is to be held Thursday afternoon with the Misses Lucas, 16 Seabons street.

FAVOR RETAIL STORES CLOSING ARMISTICE DAY

With President Will L. Stearns presiding the regular monthly meeting of the Retail Merchants' Bureau was held Monday morning at the rooms of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce. There was a strong sentiment that the merchants should co-operate with the general committee in charge of the Armistice Day parade and celebration and there will be a general decoration of the stores and business houses. A resolution was adopted recommending that the stores of the city close at noon Armistice Day.

Made Gifts at Sanatorium.

Mrs. F. Becker, president of the Hourigan Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the welfare committee, Mrs. Victoria Plante and Mrs. Lewis Hull Sr., visited the ex-service men at the Norwich state sanatorium Monday afternoon, distributing wool socks, warm slippers and fruit.

Was Humane Society President

Judge Samuel O. Prentice of Hartford who died Sunday November 2nd, was president of the Connecticut Humane Society, for the past five years, having succeeded Rev. William De Loss Love, following the latter's death.

Don't Neglect Pimples Use Cuticura Now

When the first signs of pimples appear anoint gently with Cuticura Ointment. After five minutes bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water, best applied with the hands; continue bathing for some minutes. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment do much to keep your skin clear, and your scalp clean and free from dandruff.

BOZRAH STREET WILL HAVE STATE ROAD

Through a conference held in Bozrah Monday between State Highway Commissioner Macdonald, Selectman Frank L. Lathrop and Edward Bishop, it was decided that a state road should be built on Bozrah street from the church towards Gardner Lake and Scott Hill to Farnam's corner, a distance of two miles. Construction will be in macadam and the road will be improved by straightening the curves. The work will start in the spring.

Further aid from the state will be given if the town of Montville will complete a stretch of road over Raymond Hill past the Gardner Lake church to the Bozrah town line, which, if done, will provide a complete improved road from Bozrah to Montville.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE AT BALTIC RALLY

The democrats closed the 1924 drive in Baltic Monday evening with a rally in St. Jean's hall at 7.30 o'clock. Attorney J. J. Desmond of Norwich, addressed the audience in French and and Frank P. Fenton of Willimantic, democratic candidate for representative spoke in English. The meeting was well attended.

Dancing Classes Begin

Mrs. Edward Andrews opened her beginners and intermediate dancing class Monday afternoon at 4.15 o'clock, the first half hour being devoted to classical interpretive dancing including exercises for technique and pretty steps to nursery rhymes. The second half hour was given to children's ballroom dancing including the beautiful and stately waltz and the Russian Polonaise.

Too many cooks spoil the broth and everything else they can get their hands on.

REPUBLICAN RALLY FILLS BALTIC HALL

The political campaign was brought to a close in Baltic Monday evening by the republicans with a rally in Sprague hall at 8 o'clock. Chairman Matthew Bailey opened the rally and introduced as the first speaker, Attorney Edward J. Balthasar of Waterbury, who spoke in French. Attorney E. L. Darbie of Danielson was also a speaker, addressing his audience in English. The hall was filled to capacity and much enthusiasm was shown.

The polls in Norwich will be open in all districts today at 6 a. m., and remain open until 5 p. m.

HOW FAT ACTRESS BECAME SLENDER

Many stage people now depend entirely upon Marmola Prescription Tablets for reducing and controlling fat. One clever actress tells that she reduced steadily and easily by using this new form of the famous Marmola Prescription. Now, by taking Marmola Prescription Tablets several times a year, she keeps her weight just right. All druggists sell Marmola Prescription Tablets at one dollar for a box, or if you prefer you can secure them direct from the Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. If you have not tried them, do so. They are pleasant to take and effective.

VICTORY FOR COOLIDGE AND DAWES ASSURED BY ELECTION RETURNS

Republican Candidates Rolled Up Overwhelming Majorities in the East and Middle States—In California Incomplete Returns Give Coolidge a Majority of 100,000—General Returns, Though Far From Complete, Dispel the Possibility of Presidential Election Being Thrown Into the House of Representatives.

New York, Nov. 4—At midnight, with the election returns still coming slowly and whole blocks of states with the deciding electoral votes yet to be headd from, the results in the presidential contest, either by apparent trend or concessions by party leaders and newspapers stood this way:

With 784 districts missing out of a total of 7662 New York state gives Coolidge and Dawes 1,643,162, Dawies and Bryan 873,771. Of the missing districts 290 are in New York city.

For Coolidge and Dawes electoral votes:

Connecticut 7, Illinois 29, Iowa 13, Kansas 10, Maine 6, Massachusetts 18, Nebraska 8, New Hampshire 4, New York 45, Ohio 24, Pensylvania 38, Rhode Island 5, Vermont 4.

Total 211.

For Davis and Bryan electoral votes.

Alabama 12, Arkansas 9, Florida 6, Georgia 14, Louisiana 10, Mississippi 10, North Carolina 12, South Carolina 9, Texas 20, Virginia 12. Total 114.

For LaFollette and Wheeler electoral votes, Wiscon 13. Total 13.

Kentucky, with its 13 votes, Missouri with its 18, Tennessee with its 12, and Oklahoma with 10, were showing only partial returns at that hour but with an apparent trend to Davis and Bryan.

The number of electoral votes constituting a majority, necessary to elect is 266.

None of the candidates would comment on the returns as they were shown at midnight. President Coolidge at Washington let it be known he would have nothing to say until tomorrow.

Senator LaFollette at his home in Madison, Wis., said the same thing. At John W. Davis' headquarters in New York the only comment was not to forget 1916, when the late returns from the western states tured the election to Wilson in face of a rolling tide for Hughes which covered the east.

The Coolidge column continued to mount in the east as the hours rolled on and the most interesting uncertainty there was the fight between Governor Smith and Theodore Roosevelt for the governorship of New York. Governor Smith, of course, polled a heavy vote in Greater New York, but Mr. Roosevelt came down from the upstate counties with a dwindling majority which at first seemed to indicate his election. Just before midnight Charles D. Hilles, one of the vice chairman of the republican national committee gave it as his opinion that Governor Smith would carry the state by more than 80,000 and the governor on the basis of reports made to him said he believed he had been elected.

The congressional returns were markedly slow. Those which came in before midnight gave little color to the situation.

Early in the evening the reelection of Senator Borah of Idaho, the republican gadfly of the senate, was conceded by his opponent. The Omaha World Herald, which supported Davis and Bryan, conceded Nebraska to Coolidge, and also announced the reelection of Senator Norris, a LaFollette republican in the senate. The reelection of Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, chairman of the farm block, also became certain.

The early concession of Iowa to President Coolidge by LaFollette headquarters at Des Moines, came as a surprise to many political observers who expected Iowa to be one of the states possibly found in the LaFollette column if the senator won the electoral vote of any state besides his home state, Wisconsin, and possibly Minnesota and North Dakota. The returns from North Dakota up to midnight necessarily came from the cities and towns and were only a very small percentage of the voting strength of the state. They gave President Coolidge a big lead. If they ran true to precedent, the president's lead would be reduced and Senator LaFollette6s vote would be increased as the returns from the country districts were tabulated.

The great block of electoral votes from the Pacific coast states and the Granger states of the northwest were practically an unknown quantity in the making of an electoral college table at midnight. Even in the middle west the counting of ballots in many of the variable states had not progressed to a point where it was sufficiently advanced to be considered more than a trend over an area obviously limited.

The outstanding indication at midnight was the much discussed possibility of throwing the election ito the house of representatives had been wiped out by a heavy vote for President Coolidge.

Even Rep. John M. Nelson, of Wisconsin, Senator LaFollette's national campaig manager, said:

"Early returns indicate a landslide for Coolidge. We still have hopes, however, of carrying some of the western states."

Just before midnight the New York Tribune, which had been supporting Theodore Roosevelt, conceded the election of Governor Smith by 100,000.

The first upset in the congressional balance did not come until after the returns were in from more than 140 districts. It was in New Hampshire, where a republican beat a democrat.

NO UPSETS RECORDED IN CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS

New York, Nov. 4.—Up to 11 o'clock tonight, eastern standard time, complete returns had been received from only 184 congressional districts, and no upsets had been recarded.

At the same hour returns sufficient to indicate an election had been received on only eight of the 34 senatorial contests. Seven were democrats from southern states and the eighth was a republican—Capper of Kansas.

The re-election of Borah of Idaho was conceded by his opponent. The democrats were Heflin, Alabama; Robinson, Arkansas, the minority leader of the senate; Harris, Georgia; Blease, South Carolina, who succeeds Senator Dial, a democrat; Ransdell, Louisiana; Harrison, Mississippi, and Simons, North Carolina.

Of the 104 congressional contests whose election were assured 68 were democrats—the great majority from southern states—and 36 were republicans. The 104 ttoal does not include the four republicans from Maine elected in September.

Among the republicans returned to the house were the chairmen of several of the more powerful committees, including Representatives Graham, Pennsylvania, chairman of the naval committee; McFadden, also of the same state, chairman of the banking committee, and Porter, likewise from Pennsylvania, head of the foreign affairs committee; Snell, New York, chairman of the rules committee.

Prominent democrats re-elected included Garner, Texas, ranking member of the ways and means committee; Oldfield, Arkansas, the minority whip; Quinn, Mississippi, Vinson, Georgia, M. Pou, North Carolina, and Wingo, Arkansas, ranking democrats on the military, naval and rules and banking committees, respectively.

Wurzbach, the lone republican member of the house from Texas, was reelected, as was James, Michigan, a republican who usually has identified himself with the LaFollette insurgents, and Jacobstein, a demacrat from upstate New York, who had LaFollette endorsement.

RETURNS GIVE COOLIDGE LARGE LEAD IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Nov. 4 (By the A. P.)—Unofficial returns from more than one-tenth of the precincts in the state at 9 o'clock tonight gave President Coolidge a large lead in Illinois. If the later returns maintain the same ratio, the Coolidge plurality over John W. Davis will exceed 800,000. Senator LaFollette was running considerably behind Davis.

These early unofficial returns from 673 of 5,989 precincts gave Coolidge 144,890, Davis 59,369, LaFollette 42,549.

The presidential vote was divided as follows:

REPUBLICAN TICKET TO THE FRONT IN RHODE ISLAND

Providence, R. I., Nov. 4.—With returns from 43 districts out of 194 in Rhode Island, Coolidge has a lead of 10,731 over John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee. The figures are:

Coolidge 19,726; Davis 8,995; LaFollette has polled 524 in the same districts.

Jesse H. Metcalf, republican senatorial candidate for the unexpired term of the late U. S. Senator Le Baron B. Colt and for the regular term to follow is leading Governor William S. Flinn, democratic candidate, by 9,-849 for the regular term and by about the same figures for the short term. Metcalf out of 45 districts has polled 20,244 and Flynn 10,395 for the regular term. Edward M. Sullivan independent democratic candidate has polled less than 150 in the same districts.

For governor, of Rhode Island:

Ex-Governor Aram J. Pothier, republican, leads Lieutenant Governor Felix A. Foupin by 7,803 votes with 34 districts heard from.

For congress the standing in the 3 districts is as folows:

First: Burdick, republican, 2,998; Jones, democrat, 814. (Five voting districts.)

Second: Aldrich (republican) 1,100; Hall, democrat, 40,889. (24 voting districts.)

LAFOLLETTE HEADQUARTERS CONCEDES IOWA TO COOLIDGE

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 4.—LaFollette headquarters here conceded Iowa to Coolidge at 10.15 tonight. At the time the president had a lead of about 2 to 1 over the senator, with approximately one-third of the state's precincts heard from.

The vote when the concession was made was: 727 out of 2,418 precincts: Coolidge 167,286, LaFollette 81,868, Davis 40,729.

GILLETT LEADING WALSH IN BAY STATE FOR SENATE

Boston, Nov. 4.—Returns from little less than one-quarter of the 1,432 election precincts in the state gave Coolidge a lead of 70,000 over Davis in Massachusetts, while La Follette in these precincts received less than half of the vote given to Davis. These returns included 80 precincts out of 274 in Boston and 250 precincts outside of Boston, with few wards in the other cities heard from. The returns from these 330 precincts gave:

In the same precincts, Lieutenant-Governor Alvin T. Fuller, republican, was leading Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, democrat, for governor by about 39,000 votes, the vote being:

Curley 62,615; Fuller 101,878.

Speaker Frederick H. Gillett of the national house of representatives, republican candidate for senator, was running behind both Coolidge and Fuller but had a lead in these same precincts of nearly 20,000 over Senator David I. Walsh, democrat. The same 330 precincts gave:

Gillett 90,346; Walsh 70,627.

In the city of Boston, normally democratic, the first eighty precincts to report gave Coolidge a lead of nearly 5,000 over Davis, but showed Fuller running nearly 11,000 votes behind Curley and Gillett nearly 19,-000 behind Walsh.

ONE MAN KILLED DURING DISORDERS IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 4.—One man was killed, two others shot, several kidnapped and scores intimidated with threats of death today in election violence in various parts of the city. John MacKay was shot to death while sitting in an automobile in front of a West Side polling place. His assailants fired from another car. Claud Maddox, who was with MacKay, was seriously wounded. Both were said to have police records.

Shortly after the pools opened a party of men opened fire upon a polling place near the stock yards, wounding Anto Rudzinski, who is not expected to live.

Nathan Finestone, a LaFollette lieutenant in the 46th ward, was slugged, suffering a fractured skull. His assailant escaped.

MRS. FERGUSON LEADING IN TEXAS FOR GOVERNOR

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 4.—Returns from 311 cities and towns in Texas at 10 p. m., showed John W. Davis leading President Coolidge about four to one. For governor, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, democrat, was leading Dr. George C. Butte, (rep.) slightly less than two to one, the total was, Davis 99,993; Coolidge 24,776. Governor Ferguson (d) 117,545; Butte (r) 68,-145.

AVALANCHE FOR DAWES IN HIS HOME PRECINCT

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 4.—Charles G. Dawes and his republican running mate Calvin Coolidge, carried his home precinct by an overwhelming majority.

Coolidge 593; Davis 54; La Follette 28.

All but three persons registered in the precinct voted.

COOLIDGE HAS LEAD OF 100,000 IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—As returns continued to come in tonight, from all over California the plurality of President Coolidge over John W. Davis and Senator LaFollette mounted to a majority of 100,000. At 9.30 p. m., when 1,828 precincts, complete and incomplete, had reported the vote stood, Coolidge, 213,166; LaFollette, 87,648; Davis 25,552.

COOLIDGE AND CAPPER HAVE WON IN KANSAS

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 4 (By the A. P.).—Kansas gave President Coolidge a heavy plurality in today's election and returned Arthur Capper, republican, to the United States senate by a large vote.

COOLIDGE KEPT INFORMED OF THE ELECTION RETURNS

Washington, Nov. 4.—President Coolidge was kept informed tonight of election returns as they were received at the White House by special telegraph wire and by radio. With Mrs. Coolidge and a few intimate friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, of Boston, he remained in the executive mansion to hear the answer to his campaign for another four years as head of the government.

Messages of congratulations were received even during the day before the polls were closed from supporters throughout the country but these did not disturb the customary routine, Mr. Coolidge attending to problems of administration as usual.

Optimism about the executive offices in the outcome of the election increased as the returns from various sections were received over the wires, and Mr. Coolidge himself expressed to callers confidence in the estimates made by William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, that he and Charles G. Dawes would receive at least 350 votes in the electoral college.

COOLIDGE HEADED FOR 300 VOTES IN ELECTORAL COLLEGE

New York, Nov. 5.—At two o'clock this morning President Coolidge was maintaining his advantage in the east and middle west and had established leads in the country beyond the Mississippi which, if maintained, would give him an overwhelming majority in the electoral college, with a total running over 300 votes.

John W. Davis had to his credit only the states of the ultra-democratic south, but was leading also in Oklahoma, Missouri and Tennessee, all carried by Harding in the 1920 republican landslide. He also had a slight margin in New Mexico, but had surrendered the lead to Coolidge in Kentucky in a nip and tuck race.

Senator LaFollette was leadig only in his home state of Wisconsin, although his managers insisted that his full strength would be developed only after the still missing vote of the rural districts of the west had been counted.

COOLIDGE HAD NO STATEMENT TO MAKE

Washington, Nov. 4. — President Coolidge will have no statement to make on the election tonight, it was said at the White House soon after 11 o'clock.

UNION PRINTERS FOUND NEWSPAPER UNPROFITABLE

Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 4.—The Walla Walla Times, a daily newspaper published by the union printers and supported financially by the International Typographical Union and by the union printers of the northwest, discontinued publication yesterday. The paper was started Oct. 3, 1923.

L. R. Busan and E. J. Pelkey, northwestern representatives of the International Union when in Walla Walla on September 11, stated that the paper had lost $80,000.

A break took place April 10, 1922, between the union printers of Walla Walla and the Walla Walla Bulletin over what the newspapers declared was an unreasonable contract demanded by the printers' organization.

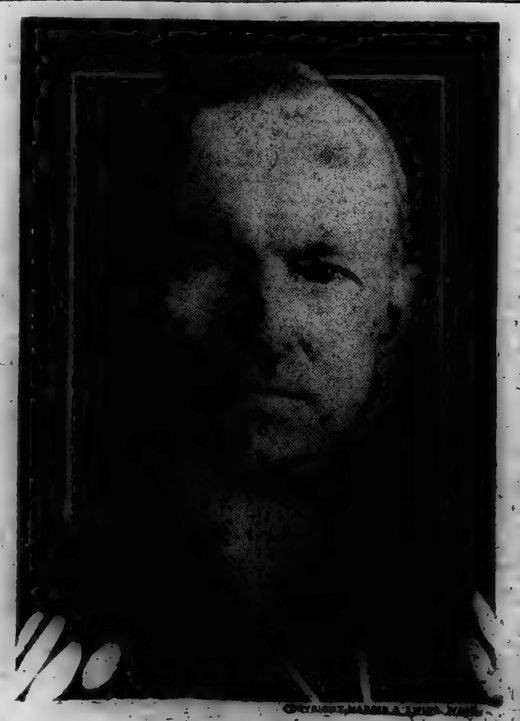
The discontinuance of the Times was made without any concessions on the part of the union or the Bulletin and both papers will continue to be operated on an open shop basis, their publishers said.

SEC'Y DAVIS SAYS NO ONE CAN CONTROL WORKING MAN

Pittsburgh, Nov. 4.—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, who was home today to vote, made the following statement just as he left for Washington:

"The returns so far justify my statement during the campaign that no group in America, no matter what office they hold or what power they assume, can control the working man. He reads newspapers, magazines, his children are in school, some in college, he makes up his own mind and from the returns he voted for one who will stand by him—Coolidge.

"This is the greatest industrial center in the world and Coolidge will carry it by a tremendous majority."



CALVIN COOLIDGE

Smith Re-Elected Governor New York

Chairman Morris Concedes Defeat of Roosevelt by at Least 50,00 Plurality.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Nov. 5.—At 1.30 o'clock this morning, after a consultation with George R. Morris, chairman of the republican state committee, and LaFollette B. Gleason, secretary of the committee, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, republican nominee for governor, issued the following statement:

"I am delighted that President Coolidge has been re-elected. That is all-important for the country. The returns from the republican state headquarters indicate that Governor Smith has been re-elected. I extend him my congratulations."

Governor Smith had a plurality of 66,802 over Theodore Roosevelt, republican gubernatorial nominee, at 1.15 a. m. this morning, with 1,354 districts out of 7,568 in the state missing. The missing districts included 655 in New York city.

The vote at this hour was:

Smith—1,338,985.

Roosevelt—1,272,183.

New York, Nov. 5.—George K. Morris, republican state chairman, at 1.20 a. m., conceded the re-election of Governor Smith by a plurality between 50,000 and 65,000.

EXILED R. I. SENATORS WATCHING RETURNS

Rutland, Mass., Nov. 4.—With radio bringing in the results of the national election and with a special telegraph wire direct from Providence clicking off the state returns, 20 of the 22 republican senators of Rhode Island tonight were watching the tabulations in which their votes were missing.

Senator Harry A. Sanderson, who remained to question a quorum in the senate chamber when the others went into their Dutland "exile" and Senator Henry A. Evers who returned to his home in Cranston some weeks ago after deciding not to run for re-elections, were the only ones to vote today. Laws of the state do not permit absentee voting.

The senators were joined here today by many of their families, after the latter had cast their ballots in Rhode Island. Although only scattering returns had been brought in, Senator Arthur A. Sherman of Portsmouth, leader of the republicans, expressed confidence in the final result.

ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY GOES ON HUNGER STRIKE

Bridgeport, Nov. 4.—George Dubord, 19, one of five youths arrested Monday in connection with a series of 28 burglaries in Bridgeport during the last month, refused to eat any breakfast today, continuing a hunger strike he started when taken into custody. He has had no food now for 48 hours.

Weak from hunger and hysteria brought on by his arrest, Dubord fainted in his cell last night.

CLUES MAY LEAD TO RECOVERY OF $1,900,000 LOOT

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Additional clues that may lead to the recovery of $1,-900,000 of the missing loot from the Rondout, Ills., mail robbery were obtained by postal inspectors today when Brent Glasscock, supposed leader of the robbers, and Willis Newton, who pleaded guilty to participation in the affair, were brought together. Their supposedly secret conversation was listened to by the inspectors who had concealed dictaphones in the conference room.

LOUISVILLE IN DARKNESS AFTER THE POLLS CLOSED

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 4.—The electric lights throughout the city went out shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon. One hour after the polls closed at 5.30 o'clock the lights were still out and efforts at that hour to determine the cause for the breakdown were unavailing.

After being thirty-five minutes the lights came back on all over the city. Meanwhile, the court house, where election headquarters was located, was closely guarded by police. The cause had not yet been ascertained.

TELEGRAM OF APPRECIATION FROM PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

Bellingham, Wash., Nov. 4.—John P. Cowan, of Pittsburgh, Pa., manager of the Coolidge-Dawes Lincoln caravan of six automobiles, bearing Plymouth, Vermont, friends and neighbors of President Coolidge, received a telegram today from the president in which he expressed his appreciation of the manner in which the tour was conducted. The caravan ended its trip of 6,500 miles through 17 states with a demonstration.

MRS. FLORENCE HARDING IS SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 4.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, wife of the late president, who has been ill here for some time of kidney trouble, was slightly improved today, according to a bulletin issued by Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, her physician.

The bulletin said she was resting fairly well during the day and had a good appetite.

CONNECTICUT COMPLETELY IN THE HANDS OF REPUBLICANS

President Coolidge Apparently Has an Unprecedented Plurality—Col. Hiram Bingham, For Governor, and Five Republican Congressmen Were Elected—Former Congressman Glynn, Defeated Congressman O'Sullivan, Democrat, by Majority Exceeding 3,000—State Legislature Will Be Overwhelmingly Republican in Both Branches.

New Haven, Nov. 4—President Coolidge swept Connecticut today by an apparently unprecedented plurality, greatly exceeding that polled by President Harding four years ago and the republican landslide carried into office a republican governor and state ticket, five republican congressmen and a legislature in which the democratic representation will be negligible in both senate and house.

The four largest cities of the state, New Haven, Hartford, Bridgeport and Waterbury each contributed to the republican success and the party success extended to practically every city and large town of the state. In the four principal cities eleven of the republican candidates for state senators were chosen, the only democrat elected being Joseph Tone, a member of the last senate from the Tenth district.

The four republican congressmen, members of the present national house of representatives, were returned with greatly increased pluralities, in the first district E. Hart Fenn scored an overwhelming victory over his democratic opponent Johnson Vance of New Britain; in the Second district Congressman Richard P. Freeman defeated Frank P. Fenton; Congressman John Q. Tilson scored a record plurality over William Hoyt (dem.) in the third district and Congressman Schuyler Merritt in the Fourth district was overwhelmingly victorious over William English Walling the well known writer, who ran on the democratic ticket, although declaring himself a progressive.

Former Congressman James P. Glynn, scored an old time republican triumph over his democratic opponent Patrick B. O'Sullivan who defeated him two years ago, carrying the district by a safe majority exceeding 3,-000.

The LaFollette-Wheeler party vote for the electors of the progressive party in the state considerably exceeded that cast for the progressive ticket when Roosevelt was the third party candidate in 1912, but was a poor third in the voting.

Colonel Hiram Bingham, Yale professor and for the past two years lieutenant-governor, was chosen governor on the republican ticket by a plurality only a few thousand less than that accorded to President Coolidge over John W. Davis, the democratic nominee. Early in the evening, when the returns from the principal cities and many of the towns forecast the republican landslide, Charles G. Morris, of Netown and New Haven, democratic nominee for governor, conceded the election of the republican candidate and immediately despatched his congratulations to the new governor-elect. The two have been friends since their days at Yale, both being alumni of the university.

As the night wore on interest in the contest was confined entirely to the size of the unprecedented pluralities piled up in all parts of the commonwealth for the state and national tickets and the majority of the senators and representatives chosen to the general assembly.

Republican mayors were chosen in Stamford and Shelton and democratic candidates for mayor were elected in Ansonia and Derby, Mayor John C. Mead, of Ansonia, squeezing into office for the fifth time by a bare plurality of 45 votes.

While some of the larger towns of the state which vote by ballot had not completed their counting of the ballots early this morning, most of them indicated only additions to the republican plurality and none will affect the general result.

The vote in the third congressional district complete was Tilson 41,564 and Hoyt, democrat, 21,209.

The vote for Middlesex county complete for congress was Freeman 14,790; Fenton, democrat, 9,141. The vote for congressman in Windham county with Plainfield missing was Freeman, r, 8,102; Fento, d, 5,817.

The vote for nMiddlesex couty complete for congressman was: Freeman, r, 9,337; Fenton, democrat, 4,362.

The vote for congressman in Tolland county was Freeman 5,201; Fenton, d, 2,453.

The vote for the second district with Plainfield alone missing was Freeman, r, 37,430; Fenton, d, 21,233.

STATEMENT MADE BY COL. HIRAM BINGHAM

Hartford, Nov. 4.—Lieutenant Governor Hiram Bingham tonight said: "The results are perfectly splendid. There is no doubt that the people trust and admire Calvin Coolidge. They believe in his honesty. They know he has plenty of common sense. They like his modesty. They want four years more of his wisdom and courage. They have rejected socialism and the appeals to passion and prejudice. They have responded to the appeals to reason and sanity.

"So small part of the tremendous majority is due to the republican workers, members of town committees and Coolidge clubs all over the state. Their splendid efforts have made this landslide possible.

"So far as the state is concerned, I believe the voters have registered their wish to continue the sound business policy of the past ten years of republican administration. It is our hope to continue on the basis of a square deal for all, without regard to race, creed or color."

MORRIS CONGRATULATES COL. HIRAM BINGHAM

New Haven, Nov. 4.—Charles G. Morris sends congratulations to Col. Hiram Bingham on his election, which was early conceded on the face of the returns from the principal cities and many of the large towns of the state.

Mr. Morris after conceding the election of Colonel Bingham and sending him his congratulations gave out the following statement:

"My fellow citizens have deliberated as to which of two stewards of their affairs would in their judgment serve them best for the next two years. There has been a good vote cast and the greatest number of the voters preferred to entrust their affairs again to Mr. Bingham and the republican party. In a free country they are responsible to no one else but themselves for their choice. Every good citizen must bow to the popular will as it has been expressed."

STAMFORD SWINGS INTO RANKS OF REPUBLICANS

Stamford, Nov. 4—The republicans elected the mayor and the entire city ticket in the city election here today, John F. Keating, republican, being chosen mayor by a close plurality of 51 votes over Mayor A. N. Phillips, the present incumbent and democratic nominee. The result was not known until the last of the machines was opened this machine giving Keating a clear majority of 200 and assuring his election. Seven out of nine possible republicans were elected to the city council.

DEMOCRATIC MAYOR IN DERBY WAS RE-ELECTED

Derby, Conn., Nov. 4.—Mayor Frank Conway, democrat, was re-elected by a majority of 705 in the city election here today over his democratic opponent, Max Durrschmidt, who had the endorsement of both the republicans and a citizens' ticket.

Republican Mayor in Shelton.

Shelton, Conn., Nov. 4.—Dr. Frank I. Nettleton, republican, was elected mayor of Shelton today in the city election, defeating Mayor Bennett N. Beard, democrat, by 400 plurality.

TO CLEAR MYSTERY IN THE DEATH OF CHARLES ROGERS

New Haven, Nov. 4.—Mystery surrounding the death of Charles Rogers due to a fracture of the skull sustained during an automobile ride in North Haven Saturday evening will be cleared up soon, it was indicated today and it is expected that before the end of this week Coroner Eli Mix will hand down a finding of accidental death.

Miss Marjorie Schneider, who was with Sherman in the automobile at the time of the accident, probably will be absolved from all blame. It is also expected that the coroner will find that Rogers' head came in contact with one of the parts of the machine, and a bump in the roadway furnished the force which resulted in a fracture of the skull.

At first it was believed that the automobile was in collision with another car or tree or telegraph pole. This theory was strengthened by the fact that the door of the automobile was found lying in the road. The investigation disclosed that the door was in the habit of jostling off.

Coroner Mix said today that he was quite sure that the automobile did not figure in a collision, nor did it strike any object.

Miss Schneider, her father and several other witnesses were questioned today by the coroner.

DEATH OF FERDINAND W. PECK, PIONEER CHICAGOAN

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Ferdinand W. Peck, pioneer Chicagoan, died at the Henrotin hospital late today.

Mr. Peck, who was born here July 15, 1848, for years was known as the oldest native of Chicago. He is credited with having initiated in 1877 the building of the structure that houses the Auditoriu mtheatre, home of the Chicago Civic Opera company. He was chairman of the finance committee of the World's Columbian Exposition in 1893, and was appointed by President McKinley the United States commissioner general to the Paris exposition of 1900. He was one of the founders of the Illinois Humane society.

TWO DETROIT PATROLMEN STABBED AT POLLING PLACE

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4.—Patrolman Frank Primovich and Emil Ritz were stabbed here this evening in two fights at the same polling place. The patrolman was stabbed when he attempted to stop a fight between groups supporting rival candidates for mayor. Police reserves quieted the belligerants but after the reserves left, trouble broke out again and Ritz was stabbed in the leg. Both men were removed to a hospital where it was said their wounds were not dangerous. The disorder was the first of any magnitude in the city today.

ORIGINAL ZINOVIEFF LETTER IS ELUSIVE

London, Nov. 4.—(By The A. P.)—An official communique issued tonight says that the committee appointed by the MacDonald cabinet to investigate the authentricity of the Zinovieff letter, the alleged propagandist document from the Moscow international, has been unable to come to any positive concusion.

The communique states that "the original letter has not been produced to or seen by any government department and the reaction (the publication of the letter) was taken on what was not claimed to be more than a copy."

SALE OF EFFECTS OF LATE SENATOR WATSON

NORWICH BULLETIN
Willimantic Office, 771 Main Street
Telephone 1131

Office Hours: 9:30 to 12 m.; 1:30 to 6 p. m.

On an average, 75 per cent of the voters whose names appear on the four district voting lists had cast their ballot at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, indicating that the total vote for a state-national election in Windham would be a record one. The workers from democratic and republican headquarters of the four districts were sparing no effort in bringing every voter to the polls. The count between 3 and 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon follows: First district, 1,013 total list, 760 voted; Second district, 2,088, total list, 1629 voted; Third district, 1,227 total list, 1011 voted; Fourth district, 1,427 total list, 1109 voted.

At the First district the officials were: moderator, Raymond C. Comins; official checker, John C. Barstow; ballot box tender, Frank Monroe; challengers, Dennis S. Shea and George E. Gifford; ballot clerks, Jas. O. Bacon and Maurice Moran; booth tenders, Michael Leary and L. Louis Dansereau. George Macomber was the first man to vote there and Ethel Morrison the first woman. Democratic headquarters were at the home of Leonidas Demers, 46 High street, and republicans at home of the Foti family, 21 High street. Ninety votes were cast during the first hour.

In the Second district, Michael E. Sullivan was moderator; Charles H. Beebe, official checker; Anthony Hevrin, box tender; Frank M. Lincoln and William S. Congdon, challengers; Charles H. Baker and Michael Moriarty, ballot clerks; A. P. Bergeron and George Larkin, booth tenders. One hundred votes were cast the first half hour and 481 votes in two hours and forty minutes. P. Warren was the first man to vote and Cora Stanley the first woman. Headquarters were Republican, 31 Church street; democratic, Shea and Walsh electrical shop.

In the Third district the officials were: Moderator, Alfred P. Abbee of Windham; official checker, James F. Casey; G. Leroy Howlett, box tender; challengers, Anthony Meehan and Charles R. Cone; ballot clerks, Antonio Mayone and Thomas Tennant; booth tenders, John Shannahan and Theodore Delude. Keeney-Lathrop of Windham Center was the first man voter and Margaret Hoey the first woman. One hundred and one votes were cast the first hour. Headquarters for the republicans were at 146 Ives street and for the democrats, 16 Milk street.

In the Fourth district, Lyman Maine was moderator; John B. Edgarton, official checker; John Stoughton, box tender; A. E. Taylor and James F. Twomey, challengers; Dennis McCarthy and E. F. Ellsworth, ballot clerks; J. Schley Donohue and Ralph Snow. The first hour record was broken here, with a vote of 125 ballots. Charles E. Webster was the first man to vote and Miss Anna Chalrazin the first woman. Democratic headquarters were at the Lyman Maine home and republican at the David Lincoln home, 11 South street. Forty-five per cent of the total list, or 320 ballots had been cast at 11:30. The American Thread company plant closed during the afternoon to allow the voters a chance to get to the polls. The weather was ideal for an election day. The women of the town flocked to the polls in large numbers. Considering the number of "inexperienced" voters on hand, comparatively few ballots were spoiled out by the moderators. The prediction was being made as the voting progressed that Fenton would lead Freeman for congress in Windham county by 1,000 votes.

Plans for Donation Day for St. Joseph's hospital were outlined at the last regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the institution, held in the nurses' home. The annual appeal for jellies, preserves, canned fruits, vegetables, etc., will be made, Friday, Nov. 14, is the day designated and donations of edibles or cash will be received at the nurses' home.

By request of the police of Milford, Mass., the local department notified Mrs. Peter St. George of 70 ives street, Tuesday, of the death of her brother, Souverin Charatte, 53, a woodchopper, who was shot in a fight at a woodchopping camp at West Upton earlier in the day. Charatte died at the Milford hospital. The police of that town are making an investigation and have made one arrest, but no charges are being made against the prisoner yet. The dead man resided in Lawrence, Mass., and leaves two sisters, Mrs. Mina Garbois of Beverly, Mass., and Mrs. St. George; also two brothers, Samuel of Canada and Alex of Lawrence. He was born in Canada.

Mrs. Lillian Howlett Wilson Pratt of Warrenville, who died at St. Joseph's hospital here Monday afternoon, was born in Ashford April 21, 1888, a daughter of Albert E. and Mary J. Cushman Howlett. Beside her parents she leaves her husband, Myrot Pratt; and three children, Myron, Rosanna and Edith Anna, of Warrenville; two brothers, Albert of Fiskdale, Mass., and John A. of Ashford; a sister, Mrs. George Jacobs of this city; her grandfather, Orrin Cushman of Warrenville.

The weekly luncheon and meeting of Willimantic Rotary club lasted but forty-five minutes, Tuesday, due to election. In spite of the fact that several of the members are interested in politics, there was a large attendance, but it did not, however, effect the attendance contests, which was omitted for the day. Charley Pomeroy and Tim Weatherhead, two aspiring politicians, led sections of the club in contra-melodies with marked success. The sum of $26 was voted to the Salvation Army Home Service Appeal fund; $10 to the Eastern Connecticut Civic association and $15 to the waitresses of the hotel. President Standish reported on the presentation of the charter meeting of the Exchange club, Monday evening, and asked the program committee to reserve a date for a future joint meeting of the clubs. On account of Armistice Day, when all local stores will be closed, the meeting next week will be held Thursday noon. Arrangements are being made to have the Hartford club out on an evening program, at a meeting of the club later this month.

Walter Lasko, John McNally, Edward McDonald and Delphis Durand, cotton weavers by occupation, and now jobless and broke, pleaded guilty to intoxication charges in the police court Tuesday. They were given individual fines of $16 and costs, amounting to $22.15, which they will work out at Brooklyn jail, due to lack of funds.

CORONER HOLDS INQUEST ON DEATH OF GEO. CAISSE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, Nov. 4.—An inquest on the death of George Caisse, 27, whose life was ended Sunday night as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident just east of South Windham, on the Norwich highway, was held at police headquarters Tuesday forenoon by County Coroner Arthur G. Bill of Danielson. The hearing was private and was recorded by a stenographer. Caisse died at St. Joseph's hospital, where he had been taken following the collision of a taxicab driven by Arthur Coutu, 18, of this city, with the state fence.

Those who testified were Arthur Caisse of Waterbury, brother of the deceased; Raymond Haddad and John Connors, the three of whom sat in the rear seat of the cab at the time of the crash. Arthur Coutu, the driver, and William Anthony, who brought the injured man to the hospital, also testified. The first three named stated that from their position in the rear of the machine they could not give a definite cause for the collision. The machine was proceeding at a fair rate of speed. They had all left Willimantic about 9 o'clock for Taftville and were returning home at 11:30 o'clock when the crash came. Arthur Coutu testified to having his machine hired for the trip. At the time of the crash the machine was not traveling faster than 30 miles an hour and the road was clear of vehicles. He was sure as to the speed as he had glanced at the speedometer just previous to the collision. The right wheels got into the soft dirt on the edge of the road and the nut came off the top of the steering post. In trying to right the machine the steering wheel came off and remained in his hands, causing him to lose complete control of the machine. A section of the fence came through the windshield and struck Caisse on the right side, causing the fatal injuries. William Anthony told of the position and condition of the car as he found immediately after the accident. At the close of the inquest which lasted an hour and a half, Coroner Bill stated that he would reserve his finding which he would announce within a short time. Coutu remains free of any specific charges as yet and is in the custody of his father, Albert Coutu, owner of the taxi used on the trip.

BOLTON

The funeral of Mrs. Jane B. Sumner, 94, was largely attended at the Congregational church last Wednesday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Frederick C. Taylor, pastor of the church. The text was Rev. 14-13, and was in part, "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them." He spoke of the long and consistent life and the good that radiates from a life like Mrs. Sumner's.

The bearers were Leslie Bolton, Howard Sumner, George Sumner and Maxwel Hutchinson. There were beautiful floral offerings. Burial was in Bolton cemetery.

Mrs. Sumner was born in Bolton and has lived in town all her life except in recent years she has spent the time with her daughters in Hartford. She has long been a member of the Congregational church. Her faculties were wonderfully well preserved, until the last few weeks she was about the house and yard, read the daily paper and took a keen interest in all going on about her. The predominating characteristics of Mrs. Sumner's were kindness.

Bolton grange entertained members of Andover and Coventry Granges last week Tuesday evening when neighbors' night was observed. The visiting granges provided the literary program, after which sandwiches, crullers, pumpkin pie and coffee were served to nearly 80.

Mrs. Frederick C. Taylor was appointed a delegate to attend the state convention in Danbury Thursday and Friday with Rev. Frederick C. Taylor, pastor of the local church.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie S. Bolton, Miss Louise J. Hutchinson and Maxwell Leberman attended the Yale-Army game at New Haven Saturday.

Miss Katherine E. Stateon and Clarence Thrall of Cromwell spent the week end with Mrs. Charles N. Loomis.

Miss Annie Herring of Vernon spent Sunday with her brother Clifford Herring.

Emil Clement of Hartford, a former Bolton resident, is in the Hartford hospital recovering from a surgical operation.

Mr. ad Mrs. Charles Carpenter and daughter of Leonard Bridge were recent guests of Miss Laviniac Fries.

TODAY'S EVENTS

Don't forget to pay that election bet today.

And congratulations to Eugene V. Debs—not on the election, but on the beginning of his 70th year.

Rt. Rev. E. L. Parsons, of the Episcopay locese of San Francisco, today celebrates his fifth anniversary as a bishop.

Another celebrant of the day is the ex-Kaiser Wilhelm II, who is two years wedded to the Princess Herminie of Reuss.

Poland, where the wrestlers come from, today celebrates its eighth anniversary as a free and independent republic.

Britain will recall today as the seventieth anniversary of the battle of Inkerman, one of the most notable engagements of the Crimean war.

In England this is also Guy Fawkes Day the anniversary of the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot, which aimed to send king, lords and commons skyrocketing in one grand explosion.

Nearly all of the countries of the two Americas are sending distinguished delegations of medical scientists and public health officials to the Seventh Pan-American Sanitary Conference, which meets in Havana today for a session of ten days.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre.

Everlastingly endeavoring to give the Norwich public as good and diversified a program as possible, the show for the last half of this week, starting tomorrow, is all that could be expected, and more. The Keith vaudeville program is as follows:

Chas. Schofield & Co. in Roy Bryant's latest comedy, The Town Gossip, is presented by a company of four people and is said to be a riot; Anna Schuller and George will appear in Athletic Diversions; Turne and Jaxon have A Little Surprise; Bob Murphy and ——— combine business with pleasure, and last but not least Phil and Eddie Ross, hitting home runs on the field of songland.

The photoplay is a Paramount picture of first magnitude entitled Open All Night. The director is Paul Bern, and the scenarist Willis Goldbeck, and they have achieved something that just at times verges on the brilliant in subtlety and sophistication. For interpretations the best are those of Raymond Griffith, Jetta Goudal and Adolphe Menjou. All three are top-notch in this picture. Griffith contributes the major share of the laughs. His comedy is truly splendid.

Broadway Theatre.

The comfort of the patrons has always been uppermost in the mind of the Broadway theatre management and it is now wished to call the patrons' attention to the new oil burner that is in process of being installed.

There will be a 3,000-gallon tank oil container and that well known burner, the Aetna automatic oil burner, installed. The tank has already arrived and it is expected that the entire machinery will be installed and in operation within two weeks.

This will insure the patrons of a warm, comfortable theatre for the coming cold winter months. The temperature of the theatre will be regulated at will by the use of a thermostat so that an even temperature will at all times prevail, even in the coldest of weather. The management should be congratulated on this new addition to this fine theatre.

Bread Theater

Self-sacrifice of an elder sister for a sister who is wayward and selfish, but very natural at that, is the main theme of Butterfly, Universal-Jewel-Clarence Brown production which will be shown at the Bread theater today. Its love interests and comedy make for fine entertainment.

Laura La Plante, Ruth Clifford, Norman Kerry and Kenneth Harlan are the featured players in Butterfly, which was directed by Clarence G. Brown, from the widely read novel of the same name by Kathleen Norris.

The story is one of the human kind; the characters are such men and women as can be found in most any circle of acquaintances, unless, perhaps, it be Konrad, the violinist, who is a musical genius.

Will Rogers in Don't Park There, and the Fox news make up the remainder of the bill.

Palace Theater

Nazimova, who plays the title role in Edwin Carew's Madonna of the Streets, a story of London life which is now playing at the Palace theater, has made two vaudeville tours in America. Her first was in War Brides and her more recent one Collusion. Nazimova is the Russian emotional actress who was the first to introduce the Russian school of acting into the United States.

Mack Sennett's latest two reel comedy Riders of the Purple Cow and Pathe news complete the bill.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

It was hard to get "a kick" out of Tuesday's election in this town. The stage lacked the setting for a real hectic combat at the polls. With the odds at about 'steen to one on the election of President Coolidge, no special fight over state office, the contest for judge of probate eliminated by a dual nomination, little inerest in the state senatorship campaign and the only real conflict centering about the selection for representatives the political game resolved itself in this community in to much the same kind of situation one might expect with Yale playing a high school team on the gridiron.

It is true, nevertheless, that the republican and democratic organizations did their prettiest to get out a big vote, and in this way they were successful. An ideal day made it possible for many a voter who would not brave a storm to go to the polls and the voting without a doubt was helped among laggards by President Coolidge's last minute non-partisan appeal for citizens to do their duty at the ballot box.

Killingly voted by districts. In the first district of which Danielson is the voting center, First Selectman John A. Gilbert, acted as moderator. In the second district, voting at Dayville, N. Lorne Greig performed a similar service, while in the third district, voting at East Killingly, Claude Moran acted.

Vernon H. Wetherell was the first to cast his vote in the first district, heading the line of voters that had assembled prior to the opening of the polls.

Because of the fact that the town was voting by districts it seemed a bit quiet about the town hall during the day, though there was a steady stream of voters during the greater part of the time the polls were opened here.

On the whole the election, as a national and state affair, was about as quiet and listless, however, as this town has known in a generation.

With the election now shunted along to join the real of past events, the coming observance of Armistice day claims the attention of Danielson and the remainder of the town of Killingly. The observance here is scheduled for next Tuesday. The public is being invited to make it as big an event as the project deserves, in view of the service and sabrifices made by the town's fighting men during the World war. The service men expect this from the public—and it is their due. The observance will afford the public an opportunity to give outward expression of their appreciation of what the men who served in the World war did for the nation.

A parade will feature the Armistice day observance in Danielson. The line will form at the central fire station on Academy street at 7 p. m. and proceed through Academy to Broad street, through Broad to Davis park, to Main through the business section to Tiffany street on the West Side, to the Quinebaug mill, to Main to Railroad square, where it will disband. Joseph Burton will be marshal of the parade.

The parade will be headed by St. James' band. Officers and men of the Servicd battery, 192nd field artillery will act as escort for the members of the American legion and all former service men who will participate in the parade. Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the legion will be next in line, followed by the Son of Veterans, members of McGregor post, G. A. R., and members of McGregor, Women's Relief corps.

The second division will be headed by the Wauregan band, escorting the uniformed members of the Canton, I. O. O. F., Rose of Lima council, K. of C., St. John Baptist society, the fire department under command of Chief A. P. Woodward and the Boy Scouts.

Display of flags and decorations in national colors along the line of march and throughout the borough generally will be appreciated by the former service men.

Though the parade is scheduled for the evening, the service men are hopeful that a general half-holiday throughout the town of Killingly will be declared here next Tuesday afternoon. Friday evening the chamber of commerce will pass upon the proposal that the stores here close next Tuesday afternoon.

The detail of the balloting in Killingly Tuesday is given elsewhere in The Bulletin this morning.

Among those who came a long distance to vote Tuesday was John Blackmar, many years ago a resident of this town and for many years in the government employ at Washington, D. C.

Hundreds here heard with distinctness President Coolidge's final message to the electorate of the country by radio, Monday night.

Recovering from a severe illness, Judge W. Fenner Woodward was able to come down town for sufficient time Tuesday to participate in the election.

Harold B. Atwood was cordially greeted by many of his friends when he came here from Norwich Tuesday to vote in the election.

Parking limit signs were put in position Tuesday by Chief John McFarland in Center street and in Main street south of the railroad crossing.

PUTNAM

While a republican victory was a foregone conclusion as far as Putnam itself is concerned there was activity on the part of both the republicans and democrats, election day, and from early morning until the polls closed at 6 o'clock, automobiles were used in getting out a large number of voters. The democrats established headquarters on Bridge street, while just around the corner the republicans located, checked the voters and by the use of telephones and automobiles got out a large number ho were not over-enthusiastic in exercising their privilege of casting a vote for the president of the United States and other national and state officials.

Tuesday as the feast of St. Charles, patron saint of Rev. Charles F. Bedard, pastor of St. Marv's church. In observance of the day the parish schools ere closed and an entertainment was given by the children.

Father Bedard came to Putnam 13 years ago and under his progressive ministration of the material side of the parish it has developed and expanded to an unusual degree. Some of the developments planned and carried out by the present pastor, ho succeeded Rev. John Van den Noort, who returned to his native country, Holland, are the building of the fine rectory, standing in beautiful grounds; the remodeling and redecorating of the interior of the church; abolishing Notre Dame Academy and using the building for school purposes and razing the overcroded wooden school building and erecting a new modern building at a cost of over $100,000. Father Bedard also bought additional land and greatly enlarged St. Mary's cemetery; changed the approach to the church by building wide granite steps; tore down the old church and improved the land and there are many more minor improvements as monuments to his energy and far-sightedness.

Very few men who went to the polls to vote and received a ballot passed out by Anson Buchanan, 81, who was in charge of giving out ballots in the booth near the door, realized that they were accepting their ballot from a man who in 1864, cast a ballot for Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Buchanan was just 21 years old and his vote was cast on the battle field in the south.

Mr. Buchanan enlisted in Thompson in the 18th Connecticut Volunteers. For a year and a half he carried a musket, but for the remaining year and a half of his service he was a wagoner. A wagoner was the driver of a mule team and was engaged in bringing up company supplies. Mr. Buchanan has voted for every republican candidate since. He is in excellent physical condition and looks much younger than his actual years.

At the meeting of the Putnam school committee, held Monday evening in the office of the secretary, the scarlet fever situation in the Israel Putnam school was under consideration. After a thorough discussion of the aspects of the situation it was voted to close the schools for the remainder of the week. This action was taken in response to an increasing demand on the part of many parents that the children be allowed to remain at home and because of the fact that so many were absent it was extremely difficult to carry on effective work in depleted rooms. It is hoped by the school authorities that parents will exercise unusual precaution in keeping their children at home and not allowing them to congregate with other children, or in public places.

An effort is under way whereby it is believed that school pupils who have deposited money in the school bank, the funds now being locked up in the First National bank, will get their money in full at an early date. The effort is being made in order that the children will not lose confidence in banking institutions. The plan has not as yet been worked out but possibly persons or organizations may furnish the $4,000 required to finance the propogition taking an assignment of the unavailable funds. The concern that came to Putnam and instituted the school bank has offered to meet any deficit up to $250 and local organizations have intimated that they will be willing to lend assistance. The detrimental effect of children losing the first money they ever saved in a bank is apparent and it is to offset this effect that the plan is being advocated.

Miss Agnes Lowery, Mrs. E. Lowery of Pomfret Center, Mrs. R. Kenyon, Mrs. G. W. Gifford attended the social at the Union Baptist church, East Killingly Thursday.

Miss Hazel Gifford spent the week end with her sister, Mrs O. E. Barrett, of North Providence, R. I.

Numbers found something to interest them at the armory, Tuesday evening, when the infantry headquarters basketball team of Putnam played a practice game with the Service battery team of Danielson.

No rain up to Tuesday night, but Danielson is fortunate in having an ample water supply to meet all its needs for week to come.

Among the events scheduled for the state armory at a later date is the coming of a ladies' orchestra of much renown.

Early evening was given up by hundreds here Tuesday to checking up an returns from neighboring towns, with a view to ascertaining how this and that candidate of popular favor fared.

Promoter Frank Barber has more than a score of entries for his amateur boxing tournament to be held at the Casino arena here later in the month. The bouts will bring contestants from various towns and cities of eastern Connecticut.

So many opportunities were afforded Tuesday evening for hearing election returns that there was no great congestion at any one place. About every home in town that has a radio was getting returns and the same was true at the theatres, clubs and in offices about town.

Some lack of uniformity as to grades, etc., has developed as the sidewalk building campaign has developed in Danielson and it has been suggested to official sources that it might be well to have legal provision as to specifications for walks.

W. Irving Bullard of Boston was a visitor in town Monday.

ALL DISTRICTS REPUBLICAN IN TOWN OF KILLINGLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, Nov. 4.—The republicans of Killingly piled up a plurality in Tuesday's election that amazed the leaders of the party. With a surplus of approximately 700 votes on the national ticket and nearly as good a showing on the state ticket, republicans achieved one of their old time victories in this town and there was jubilation in rank and file of the party Tuesday night. Attorney E. L. Darbie was relected a representative and there is a good prospect that he will be named either speaker or leader of the house, when the legislature assembles in January. Benjamin F. Leonard, Mr. Darbie's running mate on the ticket also was elected with a splendid vote. Having both the democratic and republican nominations, Judge Sabin S Russell was reelected judge of probate and received the largest vote ever cast for a candidate for a political office in the town of Killingly, a total of 2137. The republicans carried every district in the town and by a liberal margin. The number of votes cast here was 2202. The summary of the ballot follows:

Governor, r, 1396; d, 740; s, 4; s-l, 3, w, 0; lieutgovernor, r, 1389; d, 730; s, 4; s-l, 3; w, 0; secretary, 1392, r; d, 719; s, 4; s-l, 3; w, 0; treasurer, r, 1394; d, 721; s, 4; s-l, 3 w, 0; comptroller, republican, 1382; d, 726; s, 4; s-l, 3; w, 0; representative in congress, r, 1378; d, 713; s, 4; s-l, 0; w, 0; senator, r, 1384; d, 730; judge of probate, Sabin S. Russell, republican and democratic, 2137; representatives, E. L. Darbie, r, 1355; Benjamin F. Leonard, r, 1343; Francis T. Gagnon, d, 730; John Welch, d, 771; justices of the peace, W. PUTNAM REPUBLICAN BY BIG MAJORITY

President, Coolidge, r 1421; Davis, d, 683; LaFollette, 182; governor, Bingham, r, 1462; Morris, d, 707; lieut. governor, Trumbull, r, 1453; Brooks, d, 704; secretary, Pallotti, r, 1454; Markham, d, 706; treasurer, Rogers, 1456; Meaney, d, 706; comptroller, Salmon, r, 1447; May, d, 706; representative, in congress, Freeman, r, 1424; Fenton, d, 725; state senator, Clarence H. Child, r, 1463; Fernando C. Ross, d, 703; judge of probate, David Flagg, r, 1479; Martin E. Duffy, d, 694; representative, Samuel Rich, r, 1421; William Pechie, r, 1469; Dorothy J. Bartlett, d, 767; Alphonse D. Beausoliel, d, 676. Justices of the peace, republicans 1431, Howard C. Bradford, 1431; Mahlon H. Geissler, 1442; Irving H. Miron, 1454; Joseph J. Dupre, 1430; Archibald Macdonald, Jr., 1438; Arthur S. Macdonald, 1443; Ernest C. Morse, 1440; Eric H. Johnson, 1452.

Justice of the peace, democrat, Geo. Potvin, 721; J. Harry Mann, 704; David D. Beausoliel, 703; John J. McGarry, 722; Alexander Gilman, 723; John O. Fox, Sr., 711; Herbert J. Smith, 707.

JEWETT CITY

The annual meeting of the Read-Herskell Cemetery association was held Monday in the directors' room of the Jewett City Savings bank. Frank E Robinson was elected a trustee for three years. Harry L. Hull was elected clerk and treasurer and trustees for the term of one year. A favorable financial condition shows a treasury balance of $1,153 on deposit.

True to his promise Clark C. Palmer of Hopeville, who has not been out of doors for four weeks, took a little automobile ride to Pachaug, where he voted a straight republican ticket. Mr. Palmer was born Dec. 15, 1834 and voted for John C. Freemont for president in 1856. He has voted for every republican president since, including twice for Abraham Lincoln. Lewis A Thornton only a year younger than Mr. Palmer, visited the polls in Jewett City and voted straight for Coolidge, and so the pact made between these two veteran Griswold voters was kept as per agreement. Mr. Thornton's first vote was for Fremont, and he also has the record of a straight republican vote since 1856.

The new flashing traffic beacons are in operation in the state road at post office square and at Tracy's corner. The lighting scheme is the same as is in use by the government lighthouse department. Acetaline gas is the illuminating agent and after the tanks are filled, and put in operation they will operate automatically for six months. The big iron sea buoys, with a flashing beacon system, are anchored on dangerous reefs off the coast, where they attend to their own affairs all winter.

A record audience at Finn's Opera house each night enjoyed the splitted picture, Richard Barthelmess in The Bright Shawl, and was also given the returns on the screen, as they were received by Ferris Aremony.

Miss Salina Rioux, a Jewett City girl, who is in the government employ in Washington, D. C., was, on account of Connecticut law, unable to vote, as she made a trial to do. The attempts she made, served to show the commendable desire on the part of Miss Rioux to cast her first ballot.

H. M. Dunbar installed his radio set in the anteroom of Mt. Vernon lodge, Tuesday evening, and until an early hour this (Wednesday) morning gave out the returns. It being a stated communication of the order, a large number of the craft were present. Refreshments were an added attraction.

Ovila Ashley is seriously ill at his home on Aspinook street.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Masse and daughter, Teresa, spent the week end at Mrs. Napoleon Masse's, in New Bedford.

The pupils at Riverside Grammar school took a straw vote on the election Tuesday, 518 voting. There were 194 republican votes, 285 democratic and 39 progressive.

GRISWOLD'S RECORD VOTE WAS ALL REPUBLICAN

THE ELECTION RESULT.

From such reports as were available at midnight it was strongly indicated that the voters of the country had emphatically insisted in selecting the next president of the United States, and in making the choice of Calvin Coolidge by a heavy vote. This is a hearty endorsement of his record in office and the policies he has maintained.

Throughout the entire east his support has been ponderous. It can be interpreted in no other way than an insistent, popular demand for the continuance of economy, efficiency and common sense in the administration of our government, and a rally to the support of constitutional government and the upholding of Old Glory.

Statewise there has been a most commendable response to the situation. Not only has the plurality been heavy but there has been shown a determination to give the president a republican congress, the next national legislature getting the solid Haines delegation.

The election of Hiram Bingham as governor by such a large vote not only endorses the state government of the past decade but shows full confidence that it will be continued on the same high plane of sound business.

Norwich appreciated the importance of giving its vote in no uncertain terms to the republican standard bearers by outdoing by hundreds the big vote given President Harding four years ago, and in sending a solid republican delegation to the state legislature.

It was a duty well performed. Norwich, the state and it is believed the nation have done themselves proud.

PROTECTING WOODLANDS.

Even in those states where the governors have acted in suspending the hunting season forest fires have not been entirely prevented. The fact is, of course, that while a big majority of the forest fires are due to the human agent not all of them are and as is well understood the hunter is not the only human agent. Thus it can be expected that there will be prevented, by the restriction of hunting, only such fires as the hunters are actually responsible for. Those which are due to other causes will not be influenced by the absence of the man with a gun.

In the state of Rhode Island the governor has no such authority as has been given to the governor of Connecticut or the governor of Massachusetts to suspend the hunting season during a period of drought. But the excellent use to which such authority has been put in the past few weeks has made an excellent impression in the commonwealth to the east that similar legislation can be expected there in the future.

The hunters may dislike the restrictions, but they cannot be unmindful of the wisdom of such suspension. They know the conditions which exist in the woods, they know what contributions the hunters make to forest fires and they know that woodland fires mean heavy losses to those who own them to say nothing of the menace to other property.

There is another point worthy of consideration at this time. Those who have been keeping in touch with conditions have reported that there were few birds to be found. By just so much as the hunting season is curtailed, by just that much is there a valuable contribution to the conservation of bird life, so much sought for by those who delight in hunting.

Likewise it is quite important that there should be some protection thrown about the wooded area in order to give certain protection to the game. Thus in many ways the suspension of the hunting season is working to the benefit of the hunters and the game as well as to the owners, who in fact are entitled to first consideration.

HIDDEN TREASURE.

Hidden treasure, whether placed by pirates or by the fury of some storm, always has its attractions. It is a magnet that draws quite the same as that special appeal which the unknown polar regions have for those who are fond of adventure and exploration.

Since the war, when so many vessels were sent to the bottom, there has been greater attention than ever given to the work of salvage. This has been encouraged in no small degree by the fact that new inventions have made it possible to go to greater depths under water and to work in such positions. Whatever may have been the encouragement offered by the valuable cargoes sent to the bottom by the German submarines, certainly one of the greatest spurs to salvage activities has been given by the successful efforts resulting in the recovery of $30,000,000 in bullion from the Laurentic.

While not as much is at stake in the case of the Merida which went down off the Virginia coast 13 years ago with metals and jewels valued at $3,000,000, it nevertheless serves as an attraction. The fact that it lies on the ocean bottom has never been lost sight of. Several expeditions have been organized to recover the gold, silver and jewels but without success. Interesting news now is to the effect that the wreck has been located. Locating and extricating it will require no small amount of work, but in the interest of preventing waste it is to be hoped that the efforts will ultimately be crowned with success. There is a better chance to get it than to recover what Capt. Kidd is reported to have hid.

THE NEW G. & E. OFFER.

When the special committee named by the court of common council reported on the recent proposition of the Eastern Connecticut Power company and decided against the offer of that company to purchase the plant, or to furnish power to the gas and electrical department, it was stated that "The value of the plant is, in your committee's opinion, well over $2,000,000 and we feel that substantially more than $2,000,000 could be obtained for it if put up for sale in the open market." The committee therefore decided against placing the question of sale before the people, upon which they must act if the plant is to be disposed of.

There is now before the council a proposition to buy the plant for $2,250,000 cash or $2,500,000 on time. There have been named on the committee to consider it three of those who served upon the previous special committee.

There arises the same question as was faced at the time the former offer was made. It must be looked at in a straightforward businesslike manner. The offer would appear to coincide rather closely with what the special committee considers the value of the plant. It provides another opportunity to replace the expensive manufacture of electricity in a small plant with the cheap cost of generation in a large plant, for there is no reason to suppose that any company that might buy would attempt to operate the local electrical plant. The chance that Norwich has been given to save at least $56,000 a year would be quickly seized.

In view of the new offer, will the people of the city be given a chance to say whether they want to sell?

CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE.

Rare are the instances where those who are charged with the responsibility of giving warning and furnishing protection at railroad crossings are remiss in their duties. More often is it the case that the warnings are disregarded, their efforts to prevent accidents and death laughed at, the obstacles they raise to safeguard the public are broken down or they are even run down themselves in the performance of their duty.

From such facts as have been disclosed concerning the crushing of a trolley car by a freight train in Chicago, where the tracks of the railroad are crossed by the highway, the towerman who was stationed there to lower the gates and hold up traffic was grossly negligent. In addition it would appear to be one of those instances where he had deliberately put himself in an unfit condition to render the service that was expected of him.

It would appear from all accounts that it was a locality where such a towerman would require all his faculties at all times if he is to render the protection that is expected of him and to hold the reliance that the public is required to place in him.

When he befuddled his mind by the use of intoxicants, as he admits doing on the night when the collision occurred that caused at least ten deaths and injured many others, he was inviting just what happened. To give that as an excuse offers little consolation to those whose lives were snuffed out or those who are made to suffer through injuries.

There can be no question as to the dangerous character of the crossing. The provisions for safeguarding it indicate that, but like the failure to obey signals, or the unwillingness to respect warnings, it was a display of criminal negligence which cannot fail to get the serious attention of the authorities. It wasn't an instance where there was a refusal to stop but a case where confidence was placed in a human agent who was unfit to perform his duties.

FROM LUCILLES DIARY

When Nancy Fenwyck told me that she and Dick were going to take the baby, Mitie Ann, and camp for two weeks on an island in Shadow lake, Wisconsin, it sounded so delightfully cool and peaceful that I immediately longed to go with them.

"I'm afraid you would find it stupid, Lucile," said Nancy in reply to my tentative remarks. "It's a tiny island, and we shall be quite alone, except for Dick's brother John, you know."

"But, Nancy, I should adore the quiet and the 'back to nature,' and I could help with darling Ann. I guess you'll simply have to let me go along," I insisted laughingly. It was finally arranged that I should travel to Shadow lake with Nancy, for it happened that some business came up that would keep Dick in town a day longer than he had expected. But the very day that we were to go George Reguler telephoned to remind me of a promise I had made to motor to Hope lake with him for the week-end with my friends, Miss Belinda and her brother Ben, at Hilltop.

"You understand, don't you dear?" I asked Nancy when I hastily telephoned that I should have to join her three days later at Shadow lake, owing to this engagement which had slipped my mind. Her reply was a little chilly.

I arrived at Lost Island, as they called their camp, on Tuesday afternoon. Dick's welcome lacked warmth. He assisted me from the boat which took me from the mainland, and said that Nancy and Ann were sleeping. He said the trip alone with the baby had been almost too much for Nancy and that if she had told him that I should not be with her, he would not have let her come without him and stay alone on Lost Island a week in the little cabin.

"Oh, did she have to do that?" I exclaimed. "What a brick she is! That is something to boast about. Quite a Robinson Crusoe stunt!"

Dick would not respond to my gayety, and I began to wonder if John Fenwyck would grow into as boresomely serious a person as his elder brother. I was glad I was going to see him at rather close quarters, and I was charmed when I heard that he was coming on the morning train. I got Dick to give me a lesson in running the little motor boat, while Nancy was preparing supper. I thought it very simple, and in the morning I stole out early to the beach and I started the motor boat without any trouble, and I set forth to meet John. I thought it would be fun to be at the train when he stepped off and tell him that I was running a motor-boat taxi. Alas, my pleasant expectations were not fulfilled, for in some way or other I killed the engine, and try as I would I simply could not start it again. It was certainly careless of Dick not to have left a paddle in the boat. There I was floating around under a sun which was growing hotter every minute, quite helpless until after what seemed hours and hours, but in reality only about fifty minutes I managed to attract a fisherman, who towed me back to Lost Island.

"Good gracious, Lucile, what happened?" asked Nancy. "Poor little Ann is almost starving for her milk. Dick always goes over for it early in the morning. I don't see why you took the boat out alone."

"Why, you see, I thought it would be nice to meet John, and—"

"Why, didn't I tell you I had a wire from him last night, saying he isn't coming till next week?" asked Dick, as he sprang into the boat, and began to fuss with the engine which it took him some time to adjust. He does not appear very clever with machinery.

I right then and there decided to go home, for I could see that I was no real help to Nancy. The baby was cross with me, and I have no talent for camp cookery. Dick was obliging about taking me over to the train, which I was mighty glad to board for Chicago. I see no charm in roughing it with an infant and no cook, but there's no accounting for tastes.—Chicago News.

Fairbanks Wanted to be a Tragedian

Marvelling at the triumphs of great tragedians he met, Douglas Fairbanks longed to be a star in serious drama. His father, a Shakespearean actor, entertained Booth, Barrett, Mansfield and other famous actors at his home in Denver, where the boy met them and resolved to follow in their footsteps.

After attending East Denver High school and Jarvis Military Academy in Denver, he decided to be an engineer and entered the Colorado School of Mines at Boulder. But the lure of the stage was too strong and at 17 he joined the company of Frederick Warde, the tragedian, appearing first as Florio in The Duke's Jester and later in Shakespearean and other productions.

Quitting the stage after appearing in several minor parts he became an order clerk for a Wall Street concern, then with two friends worked his way to Europe on a cattle boat. Returning to this country, he studied law, but soon gave it up to work in a machine manufacturing plant. Later he went to Cuba and Yucatan, earning his way.

Back on the stage, he again strove to be a tragedian, but could obtain part only in comedy productions. Feeling that the steps were only a temporary diversion, he watched for an opportunity to assume more serious roles.

Made a star in Hawthorne of the U. S. A., he was well received. While playing the leading part in All For a Girl, he recalled a joke heard at luncheon, broke into a grin during a serious part of the play and spoiled the scene, but his smile began making his reputation. The play failing soon afterward, he was given cheerful parts in The Gentleman From Mississippi, The Cub and other productions, and won success.

At 23 he became a star in moving pictures, first appearing in The Lamb. To portray the American boy as he conceived him, he introduced physical methods and after that had to combine his captivating smiles with athletic "stunts."

A year later he headed his own company. Today he is one of the most popular of cinema stars and is producing pictures of a more serious character.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

J. Campbell White, who announces plans for a Laymen's Church league, aiming to develop the spiritual life of the churches to a larger extent, has had wide experience in the organization and direction of social and religious movements on a large scale. He was one of the chief organizers and for many years secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, and later a leader in the Interchurch World Movement. A native of Wooster, Ohio, and a graduate of the university there, Dr. White immediately after his student days were over, he served as college secretary of the Y. M. C. A. After a year of this work he resigned his position to become traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement. In 1893 he returned to the Y. M. C. A. as general secretary of that organization in Calcutta, India, where he remained for ten years. Since 1907 his activities have been largely in connection with the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

LHASA

"Lhasa, capital of Tibet, the Forbidden City which in all its existence has been visited by only a handful of white men, is reported about to make a jump into twentieth century methods by constructing a hydro-electric plant," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society, which quotes from a communication to The Society from John Claude White, one of the few Westerners ever admitted to the city.

"Lhasa, the Place of the Gods, well deserves its name, as anything more beautiful can hardly be imagined than the vision of the sacred city set against its magnificent background of snow-capped mountains. Whether seen on a brilliant day, under a cloudless sky, during a thunderstorm, painted in soft, glowing tints by one of the wonderful sunsets seen only in Tibet, or by moonlight when with outlines softened and toned down the Potala stands out like a phantom castle in ghostly splendor from among the shadows of its surrounding trees, all aspects are equally lovely.

"The Potala is by far the finest building and eclipses all others in the beauty of its appearance. The present Potala was commenced in 1645 by the Grand Lama Nag-wang Lobsang-gya-tsho, on the same site as a former building; and there is no doubt, I think, that the city is an ancient one and was in existence more than 1,200 years ago, although we can find no records giving any authentic historical account.

"The Potala dominates everything in Lhasa. The enormous mass of buildings, partly monastery, partly palace, and partly fortress, is built on a rocky ridge which stands out in the center of the valley, commanding the town and dominating the landscape. Its architecture is magnificently grand, bold in outline and design; it towers above everything, with its gray white walls and buttresses, its immense flights of steps and terraces dotted with red-robed monks ascending and descending from religious ceremonies; its dull madder-red temple walls, with carved and painted windows, showing behind black brown yak's hair hangings, surmounted by its gilded roofs and set in almost parklike surroundings of trees and meadows, with snow-capped mountains on all sides and the Kyichhu, the River of Delight, running clear in many channels through groves of willow or poplar.

"It is indeed a fitting shrine for the heart of any religion, and with such surroundings it is difficult to understand how the present form of Buddhism (Lamaism) as practiced in Tibet, could ever have sunk to the depths of degradation it has reached.

"But the interior of the Potala is curiously disappointing, as it consists principally of a mass of dark passages and cells, a certain number of halls and flights of steps.

"Among the larger halls were several striking ones, especially that in which was the gilt tomb of Nagwang-Lob-sang Gya-tsho; the dome of this hall extended upward through several stories. On the tomb there was a great deal of metal ornamentation and the whole formed a fine piece of work. On each side of the principal tomb were similar ones of smaller dimensions, those of Dalai Lamas less notable.

"In another room of fairly large dimensions the walls were lined with shelves from floor to ceiling, each shelf closely packed to its uttermost extent with images of Buddha. There must have been thousands of all metals—gold, silver, copper, brass—and many were of very beautiful workmanship. In another chapel there were hundreds of golden butter lamps.

"It would be quite impossible to give even a semblance of a plan of this conglomeration of buildings, and it would take weeks, perhaps months, to visit every part of the enormous structure, capable of holding thousands of people.

"From the flat roofs of the Potala the whole valley lies mapped out below—the town to the east, a mass of low, two-storied, substantially built houses interspersed with temples; the Jo-Khang, the most holy shrine in Tibet; the Chagpori, or school of medicine; the Turquoise Bridge (Yutok Sampa,) so called on account of its green-blue tiled roof; the many channels of the River of Delight (the Kyi-chhu,) beyond which lies the Arsenal, and to the north the Monastery of Sera under the hills, containing 5,000 monks. Further on the Debung Monastery with 10,000 inmates; the gilded roofs of the Nachung-chos-kyong; and the Ling-Kor, the Sacred Road, along which all devout Buddhists prostrate themselves in the hope that all their earthly sins may be forgiven, could be seen in places.

"There are monks everywhere in or near Lhasa. The three large monasteries of Sera, Debung and Gahdan alone contain about 20,000 and with all the other temples and monasteries the number cannot fall far short of 30,000, while the lay population of Lhasa only amounts to about 15,000 of whom 9,000 are women, who, strange to say, carry on practically the whole of the trade done. The remaining 6,000 males are about 3,000 Tibetans and 3,000 foreigners—Chinese, Nepalese, Kashmeris, etc."

A Little Talk on Thrift

An eminent American psychologist recently emphasized in a public statement the importance of thoroughness in the scheme of human progress. His advice could be epitomized in the following paragraph:

"Do not scatter your mental forces. Concentrate on those lines of endeavor in which you naturally excel. Thoroughness will get you further along toward your goal than versatility. This is the age of specialization. Choose your work and then give to it your complete devotion and ability."

Not doing things well is about as bad as not doing them at all.

This is one of the lessons of thrift. Superficiality is the cause of many a personal failure in life. It is one phase of thriftlessness. The problems of life are so large and complex, and the range of human endeavor so far-reaching that effective individual effort must be restricted to certain definite and somewhat limited lines.

There is an old proverb to the effect that "the fellow with one idea generally grows rich, while he who calls him a fool dies poor."

It is enough to have succeeded well in just one thing. It is better to attain worth-while results in a single department of life than to have tried many things and failed in all.

Do not be a jack-of-all-trades. Be thorough in whatever you undertake. Merely skimming the surface is self-deception. Learn to do your job so well that no one else can do it as well as you can. In due time the opportunity will come for greater tests and responsibilities. It is in this way that the processes of progress unfold.

It is good thrift to concentrate and give the best that is in you. Men who do things are among life's successes.—American Society for Thrift.

PLAINFIELD STILL COUNTING 751 SPLIT BALLOTS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Plainfield, Nov. 4.—At midnight, Tuesday, six hours after the polls had been closed the results of the election in the town of Plainfield were unknown. A total of 2375 votes were cast out of a total registration of 2600 electors and there were 751 splits. The straight tickets voted showed 688 for the democrats and 651 for the republicans with La Follette running a poor third with 42 votes. In counting about 500 of the split ballots the indications were that the result hung in the balance as these were running about equal.

In the straight vote the democrats had a plurality of 37 votes, but it was evident that this lead would be changed when the vote was all counted Wednesday morning. At 1.30 o'clock over 250 ballots remained uncounted and the counters were working hard to complete the check.

Elected Senator, 19th District

COOLIDGE HAS 1,950 PLURALITY OVER DAVIS IN TOWN ELECTION

A smashing victory for the entire republican ticket, national, state and local, was recorded in the town of Norwich, Tuesday, bringing a democratic rout so complete that even the rock-ribbed democratic district of Greeneville was broken and marched into the republican column.

Calvin Coolidge, republican candidate for president, led his democratic opponent, John W. Davis, by 1,950 votes with 4,996 to 3,046, outstripping the Harding figures of four years ago, when the vote of 4,883 for Harding gave a plurality of 1,559 over the vote of 3,289 for Cox.

Robert La Follette, who was on the progressive and socialist tickets for president received a total of 756 votes, of which 646 were cast on the progressive ballots and 111 on the socialist. La Follette apparently made his greatest inroads upon the democratic ranks as the vote of that party for president was 253 less than the party vote for president four years ago in this town. On the other hand, Coolidge had a vote that was 108 larger than the republican vote for president four years ago.

Vote For Governor.

Both the republican and democratic candidates for governor ran slightly ahead of the national ticket and Hiram Bingham, republican led his democratic opponent, Charles G. Morris, by 1,875 votes, with 5,038 for Bingham and 3,153 for Morris. Jasper McLevy on the socialist ticket received 111 votes; Joseph McKay, Jr., on the socialist-labor ticket 25 votes; and William Mackenzie on the worker's ticket eight votes.

For Congressman.

Richard P. Freeman was endorsed for his seventh term in congress by a vote of 5,010 against 3,172 for Frank P. Fenton, a plurality of 1,838 over his democratic opponent, James D. Williams, the socialist candidate received 103 votes and William P. Barstow, on the prohibition ticket, 9 votes.

Republican Senator.

Norwich made sure of republican representation in the next legislature by election of a republican senator from this district, the 19th, and two republican representatives from the town.

Lee Roy Robbins, for senator, defeated Hermon J. Gibbs by 4,894 to 3,276, a plurality of 1,620. Mr. Gibbs has been in the senate during the past term.

Republican Representatives.

George G. Engler, running for representative against Anson Grover, defeated him by a plurality of 1,737 on 4,962 votes to 3,225, while Charles W. Cassidy polled 4,963 votes, which gave a plurality of 1,468 over Albert W. Lillibridge who polled exactly the same number of votes as Mr. Grover. Mr. Lillibridge has just completed a term in the legislature.

Probate Judge.

Judge Nelson J. Ayling, who had no opposition for the judgeship in the Norwich probate district, polled a total vote in the town 3,181, of which 5,036 came from the republican electors and 2,153 from the democratic electors.

Nearly 85 Percent Vote.

Appeals to get out the vote, coupled with the active efforts of the party workers, had their results and made busy scenes at the polling places all day long. Out of the total of 10,519 voters who were registered on the lists in the six districts of the town, 6,103 being men and 5,146 women, there were 8,908 who voted, which was between 84 and 85 per cent. of the total. The men voting numbered 5,149 and the women 3,762.

In the three districts the women covered themselves with honor by the way they turned out to vote.

In the fourth district, Norwich Town, only 27 of the 462 women registered failed to vote, while in the fifth district, Taftville, there were only 276 out of a total of 322 women who did not exercise their franchise. The sixth district, East Side, beat both of these records by having all but 26 of the 275 women voting.

The following was the number registered and voting in each district:

	Registered	Voted
Fifth District—
Men	3,297	1,988
Women	1,956	1,625
Second District—
Men	1,042	861
Women	782	573
Third District—
Men	891	780
Women	666	574
Fourth District—
Men	568	461
Women	463	435
Fifth District—
Men	771	664
Women	322	293
Sixth District—
Men	484	382
Women	275	249

Republican Pluralities.

Every voting district in the town gave republican pluralities, with the Coolidge plurality of 1,950 leading all the candidates.

On the presidential vote the republican pluralities in the six districts were as follows: First, 922; Second, 383; Third, 111; Fourth, 265; Sixth, 248.

Seven Tickets on Machine.

There were seven tickets on the voting machines this year, appearing in the following order: Republican, democratic, socialist, socialist labor, La Follette-Wheeler, progressive workers, and prohibition, but not all having a full list of candidates. This made the assembling of the complete vote by Moderator M. E. Jensen and his assistants at the town hall a longer process than usual after the polls had closed at 5 o'clock.

Each of the three machines at the town hall recorded over 1,000 votes, showing respectively 1,262, 1,261 and 1,091.

The count was completed about 7.30 and officially announced then to the four or five men still remaining, closing the long day's labors for the election officials.

Voting Starts Early

Fair weather ushered in election day and all election officials were on hand at the various district polling places as the hour of 6 o'clock approached. In the central district at the town hall, Registrars Tyler D. Guy and Cornelius J. Downes were on hand early and the voting started in briskly when the polls were declared open, by Moderator Martin E. Jensen. From 6 o'clock on there was a steady stream of voters at the town hall, and the three machines were kept fairly busy throughout the day. During the first hour at the central district 55 women cast their votes and at 9 o'clock a total of 276 women had cast their ballots. Miss Barbara E. Allen, one of the challengers for the women's list, was the first woman to vote in the central district, and the first man to cast his vote at the town hall was Frank L. Kimball of Laurel Hill avenue.

At noon time 1134 men and 782 women had voted in the central district, the women showing the largest percentage in comparison to the number of voters in the district. The voting in the other five districts of the town went along smoothly.

New Voting Booths Used

Two new voting booths were used for the first time Tuesday. These are located in the West Side and Greeneville districts. The new stations which are of brick construction were erected to provide suitable and permanent voting places for the two districts. Heretofore the voting places have been shunted from place to place. One of the new stations is located at Falls avenue, near the Central Vermont railroad station, and this takes care of the voting in the second, or West Side district. The other station has been erected on the grounds of the Greeneville grammar schools. Both booths are indentical in construction and are equipped with electric lights and stoves.

The booths which were built by Contractor Patrick F. Sweeney, are ample to take care of the voting in the districts. As the voters appear at the booths to register their ballots, they pass into the booth through the front entrance and after voting leave the booth through a rear exit. This keeps a steady stream of voters passing through the booths.

William P. Ward was the first man to vote in the second district and Ella Stark was the first woman to register her vote in that district. In the third district, Greeneville, the first man to vote was Fitch A. Dolbeare and the first man to vote was Mary Whitehead. Irving W. Stark was the first man to register his ballot in the fourth district, Norwich Town. During the first hour 73 votes had been cast.

Voting was particularly lively in the Taftville or fifth district. Mrs. E. Hindle was the first woman to vote there and the first man to vote in that district was Maurice Keefe. In the first four hours nearly one-third of the 1100 voters in the district had registered their ballot.

Her First Ballot

Mrs. Lucy A. Bromley, 88 years old, of No. 27 Hedge avenue, cast her first vote Tuesday. In spite of her advanced years Mrs. Bromley walked from her home to the sixth district polling place and cast her ballot. She was taken back to her home by automobile. In the first hour 107 voters had cast their ballots in the sixth district. The first voter in the district was Bertram Young.

The election officials in the six districts were as follows:

First district—Martin E. ensen, moderator; James P. Sheridan and Frank I. Royce, checkers; Harry W. House, Edward McKay, Barbara Allen and Mrs. Charles W. Frink, challengers; Herbert W. Lucas, Charles Rodden, Albert A. Clark, Frank W. Brewster, John J. Barry and Thomas Fields, machine tenders; Bruno Mathieu and John P. O'Sullivan, door tenders.

Second District—Roderick F. Sullivan, moderator; John S. Oat and Annie F. Ward, checkers; Catherine A. Crimmins, Elizabeth F. Ward, Carrie I. Armstrong and William W. Ives, challengers; Charles S. Stamm, William M. Dougherty, Joseph T. Manchester and William J. Koons, machine tenders; John O'Connell and Jean Williams, door keepers.

Third district—Arthur R. Blackledge, moderator; Robert A. Gray and Geo. Farrell, checkers; William Flemming, Timothy Donovan, Emma Breed, John Malone, machine tenders; John Scott, Walter Grumko, Bessie Murray and Mary Maloney challengers; Allen Gordon and John Howarth, door keepers.

Fourth district—Frank B. Lathrop, moderator; S. Howard Bishop and John O'Connell, checkers; Lewis J. Lynch and Henry Wagner, challengers; William R. Stott and Thomas P. Sheehan, machine tenders and John Banning doorkeeper.

Fifth district—Daniel Shea, moderator; L. D. Packer and Thomas Phalen, checkers; Donais Simino and M. Thomas, machine tenders: David Lambert and Louis L'Heureux, challengers.

Sixth district—J. G. Rainey, moderator; James F. Fraizer and Edwin Williams, checkers; Elmer Haskell and Kenneth Gibson, challengers; Merton Rainsford and John Sullivan, machine tenders.

A proposition has been advanced that in future elections the police court room be used as the polling place for the first district. It was pointed out that it is extremely difficult for the elderly residents of the district to climb the several flights of stairs to cast their votes, and also inconvenience others who do not care to climb the stairs to the town hall on the second floor.

CHARLES W. CASSIDY
Elected Representative

WESTERLY DEMOCRATS PROTEST ELECTION THERE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, R. I., Nov. 4.—Thomas V. B. Clancy, chairman of the Westerly democratic town committee, protested the election here today at 3 o'clock, claiming that the ballot boxes were hidden from view, hiding them from people outside the guard rail, and that this constitutes a violation of the law.

A complaint was also made against the police for not having an officer at the door.

Lewis Stanton, moderator for the Second district, refused to recognize the complaint. Ira B. Crandall, in the First district, said "he would give it further consideration."

The vote was as follows:

Republican—Coolidge 2255; for United States senator, Jesse H. Metcalf, 2219; for representative in congress, Second district, Richard S. Aldrich, 2256; for governor, Aram J. Pothier, 2348; for lieutenant governor, Nathaniel W. Smith, 2230; for secretary of state, Ernest L. Sprague, 2231; for attorney general, Charles P. Sisson, 2220; for general treasurer, Richard W. Jennings, 2225; for senator in general assembly, Abraham P. Datson, 2186; for representative in general assembly, Clifford W. Campbell, 2315; unexpired term, Metcalf, 2199.

Democrat—Davis 823; for United States senator, William S. Flynn, 1023; for representative in congress, Second district, Charles M. Hall, 963; for governor, Felix A. WINDHAM ADDS TO THE REPUBLICAN LANDSLIDE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, Nov. 5.—Casting the largest vote in its history Windham fell in line with the republican landslide of its neighboring towns Tuesday and elected its entire republican ticket by substantial majorities, making exception of its town clerk, Frank P. Fenton, as democratic candidate for representative in congress. Fenton outran his ticket by nearly 400 votes, and polled a majority of 101 votes over Richard P. Freeman, republican candidate.

Urgele La France, republican candidate for senator reached the high water mark with a total of 2695 votes, giving him a maority in Windham of 644 over his democratic rival.

Although not running over 275 votes for any of the electors listed under the socialist ticket, that ticket accounted for a decided cut in the democratic national vote.

The counters at the four voting places worked hard to get out an early announcement with the exception of the third district where the usual deliberation over the ballot was found necessary, causing that district to come in last with its return.

The total vote was secured on an adding machine and the elective officers, representatives and all of the justices of the peace were declared elected by Raymond C. Comins, moderator of the first district at 12.05 a. m. Wednesday.

The vote was an increase of about 400 over the former record of more than 4300 in 1922. Less than 1,000 of the electors, 5,789 in number failed to vote. The results follow:

Coolidge, r, 2651; Davis, d, 1950; LaFollette, p, 274.

Governor, Bingham, r, 2682; Morris, d, 2082.

Lieut. Governor, Trumbull, r, 2626; Brooks, d, 2040.

North Stonington—Gray, r, 326.

Garden Curiosities

The latest addition to this season's garden freaks was found by Arthur C. Miller of Auburn, N. Y., when in digging potatoes he found one spud affectionately wrapped around the end of a horse bit. Another unusual specimen in his garden is a squash vine which has produced two squashes, one of the green variety, the other yellow.

WINDHAM HIGH AND CHAPMAN TECH ONLY TEAMS THAT ARE UNBEATEN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Nov. 4.—Saturday, Nov. 1, dawned upon two unsuspecting football elevens. It was the date fate had set aside for the undoing of what looked to be a propitious season to both. But the elimination law must be catered to and these two teams had to accept defeat which may ultimately spell permanent disaster as far as the high school championship of this state is concerned. These two elevens in question which fell by the wayside in what is proving to be one of the keenest races for the topmost position in high school circles, were Bulkeley and Bridgeport High.

Bulkeley, with one of the stiffest high school schedules of all teams, met its sixth opponent on the schedule with a record that had not been equalled before in high school circles in this state for several years past. But New Britain High, carefully placing its teams with discretion and discrimination upon its schedule, was fully prepared to meet the unscored and undefeated orange and black eleven. It did mean considerable to both teams, and although New Britain does not boast of the victories among the select high school teams that Bulkeley boasts of yet, the big red-jerseyed machine found Bulkeley a vulnerable opponent to the tune of 13 to 0. It was a decisive victory to say the least, and unless New Britain loses in some of its succeeding games, it is most likely to be crowned the champion of high schools in this state. Sharing that same unlikable fate, was the potent and confident Bridgeport High school eleven, considered by many sporting critics as the champion high school eleven last season, going through the season without a defeat. But if Bridgeport expected an easy time with Hartford High, she was disappointed and lost an opportunity to be among the select undefeated teams in this state, losing to Hartford High by a 6 to 0 score.

The practical elimination of both Bulkeley and Bridgeport Highs from the championship chase leaves a select list of three teams in this state that may yet disprove what claim the New Britain eleven has to the championship. These teams—Torrington High and Stamford High—came through the week without so much as a blur upon their escutcheons. Torrington was idle because Weaver High cancelled their game with this eleven, while Stamford engaged a team from New York state. This brings us to several other claims which are at present presented to the writer of the article. These claims of right to be included in the championship possibilities number two elevens from this section of the state who have for the present clean records.

These teams are Windham and Chapman Tech elevens. The latter eleven is a member of the Eastern Connecticut league, while the former eleven has no connections with this league. Windham's claim for the championship lies in the fact that this team to date has accumulated a record that is clean in every way. So is the situation that confronts the dopesters concerning Chapman Tech's record to date. As far as the claim to the championship goes, the present league leaders of the Eastern Connecticut league have as much claim to the honors as Windham. This dispute will probably be settled this week when Tech and Windham clash.

But while it is admitted that both Tech and Windham should have not been omitted from the logical contenders to the title, yet the writer of the article is in the dark as to why the two elevens should be included among that select list which has such leading high school elevens as Bridgeport, Crosby, New Britain and a few others. In order to be included as a possible contender for the title, either Windham or Chapman Tech should play at least three games with some of the leading high school teams of the state. It is true that it is not so difficult to register a victory over such teams as Killingly, which has but a small number of students to pick a team from. Even Bristol High could not be considered a logical contender for the title. There are other high school teams in the state almost in the same situation as Windham is about being recognized as a possible contender for the title. This team is Fairfield High, and for the reason named above this team cannot be considered a real contender until it has opposed three or more of the leading high school teams in this state.

It is true that a clean record gives or should give a team some consideration in the final accounting. But what of the high school teams whose schedules are made up of undefeated teams week after week. With Antonia, the toughest schedule any one team in this state encounters is Bulkeley High. It can be added that Bulkeley has the least chance of any of the other teams in the state to win the championship due to the unusual tough schedule, which ranks with the strongest put up with by any team. After Bulkeley's game with Norwich Free Academy, it encounters two teams which have records that place these teams in that select class of undefeated schools. These teams met in successive weeks, compose of Torrington and Stamford High. These teams are not the only tough nuts Bulkeley had to crack, for games played with Naugatuck, Crosby and New Britain and contests with Springfield Technical High and Rhode Island State College freshmen have been played in following Saturdays.

Because the Bulyeley schedule includes some of the top elevens in the state, the defeat at the hands of New Britain may yet give this team a tie in case of a clean sweep in the remaining games results. New Britain's schedule includes more out of state teams and prep school elevens than does Bulkeley's, and because of a single defeat Bulkeley's hopes for the championship are not altogether banished from the horizon.

In an interview with Coach W. R. Canty of the Bulkeley High school eleven in regards to the claim Windham made for the championship, he stated that the Bulkeley team was ready to meet the up-staters in a game on Wednesday of next week or the following week. It will either further Windham's chance for the state championship or make that team drop all thoughts of entertaining hopes for the top honor.

Further developments in the race will be pursued diligently, although the general run of the top notch elevens will either remain idle over the week end or engage teams which will have no bearing on the state title whatsoever. The present status of the teams considered have no golden path to traverse in order to keep in the running. Thanksgiving Day will close all activities in this line.

TO HONOR OLYMPIC HEROES AT COLUMBUS

Columbus, O., Nov. 4.—In the presence of thousands of spectators, assembled for the Indiana-Ohio State football game here Saturday, tribute will be paid the six Buckeye athletes who have borne scarlet and grey abroad in the Olympiads of 1912 and 1924. Originally planned to honor the four Ohioans who were members of this year's Yankee team, the ceremonies were expanded to include the two men who won places on the 1912 American team, which competed at Stockholm.

The sextet includes six runners and two wrestlers. The fromer are Garnet Wickoff, middle distance runner and captain of the 1912 varsity track team, whose home is in Columbus; Clement C. Cooke Columbus, sprinter and broad jumper; C. Russell Payne, Cincinnati, middle distance and steeplechase runner, and George D. Guthrie, Elyria, hurler. Cooke and Wickoff were the first Ohio state athletes ever to win a place on an American Olympic team.

ADDED MONEY FOR RACES AT NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, Nov. 4.—The Business Men's racing association announced a new $25,000 added money stake at the fair grounds for three year olds and upwards. It will be known as the New Orleans handicap at one mile and a sixteenth and will be run Saturday, Feb. 7, 1925.

The racing season opens here Thanksgiving Day at Jefferson Park and at the Fair grounds January 1.

West Ends Defeat Rovers

Sunday afternoon at the Fairgrounds the fast West Ends football team defeated the heavy Falls Rovers football team by the score 6 to 0 in the second game of the three games series.

The series now stands one victory for each team as the Falls defeated the West Ends two weeks ago.

The game was called in the third quarter because one of the Falls men was knocked out and could hardly stand on his feet, but refused to leave the game, so Capt. Hyatt of the West Ends and Capt. McGrath of the Rovers decided to stop the game. D. Blinderman was the chief ground-gainer for the West Ends. He made the one touchdown of the day by one of his famous end runs. There was no individual star on the line as every West Ender was a stonewall.

Next Sunday these two teams will play a third game to decide the winner of the series.

The lineup for the winners:

Yalen center; Baldigini and Greene guards; Gordwan and Haggerty, tackles; Butova and Rutchick, ends; R. Blinderman, quarterback; Capt. Hyatt and Sadinsky halfbacks; Dave Blinderman fullback.

Mamel was timekeeper and referee.

Final Series Checks Mailed

Chicago, Nov. 4.—Final distribution of checks in the 1924 world's series was made tonight by baseball Commissioner Landis, to the New York Yankees, second place finishers in the American league. The total amount was $24,821.24 which was divided into 28 shares of $992.69.

EASTERN CONN. LEAGUE BOWLING MEETING THURSDAY

GUARDING AGAINST FOREST FIRES IN NEW YORK STATE

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Forest ranger patrols, aided by residents of the districts, patrolled the timberlands of southeastern New York state last night and today to guard against the starting of new forest fires and to check the spread of several which have been burning since yesterday. At midnight it was believed the more serious of the conflagrations were under control, notably those at Suffern, Arden, and near Orange lake. A fire burning for five miles along the top of Beacon mountain was being watched, but was not considered a menace since it was confined to brush areas.

Patrols were active also in the Adirondack mountain region, but here, it was said, virtually every fire had been extinguished or was completely under control.

The conservation commission was to continue today its efforts begun yesterday upon appeal of relatives in the search for three Albany hunters missing in the fire area about the Fulton Chain. They are DeWitt G. Goewey, Robert Paul and Gilbert Green. They entered the woods Oct. 25 and were expected to return Friday.

Fatally Injured When Pinned Under Auto

Stanley Petka, 23, of the crew of the submarine N-1, was almost instantly killed about 7 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning on the road, near the Norwich state hospital, when the automobile in which he was riding turned over, pinning him beneath it.

The Norwich police patrol rushed the injured man to the Backus hospital but he was dead when they reached there.

PROF. FROST OF AMHERST TENDERS RESIGNATION

Amherst, Mass., Nov. 4.—Robert Frost, professor of English literature at Amherst college, has tendered his resignation, to take effect in the fall of 1925. Mr. Frost, who is one of America's poets, has taken this action so that he might accept an unusual fellowship in letters at the University of Michigan.

This fellowship has been especially created for Mr. Frost and will exist for life. It gives him full freedom to write and entails no teaching duties. All his living expenses are paid and everything has been done to allow Mr. Frost to give his full time, unhampered in any way, to his work.

Mr. Frost will have completed two years at Amherst when he leaves next year. He has taught here previously and has also been connected with the University of Michigan before.

FUNERAL IN WASHINGTON OF WIDELY KNOWN NUN

Washington, Nov. 4.—The funeral of Mother Claire Denoist D'Azy, daughter of Count Pierre Denoist D'Azy, and one of the most widely known nuns in the United States, was held yesterday in the Convent of the Sacred Heart. The body was taken tonight to the convent of the order at Torresdale, Pa., for burial.

Mother Claire was born 65 years ago in the ancestral home of Count D'Azy of France. She entered the order at the age of 30, coming to the United States two years later to teach French in its schools. She died Saturday. The funeral today was attended by Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, his wife, Lady Isabella Howard, Mme. Jusserand, wife of the French ambassador, and many others prominent in social and diplomatic life.

GRAIN ELEVATOR MADE HOT FIRE IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 4.—Fed by hundreds of tons of grain, fire at 1.30 this morning destroyed the grain elevator and building of the Dwight Hamlin Company, Inc., burned six box cars on the Allegheny Valley railroad siding and drove six families from their homes. Fire Marshal Thomas Pfarr estimated the damage at $500,000 at 2 o'clock.

The flames broke out in the Hamlin building, gutted that structure and the adjoining grain elevator and threatened to spread to nearby buildings, causing police to order he families in the nearby residences to leave their homes. Shortly after the firemen arrived at the scene of the fire, one of the walls of the Hamlin building collapsed.

The blaze was discovered by a watchman, who notified railroad officials to get an engine to remove the cars, containing grain and molasses, but before they could do this the cars were destroyed. Tanks containing approximately 30,000 gallons of molasses stood unharmed among the burning ruins.

DRAGGING CREEK FOR KLAN RIOT VICTIMS

Niles, Ohio, Nov. 4.—Troops here today dragged Mosquito Creek in an unsuccessful effort to locate bodies reported thrown into the water during Saturday's Ku Klux Klan-anti-Klan riot. Reports had been current that men were killed in the rioting and their bodies spirited away. Colonel L. S. Connelly, in charge of Ohio National Guardsmen still here, ordered the creek dragged.

No disturbances were reported during today's balloting.

A number of loaded pistols, shotguns and rifles and a quantity of ammunition, which, authorities believe, were intended for use here Saturday, were seized by the militia in houses and shanties in McDonald, a steel town, 3 miles east of here today. The raiding party also procured information which is expected to uncover more firearms and ammunition and result in further arrests.

Lazo Demir was arrested and charged with illegal possession of weapons and insubordination. He was seen to leave a train with a rifle and was followed home, the raids resulting.

More than fifty witnesses have been examined by the military board of inquiry into Saturday's rioting. Eight arrests were made today, a majority for carrying weapons.

GOMPERS IS DEFEATED, BUT NOT DISMAYED

Washington, Nov. 4.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who supported Senator LaFollette for the presidency, late tonight issued this statement:

"Ours was a protest vote against both old parties, their platforms, their candidates, and our cause will live and find it fruition."

TIENTSIN EXPERIENCED PEACEFUL NIGHT, QUIET DAY

Tientsin, Nov. 4.—(By The A. P.)—Tientsin was quiet today after a peaceful night, the troops giving no trouble.

The east station still is crowded with the soldier of Wu Pei-Fu, deposed Peking war lord who has fled from this part of China. Some of these troops are armed, others are unarmed.

The soldiers of General Feng Hu-Hsiang, whose coup ousted Wu Pei-Fu from power, have not occupied the station, though they are reported all around it.

It is not clear exactly what is happening, but apparently representatives of Tuan Chi-Jui, a former premier, are negotiating with the soldiers to transfer their allegiance and are disarming those who agree.

It is stated that Wu, before leaving here, instructed his troops to take orders from none but Tuan Chi-Jui. Tuan also has sent delegates to Tangku, the nearest gulf port, to endeavor to pacify the soldiers there.

Although the soldiery at Tientsin appear restive, there is no sign of any desire to renew the struggle, and many express a wish to be sent back to their native localities.

A private telegram from Paoting, southwest of Tientsin said fighting had started north and south of there yesterday.

SAN MIGUEL COUNTY N. M., NOW UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 4.—Martial law was proclaimed in San Miguel county of which Las Vegas is the county seat, last night by Governor J. F. Hinkle, who in a statement to newspapermen, said:

"There is going to be an honest election in San Miguel county, even if troops are necessary to supervise the polls. I mean to see that the people have the opportunity to vote without intimidation."

The proclamation became effective at 7 p. m.

J. W. Skipwith, adjutant general, announced that state guardsmen would not attempt to influence voters, but would be assigned to police duty in each precinct. The soldiers, numbering about 150 will be on duty, it was said, at least until the boxes containing the ballots cast today have been returned to the court house.

Reports that United States Marshal Romero, republican, has been swearing in extra deputy marshals in various parts of the state, resulted last night in protests being sent by United States Senator A. A. Jones and Congressman John Morrow to the attorney general in Washington alleging unwarranted interference with the election.

The decision to send troops here was due it was said, to feeling aroused over the suspension recently by D. J. Leahy, district judge, of Sheriff Lorenzo Delgado.

BANDIT KILLED WHEN DESERTED BY COMPANION

New York, Nov. 4.—Deserted by his companion who fled in a taxicab, an unidentified bandit, who held up the cashier of a restaurant at the point of a pistol in lower New York early today, was shot and killed as he fled before a fusillade of shots fired at him by two pursuing policemen. His body, with two bulletin wounds in it, was found in a basement to which the chase had led.

The man had backed the restaurant cashier into a corner and had overawed five patrons when the tinkle of the cash register bell attracted the attention of Joseph Karpodines, the proprietor. Karpodines, who had been the victim of a hold-up man more than a year ago was armed and he opened fire from a protecting wooden partition. His shot went wild and the bandit fled.

When he reached the street, his companion in a taxicab, alarmed by the firing, was driving off. Meanwhile Patrolmen Fred W. Grubert and Thomas Riggs, attracted by the shots which Karpodines continued to fire without affect, joined the chase. Both fired and the bandit staggered into a basement where he was found dead.

A letter addressed to a "John Foley" at Ossining, N. Y., caused police to investigate any connection the dead man may have had with Sing Sing prison in that city. The letter discussed various characters in that prison.

Loan Floated in Madrid.

Madrid, Nov. 4.—An international loan of 1,200,000,000 pesetas was floated here today in the form of treasury bonds. The loan was oversubscribed as soon as it was offered.

The scarcity of grouse in New England and Canada, and especially in Connecticut as reported by hunters has led Superintendent Joyn W. Titcomb, of the state fish and game department to urge sportsmen to refrain from hunting these birds this season.

FOOTBALL IS ASSUMING NATIONAL FOCUS RATHER THAN SECTIONAL

New York, Nov. 4.—(By the A. P.)—Football, to eastern fans, is gradually assuming a national rather than a sectional focus.

Notre Dame, which has long been almost alone in bringing here the football gospel of the middle west, has been sharply aided this year by the accomplishments of Red Grange and Illinois and the victory of Marquette over the Navy.

Alabama, alone among the prominent teams of the nation which has an uncrossed goal line, increased the respect toward southern football by beating Georgia Tech which had previously defeated Penn State, one of the ranking elevens of the east.

While critics here discuss the relative claims of Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Lafayette and Army to the honors of this section, there is a general assumption that none of the four could defeat Rockne's squad, on the form it exhibited in outclassing Army and Princeton.

Although Princeton will not meet Notre Dame next season, other important teams are rumored as angling for the date. Pennsylvania has announced that negotiations were in progress for a home-and-home series with the Hoosiers, Harvard has also been mentioned as a prospective opponent and a local paper tonight carried an "inside story" the Rockne's team would play in the Yale bowl in 1925 or 1926.

Grange is willingly accorded the place of honor among the season's players and is generally accepted as a marvel. There is a strong desire to see the Illinois star and a Zuppke team in action in New York next year and it is rumored that a contest with Syracuse at the Yankee stadium is a possibility.

Illinois, by virtue of its heavy scoring against Michigan and Iowa, is regarded as one of the great offensive here would welcome a post-season machines of the era and sentiment game which would put the individual brilliance of Grange against the milky way of Layden, Crowley, Stuhldreher and Miller of Notre Dame.

TWO WALTHAM PLAYERS ON PURDUE TEAM

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 4.—Waltham, Mass., will have two representatives on the Purdue varsity football team in the two games remaining on the Boilermaker card. Captain Ralph Claypool with a broken ankle bone will not be able to play against Depauw on Saturday and will probably be out of the Purdue-Indiana game on November 22. His place at center will be filled by "Red" Threlfall, who hails from Waltham along with Tom Hogan, Purdue's star end. Only a light drill was held in the Boilermakers camp this afternoon.

If things are got working out well for you get busy and work them out.

None Finer Than The New Chrysler Bodies By Fisher

A new delight and a still higher satisfaction now await you in the Chrysler Six with new Body by Fisher.

Here is body-work not excelled even by the most costly custom creations.

Here is body-work of a quality specially designed to match the supreme Chrysler quality so decisively shown in performance and engineering and convenience that the whole country is talking about it.

Your special attention is called to the exceptional quality of trim, lustrous beauty of body finish, excellence and good taste of detail; also that assurance of greater riding comfort, Marshall springs in arm rests as well as seats.

Elegant, luxurious, beautiful—built expressly for Chrysler by master body-manufacturers who have no peer in the world—these new Fisher bodies now give to Chrysler the final distinction to which it is entitled.

You can be certain that nothing in the way of finer bodies can be bought, just as nothing finer than Chrysler performance exists in the automobile industry.

WESTERLY

The early rush of voters in Westerly, Tuesday, election day, indicated that all records for total number of ballots cast would be broken. At Westerly town hall, when the polls were opened at 9 o'clock long lines of waiting voters extended back from the gates to the stairways leading to the hall on the second floor. Especially long was the waiting line of voters in the Second district, for the line not only extended down the stairway but up the opposite stairway into the upper hall again, which line was later turned in the lower hallway to the side entrance door. For the first district the election officials were: Moderator, Ira B. Crandall; clerk, John J. Dunn; supervisors, James H. Hodgson, John D. Nichols and Helena Papalia for the republicans, and Cornelius Murphy, Bernard Welch and Joseph Guarino for the democrats; gate keeper, Charles Ruisi. The first ballot was cast b Mrs. Carrie B. L. Hall, who was closely followed by Mrs. Emma Thornton Williams. Outside the railing were Mrs. R. H. Farnham, republican checker; Thomas Shea, democrat. For the second district the election officials were: Moderator, Lewis Stanton; clerk, Mabel A. Saunders; supervisors, Everett Barnes, Miss Bertha Brown and Mrs. Adelaid K. DeFonti for the republicans and Bernard J. Cristy, Henry Hughes and Frederick H. R. Simons for the democrats; gate keeper, Adam Archie. The first ballot was cast by William Pendleton Dodge.

At the end of the first hour 200 votes had been cast in the first district and 276 in the second. At 1 o'clock 790 votes had been cast in the first district and 1,100 in the second. The total number of voters in the town eligible to exercise their franchise is 4,258. At 5 o'clock closing time 1,494 votes had been cast in the first district and 1,902 votes in the second or a total of 3,396 for the town, or 80 per cent. of the entire possible vote.

Voting in Pawcatuck, while not showing the rush as in Westerly, was steady and during the first hour, the polls opened at 6 o'clock, there had been deposited 168 ballots. The election officials were Moderator Bryon J. Peckham; registrars, Joseph McGuinness, George Lord; checkers for men, John Jordan, Martin Devine, George Sheldon; checkers for women, Walter Duguid, Arthur Rice; deputy registrar, Walter Fitzgerald; box tenders, Richard Morrison, Charles Connors; deputy registrar for women, William Lord; box tended, David Myers; ballot clerks, George Robinson, Thomas Whalen; box tenders, Thomas Thorpe, C. Wilson Brown, Manuel Cella, John Rain, Thomas Sullivan and Charles Murphy. The first woman to cast her ballot was Miss Sylvia Lunnhear; the first man to deposit his was Walter Knight. The countess are N. Henry Lunphear, George Elmer Leonard, David Pierce, James Donahue, Martin Devine and Thomas Donahue. At 6 o'clock closing time 1,784 votes had been cast in Pawcatuck.

FOR ITCHING TORTURE

Use Antiseptic Liquid Zemo

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation, and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any druggist can supply you with Zemo, which generally overcomes skin diseases. Eczema, Itch, Pimples, Rashes, Blackheads, in most cases quickly give way to Zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid that may be applied at any time, for it does not show. Trial bottle 35c, large size $1.00. Zemo Soap, 25c. All druggists.

Patrolman Francis McMahon, of Pawcatuck, who, has acted as day patrolman in Pawcatuck for the past year and a half, has received notice from the recently elected board of selectmen that his services will not be required after Nov. 20th.

During his term of service Mr. McMahon has proved a very efficient officer. He took the leading part in capturing the guilty persons in the Pierce-Wilkinson double murder last summer.

He has also made many friends since his appointment to the office of patrolman, especially among the school children, whom he has guided across street crossings daily.

However, in accordance with the custom in the town of Stonington, the patrolmen are changed with each election when a different party comes into power, and Mr. McMahon's discharge was expected after the republican victory last month.

C. Wilson Brown has been appointed successor to Mr. McMahon and will assume his duties Dec. 1.

The stores in the Briggs block which suffered from fire, smoke and water damage early Monday morning, were closed Monday and Tuesday, awaiting insurance adjusters. The stores are those of E. Howard Clark, Ruisi Brothers, Higgins Pharmacy and the Equality Lunch. On the second floor were the offices of The Westerly Loan and Trust company, which were almost entirely burned out, Thorpe and Trainer, suffering from water and smoke damage, as well as the offices of Albert H. Spicer, A. H. Spicer, Jr., and Clarence E. Roache, it being the third time in which Mr. Roche has been visited by fire. Some of the members are making partial use of the Westerly Oscle club rooms on the third floor but the club pool and billiard room and kitchenette is a complete wreck. The cause of the fire has not been determined, although its origin is known to have been in the Higgins Pharmacy. Charles L. Higgins and a Westerly patrolman were in the store after closing hour on Sunday night and when Mr. Higgins left shortly after midnight, everything appeared to be all right.

Well known to Pawcatuck and Westerly textile people, John Lynch, 63, for years known as the champion wool sorter of this section, died while at his work in the Peacedale mill Saturday noon. He came in from his luncheon, and after taking off his coat, sank to the floor. When a physician arrived, he was dead. Death was attributed to apoplexy. Mr. Lynch had been employed in Peacedale about two years. He formerly lived in Stillmanville. He leaves no near relatives.

Dorothy Oakley of Wickford and Marion Rogers of Hamilton, were interviewed by Patrolman Francis McMahon, after they had stopped at a West Side boarding house Monday night and informed the management that they were without funds to pay their bill. As the story was told by them they were given a ride by a Westerly individual, whom they knew as "Red" and who told them that he resided on "Hope street," Westerly, saying that if they accompanied him to Westerly they could meet his chum and attend the theatre. Getting in touch with the Oakley girl's parents, it was found that she had given the right address, but they expressed surprise as they thought the girl was employed in Providence. The young ladies will be returned to their parents with the advice to avoid future expeditions of this nature.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Davis left Tuesday morning for an automobile trip through New York and Pennsylvania.

David G. Newall of New York was a visitor in Westerly Tuesday, coming here to cast his vote.

Richard J. Greenway of Philadelphia is visiting relatives in Westerly over election day.

William Clark of Willimantic, Robert S. Clark of Lancaster, Pa., were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark in Westerly, coming here to cast their ballots in the election.

W. Snowdon Smith of Syracuse, N. Y., was in Westerly to exercise his franchise on election day.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Batley of New Rochelle, N. Y., and Watch Hill, arrived in Westerly Monday to be here for the national election Tuesday.

Mrs. Sarah H. Doty of Stonington is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank W. Coy in Westerly.

Many Westerly relatives were in attendance at the funeral of Harry H. Doty, held in Stonington Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery, Stonington.

Reports Tuesday from the Rhode Island hospital, Providence, as to the condition of Joseph Burdick, accidentally wounded while gunning at Charleston pond, Sunday, were to the effect that he was resting as comfortably as could be expected. His father, Fred V. Burdick, of Pawcatuck visited his son in the hospital Tuesday.

William Holden, of Pawcatuck, who has been at the Rhode Island hospital in Providence for several weeks after being operated upon, is reported as still on the danger list.

John Main was a visitor the first of this week at the Rhode Island hospital in Providence.

HAIR STAYS COMBED, GLOSSY

Millions Use It – Few Cents Buys Jar at Drugstore

Even stubborn, unruly or shampooed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. "Hair-Groom" is greaseless; also helps grow thick, heavy, lustrous hair. Beware of greasy, harmful imitations.

To save your precious strength and time

A BIG blue-and-orange package, full of mystery—full of what women call "white magic."

This is Chipso, that saves women's strength and time.

Twenty-five seconds after you open your Chipso package, you have a veritable cloud of fleecy suds, and your new, shorter, easier Chipso washday has begun!

With neat, dry Chipso, you no longer have to bother with cake-soap.

Chipso is quick, but without any flying powder to make you sneeze and cough.

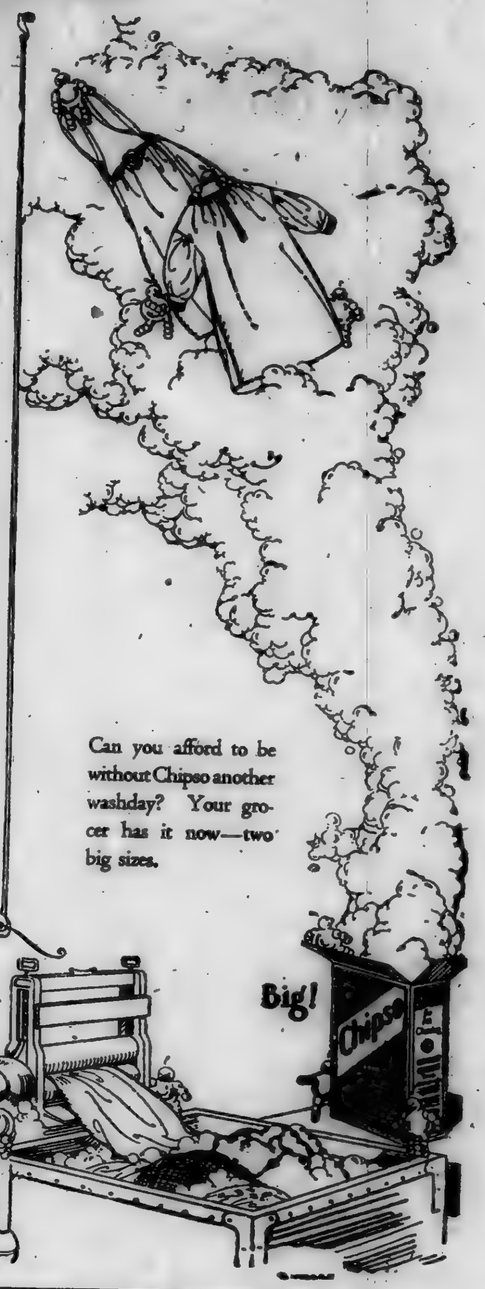
Chipso and water are all you need, whether you boil or soak your clothes, or use a washing machine.

Chipso is safe—kindness itself to fabrics and colors.

Chipso expands into marvelous suds, that grow and grow until your clothes are fairly smothered in millions of tiny cleansing bubbles that carry away every particle of soil—like magic itself.

Chipso has a dozen uses in your home—dish-washing, for instance, is quicker, pleasanter with Chipso than with either cake-soap or powders.

PROCTER & GAMBLE



Can you afford to be without Chipso another washday? Your grocer has it now—two big sizes.

WHY PHYSICIANS RECOMMEND SANGRINA TO FAT PEOPLE.

"If I had not carefully analyzed, tested and seen my own sister reduce and improve her health with 'SAN-GRI-NA,'" says Dr. McAlpine. "I would not be recommending it to my patients to-day."

Dr. Jacoby writes: "My wife has about finished the 'SAN-GRI-NA' you sent her, and I wish you could see the wonderful change in her appearance. She never felt better in all her life."

"I have used 'SAN-GRI-NA' for my wife," says Dr. Harris, "and now recommend it to my fat patients."

"I recommended 'SAN-GRI-NA' to my mother," says Dr. Northane, "because I knew, after working at the formula for years, it was absolutely harmless to the health and positive in results. It is the only way I know of to a good figure and perfect health."

REDUCES 63 POUNDS

"I weighed 208 pounds," writes Mrs. M. D. Pasquale, of Worcester, "and lost 63 pounds. . . . I would like to have another box of 'SAN-GRI-NA.'"

Up to now physicians have rarely advised anything to reduce outside of diets or exercises (both tiresome and inconvenient), because they knew of nothing HARMLESS and EFFECTIVE, but to-day, in recommending "SAN-GRI-NA," a doctor feels that it is something with real merit, so entirely different, from all the advertised fat-reducers, that he does not hesitate to advise its use, even to his own family. Prominent medical men, such as Dr. Rudolph, former Health Commissioner, endorses "SAN-GRI-NA" AS THE ONLY SAFE, positive and quick way to slenderness he knows of.

"SAN-GRI-NA" is the formula of a French physician. It is put up in a small, convenient tablet, to be taken three times a day. Although only recently introduced in America, "SAN-GRI-NA" is now recognized as a most effective treatment for fat people, because:

➡ IT HAS REDUCED MOST OBSTINATE CASES OF OBESITY.

➡ IT DOES AWAY WITH HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE, PUFFING, HEADACHES, TIRED FEELING, AND THE FAT MAN OR WOMAN WHO TAKES "SAN-GRI-NA" ONCE MORE ENJOYS LIFE.

➡ IT IS ENTIRELY DIFFERENT FROM ANYTHING EVER OFFERED.

➡ IT IS GUARANTEED ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC: Beware of worthless imitations. "SAN-GRI-NA" is sold with a guarantee of satisfaction or money refunded. Go to your druggist to-day. Be sure to ASK FOR AND GET THE FRENCH BOX MARKED "VERITABLES TABLETTES SAN-GRI-NA."

A. H. Woods, in behalf of the American Woolen company, has presented Grace Church corporation a tract of land in the rear of Grace church, as a site for a rectory.

Miss Elizabeth Kempton has opened her studio at Madison square, New York, and spends the greater part of her time there when not supervising the art instruction at the boys' gunnery school, Washington, Conn.

Election day found many of the villagers seeking the Noah Webster club, at Norwich Town, to cast their vote, many being interested in the re-election of State Senator H. J. Gibbs.

Never have trees presented a greater riot of colors than one can see today in the village. The unusual rainless October allowed the sun to variegate the leaves as never before and artists trying to imitate George Inness' Autumn Oaks have had all the colors continuously supplied by Mother Nature.

Although this has been an unusually dry fall, local wells have held it wonderfully well. The canal supplying the American Woolen company has been low and the river shows the lack of rains that November is due to remedy.

G. K. Harris, of Palmer, connected with the Central Vermont railway's executive force, was in town Tuesday.

Mrs. John Coughlin, of Westerly was a local caller recently.

Miss Lucy Ladd has returned to her home in South Manchester after spending the past week end at Elmwood with her brother, Myron Ladd.

Louis Burdick has built an addition to the store which he erected on the Fitchville road.

Charles Brown has the foundation completed for a modern two-story cottage on his land on the Franklin road.

John Driscoll is building an attractive seven-room bungalow on the Driscoll farm on the Franklin road.

W. F. McHale of New York spent the week-end at his home here.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

DAVID CORY

When the Giant Laughed

What would you do, and how would you feel,
If you had a lollypop big as a wheel,
With a stick as long as a great broom handle,
And twice as thick as a tallow candle?

Now I guess you remember what happened in the last story, little readers. The bunny boy was in the Red-eyed Rabbit Giant's castle, if you don't. Yes, and furthermore, that big kind giant had just given the little rabbit an immense lollypop. Yes, he had, and, if you don't remember, ask Dad. He knows.

"Don't be sad because you can't hold it," laughed the Ragged Rabbit Giant, as the little rabbit leaned against the chair and tried his best to keep the lollypop from falling to the floor." went on the kind bunny giant, still holding the stick in his strong right hand."

"Maybe if you can pull out the stick I can roll it home like a hoop," sighed the bunny boy.

"Ha, ha," laughed the big man. You never heard such a hearty laugh, little reader. It set the cut-glass chandelier a tinkle and nearly blew out a pane of glass in the dining room window. Why, it rattled the big knob in the door and pulled out the tacks in the carpet floor?

But the little rabbit didn't laugh. He pressed his paws over his ears and shouted: "Please only smile, Mr. Giant. Smiles don't make any noise.

At once the obliging giant stopped laughing and smiled instead—a lovely smile that showed his big clean white teeth which he brushed every morning with a tooth brush as rib as a street cleaner's broom. Please remember, little reader, what this big giant man does every morning. Then Mother won't have to ask you if you have brushed your teeth.

The next minute, this nice big giant said:

"I'll carry you home to the Old Bramble Patch,
With the lollypops over my shoulder.
I'll leave it with you, so please don't feel blue.
You won't when you're wiser and older."

"May I come too?" asked the tiny fellow Bird, tweeking the giant's beard with her bill,—very gently, you know, so as not to hurt her kind master.

"Yes, you may come," he answered, carefully tucking the little rabbit in his coat pocket and picking up the great immense lollypop as easily as if it had been a little tin shovel. After locking the front door, he strode down the mountainside, his great high boots sending the rocks and pebbles rattling down the valley below. By and by, after a while, he came to the level land, when, dear me! Here I am, little reader, at the end of the paper, so we must wait for the next story to hear what happened after that.

And when you go to bed tonight,
And all the stars are shining bright,
Dream of a yellow lollypop
That reaches to your own house top.

Funded debt	$2,725,000.00
Accounts payable	8,976.99
Bond interest matured as of Oct. 1, 1919	306,562.50
Accrued taxes	1,456.44
Unadjusted credits	935.54
Liquidation account	417,247.30
	$3,460,177.79

The receiver appends the following note:

Since the last semi-annual report for the period ending March 31, 1924, all operations of the Shore Line system have ceased, and this includes the Rhode Island properties, on which the service was finally abandoned on September 27, 1924. The track and overhead material of that property is now being dismantled. There was a slight profit for the period to Sept. 30, 1924, which would have been lost during the succeeding months had the operation continued. The summer months were the only profitable months.

A portion of what was originally the Norwich and Westerly is still under option to the Connecticut Silica Co. to be used for commercial purposes, and there is reason to believe that this option may be exercised. It expires March 15, 1925. The option price is included in the items of accounts receivable, a substantial amount of each having been paid for this option.

CALLS SPECIAL MEETING OF BAR ASSOCIATION

According to an announcement made Tuesday by President William H. Shields of the New London County Bar association a special meeting of the bar will be held Friday in the city at the superior court room for the purpose of choosing a clerk of the bar to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. PLAYLETS GIVEN AT ENTERTAINMENT AND SALE

The entertainment and sale given last week by the United Societies of the German Lutheran church was a great success. The plays were directed by the pastor, Rev H. Hunsinger, with members of the Young People's society taking parts in the two playlets entitled, Moderne Dienstmaedchen and Das Maidchen von Landen. The leading parts taken in the first were by Frieda Retkoveks as the professor's wife, the professor being Otto Phillips, who was leading man and the maids being Marion Decker, Edith Budseck, Elizabeth Thunam, Margaret Hunsinger and Elizabeth Steisner; in the latter the Misses Margaret, Maria, Martha and Hedwig Hunsinger.

Other features were a piano duet by the Misses Margaret Seidel and Freda Phillips and a recitation, The Puzzled Dutchman, by William Werth.

The church parlor was very prettily decorated in orange and black by the young people.

Booths of aprons, fancy work, candy and grab boxes, brought in a goodly sum, also the sale of cake, coffee and hot dogs proved very successful.

During the evening a beautiful quilt made by the Ladies' Aid society was awarded to a young woman in Middletown and a fancy scarf was auctioned off which brought in a very large sum and was taken by Mr. Cohen.

NEW LONDON'S COUNTING SLOW, VOTING MACHINES NEEDED

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Nov. 4.—The time is coming when New London will get away from the method of counting the votes cast at elections here and adopt the modern voting machine. The polls closed here at 4 o'clock this evening, but it was several hours after that time before the result of the balloting was announced. While the counters are liable to make mistakes, as all who are human are prone to error in figures, the voting machine is never in error and when the last vote is polled the whole lot has been counted. Even the task of counting the tickets that are scratched is accomplished by the voting machine. Why New London has never had the voting machines is a mystery to most people. They are a convenience and are in line with the modern way of accomplishing things.

There is likely to be strong opposition from Groton to any plan for the substitution of the vehicle accommodating ferry boat for a craft that will transport only pedestrians. Many in Groton favored contributing by the town of Groton to the maintenance of the ferry, because the boat was an accommodation to the residents in the eastern end of the borough and because horse-drawn vehicles and automobiles were accommodated at times when the bridge machinery was disabled. These people do not like to have the people of the town and borough of Groton dependent entirely upon the bridge.

Justice of the Peace Thomas F. Morton is a patient at a private hospital here as a result of an operation for ulcers of the stomach which he recently underwent. Mr. Morton's condition is reported as gradually improving.

Miss Elizabeth Harris has returned to her home at Jamaica Heights, Jamaica, L. I., having spent several days as the guest of Mrs. Edward J. Hennessey.

Mrs. F. H. Bray, of Riverview avenue, is entertaining Mrs. A. B. White, Millville, Mass.

Mrs. E. E. Temple of New York, formerly of this city, and Mrs. Charles Heller, Lowell, Mass., are guests of Mrs. Mary Zeswitz.

Announcement is made of the betrothement of Miss Edythe Johnson, daughter of Mr and Mrs. J. L. Johnson, 248 Vauxhall street, to Henry Donald Slate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Slate, Waterford. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Edward McQuillan of New York is spending a fortnight with relatives here.

F. R. McSweeney, chief petty officer, stationed at the submarine base, lodged complaint with the police tonight that someone, evidently a sailor, is using McSweeney's automobile after the owner retires for the night. The car is an Overland touring and McSweeney has requested that the user of the machine be apprehended if found with the car in his possession.

The New London police tonight were requested to be on the lookout for two runaway girls from Pawcatuck. The girls are without funds and according to the Pawcatuck police, are headed for New London. One of the girls is Marion Roggie, 15, five feet 1 in height, who wore a blue pleated skirt. The other girl is Dorothy Olney, also 17, and stocky in build. The runaways reside in Wickford.

Members of New London lodge of Elks will attend the regular meeting of that organization Thursday night, at which session Edward Cotter, grand trustees, will be in attendance. Following the meeting an elaborate vaudeville performance will be staged the committee in charge having arranged for ten acts. Mr. Cotter is well known in New London being a former past exalted ruler of Hartford lodge and a past district deputy.

Jesse Moon, former drug store proprietor is critically ill at his home, Ocean avenue.

The police tonight were kept busy enforcing the city ordinance prohibiting the starting of bonfires within the city limits. Youths attempted to start big fires on Bank street extension and on Bayonet street, but were prevented from doing so.

Youths tonight removed a wagon from the barn of James Butler on Ocean avenue. But after the police had been notified of the taking of the vehicle it was returned to the barn before the police arrived at the place.

The revenue department's activity in rounding up masters and crews of steamers and schooners diving the Sound with liquor obtained from the supply ships of Rum Row, has resulted in sailors connected with the same department that rounded up the ships and crews for violation of the law, obtaining free booze, some of which they and their friends have consumed and in numerous instances the liquor has been sold. Since the cellar and sub-cellar at the customs house has become filled to capacity with thousands of cases of whiskey and alcohol, the several hundred cases of rye and Scotch whiskey that has been in storage in a magazine at the United States Coast Guard Academy, have been transferred to the holds of vessels that have been seized for violation of the navigation laws and which are tied up at the academy pier. Although guards have been placed around the ships, sailors at the academy recently obtained a quantity of the seized liquor, some of which was sold for $1b a case to a local bootlegger, the latter purchasing five cases, the entire lot being obtained for the price that is ordinarily asked for a single case. Other sailors have managed to steal a quantity of liquor from the ships and secreted it on the reservation, using it for their own consumption whenever they have shore liberty. A few days ago, a bluejacket appeared on the wharf and boarded one of the liquor ships and when held up by a customs guard, the former declared that he had been detailed to guard the ship. When the sailor was ordered off the ship he saw an opportunity to seize a case of whiskey, which he did and fled up the pier and disappeared among the buildings on the reservation. The guard fired two shots to bring assistance, but when other guards arrived on the pier and the entire number of bluejackets was rounded up, the guard could not identify the sailor who seized the liquor, nor could the liquor be located. Hallowe'en night and last night there were more sailors about the streets drunk than have been noticed intoxicated in a long time. Several of them were attached to the coast guard academy.

C. S. M. Grayson, of Lyme, a sophomore at Harvard, has been selected for one of the minor parts in Le Mondeau l' On 8e Epnuie, which will be presented by the Cercle Francais of Harvard early in December. The Cercle Francais, of which Grayson is an active member, is a club at Harvard to promote the study of French literature. Grayson's part in the play will be that of Gaiac.

A. Vincent Christopher, of Montauk avenue; Miss Isabelle Barter, of Ocean avenue; James Acuff, Willetts avenue, and Mrs. Alice Dervin, Rosemary street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, were discharged today.

It has not been determined yet the exact injuries received by Genaro De Luca, 38 Moore avenue and Bank street merchant, who was struck by an automobile on Bank street last evening by Jacob Feldman, 44 Market street, Norwich. De Luca, after being admitted to Lawrence hospital, immediately following the accident refused to stay there, but this morning he suffered such pain that he finally consented to return to the institution and submit to treatment and place himself under observation. It is believed that De Luca has been injured internally and may be suffering from one or more fractured ribs.

Miss Nellie Meade has returned to her home on Meridian street, after having spent several days with relatives in New Haven.

Tomorrow, William Goldberg, son of the late Morris Goldberg, will appear in the police court and endeavor to account for his acts in issuing worthless checks on the City National bank and signing his late father's name to said checks. Willie must have been very stupid to imagine that he could draw from the deposit of a man who had been dead a couple of years. Strange as it may seem he was able to negotiate the checks with people who are supposed to be newspaper readers and who keep abreast of the times. It is represented that Goldberg is not mentally as sound as he should be to have his liberty, but others say he is as shrewd as most men and that he is as shrewd as most men and that he made a deliberate attempt to swindle. When Goldberg tells his story in the court an intelligent opinion as to his mentality and his intentions may be formed. He is in jail now as he could not furnish a bail bond of $500.

William Hogarth and three sailor chums came from the state pier last night and became very boisterous on Main street near State. There they encountered Police Sergeant Patsy Murphy and when he saw that the gang was creating a breach of the public peace, he interfered and stopped their fun. They replied to his commands by hurling bottles at him. The gang had taken traffic signs from the walk and placed them in the street and in doorways. This is what the police officer objected to. He evidently saw the first bottle hurled coming his way and dodged it. Then he grabbed Hogarth, as the man who threw the missile and had a lively tussle with him in which the sailor received a couple of blows that felled him. He was then arrested and in the police court this morning he was fined $10, Hogarth declared that he did not throw a bottle, and said that while one of the fellows in the party had a gray coat and threw it aside he (Hogarth) only picked up the coat and wore it. He said the police officer was mistaken. The court did not take that view of the matter and imposed the fine.

The funeral of Thomas Payton of Groton, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at 48 Shapley street. The services were conducted by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

James Sullivan, 20 Coleman street, complained to the police today that a considerable quantity of lumber had been stolen from property on Darrow street where Sullivan is having a house erected. The lumber stolen comprises 5,000 shingles and about 300 feet of lumber. Sullivan stated that the theft was committed Sunday night and he suspects boys residing in the neighborhood where the house is under construction of having committed the theft. This afternoon Sergeant John Cavanaugh rounded up a couple of youths, who admitted being concerned in the theft of the shingles and lumber. They were ordered to present themselves before Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield tomorrow.

Tell Me, Girls

which beauty aid you want

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I am trying to aid girls to more beauty, in ways that brought beauty to me. I am trying to bring women the perennial youth I gained.

For 40 years I have searched the world for the best beauty helps in existence. I continue that search for the latest.

Now 52 of the helps I found are combined in four preparations. All toilet counters supply them. So every girl and woman may use exactly what I use.

The thousands who meet me daily on the stage see what those helps can do. I urge you to learn what they mean to you.

My Youth Cream

My Youth Cream is a remarkable creation, combining many factors. It contains products of both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best helps science gave me to foster and protect the skin.

It comes in two types—cold cream and vanishing. I use it as a night cream, also daytimes as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. My velvet complexion shows what that cream can do.

The cost is 60c per jar.

My Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser which I also owe to France. Great beauty experts the world over now advise this formula, but their price is too high for most women.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. So it cleans to the depths, then departs. All the dirt, grease, grime and dead skin come out with it. My Facial Youth will bring you new conceptions of what a clean skin means. The cost is 75c.

White Youth Clay

A new-type clay, white, refined and dainty. Vastly different from the crude and muddy clays so many have employed. The final result of 20 years of scientific study.

It purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. Removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes. Brings a rosy afterglow which amazes and delights. Combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores.

No girl or woman can afford to omit it. It multiplies beauty. And many women seem to drop ten years after one application. My White Youth Clay costs 50c and $1.

My Hair Youth

The cause of my luxuriant hair, thick and silky, finer far than 40 years ago. I have never had falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray.

A concentrated product combining many ingredients. I apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp. There it combats all the stifled hair roots. It tones and stimulates. No man or woman will omit it when they see what Hair Youth does. The cost is 60c and $1 with eyedropper.

All druggists and toilet counters supply Edna Wallace Hopper's beauty helps. Edna Wallace Hopper, 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

GALES FERRY BIDS FAREWELL TO REV. AND MRS. WOODWARD

An informal farewell reception given Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Woodward at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Parker, at Gales Ferry, Monday evening from 8 to 9.30, was largely attended by parishioners and friends. Rev. and Mrs. Woodward and their daughter, Miss Ethel Woodward of Connecticut Agricultural College were dinner guests at 6 o'clock of Mr. and Mrs. Parker, with Mr. Parker's mother, Mrs. Richard Parker, who is spending some time at the home of her son. The reception followed. A program, opening with radio concert numbers from Pittsburgh, William Tell, Rigeoletto, and Largo, was heard, Stanley C. Paford being operator. Members of the junior choir sang Serving With a Smile, and for an encore, Love Will Shine. They were Misses Gertrude Allen, Margaret Parker, Helen L. and Margaret S. Colver, Sarah Hewlett and Myrtice Coman. Miss Jennie G. Perkins was at the piano. Two numbers, by Joseph Lincoln were recited by Miss Ethel Woodward, A Little Boy in Church and His New Brother. Then followed a reading, How Mr. Terrapin Lost His Beard, Mrs. Courtland E. Colver; duet I—a Pilgrim, Mrs. Dudley C. Perkins and Miss Allen; recitations, Description of a Thunder Storm, encore, The Story of Bluebeard, given by Dudley C. Perkins; anthem, In Heavenly Love Abiding, junior choir. Ice cream and cake provided by the parishioners, were served by Mrs. Parker, assisted by Mrs. Avery Main, and the juniors.

Following this, Supt. C. E. Colver addressed Rev. and Mrs. Woodward, and presented them a large silver vase from the church and community, as a remembrance. Rev. Mr. Woodward expressed appreciation and thanks and said he had much enjoyed his pastorate with this church at Gales Ferry, following this with prayer. The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. The evening closed with the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

Rev. and Mrs. Woodward are leaving for their new pastorate, the Federated church in Staffordville, Friday of this week.

Addie Beausoliel, 22, of Fairlawn, Woonsocket, is reported to have been forced off the highway, near Georgiaville and relieved of $1,150 in money by five armed bandits who made their escape in a large touring car.

Stop That Backache!

Is a bad back keeping you upset and miserable? Do you suffer sharp, stabbing pains? Feel so weak, tired and nervous you can seldom enjoy a moment's rest or comfort? Do you wonder what is wrong?

Many times this condition is due to sluggish kidneys that are failing to properly filter body poisons from the blood. The whole system feels the injurious effects of these impurities. Then comes constant backache, rheumatic twinges, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities.

Don't wait! Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Norwich Proof:

E. S. BENNETT, Carpenter, 465 E. Main St., says: "My back ached a great deal. Stooping and lifting seemed to aggravate the pains. I saw Doan's Pills advertised and got a supply. One box quickly relieved the trouble."

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER, Mr. Bennett said: "Although I haven't had to use Doan's Pills for a number of years I still know they are reliable."

Arthur Lord and family motored to Providence and visited Mr. Lord's sister, Mrs. James Sims.

Over 100 were in attendance at the entertainment and supper given by the Ladies' Aid society of Sterling Hill in the church vestry last week Tuesday evening. The menu consisted of clam chowder, clam cakes, pie, doughnuts, cheese and coffee. The vestry was very attractive with its new coat of paint and floral decorations. Vocal music was given by Mrs. Harold Barber and Mrs. H. T. Byles, and little Miss Rita Fillmore pleased all with an Irish jig and song. An orchestra composed of Byron, Richmond and Raymond Young and Russell Gallup played popular numbers and Howard Swan of Providence gave several selections on the saxophone. Mrs. Adelbert Gallup, for her efforts to make the affair successful, received commendation on all sides.

Several from here attended a church supper in Oneco Saturday evening.

Mrs. Alva Sayles was called to Providence Saturday by the critical illness of her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Frink and Mrs. Gilmore of New London are spending some time at her cottage on Sterling Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sayles spent Saturday night visiting Mrs. Sayles' parents in Oneco.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett B. Gallup and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tanner were callers Sunday at E. Byron Gallup's.

Hallowe'en was much enjoyed by the young people, whose costumes were grotesque and unique.

Tax Exempt in Connecticut and Free from all Federal Income Taxes

New Haven, Connecticut

4% BONDS

Due November 1, 1929-1954, incl.

Legal investment for Savings Banks in New York and all New England States

Prices to yield about 3.80%

To equal this tax free yield on New Haven bonds an individual investor residing in Connecticut would have to secure a yield of 4.20% on state or municipal bonds subject to the State tax.

The following table shows approximate yields on fully taxable bonds subject not only to the Connecticut State tax but also Federal Income taxes:

Taxable Net Income	Approximate Yields on fully taxable bonds equaling 3.80%
$10,000	4.29%
25,000	4.49%
50,000	4.79%
75,000	5.10%
100,000	5.43%

We recommend these Bonds for investment. If interested, telephone or telegraph at our expense.

25 VICTIMS OF PNEUMONIA PLAGUE IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Nov. 4.—Prompt control of the epidemic of pneumonic plague, which has claimed 25 lives in the Mexican colony here since October 19, Dickie, secretary of the board of was predicted tonight by Dr. W. M. health and director of the anti-plague committee. No deaths were reported today and but one new case was admitted to the general hospital.

"There is no reason for public alarm," Dr. Dickie said.

Dr. Dickie's statement said.

"The state board of health is in charge of the anti-plague campaign and is being assisted by the United States Public Health service and by the health departments of the city and country of Los Angeles."

Tomorrow, those in charge announced, twenty nurses, with a complement of physicians will be sent into infected districts to make a house-to-house inspection twice daily.

At the same time a vigorous rat extermination campaign will be put under way with a crew of 25 operators, under the supervision of the physicians committee, Dr. Dickie announced.

AUCTIONS

WITTER BROS. ..... Auctioneers
Office 48 Main St., Danielson, Ct.
88 ACRE FARM
—AT—AUCTION
SATURDAY, NOV. 8, 1924,
at 1.30 o'clock p. m., rain or shine,
on the premises at the farm formerly known as the Lavalle place, now owned by Peter Shuster and located on South St., about one mile southeast of Danielson, Conn., in the East Brooklyn District.
The buildings consist of a medium sized stock barn, 8-room cottage and hen houses. Barn is suitable for tieing up 12 head of cattle and a pair of horses. Good water supply; number of fruit trees, and some firewood. $500 in cash will be required as a deposit on the purchase price, the balance of one-half the purchase price will be required in cash upon the delivery of the deed. The remaining one-half may remain on mortgage at the usual rate of 6 per cent.
PERSONAL PROPERTY: One good cow and calf, 20 hens, chickens and pullets, about 10 tons of good hay, a few small farming tools, and a collection of useful household goods.
Terms on personal property, cash.
AUCTIONEER'S STATEMENT: This farm is in excellent condition, the buildings are in first class order and the land is under a high state of cultivation. The owner of this property is moving to the city on account of an important business engagement, which forces this valuable farm on the market at a so-called sacrifice sale. All parties interested in purchasing a high class farm, and in an unusually fine location, should be present sale day.
PETER SHUSTER, Owner.

TAFTVILLE

The marriage of Arthur L. Rheaume of Uncasville and Miss Rose May Davis of South B street took place Monday morning at Sacred Heart church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. U. O. Bellerose, the pastor, but as the day was All Souls Day, when only requiem masses can be celebrated, the nuptial mass is to be sung later in the week. The bride, being a member of the Children of Mary society, was escorted to the altar by two members of the society where the insignia of her membership was removed. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rheaume.
The bride was charmingly gowned in white brocaded satin, and wore a tulle veil with a wreath of lilies-of-the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. After the church service there was a reception and wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mathilda Cadorette. Covers were laid for 25.
Mr. Rheaume is a truck driver and is employed by the Eastern Connecticut Power company. He is the son of Michael J. and Mary Felix Rheaume. His bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mathilda Cadorette, and has been employed in the No. 1 spooling department of the Ponemah company. After a wedding trip to New York, they will make their home with the bride's mother.
Monday evening there was a meeting of the members of Troop 3 Boy Scouts, in the recreation rooms of the Taftville Congregational church, at which two members of the troop committee, George H. Young and Earle M. Wood were present. Because of other duties, Victor H. Davis who has been scoutmaster of the troop for several years, has been obliged to hand in his resignation. If there is enough interest in the troop, an effort will be made to secure another scoutmaster, and another meeting will be held in the near future to hear reports on the matter.
At the Communion service of the Taftville Congregational church last Sunday, three persons united with the church on profession of their faith: Mrs. Clarence J. Nagle, Miss Sarah Newton and Miss Ethel M. Holland.
The Community Sewing Class held its regular weekly meeting Monday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building.
Mrs. Edmund Hindle of North Third avenue spent Tuesday in Providence.
Mrs. Earle M. Wood of North Third avenue was a visitor in Hartford on Tuesday.
Mr. and Mrs. John Unsworth and family are soon to move from North Third avenue to North B street.
Edmund Contois of South B street was recently injured when he fell while cleaning a window and dislocated his thumb.

METHODISTS GAVE MUCH DURING YEAR JUST OVER

More than $8,500,000 was contributed by the constituency of the Methodist Episcopal church in the year just closed to the connectional benevolences of the church through the World Service Commission. Dr. R. J. Wade, executive secretary of the commission, announced this to the Chicago Methodist Preachers' meeting Monday. He urged more prayer if giving to the church is to reach higher levels.
"This amount exceeded the expectation of some of the leaders but was very much below the needs for the preceding year," he said. "This necessitates retrenchment on all lines and will interfere with the church development program at home and abroad.
"It is predicted that some of the boards will be compelled to reduce operation by 25 per cent. In the foreign field this will mean the return of missionaries and the impairment of work successfully begun.
"Strenuous efforts are being made to reorganize the church on the annual basis following the five-year centenary period. It is predicted that there will soon be a return to higher levels of giving. For this purpose the church is being organized for prayer, consecration, life service, missionary education, stewardship and a complete every-member canvass.
"Responsibility for success has been largely transferred from central organization and boards to areas, districts and local church. The entire church has contributed more money to all enterprises than in any previous year. This shrinkage has been registered with the connectional benevolent causes. For all purposes the church giving last year was $100,819,730, the largest outpouring of

FEAR BOY'S SKULL MAY BE FRACTURED

While on his newspaper route in Norwich Town Tuesday evening about 6.30, Thomas Mullen, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mullen, of Town street, was seriously injured by an automobile driven by James J. Way, of 37 Myers avenue. The boy was rushed to Backus hospital where he was attended by Dr. W. T. Driscoll, who was called soon after the accident. Because of the boy's condition at the time it could not be definitely stated the extent of his injuries but it is feared he is suffering from a fractured skull. It is expected that an X-ray will be taken. At 9.45 the report was given out at the hospital that the boy was still unconscious. His parents were notified of the accident and Mrs. Mullen was immediately taken to the hospital by a neighbor. When reporting the accident at the police station Mr. Way stated that he was driving 18 or 20 miles an hour and the boy, who was riding a bicycle, swerved in front of him from the sidewalk.

One report was given out that the bicycle could not be located and another was that it was found demolished near the bridge on the New London turnpike. The accident was reported, however, to have taken place on Town street, near the Wells property.

Thomas, who is a bright little chap, about 9, is liked by everyone and friends and neighbors in that vicinity were shocked to learn of his serious injury.

Made 127 Arrests in October

For the month of October 127 arrests were made by the Norwich police department. Intoxication, breach of the peace and violation of the motor vehicle law were the principal causes, the figures showing as follows:

Intoxication 57 breach of peace 23, automobile law violations 32, violation of liquor law 3, theft 5, non-support 2, breaking and entering 3, indecent exposure, embezzlement, burglary, 1 each.

NORWICH TOWN

The regular Thursday evening prayer meeting at the First Methodist Episcopal church, has been changed for this week to Friday evening, when at 7.30 o'clock, H. C. Hartley, a missionary in the lumber camps in the state of Washington, is to give a public address.

Rev. James B. Aldrich, pastor of the Methodist church and members of his parish, will attend the Norwich district conference, to be held at the Willimantic Methodist church Thursday.

Tuesday morning at 7.30 o'clock, at the Sacred Heart church, there was a large delegation of relatives, friends and former neighbors, at the requiem high mass, celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Charles W. Brennan for the repose of the soul of Mrs. Alice Kilroy Reynolds, wife of Albert Reynolds. The musical part of the service was under the direction of Miss Elizabeth A. Malone. The choir gave the Gregorian Mass., and for the waiting hymn Miss Mary Buckley sang Consolation.

At this church on Monday, masses for the Feast of All Souls were celebrated at seven and eight o'clock, the last being a high mass. There were many communicants at both. The first Friday of the month there will be a mass at 7 o'clock in the morning. That evening at 7.30 there will be devotions in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

BOOSTER WEEK FOR THE FARM BUREAU

Nov. 10 to 15 is Boost the Farm Bureau Week, in Connecticut. The county farm bureaus are vieing with one another to see which can secure the largest number of members in proportion to the total number of farmers.

The week marks a new beginning in the matter of membership because of the fact that the last campaigns were conducted in 1921 for a definite three-year period. These have recently run out and now it is necessary to go through a re-sign process.

Farm bureau leaders are enthusiastic about the accomplishments of the past three years. They point out that agriculture has been well represented in all the affairs of state-wide moment. Educational work conducted in cooperation with the extension service has brought big returns.

Among the outstanding achievements is New London county's record of having introduced 113 pure bred bulls on dairy farms during the past two years. Other counties are not far behind.

Of hardly less importance has been the introduction of northern grown certified seed potatoes. This has resulted in an average increase of almost 80 bushels to the acre throughout the state.

Great progress has been made along lines of cooperative buying and selling. Exchanges have been established for the cooperative purchase of fertilizer, feed and other farm supplies. The farm bureaus were largely responsible for the launching of the Connecticut Valley Tobacco Association and have recently organized the poultry producers into a statewide marketing unit. Assistance has been given the Connecticut Milk Producers, also.

Several hundred horses have been brought into the state in cooperation with the North Dakota Farm Bureau Federation, and auctioned off at a considerable saving. A supplementary market news reporting service has been started in conjunction with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Two attractive leaflets are now being circulated setting forth, "Some Things That the Farm Bureau has Done" and "What You Get as a Farm Bureau Member." A local director has been appointed in each town with a corps of assistants pledged to visit each prospective member some time during "Boost the Farm Bureau Week."

All members, both old and new who sign up from now on, are being asked to do so, not for any definite period, but rather with the idea that they will continue from year to year

PRIMARY COUNCIL HEARS MENTAL CLINIC TALK

The Norwich Primary Council held its regular monthly supper and meeting Tuesday from 5.30 to 7 at the Broadway school house. The supper was served at 5.30 o'clock and was followed by the business meeting. Miss Marion Beebe was in charge of the supper. The business meeting was presided over by the president, Miss Jennie Congdon. Routine business was transacted and Miss Congdon reported that Miss Helen Royce, formerly, a local teacher, and now a patient in a Cleveland hospital, is much improved.

Miss Betsy Mitchell of the mental clinic at the W. W. Backus hospital was the speaker of the meeting. She told of the various types of work that are being carried on and of the effort the clinic is making to clearn up mental difficulties. She also spoke of the effort being made to discover the causes of peculiar behaviour of children. At the close of her talk Miss Mitchell answered a number of questions relative to the mental clinic. There was a good sized attendance at the meeting which was both interesting and profitable.

FRANKLIN'S OLDEST VOTER HAS REPUBLICAN RECORD

Franklin's oldest voter, James R. White, 87 cast his ballot there Tuesday for President Coolidge, completing a solid record of voting for republican presidents since he cast a ballot for Lincoln at the latter's first election.

Mr. White had lived in Franklin for several years, but was made a voter there this fall, having previously lived in East Lyme most of his life. He once represented that town in the legislature and is well acquainted with Fred A. Beckwith of East Lyme for whom he was glad to cast a ballot as state senator from the 20th district. Mr. White was born in Winsted in 1837 and has lived in Connecticut all his life. He is a charter member of Bayview lodge, No. 120, F. and A. M., of Niantic.

This old republican veteran attended the funeral of Lincoln in New York and tried to get into the city hall from 6 p. m. to 3 a. m., but without success because of the immense crowd. Five times he reached the gate but each time was crowded away and had to give it up.

COULDN'T FIND POLLING BOOTH ON WEST SIDE

A local man who votes on the West Side had considerable difficulty in finding the polling booth. He has been in the habit of voting either at the West Side fire station or in a store on Thames street wherever the polling place was located in previous years. During the afternoon he left his work and drove to the West Side to register his vote. After driving up and down Thames street for a while looking for the polling place he drove back over West Main street, and parking his machine on Falls avenue within a few feet of the new polling booth went into a store to inquire where the West Siders were voting. Upon being informed that the voting was proceeding in the new station on Falls avenue, he said, New Sation? Why I thought that was a new garage.

He evidently does not read the papers very closely as mention has been made of building the new voting places in Greeneville and on the West Side and the regular election advertisement stated where the polling places were in each district.

JUDGE AYLING RE-ELECTED BY VOTE OF 10,567

The vote polled by the Hon. Nelson J. Ayling of Norwich for judge of probate for this district, in which he was the only nominee, was as follows:

Norwich	8181
Franklin	136
Lisbon	238
Griswold	928
Preston	364
Sprague	518
Voluntown	202
Total	10567

This was 238 more than his vote four years ago.

ABSOLUTELY NO FIRES IN COUNTRY DISTRICTS

C. H. Lathrop of Franklin, who is on the state fire patrol for this district, has been notified to issue warnings that arrests will be made for any fires that are started outside city limits. No permits will be issued for fires.

The fire wardens and state patrol have also been ordered to arrest all hunters found in the woods or fields in violation of the governor's ban on hunting.

GIVEN SURPRISE PARTY FOR TWELFTH BIRTHDAY

A pleasant surprise party was given Tuesday evening at the home of Grimshaw Hurd of North Fourth street, Taftville, in honor of the 12th birthday anniversary of his daughter, Miss Anna May Hurd, at which 15 were present. The guests played many games after which refreshments were served consisting of fancy cookies, cake and sandwiches. Miss Hurd received many and pretty presents.

LEAVES FOR FLORIDA, PREDICTING HARD WINTER

Herbert W. Lucas of this city starts this week for Miami, Fla., by automobile and will be employed there this winter at the North Beach casino. He is accompanying a friend from Newport, R. I.

Mr. Lucas stated before he left that he does not agree with the Cloud Diggers' prediction of a late winter. The Norwich mans study of the weather leads him to expect a very cold winter, in fact the worst in a number of years. There will be plenty of snow and a long severe winter, he says.

HUNTED IN SNOW IN NORTHERN MAINE

L. M. Young and Ned Hall of this city have just returned from a fishing and hunting trip of ten days in the northern part of Maine, towards the Canadian line and north of the Rangeley lakes. They hunted in snow 8 to 10 inches deep, which is unusual for so early in the season. The chief trophies of the enjoyable time were three deer and a good sized bear.

FED MEN ANSWERING DESCRIPTION OF BANDITS

Cumberland, R. I., Nov. 4.—Three men answering the description of the bandits who last Saturday attempted to rob the Wrentham (Mass.) National Bank and shot James E. Carpenter, the cashier applied for food at a hotel here early today. After receiving and paying for their breakfast, the men, whose clothing was torn as if from wandering through the woods, went away.

The hotel clerk who fed the strangers notified the police, and a search for them was begun at once.

Political meetings out of doors have been found the best way to reach the people in England and Ex-Premier Baldwin and Lord Birkenhead recently held open-air meetings.

NO TROUBLE WHEN BABY CAME

Mrs. Crossan Gives Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Dakan Also Tells What This Medicine Does

St. Joseph, Missouri.—"I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I decided to try it as I had had such a hard time with my first child. I took nine bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I never felt better in my life than the day my baby girl was born. I will be glad to tell what it will do, to any woman who will let me know her address."
Mrs. ROSA DAKAN, 2227 S. 11th St., St. Joseph, Missouri.

Back To Normal Health

New Orleans, La.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound while I was carrying my child and I must praise it highly because I never suffered one day during that time and could do all my housework and had a very easy confinement. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound because I have a weakness due to working around the house too soon after my baby was born. But thanks again to the Vegetable Compound I am getting back to normal health once more. I advise any woman to take it."—Mrs. A. MEYN, Jr., 2019 Touro St., New Orleans, Louisiana.

Not A Bit of Trouble

Wilmington, Delaware.—"I was nervous and weak and not at all regular. I worked in a factory at the time and could not work very much. I was sick over a year, then a friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I started to pick up as soon as I began taking it. Then I took it again before my first baby was born and I never had a bit of trouble. I recommend it highly."—Mrs. JANE CROSSAN, 612 Pine St., Wilmington, Delaware.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped many other women just as it has helped Mrs. Dakan, Mrs. Meyn and Mrs. Crossan.

Consider the statements of these women. They give you the benefit of their actual experience with the Vegetable Compound.

A nation wide canvass of women purchasers of the Vegetable Compound reports that 98 out of every 100 have been benefited by its use.

This is a remarkable record and proves the dependability of the medicine for the relief of the troubles women often have.

For weak and run-down conditions so common after child-birth it is well adapted. It strengthens and tones up the system and restores normal health.

The Vegetable Compound contains no harmful drugs or narcotics and can be taken in safety by the nursing mother. For sale by druggists everywhere.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE WAS ACCORDED THE LARGEST PLURALITY IN HISTORY

Will Have at Least 100 Votes to Spare in the Electoral College—Lafest Returns Show 367 Republican Votes—Congressional Returns Show Republican Gains in Both Senate and House—Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, Republican, Has Conceded His Defeat—Vote in Massachusetts Favors Daylight Saving.

New York, Nov. 5 (By the A. P.)—The full measure of the republican victory at the polls could not yet be taken tonight but the returns continued to show that President Coolidge would have at least a hundred votes to spare in the electoral college, and the largest popular vote in history.

The showing made by John W. Davis remained unchanged throughout the day and although Senator La Follette began to creep up a little in one or two western states, there was no certainty tonight that he would receive the electoral vote of any state group except that of Wisconsin.

On the face of the day's congressional returns the republicans made certain of a paper majority, at least, in both senate and house, but doubt remained whether the margin would be great enough to give the administration the whiphand over the combined opposition of the democrats and the LaFollette bloc.

As the presidential figures stood tonight, with only a handful of electoral votes still in doubt, the indicated strength of the three candidates in the electoral college was as follows:

Necessary to a choice, 266.

In three of the four states whose decision remained in the balance—Montana, Nevada and North Dakota—Coolidge was leading but La Follette was trimming down the republican lead and Davis was trailing a poor third. In North Dakota and Montana the preponderance of Coolidge strength was considerable, while in Nevada, his plurality had almost disappeared as the late returns rolled up the total for La Follette.

The dispute in New Mexico was between Davis and Coolidge, with Davis maintaining a comparatively slender lead.

Among the La Follette leaders there were continued predictions of further La Follette gains as the country sections of the states still in dispute sent in their reports. To some extent their expectations had been borne out during the day, but the republicans still hoped that not only Montana, Nevada and North Dakota would be retained, but that in the end Coolidge would take New Mexico from Davis.

This hope grew as Minnesota and Iowa, two of the states on which La Follette had staked his expectations, continued during the day to roll up a Coolidge majority. In Iowa the Coolidge victory began to assume the proportions of a landslide with the republican nominee counting almost two votes to La Follette's one, while in Minnesota the day's figures appeared to give Coolidge indisputable command.

Taken all in all, and considered in the light of the fate it dealt out to local as well as presidential candidates in the west and northwest, this situation represented a tremendous swing backward of the pendulum which two years ago turned the politics of the western country upside down, sent two farmer-labor senators to Washington, almost swept away the nominal republican majority in the house, and gave La Follette a balance of power and a virtual veto over the republican administration.

At least two interesting figures in the recent political life of the capital, Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota and Senator Smith Brookhart of Iowa, appeared tonight to have been left high and dry by recession of that La Follette tide which in 1922 rose quite as suddenly as it now has fallen.

Senator Brookhart, a boon companion of La Follette in senate politics, had conceded his defeat at the hands of a democrat who received the open support of many republican leaders. At the same time his figures took an upward swing. Senator Johnson, however, who sought reelection on the farmer-labor ticket with La Follette's support, still insisted that the full returns would elect him despite a considerable lead held on the day's returns by his republican opponent.

Two years ago both Minnesota and Iowa, as well as the Dakotas and other sections of the northwest, appeared to be one vast conflagration of unrest, with the man from Wisconsin as the towering figure that embodied all hope of relief. As recently as last summer, Brookhart swept everything before him in Iowa when he sought renomination against the republican organization of Iowa, while in South Dakota Senator Sterling, a republican regular of regulars, was denied a renomination at a republican primary.

Now La Follette not only has failed to make an appreciable dent in the electoral strength of Coolidge, he has seen some of his running lieutenants go down before the overwhelming counter-offensive of the republican administration, and may even have lost his hold on a sufficient group in senate and house to force his recognition as an important factor in legislation.

It is the apparent belief of the La Follette men that even as matters stand, he will be able to hold together some semblance of a national party organization for use in future campaigns. In a statement issued today at Madison, the senator declared he would go on as he had begun, and called on his followers "to close ranks, and gird themselves for the next battle." His running mate, Senator Wheeler, elected to the senate from Montana as a democrat, also publicly reaffirmed his allegiance to the cause of his adoption, but made no reference to future party affiliations.

It remains to be seen whether the American Federation of Labor, whose executive council joined in the active promotion of the La Follette-Wheeler campaign, will retain its connection with such a permanent independent party movement as Senator La Follette apparently has in mind.

CONGRESSIONAL GAINS MADE BY REPUBLICANS

New York, Nov. 5.—Belated returns gave the republicans the best of it today in the upsets in both the house and senate. But it appeared that final reports from all districts would be necessary before there could be a determination whether President Coolidge could expect a real working majority in the next congress.

Returns from 390 of the 435 congressional districts gave the republicans an actual majority—218—but in this total are included nearly a score of the La Follette insurgents.

The democrats, meantime, had made certain of 170 seats and the farmer-labor party of two.

On the basis of these returns the republicans had made a net gain of 16 over the democrats, recapturing 29 seats as against four now held by republicans which were moved over into the democratic column.

At adjournment last June the house lineup was republicans 225, democrats 207 and three scattered.

In the senatorial contests, the most surprising results was in Iowa where Smith W. Brookhart, republican, who publicly repudiated his own national ticket, had conceded his defeat at the hands of Daniel F. Steck, a democratic lawyer of Ottumwa. Mr. Steck was generally credited with receiving support from many regular republicans.

The republicans, however, apparently had gained three senatorial seats on the basis of returns received early tonight. These were in Massachusetts, Kentucky and Oklahoma.

The democrats had elected 11 senators, while seven republicans had been chosen or had such leads as to make their election practically certain. In the six remaining contests, all in western states where returns still were coming in slowly, the results were uncertain.

In Minnesota, Representative Thomas D. Schall, republican, had what his supporters regarded as a commanding lead over Senator Magnus Johnson, farmer-labor. Johnson still insisted, however, that missing rural percincts would return him a winner.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, democratic prosecutor in the Teapot Dome investigation, was leading the field in Montana, with a sufficient margin as to make him appear reasonably certain of re-election.

The result in both New Mexico and Wyoming was surrounded with much uncertainty because of the slowness in gathering the returns. In Colorado where two senate seats were at stake Alva B. Adams, democrat, was leading Senator Phipps, republican, and Rice W. Means, republican, was ahead of Morrison Shafroth, democrat.

In gaining a seat in Massachusetts, the republicans elected Frederick H. Gillett, speaker of the house, over David I. Walsh, the democratic incumbent. In Kentucky, Fred M. Sackett, republican, won over Senator A. Owsley Stanley, democrat, while in Oklahoma, it appeared that W. B. Pine, republican, had defeated J. C. Walton, the democratic candidate who ran on an anti-Ku Klux Klan platform.

Other republicans elected to the senate or who had substantial leads over their democratic opponents were T. Coleman duPont, of Delaware, who defeated James M. Tunnell, democrat; Charles Deneen, who came in ahead of a field of six in Illinois; Senators Capper, of Kansas; Borah, of Idaho; Couzens of Michigan for both the short and long terms; Norris, of Nebraska; Keyes New Hampshire; Edge, of New Jersey, and McNary, of Oregon; Jones H. Metcalf, of Rhode Island; W. H. McMaster, of South Dakota, and Guy D. Goff, of West Virginia.

Democrats elected are Heflin, Alabama; Robinson, Arkansas; Harris, Georgia; Ransdell, Louisiana; Harrison, Mississippi; Simmons, North Carolina; Blease, South Carolina; Tyson, Tennessee; Sheppard, Texas; and Carter Glass, Virginia.

The upsets in the house were widely scattered over the country. The democrats lost the six seats they now have in Pennsylvania, but they elected their candidate over his republican opponent in another Pennsylvania district. They lost four of their six seats in New Jersey; two in Indiana; one in Illinois; one each in Ohio, Michigan, Delaware, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Oregon and in Nevada.

They gained a district in Maryland, one in Kansas and elected their candidate in the eighth Ohio district over the republican incumbent.

Returns to the house of both the floor leaders—Longworth, Ohio, of the republicans, and Garret, Tennessee, of the democrats—was assured, while it appeared that there would be no upsets in the New York delegation, the largest in the house, despite the heavy Coolidge plurality in the Empire state.

STATEMENT BY COOLIDGE ONE OF "SIMPLE THANKS"

Washington, Nov. 5.—President Coolidge calmly received assurances today of his election as president by an overwhelming vote, issued a statement of "simple thanks," and turned again to his desk and the work which has constantly occupied his attention since entering office a little more than a year ago.

"I have no appeal except to the common sense of all the people," Mr. Coolidge said, in expressing his appreciation in the statement which he read to a group of newspapermen in his office. "I have no pledge except to serve them. I have no object except to promote their welfare."

Up early after retiring late last night, the president went to the executive office after a walk about the White House grounds, and read returns which had accumulated during the night and gave assurance of his election. During the morning a telegram of congratulations was received from John W. Davis, the democratic presidential nominee, to which Mr. Coolidge replied expressing his thanks.

Intimate friends called throughout the morning and afternoon to extend congratulations, among them being several members of the cabinet. Meanwhile messenger boys brought telegrams and cablegrams of congratulations from all parts of the world.

Turning his attention to office business, Mr. Coolidge issued a proclamation proclaiming Thursday, Nov. 27, as Thanksgiving day. A short nap late noon made up the sleep lost last night when late hours were kept by the family receiving returns, but he was again in the office in the afternoon.

The president late in the day went for a walk through the downtown section of the city. Mingling among the crowds, he was often recognized, and the greetings of all seemed a little happier than usual.

The walk over, Mr. Coolidge returned to the executive mansion where he and Mrs. Coolidge have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, of Boston.

MATTERS OF INTEREST IN BAY STATE ELECTION

Boston, Nov. 5.—In the chief contest of the election in Massachusetts, Speaker Frederick H. Gillett, of the national house of representatives, republican nominee for United States senator was leading his democratic opponent, Senator David I. Walsh, by more than 18,000 votes when 1424 of the 1432 precincts in the state had been heard from late today. The total vote in these precincts, representing the state complete except for several city wards, was:

Gillett 569,329; Walsh 540,544.

Senator Walsh polled a large vote in the city of Boston where he ran far ahead of Mayor James M. Curley, his party's nominee for governor, but later returns from cities and towns outside of Boston swelled the total of the republican candidate.

The same precincts gave for president:

Coolidge 698,725; Davis 276,535; LaFollette 140,369.

For governor, the 1424 precincts gave:

Fuller, r 641,602; Curley d, 483,609.

Of the several referenda submitted at the election, 1426 precincts gave:

Number 3, liquor law—yes 447,909; no, 443,528.

Number 6, daylight saving—Yes 489,719; no, 422,710.

Number 7, child labor—Yes 243,745; no 686,238.

Australia is now enjoying summer weather and reports say heavy rains practically assure good crops this season.

Women Who Figure In World of Politics

New Jersey Democrats Have Elected Mrs. Mary T. Norton to National House.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 5.—As "Ma" Ferguson picks up the gubernatorial train in great Texas, Mrs Mary T. Norton goes forth from little New Jersey to claim her chair in the national house of representatives. A democrat, the first woman of the party to reach congress and the first woman of any party to be sent to Washington from the eastern seaboard, she declared today that she seeks no quarters on account of her sex and will give none.

Approval of light wines and beer, the building of veterans' hospitals in every state, increases for the postal employes and enlargement of the immigration quotas, stand out in her platform, which, however, may not be raised in the house at once. By her own words, she expects to "do very little the first year."

"Pictures of me washing clothes and hanging them out? I should say not," she told newspaper photographers when she was assured of election. "I do not expect to do those things in Washington. Why tell the world about all that?

Mrs. Norton is president of the Day Nursery association, having taken office when the organization was insolvent. Today the property is worth $260,000, principally through her efforts of enlisting the aid of merchants. She is the wife of a Jersey City business man.

The east's first congresswoman bowled over three healthy men in her race for office.

MRS. N. T. ROSS ELECTED GOVERNOR OF WYOMING

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Nellie T. Ross, widow of the late Governor William B. Ross, of Wyoming, and whose election to the governorship of Wyoming on the democratic ticket was conceded today by the Cheyenne Tribune Leader, this afternoon sent a message of congratulations to Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, democratic candidate for governor of Texas.

The message of Mrs. Ross said:

"Please accept my congratulations and hearty wishes for a successful administration."

THREE WOMEN LEGISLATORS ELECTED IN WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5 (By the A. P.)—For the first time, women will sit in the legislative halls of Wisconsin, as a result of the election yesterday.

Helen M. Brooks of Coloma, will represent the Green-Waushara counties district. Mildred Barber, of Marathon, will be assembly-woman for the first Marathon county district. Price county will be represented in the assembly by Helen F. Thompson, Park Falls.

All of the victorious women were named on the republican ticket.

MRS. COOLIDGE'S REPLY TO MRS. JOHN W. DAVIS

Washington, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Coolidge sent the following telegram today in reply to a message of congratulation from Mrs. John W. Davis:

"Thank you for your kind telegram of congratulation. Best wishes to you."

LAFOLLETTE TO CONTIUNE HIS FIGHT FOR THE MASSES

Madison, Wis., Nov. 5.—(By The A. P.)—Senator Robert Robert M. LaFollette, defeated independent candidate for the presidency, today, in his first public statement commenting upon the election, said:

"The loss of this one battle in the ageolong struggle is but an incident.

"So far as I am personally concerned, I am enlisted for life in the struggle."

"The progressives will not be dismayed by this result. We have just begun to fight. There can be no compromise on the fundamental issues for which we stand."

The text of the senator's statement follows:

"The election of Calvin Coolidge by a landslide is apparent from the returns now in. The American people have chosen to retain in power the reactionary republican administration with its record of corruption, and subservience to the dictates of organized monopoly.

"The progressives will not be dismayed by this result. We have just begun to fight. There can be no compromise on the fundamental issues for which we stand.

The news of the republican landslide was accepted easily here Wednesday morning. The street corner conversationists declared that they "just knew" it would happen and made no mention of surprise. In some cases this after-statement differed quite widely from predictions made before Tuesday. Although not elected, Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton, Windham's favorite politician and candidate for representative in congress, was being complimented Wednesday on the excellent vote which he drew in the county and throughout the Second Congressional district. The votes slated in his favor prove his popularity and assure his followers that, in the event of a normal election, he would have scooped the office with colors flying. "Fenton lost the election, but he was not defeated" was a frequently heard expression. It is known definitely, that the candidate had many republican friends who desired to vote for him, but through lack of ambition or fear of blundering failed to split their ticket.

The matter of a new city water supply bobs up again for consideration, due to the second drought within three months. A little over two months ago the city had to purchase water from two supply ponds in Ashford to supplement the depleated supply until the September rains came. The dry spell during the past month has brought about a similar situation of dryness and the steam pumps at the pumping station in Mansfield have been in operation nearly three-quarters of the time since the first drought to pump water into the distributing reservoir on Hosmer Mountain. The cost of running the steam pumps amounts to considerable as they consume from eight to ten tons of coal daily, when run day and night entailing an average expense of $100 a day. Acting Mayor George W. Hickey stated Wednesday that there was no danger of a water famine, as the water does not yet reach anywhere near the low mark recorded during the dry spell two months ago. Advice is given to householders, however, to use the water with care and to conserve it in every possible way.

Frederick C. Moore of Coventry died at St. Joseph's hospital here Tuesday night. He was born in Enfield Mass., December 24, 1854, a son of Henry and Marion Coombs Moore. Besides his wife he leaves five daughters, Mrs. George Kenney, Mrs. John Curley and Miss Nettie Moore of Coventry, Mrs. Alfred Wright of East Hartford and Mrs. Basil Lawrence of Staten Island N. Y., three sons, Elmer and Henry of Coventry and Frank of Wethersfield, and a half-sister, Miss Jennie F. Fletcher of Holyoke, Mass.

Donations to the unselfish cause of the Salvation Army Home Service appeal are still in demand and are being asked for immediately. The sum of $339 was secured on Tag Day last Saturday. This is considered an excellent showing of generosity my Captain Perritt. Up to Monday morning the appeal had been answered to the amount of $2500, leaving a shortage of $1,000 to make the amount of the budget of the local Army's expenses in this city during the next fiscal year.

The funeral of Philip McGee, 100, was held from Killourey Brothers' mortuary parlors Wednesday morning. A high mass of requiem at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock was sung by Rev. Charles M. Kelley. The organ music was by Mrs. E. R. Portelance. Mrs. Henry Mathieu and Mrs. Charles Anderson were soloists. St. Joseph's Welfare Council was largely represented at the services. The bearers were John Killourey, Raymond Sullivan, James Bowan and Alfred Lafleurre. At the grave in St. Joseph's cemetery Rev. Father Kelley read the committal service.

Many relatives and friends attended Special music was sung by St Cecelia Requiem Quartet, with Mrs. J. F. Gadbeau at the organ. The committal prayers were read at St. Joseph's cemetery by Rev. H. C. Belec. The bearers were Paul Welch, John Connors, Arthur Ashton, Romeo Benoit, Roy Robage and Dennis Vertefeuille. Arrangements were by the Hurteau-Bosse Corp.

At two o'clock Wednesday afternoon the funeral services for John Kennerson were held at 63 North street. Rev. Frederic F. Peabay of the Baptist Baptist church officiated. Burial was in Willimantic cemetery. Avery and VanZandt were in chare of the arrangements.

The first November meeting of the Violet-Rebekah lodge, No. 37, held in I. O. O. F. hall Tuesday night was largely attended, Acting Noble Grand Mrs. Amy P. Brown, presiding. The assembly officers, president, Miss Ethel D. Harrowy of New London; vice president, Mrs. Emma C. Wilson of Stamford and warden, Mrs. Elizabeth T. Watrous of Glastonbury made their official visit. Following the transaction of business a slate of six candidates was initiated. Guests came from Hartford, Danielson and New London. The visitors made interesting brief addresses. A creamed chicken supper was served at 6.30 o'clock. In behalf of the lodge Miss Marion Ellsworth presented Miss Barrows a beautiful beaded bag. The past noble grand of the local lodge will entertain the Thames Past Noble Grands' association at an all-day meeting November 13th.

While traveling along the banks of the Fenton river near the Henry Church home in Ashford, Tuesday morning, Justice of the Peace Edwin O. Zeller suddenly came upon the carcass of a fine buck deer, weighing over two hundred pounds. The body of the animal was still warm and there were no marks to indicate that it was wounded or had been shot. Deputy Game Warden Ranson Tift gave permission to Grand Juror Otto B. Hattin to butcher the animal and distribute the meat to the people of Ashford but when cut the flesh was found to be in poor condition so the carcass was buried. The antlers were retained by the game warden and Grand Juror Hattin took the skin.

Now in possession of their charter, the members of the Willimantic Exchange club displayed accentuated interest in the organization, at the weekly luncheon and meeting Wednesday noon. Dr. George E. Wilcox presided. Elected as second and third vice presidents respectively were Edwin P. Hayes and Russell W Potter. Upon motion the entire slate as elected will carry through until the first of the year when the regular annual election will take place. Charles H. Caswell was appointed chairman of the entertainment committee.

The all-night barking of his two watch dogs, Tuesday night, led to an investigation by Charles Brown, of Ashford, Wednesday morning, which revealed a large coon in a maple tree in the yard of his home. His collie dog was making it his business to see that the little fur-bearer remained in its temporary place of safety. Coon life was soon snuffed out with a shotgun and the animal was presented to Grand Juror Otto B. Hattin, who will give a supper to his friends this week.

The Social and Whist club met with Mrs. T. Conelly this week. Assisting the hostess was Mrs Edward Moran. Prizes went to Mrs. E. Lochappell, Mrs. Minnie Smith, Mrs. Mary Peters, and Mrs. M. Gifford was awarded the consolation.

PLAINFIELD

The Plainfield Grange No. 140 met in Grange hall Tuesday evening and had their election of officers. Worthy Master Hall presided at the meeting. The officers chosen were: Worthy master, Charles O. Dodge; lecturer, Harold Hopkins; steward, Louis Gendron; assistant steward, Arthur Elliott; chaplain, Mrs. Cooper; treasurer, Jason Lathrop; secretary, Carrie Gardiner; gate keeper, Henry Randall; lady assistant steward, Susie Dodge; Pomona, Regina Gendron; Ceres, Mrs. Rood; Flora, Mrs. Lyons.

After the meeting light refreshments were served.

More than other women, these fine housewives appreciate the rare skill it takes to make this rich, firm, flavory loaf

The first New England housewife who tried it was amazed

WHEN the Six Bakers said they had created a new loaf—"richer than had ever been baked before"—the critical housewives of New England were skeptical.

This loaf was probably no different from others, they said.

But the first New England housewife who tried White Rose was amazed! Here was a fragrant, perfect loaf! Crisp-crusted! Creamy-grained! Such a loaf as she knew she rarely achieved herself.

Today 300,000 of the finest housewives in New England are serving White Rose

THESE Six Bakers shared their baking secrets of years of experience to get that firm smooth grain. Just the ingredients the housewives themselves would choose, make White Rose fine-flavored, satisfying.

Every month these Six Bakers meet to keep it up to the highest standard. They go over their recipe, test their loaves and compare new discoveries. Get White Rose from your grocer today. You will enjoy this unusual loaf. In the checked wrapper that looks like a fresh, clean tea towel.

LIBERTY HILL

Wells are holding out remarkably There was a light shower for about 15 minutes Sunday, just at night, when the wind, which had been blowing strong from southwest and suddenly shifted to northwest and grew much colder. There has been no rain here this fall since the night of October 7th and in October 7th 1922 it rained at night, ending a three and one-half weeks' drouth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clarke and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Foote motored to Middletown Saturday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Manwaring and their daughter, Mrs. Myra Loomis.

Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Woolworth visited friends at Storrs college Friday, returning Saturday forenoon.

Miss Stratton from Storrs is to give a talk in Liberty Hill church on Home Economics.

Miss Mabel Payson of Willimantic visited her brother, Everett C. Payson and family Sunday.

The Liberty Hill Men's club held the meeting at the church rooms on Tuesday evening. Humorous stories and practical talks and suggestions are in order.

At the Wednesday night meeting the church, reports from the American Board of Home and Foreign Missions and The Franklin Association of Ministers meeting, were given by the pastor.

The Hallowe'en social given by the C. E. society Thursday evening was well attended and nearly all were in costume. All had a jolly time guessing who was who. Games were played and refreshments were served. The church rooms were effectively decorated.

WINDHAM

The community Hallowe'en social given by the C. E. social was attended by about 80, several being present from South Windham. The prize for the best costume was awarded Esther Josephson, who was dressed as a gypsy. Various stunts were tried and doughnuts, coffee and apples were served.

Among those who came home to vote were Miss Mary Frink, Boston, Keeney Lathrop, Providence, Mrs. Jessie Gilbler and De Witt Lockman, N. Y.

Miss Anna Classen and Miss Maud Stokes have moved into their new home on Zions Hill. Mr. Wheeler of Virginia has hired the Eaton house, vacated by them.

Mrs. E. H. Hiscox of Jewett City was a recent guest of her cousin, Mrs. Gertrude Arnold.

John Wilcox and daughters have the sympathy of the community in the death of Mrs. Wilcox which occurred at St. Joseph's hospital Saturday. A little son died a few months ago.

In respect to the memory of Mrs. John Wilcox, treasurer of the Parent-Teachers association the father's night program which had been planned for this week has been postponed to next Tuesday night.

The auction bridge club met with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Larrabee Saturday night. The members of the club are to be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. George Stiles of South Windham, Friday night.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theater

Any person engaged in the business of making us laugh is a boon to humanity. Harold Lloyd, D.L. (Doctor of Laughs) is doing his share towards the betterment of our well being with his feature length comedies, the latest of which is Hot Water and will be seen today at the Palace theater. It is not the story of a plumber, as you might think, but relates the trials and tribulations of a young married couple, who have the wife's family around their necks like a ball and chain on a prisoner.

Where medicine fails, Lloyd cures. This is no idle statement, for there is not a day in the year that the young comedian fails to receive a letter telling how their ailments had been alleviated through seeing Lloyd perform on the screen. Lloyd is as important to the world in his way as the Mayo brothers are in theirs. Only he doesn't use medicine or knives. Laughter in his medicine, and after all, isn't it reasonable that a good laugh sometimes should help where pills fail? See Hot Water if you want to take a dose of medicine without objecting to it.

Pathe news, Sport Light and a two reel Maud Muller, dramatic special complete this exceptionally high class program.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Little Jessie James

Little Jesse James, conceded by New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia critics to be "the smartest musical comedy" seen in many seasons will be the attraction extraordinary at the New Opera House, Westerly, and a rare treat is in store for theatergoers who appreciate a splendid musical comedy presented in L. Lawrence Weber's well known prodigal manner. Little Jesse James will be seen here with a Paul Whiteman Band to play Harry Archer's catchy score. A Paul Whiteman Band carried with a musical success like Little Jessie James makes the engagement an event that will linger long in the memory of local play patrons.

The play is farcical in character, with a well defined story that is clean cut, though a wee bit risque The situations are extremely funny and in Chicago and New York the walls of the theater fairly rocked with laughter. The keynote of the play is speed and the many dance numbers keep the chorus busy from rise to fall of curtain. The young ladies of the ensemble are said to be very youthful and to possess rare beauty, practically all of them have been recruited from the ranks of the most famous artists' models in the Metropolis. The remarkably brilliant cast of talented principals are all Broadway favorites. Only forty minutes ride—Good road all the way. See a wonderful show in a beautiful theater.

Breed Theater

Picture fans thought they had seen Tom Mix in about every role possible to give him, but he comes out in a new one in The Trouble Shooter, his latest William Fox release, from the pen of Frederick and Fanny Hatton and which will be shown at the Breed theater for the remainder of the week. Mix plays the part of a western "trouble shooter" for a big power company which strings wire through the wild mountain country to link civilization.

He has the support of one of the finest casts ever assembled for him. Kathleen Key has the leading feminine role, while other well-known performers are Earl Fox, P. Gunnis Davis, Mike Donlin, formerly noted as a professional ball player; Dolores McHugh and Al Freemont. John Conway was the director and he made a fine job of it.

Natural scenery, effective plot, a romantic story and clever acting, combine to present the versatile western star to the best advantage. He dares a gallop over a trestle on Tony, his famous horse, with a roaring locomotive coming along behind. He rides through a mountain storm with Tony wearing "horse snow shoes." And he fights and shoots his way through and over all sorts of obstacles. It's a corking good picture and every picture fan will appreciate it. Tom Mix is seen in a new part, moreover, and it goes to prove that he is more than a cowboy impersonator. Mix is a real actor.

Other pictures on the bill include William Duncan in The Fast Express an Imperial comedy and the Pathe news.

Broadway Theater

A well balanced and diversified program of B. F. Keith vaudeville and pictures opens at the Broadway for three days starting today.

Turuo and Jackson will open the vaudeville program in A Little Surprise. Just what this is no one knows.

Hitting home runs on the field of songland is the speciality of Phil and Eddie Ross. They have a scientific knack of putting over their special songs.

Bob Murphy and—, in combining business with pleasure have a real comedy novelty offering. Mr. Murphy is a song writer and probably his best known is Mother Mine.

Anna Schuller and George close the bill in an athletic diversion.

Open All Night, the new Parampunt picture, which will be shown today at the Broadway theater, is said to be something different in the line of screen entertainment. It is filled with humor and has a novel story to tell. Viola Dana, Jetta Goudal, Adolphe Menjou and Raymond Griffith are featured in the principal roles. The story was adapted to the screen by Willis Goldbeck, who wrote the scenario for Scaramouche: Paul Bern directed the picture as his first production for Paramount. Paul Morland, the French novelist, is the author. The scenes are laid in Paris, and all the action takes place in less than twenty-four hours.

Broad Street Property Sold

James L. Case has sold for Mrs Nora I. Casey, the 2½ story frame cottage at 175 Broad street.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

A big motor truck of the Quinebaug Lake Ice company with Stanley Keach as driver, skidded and rolled over, Wednesday, a few minutes after noon, as the machine came out of Hawkins street and swung northward into Broad street. While Mr. Keech escaped with a shaking up, a broken finger and some bruises, Richard Turner, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clare N. Turner of Broad street, and Geo. Richards, 6, son of Rev. and Mrs. Leonard J. Richards of Broad street, were more severely, but apparently not seriously, injured.

The injured children, who live in the neighborhood of where the accident happened, were picked up and carried to their homes. Later in the afternoon it was stated that the Turner boy had a severe cut on the back, another cut on the arm and about a dozen cuts, presumably inflicted by bits of broken glass from the windshield, on the head. The Richards boy had a cut on the head and was bruised considerably. There were no indications that he injuries in either case were other than superficial, though a day or two may be required to demonstrate that.

Mr. Keech said after the accident that a rear tire blew out when he turned out of Hawkins into Broad street. The momentum of the truck caused it to roll over in making the right angle turn.

The machine, removed later in the afternoon, was considerably damaged in the accident, the top and fenders being wrecked and the windshield shattered. The car was run home under its own power, however.

During the afternoon Mr. Keach had his broken finger attended to at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam.

Screeching its defiance, the great What-Is-It again is roaming the Allen hill territory. This story is not a space-filler for the day after election. It is founded on the reliable statements of Charles A. Benham, who lives on the old Kendall farm, north of Wauregan on the Brooklyn road, and has to do with the strange beast that aroused so much interest and curiosity last spring.

Mr. Benham says the animal has made the night weird with its unearthly noises on several occasions. Its voice has a volume that would do credit to a beast of good size and is terrifying enough to deter any but a brave person from going out for close investigation without having a gun along.

Tracks of the animal were found last spring and Mr. Benham got a shot at the thing one Sunday evening after dusk. Since then nothing has been heard of the matter, but ot evidently has returned for the fall and winter season.

Maybe its the Jersey Devil wandered up this way. And maybe the strange and unearthly cries to which it gives vent are the outpouring of its satisfaction over the fact that lack of rain has stopped the hunting season. Anyway, the animal's back on the job again and anyone who wants to win fame may try to achieve it by bringing in the great four-footed mystery of southeastern Brooklyn.

At Elmville, where the Crystal Water company is engaged in laying a line of 16-inch main, the work that has been underway for weeks has so far arranged that the work crew was operating opposite the Kent store Wednesday and had only a few yards more to reach the northernmost limits of the job on which they are engaged. The work will be completed within a few days and the main ready for use.

The things that some electors do with their ballots while the polls furnishes material for interesting study by one concerned with such affairs. As strange as anything that voters did Tuesday was splitting their ballot on national elections. A few voted for presidential electors in three different columns evidently preferring the body of one candidate to the legs of another an dthe head of the third to either of the other two. Still another made sure, as he or she must have viewed the matter, of getting as much as possible out of one filing at exercising the sovereign right of franchise. This particular voter put X's at the head of three different party columns, making it almost unanimous. The ballots showed evidence, too, in some cases of having been marked by electors previously registered in Massachusetts or Rhode Island, for there were names scratched, as is permitted in Rhode Island and cross marks to the right of names, instead of to the left, as is done in Massachusetts. Of the more than 2,000 who voted in the votes, however, so what few and few of Killingly very few 1 at their strange errors occurred are not to be taken as a reflection on the electorate as a whole

Missing from the election returns Wednesday morning: "Alabama casts 25 votes for Underwood!"

A radio can be one of the most cantankerous things in the world. A demonstration of this was given Tuesday night, when receiving sets growled and screeched and scrambled things until many who were using them said things that appear in newspapers as rows of exclamation points after a series of dashes.

Members of the Civic federation are to hold a meeting at the health station in the town hall Friday afternoon.

Sherwood B. Potter, republican, is credited with a notable victory in defeating in Brooklyn, for representative, John M. Bessette, one of the strongest democratic candidates in any of the towns hereabouts.

This (Thursday) evening the democrats plan to caucus to name their delegates to the democratic state convention that is to nominate a candidate for United States senator at a special election to be held on December 16, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Frank B. Brandegee.

There was no celebration in Killingly of the sweeping republican victory. Seemingly the days for such outbursts of emotion and enthusiasm are gone the way of many other things formerly associated with election-time doings.

The Roundabout club is to meet this (Thursday) afternoon with Mrs. Ella Gilbert.

KILLINGLY DEMOCRATS EVENED UP FOR CONVENTION

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, Nov. 5.—In Killingly, as at hundreds of other places in the eastern states, the democratic party paid the penalty on election day of the free-for-all embroglio it ran in New York last June, under the official listing of the democratic national convention. From the day that convention adjourned, after its near-riotous days of verbal clamor, legions of democrats in the east, scores of them in the town of Killingly were impatient for the hour when they could record, through the ballot box, their protest against a political party that took its orders from the southern states, regardless of what the remainder of the country might want. These democrats may not be enamored of President Coolidge, but the political party of which he was the titular head and candidate for the chief executive of the nation offered them the safest, easiest avenue of expressing their disapproval of what the democratic national convention had done, without weakening the security of the nation. They exercised their right to punish the democratic party. Nearly 100 strong, another groupp went father and voted for LaFollette.

In Killingly, the total list of names voted on the republican caucus list does not nearly equal the vote of the town for republican candidates in Tuesday's election, when the victorious party came through with a plurality of approximately 700 on the national ticket and did nearly as well on the state and local tickets. The 700 margin of votes frankly astounded the republican leaders and candidates. It was an amazing change from the voting in the town election, about a month before, when the democrats came within a handful of votes of electing even more candidates than they did. This is regarded as conclusively indicative of the openly-voiced claims that the dissension in the democratic ranks does not apply to local politics. It applies to the party and its doing in the nation.

While the democrats here knifed the national party ticket unmercifully, they cheered the news that New York had re-elected the democratic candidate for governor and expressed their sympathies for such a splendid citizen as Mr. Davis—and they will do it again and again, until the south learns that the democratic party must have support outside the south to win a national election, and that it must consider New England and all the east, politically, industrially and financially.

PUTNAM

Joseph H. Bates, democrat, beat out Dr. J. H. Hutchins, republican, for representative, at Tuesday's election. The defeat of the doctor, who represented the town in the last general assembly, came about through the organization of an independent party that threw its votes to Bates. The organization styled itself the citizens' committee of the town of Pomfret. The members of the committee charged that when nominations for representatives were made in the caucus, all candidates were not given an opportunity to be nominated and that Hutchins, according to one member of the committee, was railroaded into the nomination. This gave the west end of the town two candidates, as J. Nelson Platt, the other republican candidate, comes from that section. This is against established precedent, it is said, and met with disfavor. Hutchins was blamed for the affair and the dissatisfied republicans set out to beat him and they did it by electing his democratic opponent.

Nineteen babies were weighed and measured at the well baby conference held at the high school, Wednesday afternoon. Owing to a misunderstanding no doctor was present and the work was performed by the following nurses: Miss Vincent of Hartford, field nurse of the state department of health, Miss Lessard, local Red Cross nurse, and Mrs. Arthur S. Macdonald, a graduate nurse of Putnam. The nurses were assisted by Miss Winnifred Mellor and Miss Geraldine Frost.

The engagement of Miss Agnes Langevin of Wauregan to Walter Brunelle of Putnam, has been announced. They are planning to be married early next spring.

Albert H. Rawlston, associate editor of the Putnam Patriot, has resigned, his resignation taking effect the 15th of this month. Mr. Rawlston has been a newspaper man since boyhood, beginning his career in Pawtucket. He went from the Rhode Island city to Danielson and from there, about three years ago, came to Putnam. Since he came here he has identified himself with a number of organizations and was elected secretary of the chamber of commerce. His efforts on the local paper have been appreciated by both the public and his employers and he only leaves to enter a larger field of endeavor by becoming editor and manager of the Franklin (Mass.) Sentinel, owned by the late Carl B. Johnson, a former Putnam man who began his newspaper career in Putnam. Mr. Rawlston was a member of St. Philip's church and superintendent of the Sunday school.

News of a fire, in which there is suspicions of incendiarism, which occurred in the town of Union, Monday night, has reached Putnam. The building burned was owned by and was on the large estate of George Myers of Philadelphia and was leased by the manager of the estate, Wallace Goodall, as a garage. Three automobiles in the building belonging to Mr. Goodall were burned. Mr. Goodall formerly lived in Putnam where he was manager of the large Wheaton farm in the south section of the town.

The chief of police of Warwick, R. I., came to Putnam, Wednesday, and received at the hands of the Putnam police a tub of butter and a tub of lard. There was no presentation speech, the goods being a part of the merchandise stolen by Henry Brault, being returned through the medium of the law to their rightful owner.

On account of cases of scarlet fever children under 16 are being refused admittance to the local theatres. This is by order of the health officials and with the cooperation of the theatre management. A police officer is stationed at the entrance of both theatres to see that children do not enter.

Mrs. Helen M. Willey, house manager of the House in the Pines, Norton, Mass., returned there Wednesday morning after spending two days with her mother, Mrs. A. W. Macdonald of Prospect street.

John Burnett, superintendent of the mill of the Putnam Woolen company, left Wednesday morning by automobile, with his family, for a vacation tour to New York state.

The Putnam police at a late hour, Tuesday afternoon, got word that a cattle rustling stunt was being pulled off far from the western plains, in fact right here among the hills of old Windham county. The call came to police headquarters from a Killingly deputy sheriff, who told the Putnam officers that a herd of thirteen cattle and two horses were being driven through the rural sections and were due to pass through Putnam, unless the rustlers decided to make a detour.

Captain Bill Jarvis and Patrolman Bill Durand divided themselves into details of one. The captain went out on the Providence pike, while the patrolman went up on Woodstock avenue. Before leaving they took a hitch in the gun belts and pulled down their caps in lieu of sombreros. Trying hard to picture in their minds a movie thriller recently shown of rustlers of the old days, and what they were apt to do if caught, the officers set off, rather uncertain as to what they were up against.

The patrolman picked the route of the rustlers and soon saw the 13 milkers and the two oat-destroyers appearing down the road in a cloud of dust. Two men were doing the driving and when they approached the officer stopped them. Nothing like the old days! The two men, not speaking English any too fluently, tried to convince the Putnam bull that they had purchased the outfit of a fellow countryman. They even showed a bill of sale.

The deputy sheriff was notified and he came at once to Putnam. The two men had been taken to the police station, not for fear of the mob, but to talk things over quietly. The deputy, with assistance, turned the herd and the two horses about and started back for the Killingly ranch.

It seems that the cattle had been attached by legal process and were to be sold at sheriff's sale. The owner thought he would be the law to it and had a little sale of his own, the price being a very low figure. It was surmised by the officers that if the herd had not been intercepted in Putnam it would now be well over the line in the Bay State. The last reel will be shown in Killingly, where the action in the first reel started, probably with the town court as location.

Sacred Heart church, West Thompson, was filled, Tuesday morning, about a hundred guests being from Webster, for the marriage of Miss Nellie Bernier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bernier, of West Thompson, and Joseph Bernier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bernier, of Webster.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Eliza Bernier as bridesmaid. Leo Cloutier of Webster was best man. Members of the Sacred Heart church, Webster, furnished music for the mass with Adolphe Dugas organist. Rev. George J. Donahue of Pomfret, pastor of the West Thompson church, performed the ceremony and sang the nuptial high mass.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with full length veil and carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. Her bridesmaid's dress was of blue georgette, with hat to match and she carried pale pink roses.

Following the mass, breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents with guests present from Providence, Webster, Fitchburg and Putnam.

The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a bracelet and the bridegroom gave his best man a K. of C. emblem. Mr. and Mrs. Bernier left Tuesday night for a wedding trip by motor to Niagara Falls, New York city and other places. The bride's traveling suit was of old rose charmeen with fall hat of the same color. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Bernier will occupy a new apartment on Main street, Webster.

There was a disgusted motorman-conductor on one of the Connecticut company's one-man trolley cars, on Tuesday afternoon. The car arrived in Putnam from Mechanicsville with one fare aboard and it was this fact that caused the company's operator to register disgust. It is the custom of the company to send a special car to Mechanicsville at the time the mill closes and to bring the workers from Putnam and other points south of the village down the river. It was decided to close the plant at 3 o'clock election day afternoon, so that all employes might cast their ballots. The Connecticut company was notified of the changed hour and sent the extra up to get the mill help. When the whistle blew and the employes came out all but a twelfth or a dozen of the anticipated trolley company's fares got into automobiles and sped away. The conductor gave himself as motorman the signal and the car started south over the iron with the lone passenger. After discharging the load at Bugbee corner the conductor-motorman proceeded to the South Main street switch where he had a wait of about 15 minutes. To add to his disgust he could not find his pipe when he started to enjoy his wait with a smoke. After he had bought a good five-cent cigar—which there is no such thing—and took a few puffs, his demeanor changed and he could see the affair as a joke, not on himself—(he was drawing his regular per hour)—but on the company!

A prominent election official, speaking Wednesday of Tuesday's election, said that the way the voters came out early in the day was greatly appreciated by all who had anything to do with receiving the vote. Before 2 o'clock in the afternoon over 1,000 men had voted, where usually there is a last minute rush late in the afternoon. This made it much easier for the checkers and was a big assistance in getting out the vote. There was a steady line of voters all day and it evidenced to those in charge that Putnam has reached a stage where it must think of having two voting districts or it will be very inconvenient if not impossible to handle the vote. It was tentatively suggested that the town might be divided into two districts with the Quinebaug river as the dividing line.

Another thing mentioned by the official was the peculiarity of some of the ballots cast. Several voters had made a cross in every circle on the ticket. As many as fifteen did not make a mark of any kind. One voter used a fountain pen, thus losing his vote. The most exceptional ballot and one that must have taken a considerable time to prepare, was one with a cross in each circle and opposite every name on the entire ballot.

Neighbors noticed bread and milk on the steps of a house in Philadelphia and notified the police. The officers found Michael Groschick, an aged recluse, dead in bed. More than 500 canaries were in the house and were turned over to the S. P. C. A. until some relative of the aged man could be found.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germ that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. Adv.)

WOMAN AILING FOR A YEAR

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Happy Results

Newcastle, Pa.—"I was all rundown and everybody thought I was going into a decline. I had been ailing for a year with pains in my right side so that I could hardly stand on my feet. When I walked I felt as if something was falling. I was not able to do any work and had a nurse most of the time. She spoke to me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I gave it a fair trial. Some women think one bottle should cure them, but I did not stop at that. I took more and got better and am able ever since to do my own housework. There was a time, when I would complain of not feeling well, that my husband would say, 'Go to the doctor.' But now he will tell me to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's, and it has always helped me. I have had druggists tell me that they had something better, but they don't tell me that now, for I take no other. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound now for five years. Any woman who cares to call or write, I will be glad to tell her how it helped me."—Mrs. Mabel List Sherbahn, 515 Newell Ave., Newcastle, Pa.

NEW NERVE OIL ENDS RHEUMATIC PAIN

The Actual Pain of Rheumatism, Neuritis, Gout and Lumbago is Due to an Irritation of the Nerves of the Muscle or the Joint—End Muscle or Joint Pain by Treating Inflamed Nerves.

Pain in all forms of rheumatism, neuritis, lumbago or sciatica is always due to an irritation or inflammation of the nerves of the muscle or joint. When you feel pain in the muscle, it is the nerves of the muscle that hurt. When the pain is in a joint, it is the nerves of the joint that are affected. As everyone knows, in a toothache, the pain is in the nerve of the tooth. Just as a dentist treats the nerve to end toothache, so must a remedy stop the pain in the nerves of the muscle or joint before it can give you relief.

German science has now produced a remarkable new nerve oil known as BUHLER OIL, which, when applied to the painful joint or muscle penetrates right through the skin and reaches the inflamed or irritated nerves—no matter how deep seated—so that relief from pain is quickly obtained from the first application.

BUHLER OIL can be had from any of the druggists named below with a written guarantee of sure relief or money back:

Lee & Osgood Co.

Has He Found a Cure for Asthma?

Simple Prescription Gives Instant Relief. Makes Breathing Easy.

In New England, where bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other diseases of the throat and lungs are so prevalent, remarkably successful results are being reported following the use of a new form of treatment known as Oxidaze, a physician's prescription.

Oxidaze is a harmless but powerful combination of curative essential oils concentrated and compressed into a small tablet. One of these tablets slowly dissolved before going to bed seems to have the effect of releasing the muscular constriction of the bronchial tubes, opening up the air passages and regulating spasmodic lung action. This enables the patient to breathe easily and naturally while lying down and to get a comfortable night's sleep.

So much interest has been shown that local druggists, including Lee & Osgood Co., have secured a small supply and state that they are authorized to refund the money paid for the first package if in any case this new treatment fails to give relief. Oxidaze is pleasant to take, contains no harmful, habit-forming drugs and is not expensive. This makes their test an easy matter.

HARMLESS LAXATIVE
All Children Love Its Pleasant Taste

Mother!

Give Bilious, Constipated Child "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry Mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will sweeten the stomach and thoroughly clean the little bowels and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the pleasant taste of this gentle, harmless laxative. It never cramps or overacts. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.

WESTERLY

Election returns in Westerly in the small hours of Wednesday morning received a most noisy greeting, for firecrackers in great numbers were exploded in the streets and skyrockets, colored fire and sparklers burned in quantities which surpassed many Fourth of July celebrations. Bonfires were started at the corner of Elm and Broad streets and Canal street and Railroad avenue, but the entire personnel of the Westerly fire police and the Westerly police force, with the exception of the day shift, kept this latter form of celebration down to a minimum by preventing more fuel from being added. A skyrocket placed in the grooved rail on High street was started toward the square and leaving the ground passed through the open window of a passing automobile on Broad street and out through the open one on the opposite side, without injuring anyone. Crackers were placed in milk cans and covers placed on only to be blown off. Impromptu street parades were formed which earlier in the evening was headed by the George C. Moore Co. band. Other musical organizations started to parade, but a firecracker tossed into a bass horn where it exploded caused this section to retire immediately. The numerous clubs and private homes receiving election returns sent their quotas to the streets, from time to time, to swell the numbers already there. It seemed to be the general complaint that definite results were not generally obtained by the early figures given out, and it was not until the arrival of morning newspapers, principally by motor trucks, that the fact of the republican landslide became generally known.

Wilcox temple, No. 7, Pythian Sisters, held a social night Monday, when the success of the recent masquerade was announced. A "snipping party" for the third week in November was announced by the entertainment committee—Emma Croci, Martha Kinnear and Olive Thompson. Refreshments were served at the close of the Monday meeting.

Recorded in the office of the Westerly town clerk for Nov. 3d was the transfer by Mary A. F. Sawyers and William A. Sawyers to Luigi Luzzi, all of Westerly, of a certain tract of land of about 15 acres, with two dwellings, on the east side of Tower street: Theodore D. Picard and Frank J. Picard deeded to the George C. Moore company an undivided one-quarter interest in a tract of land on Park avenue, and the Washington Trust company, as trustee conveyed to the George C. Moore company interests in a tract of land on Park avenue. Nov. 4th Minnie P. Eberle of Hartford gave title to Michael J. Turano of Westerly to a tract of land on the north side of Atlantic avenue, at Pleasant View Beach. C. Leo Higgins, guardian of the estate of Madeline Higgins, conveyed to Maria Vincenza Cappuccio land at Pleasant View, corner of Crandall and Atlantic avenues, being lots Noc. 33 and 35. Joseph A. Higgins of Manchester, Mabel I. Mattingly of Cleveland, O., Margaret H. Higgins of Manchester, William R. Higgins of Fall River, Mass., C. Leo Higgins of Pawcatuck, Edwin C. Higgins of Pawcatuck, Rosalie J. Trebbe of Manchester and Walter B. Higgins of Pawcatuck all conveyed an undivided one-tenth interest in a parcel of land, corner of Crandall and Atlantic avenues, at Pleasant View Beach.

Voters of the Watch Hill fire district Tuesday afternoon, at a second adjourned session of the annual meeting of the district, took action looking to charter amendments. The session, which attracted nearly 50 taxpayers, was held at Norman hall, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. Bal Lihme.

The report of the committee on charter amendments, Henry L. Burdick, William J. Battey, Daniel F. Larkin, Horace E. Burdick and Mrs. A. E. Dick, was adopted by the district. This report included 12 recommendations under the following headings: 1, Qualifications for Voting; 2, Voting List; 3, Purchase and Sale of Land; 4, Health Officer; 5, Garbage, Collection and Disposal; 6, Parking Spaces; 7, Budget; 8, Park Commission, Additional Powers; 9, Sea Wall; 10, Salaries; 11, By-Laws and Ordinances; 12, Legislative Committee.

Henry L. Burdick, Daniel F. Larkin and A. Tingley Wall were named a legislative committee empowered to do all necessary to procure at the next session of the general assembly amendments and additional powers designated in said committee's report. The legislative committee was instructed to report the success of its efforts at the next annual meeting of the district.

One important amendment proposed by the charter committee and recommended in its report would authorize the expenditure each year of a maximum of $5,000 by the park committee, which under the original charter is allowed to expend only $500 or less annually. Another proposed amendment would limit the purchase or sale of land for a single deal to $10,000, and would require a two-thirds vote of the entire number of voters to authorize such purchase or sale. A third proposed amendment provides for the election of a board of canvassers to canvass and correct the voting list. Twelve recommendations were embodied in the report adopted by the fire district.

Judge Edward M. Burke held a regular session of Westerly probate court in the probate court room of the Westerly town hall Tuesday afternoon, when business was transacted as follows:

Estate of Ruth M. and Lester F. McGrath. Petition of Elisha Hall and wife for adoption of minors received and continued to Jan. 6th with order of notice.

Horace E. Burdick of Avondale and Watch Hill left Westerly Wednesday to pass the winter months in Miami, Fla. He will be joined there later by Mrs. Burdick.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Hoxie returned to New York Wednesday morning by automobile after coming to Westerly to take part in the presidential election.

The Westerly Collectors' club is to hold a meeting this (Thursday) evening at George O. Murphy's in Pawcatuck.

James Fletcher of the U. S. coast guard service at Cuttyhunk returned to the island after casting his ballot in the election in Westerly Tuesday.

Theodore D. Picard of Westerly was one to assist at the so-called "stonehouse" fire on Quoquetaug Hill, near Old Mystic, Wednesday afternoon. The fire started about 1 p. m. and the work of salvaging the contents continued until exploding ammunition caused the men to retire.

An invitation to participate in the Armistice day parade in Norwich was received with thanks, Wednesday evening by Narragansett Commandery, No. 27, Knights Templar, of Westerly, when they were assembled in regular conclave in their asylum on High street. Besides routine business a committee headed by George E. Broughton was named to confer with a committee from Columbian Commandery, of Norwich, and Palestine of New London, relative to an annual joint meeting and entertainment.

FOSTER VS. FOOTE

Much interest has been manifested in Eastern Connecticut about the decision of the case of Maurice Foster of Moosup against Irving W. Foote of Preston. Conflicting claims have been made as to who was successful in the action. Therefore it seems wise to publish the memorandum of decision that the public may have correct information.

4008

Memorandum of Decision.

On Oct. 11, 1923, the plaintiff made a contract for the purchase of 2000 bushel of potatoes of the defendant's growing, at one dollar a bushel, paying down $500, and agreeing to move them from the defendant's farm not later than the 15th to the 20th of December, 1923. The plaintiff took 245 bushels in October, 241 bushels in November, and 377 bushels during the first seven days of December. About Dec. 11th, a former customer of the defendant came to his farm to secure some potatoes; the defendant telephoned to the plaintiff, asking if he should sell some potatoes to him, and the plaintiff authorized him to sell all he could at $1.15 a bushel. The defendant did sell 100 bushels at that price, and then laid the foundation of this whole controversy by proceeding to sell, to various people and on various days, some 1201 bushels more, 951 bushels at $1.00 each, and 250 bushels at $1.10 each.

The contention of the defendant is that, two or three days after the sale of the 100 bushels at $1.15, he had a further telephone conversation with the plaintiff in which the latter authorized him to sell all the potatoes he could at $1.00 a bushel or any price he could get above that. This the plaintiff denies and so arises one of the chief issues on the trial. As bearing upon it, we must meet the fact of the sales actually made by the defendant at considerable cost of time and trouble to himself, even going to the extent of the actual delivery of 350 bushels to purchasers at somewhat distant points. Either, in doing this, he believed that he had authority to make these sales or else he acted in a very high-handed manner, and, offhand, the former would be the easier alternative to accept. However, the oral testimony in support of it offered by the defendant and his wife I find myself unable to hold in high regard; there is an element of seeming exaggeration in her evidence, as, for instance, in her statements as to hearing telephonic communications between herself and her husband; and there is also what I must consider as something more than disingenuousness in her account of the entry of the various sales made by the defendant in the book they put in evidence. Moreover the evidence they give is very much at variance with the letter written by them to the plaintiff on Jan. 31, 1924. In that is no statement that the defendant sold the potatoes under any authority from the plaintiff, but they rest clearly upon a claimed failure of the plaintiff to remove the potatoes within the time allowed by the contract of purchase, a position emphasized by the defendant's animadversions to the plaintiff's conduct in other transactions. And not only does this letter impliedly contradict the defendant's present claim but its whole tone militates against the credibility of the defendant, with its statement as to the sale of the potatoes "at a loss," and its preposterous claim of a damage of $1,000 to the defendant on account of his being kept in the north to look out for the potatoes, with threat of an immediate suit therefor. The defendant was anxious to get away, he was afraid the potatoes would freeze, he was fearful that the plaintiff would leave the potatoes on his hands. Certainly with the testimony and the certain facts in this situation, it would be hardly possible to conclude other than that the weight of evidence fairly preponderates in the plaintiff's favor upon this issue.

When we come to ask what damages this entitles him to recover, however, we meet a situation somewhat unfortunate for the plaintiff. He is not suing for lost profits through a failure to receive the potatoes from the defendant, probably because he is not in a position to prove them satisfactorily; nor is he suing on the basis of a failure of the defendant to keep the price to the figure he set, $1.15 a bushel, because, I suppose, from his viewpoint he was entitled to assume, until he knew to the contrary, that the defendant did sell at that price. So he sues for the difference between the price which he agreed to pay for the potatoes and that at which the defendant sold them. That being so, he can recover on this account only the 15 cents excess on 100 bushels and the 10 cents excess on 250 bushels, a total of $40, with interest for, say, ten months.

The other important controversy arises on the contention of the defendant in his counterclaim that he is entitled to a commission on the sales of potatoes he made. Of course one who performs for another, at his request or with his consent, services of a nature ordinarily compensated in money, is presumably entitled to payment for them. There was here no actual promise of a commission and, taking the sale of the first 100 bushels at $1.15 alone, the circumstances clearly indicate that there was no expectation on either side that compensation was to be made. Even granted that the other sales were authorized, it would be hard to find any such expectation in the absence of any claim for a commission in the letter of Jan. 31st; and, following out the denial above stated of the defendant's claim of such authority, the conclusion must be that he could hardly hope to receive such a commission in view of his having sold the potatoes at prices substantially lower than those authorized.

So the judgment, taking cognizance now of the items as to which there is no serous dispute, must be for the plaintiff to recover upon the complaint, on account of the claim discussed above, and on account of 85 bags he delivered to the defendant, $44.65, and for the defendant to recover on the counterclaim, on account of potatoes taken by the plaintiff but not paid for, $126 with interest for ten months, a total of $122.90.

Let judgment enter accordingly.

OUR WATER SUPPLY.

How long it will be before there is rain only the astute weather prophets can tell, and just now they are not saying very much.

For some time the water supply of many people, whether they are dependent upon wells or other service, has been rapidly diminishing. We are told that there is but about a 50 day supply for this city.

There is no reason to believe that the drought will continue for any such period. We have gotten to the point where considerable precipitation can be expected for the filling of the brooks and streams in anticipation of the advent of winter, but the present situation coupled with the increased demands upon our reservoirs calls for the elimination of all waste.

It is a time for the conservation of our water supply. It is folly to think of throwing away what we have when there is faced the possibility of needing what is now being wasted. Perhaps it would be quite as staggering if it were possible to compute and disclose the actual waste within the city each day, as it is to point out that there is only a limited supply on hand.

Many who waste do so from habit. There are others who recognize that water is being wasted but make no effort to stop it, and it is easy to imagine who makes the loudest howl when the time comes that there is not enough water to meet necessary requirements.

Norwich has a heavy per capita water consumption. Some relief is expected from the raising of the Stony Brook reservoir dam. That will simply care for the heavy rains, since there is no increased watershed. If the heavy rainfall to fill the increased storage capacity doesn't come the new work will be of no benefit.

How long is it before Norwich must figure upon making provision for an increase in the watershed of its reservoirs? What attention is being given to Bog Meadow and the possibilities of development there, even though such should be gradual?

RHODE ISLAND CLEANS HOUSE.

Connecticut has looked on with much interest at the antics that have been going on in the neighboring state of Rhode Island. It is noted with disgust the high handed manner in which affairs have been conducted in the legislature of that state, the dictatorship policies which have been put forward and the approach to Russian methods which has been manifest in the conduct of high state officials.

For some time it has been evident to those who have been seated along the sidelines that Rhode Island was due for a thorough housecleaning. Just how fully that was recognized by the people of Rhode Island was clearly demonstrated on election day. It was a time for the people to regain control of their own state government and to put an end to the control of those who have placed self and class above public service, and who have shown utter disregard for constitutional government.

Rhode Island has had repeated cause for deep humiliation over the manner in which those who were put in positions of trust have disregarded their rights and authority, and who have acted as if they were a law unto themselves.

Election day gave Rhode Island a chance to release itself from such bondage, and it rose to the occasion conspicuously. By a large vote the entire republican ticket was elected and Quinn, Toupin & Co. are relegated to the discard. The election was a complete repudiation of the policies of the present governor and lieutenant governor. It demonstrated that they had been tried and found to be seriously lacking in those qualifications which meet with the approval of their fellow citizens. Rhode Island has cringed under the methods which its officials have followed, and has been driven to the point of not only demanding that they continue no longer but of actually throwing out of office those who are responsible.

The neighbor to the east has done in a most excellent manner that housecleaning job which it faced. Put to the test it does only what could be expected.

IOWA REMOVES BROOKHART.

What must be regarded with a high degree of satisfaction is the result of the senatorial election in the state of Iowa.

This is a state where the third party leaders were confident of success. It was where they had put forth much effort and received the support of numerous leaders. It was a state where such uncertainty existed that even though polls showed a heavy plurality for President Coolidge there was the disposition to list the state as doubtful.

The people of Iowa have spoken and they have not only given a big vote to the president but they have turned out of office Senator Brookhart, whose strength was rated as so great as to be next to impossible to overcome. Brookhart has been covering his state with his own particular style of flamboyant campaigning but it becomes evident that Iowans have tired of his policies. The vote shows that they have not only repudiated him but have done so even though it means the election of a democrat in his place. When Iowa prefers a democratic senator to a republican it denotes most clearly its estimate of the republican candidate.

Senator Brookhart is rated as a republican, but it will be remembered that during the campaign, even though receiving the republican nomination, he refused to support the president and came out for the election of La Follette. He considered himself strong enough to swing Iowa. The voters of Iowa have shown by their declared preference for a democrat that the dog still wags the tail.

The loss of Brookhart represents nothing in the republican ranks of the senate. While rated as a republican he was numbered among the rankest of the insurgents who could be depended upon to oppose rather than support republican policies. Iowa had stood it long enough.

ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION.

Next Tuesday is Armistice day, the sixth anniversary of the actual ending of the World war. It is bound to be an anniversary of strong appeal and one that will be long remembered.

This year special attention is being given to it locally because it is on next Tuesday that arrangements have been made for the dedication of the monument which has been erected to the memory of those from Norwich who participated in the titanic struggle. It is fitting that more than perfunctory attention should be given to this celebration, and it is to the credit of the committee which has it in charge that such excellent plans have been made for the occasion.

In the carrying out the plans which have been made there are the best of reasons why the committee should have the heartiest cooperation of the entire town. It is a time for Norwich to display its interest, its patriotic sentiments, its civic pride and its loyalty to those who served, whether they fought, bled, died or were through circumstances numbered among those who were ready to serve.

In the carrying out of the details of this coming anniversary celebration it is to be remembered that there are the usual expenses involved, a part of which have been provided for by appropriations by town and city meetings. At the present time there has been a voluntary public response in addition which permits the committee to see its way to carry out its plans only through the raising of an additional $700.

Inasmuch as there has been no canvassing for this object, and none is contemplated, it can be expected that the public spirited citizens will quickly come forward with what is needed to complete the financial requirements, and that they will enter into all features of the celebration with the enthusiasm that is to be expected on such an occasion. Norwich has done itself proud on other anniversary occasions and there is every reason to believe that the coming celebration will equal if not excel the others.

DELAYED ELECTION FIGURES.

For the sake of speed and accuracy in making known the result of elections it will be a happy day when communities having more than a few hundred voters are foresighted enough to provide themselves with voting machines.

For years there are communities which experience all the handicaps and distressing features of delayed counts, recounts and protested elections all because of the retention of the antiquated method of determining the election result. The methods which are pursued in some communities are as antiquated as the ox cart in comparison with the automobile, and just about as slow. There are invited all kinds of complications. Voters are deprived of their franchise because the ship of a lead pencil arouses someone's suspicion, and when there is much splitting the delays in perfecting the count become agonizing.

When there was no other way of getting at the results, or of getting at them more quickly, it was necessary to go through the tedious method. The paper ballot was excellent until something better was made possible. But with the speed, the accuracy, the counting of the vote as it is cast and intended and the simplicity offered by the voting machine, both in voting and counting, the experience of many communities is such as to arrant the ending of the counting contests and the adoption of present century methods.

More and more machines are being required by the cities. More are certainly needed in communities which haven't them.

HE WANTED TO KNOW

"I wish you'd go call on that pretty girl who has moved in across the hall and find out what she is like," the disillusioned young man begged his intelligent sister. "I can't stand many more disappointments and I am losing faith in my powers of discrimination. I have been told many times that any woman can penetrate the disguises of any other woman with one swift glance and what I desire is that you do the trick with this Bergonia Quincy.

"I have lived long enough to have learned that what a girl seems, that is what she isn't. It is this little point which disturbs the lives and plans of most men, because they go blundering on, clear into matrimony, without discovering it and I am taking precautions early. I have observed that while friends of mine rave during their engagements about darling's eyes, complexion and popularity, the glad song suddenly dwindles after they have settled down to wrestle with janitors and icemen.

"They do not go rushing around buttonholing me to confide that Rosamund is the sweetest, noblest, most marvelous girl in this hemisphere ever has seen. They seem subdued and thoughtful and when I go call I usually find them vocally hunting for socks that are darned before they emerge to give me the glad hand, apologizing for not being ready to receive company because dinner was late—as usual.

"It is those little digs like 'as usual, which give away the show. They may maintain a perfectly even cultured tone and beam now and then at Gladys, but they let things slip. They mutter dust—as usual—when they pick up a magazine and when you wait for them out in front in your car they say wait a minute, Gladys is late—as usual.

"They say no, they gave up the apartment because Gladys could not stand the work. Of course they add pleasantly, there couldn't be much work in four rooms with maid service thrown in, but it didn't give the dear girl time enough for her bridge and mah jong and anyhow she said it spoiled her hands. The food they got at the hotel all tasted alike, but if Gladys was satisfied that is all there is to it, of course.

"I agree wholly with what you were just about to remark as to their demanding one set of attractions in a girl before they earn to get engaged to her and an entirely different set after they have married her. That is a childlike state of mind and they deserve all they get. Its root lies in the innate selfishness and conceit of man. Since he has honored her by choosing her as his wife of course automatically she is going to develop into a perfect housekeeper, cook, nurse and financier.

"He simply cannot understand it when Gladys continues to run in debt, loathe housework and faint away with a cut finger and he takes it as a deliberate defiance on her part. Thereupon he starts to make her over and ever after it is what-ho for the fireworks.

"This Begonia Quincy wears immaculate garb and her smile is sunny and she holds her chin high, but I want to step cautiously. It may be her little sister who painstakingly whitens her tiny shoes each day while Begonia slumbers and maybe her mother keeps things so well brushed and laundered, I have no means of knowing whether or not she joins the family at breakfast with her hair brushed and the same face she wears later in the day and whether she is in trim house frock that will endure helping mother straighten up things or is attired in a trailing chiffon negligee only good for spreading out over a chaise longue with plenty of cushions.

"I'd like to know what she says and how she says it when central gives her three wrong numbers in succession and whether she ever attends the committee meetings of the clubs and societies she is on or whether she lets the other girls do all the heavy work. In short—"

"And you expect me to garner all this information during a fifteen-minute dressed-up call on the lady!" scoffed he sister resignedly. "You are an optimist and it is a shame to crush you but it can't be done, little boy! Those secrets Begonia can cherish unafraid of discovery just as all of us girls cherish 'em! If you like her looks you've just got to take a chance!"

"Well, somehow from something about her I sort of think she is different," the disillusioned young man said hopefully. "I am sure she is not at all like any of the other girls I have known, so go on over and get acquainted. I want to meet her!"

"You poor men!" said the intelligent sister as she powdered her nose preparatory to obeying instructions. —Exchange.

McKinley's Many Shadows

Forced by illness to discontinue his college course, William McKinley soon learned that he must make his way with out aid, and just after he had begun to earn money to continue his studies, war came.

Born in a moderate little home in the then village of Niles, Ohio, he was nine when his father, a foundryman, moved the family to nearby Poland, where the boy attended public school and the Poland Academy.

Soon after entering Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa., at 17, he was taken ill and had to go home. When he was well again he found that his father was financially embarrassed. By teaching school at $25 a month, and clerking in the post office, he prepared to return to college.

Then the Civil war broke out and he enlisted. Entering as a private, he took part in many battles and was a brevet-major when peace was proclaimed.

Resuming his studies, he read law in Youngstown, Ohio, then attended the Albany, N. Y., Law School, but had to return home before the year's course was completed. Admitted to the bar at 24, he practiced law at Canton. Three years later he was elected prosecuting attorney.

Popular and successful, he married at 28. Two years later, his baby girl died. The death of the second daughter three years later, combined with other griefs, rendered Mrs. McKinley an invalid for life, and through all his life her husband cared for her devotedly.

Elected to Congress at 34, he served four years, ran again and his election was successfully contested. Successful two years later, he served four years, then was defeated, following the adoption of the Mcainley tariff bill, prepared by him after years of study.

Soon after his election as Governor of Ohio he was in demand for tariff speeches. Nominated for President in 1896 on a "protection" platform, he fought Bryan and "free silver." As president he advocated the Dingley tariff bill. Then came the Cuban troubles and the Spanish-American war. Re-elected by a vote that set a record, he had served only six months when he was assassinated.

And never before had the world paid such homage to the memory of a president of the United States as it paid to the memory of William McKinley.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

No Flag Election Day

Mr. Editor: Oct. 27th I wrote you concerning the Navy day proclamation and the dilatory display of Old Glory from the city hall staff. One thing was accomplished, that is, the flag has not been kept flying through the night, same being raised in the morning and taken down at night.

Today, national election day, the most important day that comes to us, has come and gone and Norwich can boast that it didn't even display the colors from the city hall staff, thanks to our mayor. At eleven a. m. I called the mayor's office concerning the matter and as is usual amongst "politicians" they do as they want to and to Hades with the public. The flag was not displayed.

It didn't seem possible that the mayor's Navy day proclamation was pretended patriotism, but after today's demonstration, I leave it to the patriots of Norwich to draw their own conclusions.

There is a crying need throughout the land for real men to lead us in our civic, state and national government, instead of "politicians." Norwich needs something to awaken her to the above facts and to you who want to be awakened, attend town meetings, council meetings, etc., that concern your city and observe for yourself.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

John Philip Sousa, who is in line for congratulations today on his 70th birthday anniversary, is one of the best-known musicians of the United States. He was a teacher of music at 15 and a conductor at 17. He played first violin in Jacques Offenbach's orchestra, when that musician was in America. From 1880 to 1892 he was a resident of Washington, and a leader of the United States Marine Band. Then he organized his own large group of expert musicians and toured Europe, and later went around the world. During the war Mr. Sousa enlisted in the United States navy and helped in organizing military bands. He has been decorated from foreign governments. In addition to the popular marches for which he is famous he has composed orchestral suites, Te Deums, songs, waltzes, and light operas, from all of which he has received royalties.

Stories That Recall Others

Mushroom Fame

A housewife saw two men with a basket apparently digging in a lot adjacent to her property, but at some distance away. She immediately smelled illicit liquor and passed the tip along to the authorities.

It was not long before a motor cop drew up at the reported spot and began to investigate. He found two men gathering mushrooms.

The housewife said she saw two men in nearly the same spot the day before and when they were there the second day she formed her own conclusions.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

A Swarm of Bees

As the Ragged Rabbit Giant reached the level land with Little Jack Rabbit in his pocket, the tiny Yellow Bird perched on his right shoulder and the big, immense lollypop over the other, he commenced to sing a strange song. At first the music was very low, deep and soft like the murmur of a river. Pretty soon it sounded like bells from a distance, and by and by, like a harp.

At first the bunny boy thought his big friend was merely singing for the pleasure of it, but by and by he noticed that every now and then a bee would follow, until after a while, a great swarm of them trailed out behind. Suddenly the giant stopped all together, and holding out the immense lollypop, waited until all the bees had settled upon it.

"I'll give you a saucer of water"

"Dear, Oh dear," thought the little rabbit, "there'll be nothing left in a minute or three but the stick." However he said never a word, being a wise little rabbit. He hadn't been to Professor Jim Crow's Shady Forest School for nothing. Oh my no, three times and maybe four. He knew you couldn't take two from four without cutting it in half even if you didn't have a knife. Yes sir. He was a wise little bunny, so he said nothing, only hoped the bees would leave a tiny, winy bit of candy on the end of the long broom stick handle.

Pretty soon the Ragged Rabbit Giant said to the bees, "Now go back to your nest and in a week I shall expect you to have finished a honey lolpop as big as this one." Then placing his hand over his mouth, he made a strange musical sound, something like the voice of a sea-shell when you hold it to your ear. At once all the bees began to hum, soft and low, and, spreading their wings, away they flew to find sweet dew from the flowers.

Pulling in his belt another hole, the Ragged Rabbit Giant stroke off again, with the little rabbit peeking out of his pocket and the tiny Yellow Bird perched on his shoulder.

By and by, after a while, and maybe a mile, he stopped at the Bubbling Brook, for he was thirsty although not the least bit tired. Stooping down, he made a cup of his two hands. Wait a minute please. He made a bucket with his two great hands, not a little cup, and after drinking long and deep he stood up again. The tiny Yellow Bird had already fluttered down to dip her bill in the water, holding back her head to let the drops trickle down her pretty throat.

"Thirsty?" enquired the Ragged Rabbit Giant, tickling the little rabbit's ears. "I'll give you a saucer of water, and rounding the palm of his big immense hand, he filled it with water and held it under the little bunny's mouth. Then, letting out a hole in his big leather belt, he once more set off for the Dear Old Bramble Patch, the little rabbit peering out of his coat pocket and the tiny yellow bird perched on his hat brim.

All of a sudden from the depths of the Shady Forest came a mournful howl. It sounded like Mr. Wicked Wolf's voice, and that is just what the Ragged Giant Rabbit thought, although I must wait to tell you in the next story what happened after that.

Zoo Gets Deadly Reptiles

Specimens of the banded Krait and the Russell vipers have been safely landed in the London zoo, though they are among the most deadly of reptiles. They were brought from India, and strangely enough were unpacked by hand, the zoo superintendent merely picking them up by the tails and dropping them into their lair in the zoo. The Russell vipers are more venomous than the cobra, and snake charmers refuse to work with them.

SELF-DEPENDENCE.

Weary of myself and sick of asking
What I am and what I ought to be,
At this vessel's prow I stand, which bears me
Forwards, forwards, o'er the starlit sea.

And a look of passionate desire
O'er the sea and to the stars I send:
"Ye who from my childhood have calmed me,
Calm me, ah, compose me to the end!

"Ah, once more," I cried, "ye stars, ye waters,
On my heart your mighty charm renew;
Still, still let me, as I gaze upon you,
Feel my soul becoming vast like you!"

From the intense, clear, star-sown vault of heaven,
Over the lit sea's unquiet way,
In the rustling night air came the answer:
Wouldst thou be as these are? Live as they?

"Unaffrighted by the silence round them,
Undistracted by the sights they see,
These demand not that the things without them
Yield them love, amusement, sympathy.

"And with joy the stars perform their shining,
And the sea its long moon-silvered roll;
For self-poised they live, nor pine with noting
All the fever of some differing soul.

"Bounded by themselves, and unregardful
In what state God's other works may be
In their own tasks all their powers pouring,
These attain the mighty life you see."

O air-born voice! long since severely clear,
A cry like thine in mine own heart I hear:
"Resolve to be thyself; and know that he Who finds himself loses his misery!"
—Matthew Arnold.

A WISH.

I wish that when I come to die
'Twill be a bright October day.
How fine to have one's spirit go
Blown by this wine-like breeze away

O what a glorious funeral!
For canopy the turquoise sky,
The maples each a golden torch,
The scarlet sumacs streaming by!

The lovely sunlit leaves to fall
With silken rustlings for my bed;
Ah, never fabled carpet glowed as
Like this the Great Magician spread!

I could not bear to have the spring's
Pale flowers nodding over me;
Grant me October's song and wheat,
Crimson and gold of victory!
—Elizabeth West Parker.

KALEIDOSCOPE

The Gretna Green smithy is still making marriage contracts.

Then metal sheets are being used instead of plaster and wall paper in France, and are said to be cheaper.

A "pick-up" motor sweeper, with gutter broom, for cleaning streets, requires only one man for operation.

The highest mountain has about the same relation to the size of the earth as the thickness of a sheet of paper pasted on an orange.

Human hair is being used by some women abroad to decorate their coat collars, cuffs and even their blouses. One woman seen in Piccadilly, wore a long black coat with the edges of the collar trimmed with auburn hair. The cuffs were similarly adorned.

Mrs. Roy Morgan, of Tacoma, Wash., missed her pet parrot, which had lived caged in her home for 20 years. Advertisements failed to locate the missing bird. Later, when T. J. Kendrick opened his chicken house early one morning he saw Polly contentedly sleeping, tightly snuggled between two Leghorn hens.

Mrs. T. W. King, of Lamoni, Ia., has some domesticated orioles which she captured in the west when the birds were just about ready to fly. One morning Mrs. King noticed the father of the birds beating against the cage in an effort to get to his young. She then hung the cage on the porch and the father brought food for his family. He continued this until the birds learned to take care of themselves.

According to newspaper data recently compiled in Vienna, there are some 1,800 so-called political dailies and weeklies published in Central Europe. Berlin, with about 100, half of which are dailies, leads the list of cities, with Vienna in second place with fifty-five, including twenty-two dailies. Prague, however, ranks next to Berlin in the matter of dailies, having twenty-five. In Prague there is a daily newspaper for every $5,000 inhabitants, in Rome and Budapest one for every 70,000, in Paris one for every $5,000. The word political is used to distinguish ordinary newspapers from technical organs and literary publications.

FACE BROKE OUT WITH PIMPLES

Itched and Burned Terribly. Troubled 4 Years. Healed by Cuticura

"I worked in a plant where I used a lot of oil and my face broke out with pimples. The pimples festered and scaled over and were red and burned something terrible and kept me awake at night on account of the irritation, and the trouble lasted about four years.

"I tried other remedies without success. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased some and after using them for several months I was completely healed." (Signed) Edward Leight, 799 S. Park St., Elizabeth, N. J., May 22, 1924.

For every purpose of the toilet and bath, Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are excellent.

THE CAUSE OF MANY SUDDEN DEATHS

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE.

Avoid the danger of sudden death from apoplexy by giving timely attention to your blood pressure. Thousands of lives can be prolonged and many additional years of happiness assured through taking prompt action now before it is too late.

High blood pressure becomes fatal when the blood vessels are clogged with poisons causing the heart to overtax itself. Do not neglect any of these symptoms because they usually indicate the danger point: dizziness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath on exertion, ringing in the ears, frequent headaches.

The quickest and safest way to overcome the chief source of high blood pressure is through the use of a noted doctor's prescription known as Bi-a-lin. It brings amazing results almost over night and the dangerous symptoms quickly disappear. Bi-a-lin is harmless, easy to take and may be had at The Lee & Osgood Co's.

Mayor of the City of Norwich.

OBITUARY.

Dwight T. Thompson.

After three weeks' illness with pleurisy and pneumonia, the death of Dwight Tilly Thompson occurred on Wednesday afternoon at 5.45 at his home, 103 Fourth street. Through his critical sickness he had been tenderly cared for and he had born his illness with bravery and patience.

The young man was the only son of Frederick L. and Bessie Tilly Thompson and was born in this city, June 18, 1907. Nearly all of his life had been spent in Greeneville, where he had attended school and was a member of the Greeneville Congregational church. He belonged to the Young Men's Christian Association and had many friends who will deeply feel his loss. He is survived by his parents and by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard R. Tilly, who have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

George H. Wood.

After an illness of about six weeks the life of George H. Wood, 69, came to a close Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Seidel, of 389 Boswell avenue. Mr. Wood was most tenderly cared for during his illness an dthe members of his family have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

He was born in Blackburn, England, 69 years ago and came to this country when a young man. For 14 years he was a resident of Baltic but for the past two years he had made his home with his daughter his wife died about six years ago.

Surviving besides his daughter, Mrs. George Seidel, with whom he resided, are a daughter, Mrs. Royce Hawley of Scranton, Penn., and a son, George Wood, of Cleveland, Ohio. Six grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Wood was a mule spinner by trade but had retired some years ago.

Mrs. Charles Avery.

In the death, Monday evening, of Ella Louise Avery, widow of Charles Avery, at her home in Mohegan, the community suffered the loss of a most valued member, one who had played a most prominent part in the life of the community and was interested in all work of the Mohegan Congregational church.

Mrs. Avery had not been in good health for the past two years but her condition had not been of a serious nature until about six weeks ago. Throughout her long illness Mrs. Avery had displayed great fortitude, loving friends who cared for her never hearing a word of complaint.

Born in Mohegan, March 9, 1854, the daughter of Henry and Mercy Ann Matthews, she was a member of a family representing most actively in late years the ancient Mohegan Indian tribe. Her father, Henry Matthews and her mother, Mercy Ann Matthews did much to keep up interest in the church on the reservation, also to continue activity in repeating from year to year the annual wigwam, or autumn festival of the Mohegans. Her father inherited the skill of his ancestors in wood-carving and there are still in use in many Norwich and Montville households the implements and utensils which were his handiwork. The Matthews homestead on Mohegan Hill is a landmark for travelers along the post road, every summer its dooryard being bright with old-fashioned blossoms on plants set generations ago by members of the family. Mrs. Avery and her sisters, also her brother, the late Charles Matthews, were as well informed regarding topics and issues of the day as they were in the lore of their ancestors, also having been quick to adopt modern inventions, comforts and equipment. The women, like their very remarkable mother, have had the traditional skill in needlecraft of their race.

For more than 30 years she was the organist at the Mohegan church, being forced to give up this work two years ago because of failing health.

She was united in marriage to Charles Avery about 35 years ago and since his death some 25 years ago had continued to reside in Mohegan. Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Adeline Dolbeare and Mrs. Delana Skeesucks, also four nephews, who, with a host of friends, are left to mourn the loss of a loved one.

There are but few of the direct descendants of the royal tribe remaining and Mrs. Avery's death means a great loss to her people and to the entire community, as well as to her own family.

AUTO CRACKED TELEPHONE POLE IN FATAL ACCIDENT TO SAILOR

Too much speed rounding a down hill curve was the evident cause of the automobile accident Wednesday morning about 2 o'clock on the Military highway when Stanley Petska, 24, owner and driver of the car, was killed when his car ran off the road, struck a telephone pole, overturned and pinned him under the car.

A splintered pole at the top of a shelving bank, standing 20 feet from where the machine left the road, gave testimony to the speed and force with which Petska's machine, a light touring car, had collided with the pole. A few splinters were taken off near the base where the machine struck and the pole split open farther up where the cross arms are attached.

Petska's machine was not a new one, but he had received his registration plates for it at the New London station of the motor vehicle department only the day before the accident.

Petska was driving towards this city at the time of the accident and had two other men from the submarine base with him, Aloysius J. Grote of Cincinnati, a chief petty officer on the U. S. S. N-1, and Edward J. McMahon of Newark, N. J., also a chief petty officer at the base. They had accepted Peska's invitation to take a ride when he met them in a restaurant in New London after they had been hearing the election returns.

When near the Shaeffer house a short distance south of the Poquetanuck Cove bridge, with Peska driving they came downhill on a curve and the wheel marks showed that the machine left the road at the end of the curve and made a beeline through the soft dirt, grass and up the side of the bank till it hit the pole. The crash threw it back down the bank into the road and it turned over with Petska pinned in his place under the steering wheel and one of the other men, Grote, under the machine with him. The third man, McMahon, was thrown out, landing some distance away in a dazed condition. He managed to crawl to a highway fence against which he was leaning when Grote got out of the car through the curtains.

The two men secured help from the Shaeffer house and Petska was lifted out when the automobile was raised. A call for help was also telephoned to Norwich police headquarters and Capt. D. J. Twomey rushed the motor patrol wagon down there with several officers. Petska had probably been instantly killed, in the opinion of Dr. N. B. Lewis, but in the hope that something might be done for him, the patrol wagon hurried with him to the Backus hospital, but he was dead when they reached there.

Grote and McMahon made report of the accident at Norwich police headquarters and returned to the submarine base where Grote was placed in the sick bay. He had a bad gash in one hip and lacerations of the hands.

Pestka had been in the navy about four years and was torpedo man, second class, on the U. S. S. N-1. Grote is a chief petty officer on the same vessel.

An official board of inquiry composed of officers at the base, held an inquest into the fatality Wednesday, examining witnesses, viewed the body and made a thorough inspection of the wrecked machine which Wednesday morning was towed to the submarine base. The board comprised Lieutenant Commander Jones, Lieutenant Rhea and Lieutenant Fengar.

The pole which was broken by the automobile was a new one that had been set but a short time ago. Employes of the telephone company were at work Wednesday afternoon preparing to set a new pole and a picture of the location of the accident was to be taken by state police officers.

ARTHUR H. GEER WAS PROMINENT ALBANY BANKER

Of the death in Albany, N. Y., of Arthur H. Geer, a nephew of Miss Lucy Geer of 35 Park street, this city, the Albany Journal said in its Saturday issue:

Arthur H. Geer, treasurer of the Home Savings bank at 13 North Pearl street, died at his home, 273 Morris street, last night after an illness of about four weeks.

Mr. Geer was born in Albany, Dec. 13, 1873, the son of Robert Geer and Rhoda Shedd and was a life-long resident of Albany. Robert Geer was for many years a salt merchant with a large business on the ced pier at Quay street, having business connection in Syracuse. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Geer were active in the affairs of St. Paul's Episcopal church, of which he was senior warden for a long period.

Mr. Geer became connected with the Home Savings bank of Albany on March 4, 1892, as a clerk. He served the bank in several capacities until June 10, 1912, when he was elected treasurer, which position he occupied at the time of his death.

Howard N. Fuller, president of the bank, today expressed himself as feeling a great sense of personal loss in the death of Mr. Geer and said that he accounted him as a man of unusual ability in his position. He said that Mr. Geer was a man of exceptional fidelity to the institution and that in his death the bank has sustained a great loss.

He is survived by his wife, Louise Terrell Geer, daughter of Charles L. Terrell and Mary A. Brow of Albany, both of whom are deceased; his brother, Frederick L. Geer of Albany, and one sister, Mrs. Clara Gilroy, wife of Dr. William Gilrow of Mount Vernon.

Mr. Geer was a prominent member of long standing of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

LUTHER BOUND OVER ON MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Upon the testimony of Motorman Sigerson, State Policeman Albright, and M. D. Wilkinson of Poquonoc Bridge given at a hearing Wednesday noon before Justice of the Peace William Smiddy in Montville, Clarence H. Luther of this city was bound over to the superior court on the charge of manslaughter in having caused the death of Mr. Wilkinson's wife, and her mother, Mrs. Ella Parke, in a motor vehicle accident.

Coroner J. J. Desmond examined the witnesses, and in his finding said:

From the evidence it appears that this distressing accident resulted from the failure of said Clarence H. Luther to reasonably turn to his right when the Crevrolet car was approaching him, and to give a fair opportunity to the Chevrolet car to pass his machine.

I am satisfied, and find that the deaths of said Dorcotha Parke Wilkinson and Mrs. Ella Parke was caused by the criminal omission and negligence of said Clarence H. Luther; and so report to the grand juor of said town of Montville, to whom I have given the names of the material witnesses to the accident, for further appropriate proceedings on his part.

Mr. Luther's father furnished bonds for his son.

The two women were in the Wilkinson car when it was in collision on October 20 on Derry Hill with the car driven by Luther who was coming home from his employment in a Montville mill.

WEST SIDE COMMUNITY HAD FEATURE NIGHT

The election night programme by the West Side Community Association at the Elizabeth Street school auditorium drew a gathering of 300, which filled the hall overflowing and a programme was carried out that provided a grand period of getting acquainted in games which were heartily entered into. An orchestra furnished music, there was dancing that included the old fashioned round dances and those of the present day, and spirited community singing in which all joined. Meanwhile the election returns were received and the interest never flagged all the evening.

The organization plan was explained during the evening and as a result 60 new members were secured, bringing the membership to 150. The goal of 500 by the first of January has been set by the officers.

TELLS ROTARIANS HOW PROPERTY REVALUATION WORKS

The public affairs committee of the Norwich Rotary club had charge of the weekly meeting held at the Wauregan hotel on Wednesday noon and for a topic for discussion introduced the subject of Revaluation of Property in Norwich. In introducing the topic Chairman Joseph C. Worth said that he considered this topic one of the most important that confronts the community today. Mr. Worth called on James L. Case, a member of the committee that is investigating the policy of having a revaluation.

Mr. Case said that to many people it would seem as if the taxation committee had made but little progress, but that is not the case. The committee has held several meetings at which men have been present from cities where revaluation is being done or where it has just been completed. These men have given their experiences, from which the Norwich committee should benefit. A survey of the city is being made and it already shows many inequalities of taxation. The committee is investigating every angle of the situation and making a careful study of it before bringing any recommendation before a public meeting. The committee is contemplating holding an open meeting for discussion within a short time.

Chairman Worth introduced Frederick C. Burrows of New London, who has been connected with the assessors' office there for the past 23 years, and who has been active in the revaluation of property in New London.

In opening his remarks on taxation Mr. Burrows complimented Norwich on its hospitality and expressed himself as being glad if he could be of service to the Rotary club in explaining how the revaluation of property in New London was made. He said the conditions in New London were practically the same as in Norwich when they started their revaluation work. There were many inequalities and there was much dissatisfaction. Of course there are those who will never be satisfied, no matter how perfect a system is installed, but the number of dissatisfied people is reduced to a mere trifle.

When New London adopted the charter form of government a clause was incorporated in the charter saying that only one assessment should be made and that the city should be assessed in a systematic manner. New London secured the necessary appropriation from the council and then went ahead. A Philadelphia firm of tax experts was engaged to make a survey and revalue the property. A force of three men and two young women came to New London to take up the work. They asked us to give them a land value on the various streets in New London. We divided the city into 16 districts and held two meetings for interested property owners in each district. Finally what we considered a fair land value was arrived at, the price ranging from $1 up per front foot. Then the experts got busy. They measured the buildings and with cost price of 1914 as a basis finally computed a true valuation of every piece of real estate and building in New London. Of course, some put up a kick, but these were few, and in every case we tried to treat the property owner fairly. The system makes every one pay a proportional share of the tax.

In answer to questions from the members of the Rotary club Mr. Burrows said that the grand list has been increased 21 per cent, the tax rate being materially lowered, from 33 mills to 26 mills. The tax experts hired cost the city some $7,000, and it is understood they lost money on their job. Mr. Burrows said he considered that outside experts were needed, as no local man could do the work right. Assessments are based on replacement value less depreciation and buildings are assessed on 1914 costs before the great advance in building costs since the war. Real estate properties are taxed on 90 per cent. of valuation, while machinery in manufacturing plants is taxed on a low valuation and merchandise is taxed on the average stock carried by the merchant last year. Values are taken in July and revised in September. On 2,900 automobiles assessed last year there were only three kicks, the assessors using the Chicago used car market price list as a basis of valuation. Only two places in New London are taxed as farm land. Mr. Burrows favors outside experts' assistance in formulating new tax assesments.

At the conclusion of his talk Mr. Burrows was given a rising vote of appreciation for his interesting and comprehensive explanation of the method of taxing in New London.

At the business session of the meeting President H. B. Campbell presided and told of his visit to the Philadelphia club last week. James L. Case was the song leader for the luncheon, and Jim was just bubbling over with pep which he instilled into the club, keeping the boys singing regardless of whether they wanted to eat or not.

E. LaRue Bliven reported for the Armistice day committee and said that the Rotary club had secured Colt's band of Hartford, one of the finest bands in the state, to head the local club. By popular subscription more than enough money to defray the expenses of the band was raised among the members of the club. Instructions for assembling were given, all members being told to meet at the Norwich Box shop on Chestnut street at 1.30 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon.

During the meeting there was a delightful solo, The Heart of a Rose, by Henry J. LaFontaine. The meeting closed with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

PROMISE BIG TURNOUT FOR ARMISTICE PARADE

Mercier Assembly, No. 12, Catholic Ladies of Columbus, had an especially well attended meeting Tuesday evening in its rooms in the T. A. B. building, with the president, Miss Mary H. Maloney, in the chair, at which a report was made by the banquet committee and also by the committee in charge of the assembly's participation in the Armistice Day parade. A big turnout is promised and the committee has arranged to be at the rooms this (Thursday) and Saturday evenings to give out the decorations to those members who have not yet received them. The assembly has also named its committee of twenty-five who will assist in serving the dinner at the armory after the parade.

The Christmas welfare committee made its first report of tentative plans for the work with the Knights of Columbus for the Christmas season.

WILL PLACE V. F. W. WREATH AT MEMORIAL TABLET

The recruiting committee of Richard E. Hourigan post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been busily engaged in taking care of new members, joining the post. At a recent meeting eight recruits took the obligation and seven applications have been received, ready for the next regular meeting.

The post has also been doing its share of work filling out bonus applications for all veterans and a large number have been filled out and sent to Washington. The committee in charge of this work invites all ex-service men who have not applied for adjusted compensation to meet the committee in the post rooms No. 3 Market street any Saturday afternoon or evening.

The post is also planning for a large turnout for the parade on Armistice day and those who have uniforms are urged to wear them. Immediately following the exercises of the day a reunion of veterans is to be held in the post headquarters and a luncheon will be served by the members of the entertainment committee assisted by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the post.

All veterans are invited to meet with the post previous to the parade and take part in the observances of the day. During the dedication of the memorial tablet at Chelsea Parade the members of the post will pay tribute to all veterans when two members of the post will place a wreath in the form of the Veterans of Foreign Wars insignia at the tablet.

MOOSE CUT DOWN LEAD OF PINOCHLE OPPONENTS

With high scores made during the pinochle tournament, played Wednesday evening at Moose home, between members of the local order and the Jibboom Club, No. 1, of New London, the Norwich players cut down the lead of the Whaling City rivals to 6250.

High score for the evening went to John Mehrhols of the local Moose with 7330 while Eugene Bush of the New London club hit 7270 for second high. Three contests have been played and the Moose are in hopes of swinging into the lead when the two teams meet for the fourth evening of play at the rooms of the Jibboom club in New London.

The standing to date is as follows: Jibboom club, 195,790; L. O. O. M., 189,270.

COSTUME PARTY BY TRINITY EPWORTH LEAGUE

Members of the Epworth League of Trfinity Methodist Episcopal church enoyed a pleasant evening Wednesday, in the church parlors when a costume party was held. As the members came into the hall they were greeted by the reception committee, all in costume, and soon the entertainment for the evening was in full swing. Among the games played were peanut hunt and hot potato.

Later in the evening refreshments of coffee, sandwiches, apples, and popcorn balls were served. The committee in charge of the social comprised the Misses Mildred Perkins, Mildred Flye, Susan McNeely and Mary Gray.

FUNERAL.

Mrs. Lucian Woodworth.

Relatives and friends of Mrs. Lucian Woodworth paid final tribute to a loved one Wednesday afternoon when funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. Charles N. Bentley, Fitchville road, Yantic. The service was conducted by Rev. Robert B. Day, rector of Grace Episcopal church. Mrs. Richard Quinn singing Beautiful Isle of Somewhere during the service.

The body was conveyed by automobile cortege to Willimantic, where burial was in the Willimantic cemetery, Rev. Mr. Day conducting the committal service at the grave. The bearers were Everett, Silas, Clarence and Roy Woodworth.

Arrangements were by C. A. Gager.

Charles F. W. Treadway.

With relatives and friends attending from Clinton, Mass., and other places, funeral services for Charles F. W. Treadway were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the parlors of Henry Allen & Son, 88 Main street, Rev. Alexander H. Abbott conducting the service. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

Burial was in the family lot in Yantic cemetery where Rev. Dr. Abbott conducted the committal service. Friends acted as bearers.

Gives Up Ice Business

The Perry Ice Company of New London, which for many years cut ice and stored ice at South Willington, has discontinued, and is moving the machinery.

The Parsees do not bury their dead, but carry them to the "Great Towers of Silence," where the bodies are eaten by the vultures.

SAYS PILES HEAL UP AND DISAPPEAR FOREVER

Seldom Fails to Give Absolute Relief from All Pain and Suffering. Guaranteed by Lee & Osgood Co. and All Good Druggists.

Many sufferers from Piles or Hemorroids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained. MOAVA is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and any sufferer from Piles or Hemorrhoids who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded.

UNBEATEN HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS WILL CLASH AT WILLIMANTIC ON SATURDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Nov. 5.—With its fourth contest in the Eastern Connecticut League safely stored away, Chapman Tech will oppose Windham at the Thread City on Saturday. This game which will bring together two undefeated teams thus far this season will no doubt be a contest worth seeing. With both Windham and Chapman Tech claiming State wide recognition because of their clean record, one of these teams will be eliminated.

Although the objective of the Red and Black machine is to win the Eastern Connecticut championship which seems most likely now, the contest with ule. Windham took the locals by Windham is the biggest on the schedsurprise last year and the team from up the river not only shut out Tech but administered the Whalers a most thorough trouncing. For this reason, Tech would like to retaliate, for the locals are still smarting under that defeat.

The Tech coaches are pointing the Red and Black eleven towards the Windham game. Anticipating an overhead game which Tech encountered last season in the Windham eleven, a good deal of the past three days have been devoted to a defense for the over head attack. Two new plays have been added to the list, and Tech will travel to Willimantic a determined team to shatter that team's long string of victories. But in order to do so, the locals must fight every minute of the contest and they will be opposing a well coached eleven.

PALACE TURNS TABLES ON TH EAETNA FIVE

At the Palace alleys Wednesday evening the Palace five made up for their three string defeat at the hands of the Aetna team last Monday evening by taking two games from the Aetna and held their position in the Eastern Connecticut Bowling league. The Aetna team with the exception of the second string was off form while the Palace rolled a steady game. Mike Morin took the individual honors by taking high single with 133 and high three with 344. The scores:

COLUMBIA HAS 17 GAMES ON BASKETBALL SLATE

New York, Nov. 5.—Columbia University tonight announded its 1924-25 basketball schedule, consisting of 17 games and opening with Maryland as an opponent at New York on December 5. Army, Navy and Harvard are listed, besides ten games in the eastern intercollegiate league with Princeton Pennsylvania, Dartmouth Yale and Cornell.

The schedule follows:

December 6, Maryland; 9, Rutgers, 12, Navy at Annapolis; 17, New York University; 20, Wesleyan; January 6, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; 10, Princeton; 17, Dartmouth at Hanover, N. H.; 19, Harvard at Cambridge; February 5, Pennsylvania; 21, Dartmouth; 28, Yale at New Haven; March 7, Princeton at Princeton; 11, Cornell.

YALE VARSITY AND FRESHIES PLAY TO TIE SCORE

New Haven, Nov. 5.—For the second time this year the Yale varsity football team played the freshmen today, the contest ending in a two touchdown tie. The freshmen got the jump of the varsity at the opening of the game and scored their two touchdowns before the varsity got under way. The first touchdown was scored after a forward pass and an end run by Ordway. The second score was made when Wadsworth fumbled a poor pass and Sanger, picking up the ball, ran 30 yards for a touchdown. No attempt was made to kick goal after either touchdown.

The varsity, using close formation, soon wore down the younger men, however, and evened up the score. Pond made the first touchdown for the varsity in a plunge through center. The second score was made in the same manner when Kline took the ball across.

Bingham was absent from the varsity line-up today, the coaches deciding to give him a rest. His place at left end was taken first by Hart and then by Potts. During the game Butterworth was slightly injured and Richards took his place. Sturhahn also was hurt and Eckart went in at left guard.

EPINARD LEAVES AMERICA FOR THE HOME TURF

New York, Nov. 5.—Epinard, French four year old which came to this country in July to test the greatness of America's thoroughbreds, sailed today for home on the Berengaria, to be retired to the stud after losing four races and suffering a foot injury in the last.

The Chestnut, acknowledged great and a popular favorite in this country despite his defeats, was accompanied by three American mares which will be mated with him next season. They were Satin Slippers, two-year-old filly owned by the Hamilton Farm, and the brood mares Four Hand and Quelle Chance, owned by Major August Belmont. The stud fee will be $1,500.

Euegene Leigh, American trainer of the French star before leaving with his charge, said that he had no regrets over the campaign and still believed Epinard to be the greatest horse in the world.

SIX DAY RACE IN NEW YORK STARTS NOV. 29

New York, Nov. 5—New York's thirty-seventh international six-day bicycle race will be run in Madison Square Garden, Nov. 29 to Dec. 6, Manager John M. Chapman announced tonight he expected to line up sixteen teams including an equal number of the fastest foreign and American pedalists available.

Clarence Carman, former American Motor-paced champion, is now in Europe as Chapman's representative signing foreign talent. Prominent among the American entries are expected to be Boby Walthour, Jr., and Harry Horan, who figures in their first six-day victories when they won the grind completed last week at Chicago.

GIBBONS HAS SIGNED TO FIGHT NORFOLK ON DEC. 8

New York, Nov. 5.—The signing today of Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, and Kid Norfolk, veteran negro pugilist, for a 15-round match at Madison Square Garden December 8 probably will mark a renewal of activity in heavyweight ranks lasting through the winter season.

There has been some discussion of a title bout between Gibbons and Jack Dempsey, the champion, as the headliner of a charity show.

Luis Firpo, who plans to start a comeback campaign in Newark with Charley Weinert as an opponent, probably will be seen in action at the garden either against Quintin Romero, Chilean heavyweight, or George Godfrey, Philadelphia negro.

Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, and Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, are others for whose services Tex Rickard is negotiating.

LOUISVILLE MAKES BID FOR A. A. U. INDOOR MEET

New York, Nov. 5.—The Amateur Athletic Union has received a bid for the 1925 indoor national track and field championships from Louisville, which proposes to conduct a three-day meet ending with the title events on February 28, the date officially set by A. A. U. The bid will be acted upon at the annual convention of the organization at Atlantic City starting November 16.

The championships were held here last winter and won by the Illinois athletic club.

TIGERS WORK LATE IN PREPARING FOR HARVARD

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 5. — The Princeton football team again today was kept working on University field until darkness fell and forced the men to the showers.

Light defensive work against a scrub line using Harvard formations was the order of the day. Coach "Bill" Roper said there would be no letup in the signal drilling until Friday when the squad entrains for Cambridge where on Saturday the battle with the Crimson will be fought.

MALONEY BEATS SHARKEY IN TAME BATTLE

Boston, Nov. 5.—Jim Maloney won the decision over Jack Sharkey in a tame 10-round final bout here tonight. Both are local heavyweights.

Jackie Clark of Allentown, Pa., won from Tom Kirby of Boston on a foul in the fifth round of an eight round semi-final.

Indoor Baseball

This (Thursday) evening at the state armory the Combat Train and All-Stars Indoor baseball teams will meet and a good game is expected. Both teams contain the best of the amateur players in the city which should make the game interesting from start to finish.

FORMER FOOTBALL STAR GETS DRAW IN FIRST BOUT

New York, Nov. 5.—Quintin Romero, of Chile and Sully Montgomery, Center college football star, drew in a six round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Montgomery, in his first important professional fight, out-boxed the Chilean in the first three rounds and almost dropped his opponent in the fourth with a right to the jaw. Romero took the last two rounds.

Montgomery tired rapidly and was beaten badly in the final session. Montgomery weighed 204 and Romero 199 1-2.

Montgomery played center on the Center College team when the "Praying Colonels" defeated Harvard 6-0 at the stadium and was a teammate of Bob McMillan and Red Roberts. He gave evidence tonight of developing into a serious contender for heavyweight honors. Against Romero, ranked well up among the heavy men, Montgomery was shifty and cool. His punch in the fourth dazed Romero and if it had not been delivered just before the bell, the former gridiron star might have won by a knockout.

SCENE OF RUTGERS AND LAFAYETTE GAME CHANGED

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 5.—The last minute decision to transfer the Rutgers Lafayette football game to Palmer stadium Saturday because of the inadequacy of the local seating facilities has caused a shakeup in the training plans for the rest of the week.

Coach Wallace intended to take his men to the shore on Friday to spend the night. Now, however, he has decided to take the squad to Palmer stadium the day before the game to afford the players an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the conditions inside the big concrete bowl.

WANDERERS UNABLE TO PLAY WESTERLY SATURDAY

The Baltic Wanderers who received a challenge from the Westerly Battery team for a game Saturday, have been forced to turn down the challenge owing to unforseen circumstances but will be glad to take on the military company at a later date.

Army-Navy Juniors Organize

The Army and Navy seconds, junior champions of Eastern Connecticut, have organized for the season. "Red" Burelle will manage the team The lineup is Gauthier, J. Peltier, Gladue, forwards, E. Murphy, center; Bus Murphy, guard; Ecclestone, guard and Berberick, guard. Anybody wishing games get in touch with Red Burelle, Taftville, Conn., Box 131. Phone 549-2.

Holy Cross Harriers Win

Boston, Nov. 5.—Holy Cross defeated Boston College 24 to 34 in a cross country race of four miles here today. Leo Larrivee of Holy Cross and George Lermond, Boston captain raced the distance together until Larrivee finished one foot in front in the time of 19 minutes, 35 seconds. Donahy of Holy Cross finished third.

SPORTING NOTES

Intercollegiate football at Dartmouth College dates from 1881.

At some of the big colleges and universities as many as 200 footballs are used up in a single season.

In S. E. Ewing '27, the Princeton Tigers appear to have the best field-goal kickers in the "Big Three" this year.

The University of Pennsylvania has reason to be proud of its splendid record on the gridiron so far this season.

Representatives of the minor baseball leagues will come together at Hartford, Conn., December 10 for the annual meeting of their national association.

Battling Siki, of whom little has been heard of late, is booked to face Ted Moore, the English middleweight, in a 10-round bout at Omaha late in November.

Football is represented in Great Britain's periodical literature by about fifty publications, some of which are issued the year round and others during the season only.

The longest stretch of tie games in the Yale-Princeton series, extending over a period of fifty years, was in 1870, 1880 and 1881, when the two teams played the three successive years without a point being scored.

While John McGraw of the New York Giants is generally hailed as one of the greatest managers that baseball ever has known, he has not been successful in the World's Series, having lost twice as many of these classics as he has won.

The first record fight for the American middleweight championship took place in California in 1867, when Tom Chandler, claimant to the title, won from Dooney Harris in 23 rounds. The contest was a bareknuckle affair for $5,000 a side.

In choosing the Leopard as the symbol for its football team Lafayette College has added another animal to the gridiron menagerie, which already includes the California Bears, Minnesota Gophers, Michigan Wolverines, Wisconsin Badgers, Texas Panthers, Washington State Cougars, Yale Bulldogs, Loyola Wolves, and a varied assortment of Tigers from Princeton, Missouri and Sewanee.

The Cesarewitch, which has just had its annual renewal, is one of the most famous of the Autumn races on the English turf and one that in the past has been prolific in surprises. Thrice the race has resulted in a dead heat, a remarkable series of happenings considering that the course measures two miles and a quarter. Moreover, one of these races was a "treble event," three horses actually passing the winning post together.

BULKELEY TO BRING STRONG TEAM TO OPPOSE ACADEMY ON SATURDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Nov. 5.—With a complete new set of formations, Bulkeley High school traditional rival of Norwich Free Academy will invade the Rose City for a grid contest this Saturday. With one of the strongest local institution, Bulkeley's march toward the State High school title will be momentarily halted to allow the team to engage its traditional rival, causing speculation among the noted With a football record that is even writers in and about Boston, who are expecting a post season game between Bulkeley and Haverhill, to mature; Bulkeley will give Norwich and New London people its last chance to view the team in action before engaging the two leading teams in the race for the High school title.

These same eleven men with one or two possible exceptions have invaded Norwich for the past two seasons and have found it anything but difficult to come out ahead. The score the first year read 44 to 6 in Bulkeleys' favor and the following year, with the game played at New London the final outcome read 33 to 0 for Bulkeley. Being favored by unusually good material, Bulkeley has never feared the Red Machine. Especially during the past two years has this rule applied.

But regardless of the Norwich Academy record for the year, Bulkeley expects no easy time of it on Saturday. The team members while confident of winning this contest, are well aware of the mid season slump the team is in at present. For because of laxity of football diligence, the Orange and Black lost its first game of the season last Saturday to New Britain. Being supplied ahead of time with formations and even the signals of the locals, it has become necessary to completely change the formations which have been used by the Bulkeley team to date.

The practice during the past two days was spirited, and with Coach Canty doning a uniform to gain better results, the first team completely smothered the attempts of the second team offensive getting under way. And when the first team was in possession of the ball it was another story, and the first team backs drove through the line for continued long gains. Only Edward Kenkle regular quarterback was unable to report for practice this week due to an ankle injury. The team was piloted by Collins. But Henkle is expected to be back in uniform Thursday. Another charge was noticeable in the backfield, and that was the shifting of Falvey, from the second team to fullback on the first team. Nocery was in turn placed on the second eleven. This change may be only temporary, but Nocery's poor defensive work Saturday caused this shift to be made.

A galaxity of stars will appear against Norwich, and it is most likely that two of the cripples who have been out with broken bones will return to their places if not for this game in the next contest with Torrington. These two players are Joe Barry and James Latham. Both have discarded their crutches and will be in uniform either Thursday or Friday.

Late Czar's Cousin Called "Joke," "Buffoon" In Court By Famous Financier

COPYRIGHT UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD, N. Y.

Prince Felix Youssoupoff, cousin of the late Czar of Russia and reputed slayer of Rasputin, who is now suing in Supreme Court of New York to compel Joseph E. Widener, Philadelphia capitalist and connoisseur of art, to resell to him the two Rembrandts he sold Mr. Widener for 100,000 pounds sterling in 1921. Testifying in his own behalf, Mr. Widener scored the plaintiff as a "joke," a "buffoon," "a man of degenerate reputation" and a "murderer," referred to his "painted cheeks and blackened eyes," and declared the contract he made with Prince Felix "not worth 30 cents" because the Prince violated its terms before he even delivered the pictures.

SAVE THE GROUSE IS APPEAL OF TITCOMB

Since the open season on ruffed grouse, the office of the state fish and game commission has received numerous inquiries as to their scarcity. Reports from various parts of the state, from other New England states, and from Canada, show that the hunters are not finding the birds as numerous as they had reason to expect, notwithstanding the fact that many of these hunters report evidence of an abundance of grouse during the spring and summer months. In some instances, the scarcity has been attributed to the unusual late season for shedding leaves from trees and the difficulty of traveling in the covers without making a great deal of noise. In few instances reports indicate that the dogs come to a point on a cold scent very frequently indicating that the birds are present but do not lie for the dogs or the hunters, but skulk away. The commission is forced to the conclusion that something has happened to cause a scarcity of grouse.

The object of a letter, sent to the sportsmen's associations is to urge all sportsmen to refrain from killing grouse and try and save the survivors of them for next season's breeding stock. This request is made, believing that it is in the interest of every grouse hunter to do all he can at this time to conserve the grouse.

If any hunters find grouse which appear to be diseased, the office would like to have an opportunity to examine them. If there are no external evidences of disease, but upon opening them some abnormal condition appears in the intestines or elsewhere, it would like to have the diseased parts preserved and forwarded to the office. This can best be done by placing the material in a jar of water mixed with about 5 percent of formaldehyde. Suitable containers in a mailing case will be forwarded to anyone who has material preserved in some container which is not suitable for mailing.

The office is not in a position to entertain a flood of letters on this subject, but will be glad to have very brief reports giving a sentence or two as to whether grouse appear abundant or not, whether any disease has been noticed, or whether any dead birds have been found without shot marks in them.

If, after a copious rain when normal conditions have returned, the birds are found to be abundant, this letter will, of course, be entirely disregarded, says Superintendent John W. Titcomb.

FIRE DESTROYS FINE OLD MYSTIC RESIDENCE

The Old Stone Mansion, a beautifully furnished house at the top of Quoquetaug Hill, Old Mystic, was completely destroyed Wednesday by fire, the origin of which has not yet been determined. It is believed to have started from electric sparks from the house wiring.

The house was owned by Mrs. G. W. Middleton of New York and during the summer months was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Marcus, artists from New York.

The fire was discovered shortly before noon and an alarm was immediately sent in to the Hook and Ladder company, but upon arriving at the scene it was found that there was neither hydrant or available source of water so the firemen attempted to subdue the rapidly spreading flames by use of chemicals. But the blaze had gained too much headway and the interior was almost destroyed before assistance could be given.

It is said that the attic of the house contained several bundles of old papers and that the building was infested with rats which made nests in the collection of papers and in the process of home-making may have gnawed away the insulation of the electric wires.

The house was constructed of square granite blocks and contained besides many pieces of valuable furniture numerous articles from the Orient which were highly valued. The total loss is estimated at about $20,000.

The Old Stone Mansion was considered a notable landmark by many. Surmounting a high hill it commanded a wonderful view for miles around. The house was often referred to as one of the most beautiful buildings in Old Mystic.

VERMONT POLICE INQUIRE ABOUT HELEN KELLEY, NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Nov. 5.—Helen Ruth Kelley, the young woman who was with a man known as Robert Kelley, who claimed to be the husband of the woman, is liable to spend a considerable period of time in the Charlotte county jail, Burlington, Vt., in which city she was recently arrested for the theft of a fur coat and ladies' wearing apparel from a hotel. The stolen goods were found among the woman's effects, having been wrapped in a blanket. The Burlington police have communicated with the New London police for the purpose of ascertaining her past record and her crimes committed in New London. The woman does not happen to have a local court record, but that is her good fortune, for she is wanted here for passing a worthless check upon James Sullivan, garage proprietor, whereby she obtained a Star touring car and for the theft of clothing from a Groton lodging house where she lodged with Kelley before the couple left here for Vermont.

City Manager William A. Holt has notified Captain of Police Charles A. Finney that all applicants for the position of lieutenant or sergeant will be compelled to submit to an examination. There is soon to be a vacancy in the ranks caused by the retirement of Lieut. Benjamin Beebe, which becomes effective Dec. 1st. With a sergeant to be advanced, a vacancy will exist in the ranks of sergeant. As the charter or ordinances of the city do not provide for officers in line of promotion submitting to an examination, those seeking the appointments do not contemplate taking an examination for the new position, especially in view of the fact that they were found qualified for members of the department when they were appointed to duty.

Alonzo Cullis, about 60, a well known resident of Mystic, dropped dead on Stonington street, Mystic, this afternoon. Mr. Cullis having been stricken with an attack of the heart, and expired before medical assistance could be summoned.

A chimney fire was discovered this evening at the residence of Rev. Edward M. Chapman, corner of Glenwood and Ocean avenues. A still alarm was sent to fire headquarters and Pequot Hose company responded. The burning soot was extinguished with chemicals, little if any damage resulting.

The police received a telephone message tonight that protection was wanted for a woman who resides at 67 Belden street and who had been thrown downstairs by her husband. Patrolmen William Babcock, Michael Dorsey and Edward Daniels were sent to the house and when the woman was questioned she corroborated the statement of her husband that she had slipped and fell down the stairs. She refused to lodge complaint against the husband, although she was bruised by the fall.

Mrs. William N. Dow, 79 Phillips street, in crossing Green street, between Golden and State streets this afternoon, was knocked down by a passing automobile, the driver of which evaded responsibility by operating his machine away without stopping to determine the extent of Mrs. Dow's injuries. A pedestrian assisted the woman to her feet and saw to it that she reached her home. The man declared that the automobile bore registration 216, which is listed in the name of a resident of Bridgeport. Mrs. Dow suffered considerably from shock and bruises.

The New Haven police tonight requested the local authorities to maintain a watch for a Ford coupe which was stolen from the streets of the former city early this evening. The stolen car carries registration 93-419.

An automobile bearing Rhode Island registration 21-050 was found in the vicinity of the Poquonoc road, Groton, last Saturday, abandoned, and when an owner did not appear for it today the car was taken in charge by George Vincent, former captain of the Groton police department, who is holding it pending its being claimed by the owner.

Mrs. Arthur Russ and infant son of Crystal avenue; Mary, Grace and Theodore Griffith, Lyme; Charles Petrash, Lyme; Mrs. Joseph Congdon and infant daughter, Vauxhall street; Mrs. William Bromley, Jewett City, and Miss Ethel Hall, Niantic, were patients dismissed at Lawrence hospital today.

Harold C. Greene et ux. have sold a house and lot on Ashcraft road to Edward W. Hopkins et ux.

Two local youths became boisterously intoxicated and this afternoon went to a pool room in the Armstrong building, where they created such a disturbance that complaint was made to the police. Sergeant Nelson Smith and Traffic Officers Clarence Wells and William Corcoran were hustled to the site of the trouble and placed the pair under arrest. One of the youths has been before the police court a dozen times on charges of intoxication.

The funeral of Wallace G. Grimes of Quaker Hill was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at 48 Shapley street. The services were conducted by Rev. Joseph A. Elder, pastor of Huntington Street Baptist church. Relatives of Mr. Grimes acted as bearers. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Joseph Gentilalia, 606 Bank street, reported to the police this forenoon that his son, John, 14, a student at Bulkeley High school, was missing from home and that the lad had absented himself from his home and from his studies two days. His father is unable to account for the sudden disappearance of the young man.

A collie, the property of Morris Barca, 8 Elizabeth street, was struck and killed by an unidentified automobile this morning on Hobron street, at the corner of Montauk avenue.

This evening the New York police informed the New London authorities that Gentilalia had been arrested in the former city this forenoon and was being held as a runaway. The father of the runaway was notified and will go to New York Thursday to escort the boy back home.

Theodore Kundig, 48 Main street, complained to the police late last night that while his automobile was parked either on State street, in front of the Crown theatre, or on Main street, opposite Church street, a spare tire was stolen from the rear of the car.

Leon Keaney, 645 Main street, employed nights at the plant of the Connecticut Power company, complained to the police today that someone has been making a practice of late of pounding on the door of the entrance to his home between 3 and 5 o'clock in the morning.

John Shea, a stroller who has been in the police court about as often as he is likely to be and not get a passport to the county jail for a considerable stay, was there this morning to answer for intoxication. He was taken into the police net by Officer Babcock when the latter found him helplessly drunk on North Bank street. Shea smiled when he was asked to plead to the complaint, for he accepted it for granted that he was drunk. He offered the statement that he met some fellows who had a bottle and said the flasks did not contain as much when the party separated as they did when the convivial souls made acquaintance. Shea volunteered that everyone had a bottle last night, he viewing others through the same eyes that he contemplated his own situation. Judge Prince evidently concluded that there might be hope of reclaiming Shea and suspended judgment for two hours. Shea left the court room grinning and took an officer's civilian hat that was worth $5 with him when he ran down the stairs. The fact that the hat was missing was not discovered till after the court adjourned. Then Shea was sought again.

Herbert N. Avery, married and with a family, was charged with intoxication, and when he stood before Judge Prince the latter gave him to understand that he was doing a very unwise thing in drinking liquor. He told Avery what he might expect if he appeared in court again and then allowed him to go to his work.

Millard Teabart, a sailor from the Coast Guard academy, was also charged with intoxication. He pleaded guilty. He had overstayed his leave at the academy, so he was turned over to the authorities there for discipline. He will probably get it in abundance.

William Goldberg was sent to the Norwich state hospital for the insane today by the probate court in this city as a person mentally weak. Goldberg had obtained some blank bank checks and, filling them out for various small sums, negotiated them. He represented that the checks were drawn by his father, though the latter has been dead more than a year.

ARTIST PETER MARCUS LOSES MYSTIC HOME

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Nov. 5.—The residence known as the Buddington place, Pawcatuck Hill, Mystic, owned by Peter Marcus, New York artist, was entirely destroyed by fire early this forenoon. Not only was the two-story brick structure demolished but the entire furnishings of the place suffered a like fate.

The fire was discovered about 8 o'clock when flames were observed on the roof and near the chimney. An alarm was sounded, but by the time the fire department responded the entire upper part of the house was enveloped in flames. Because of inadequate water supply, the firemen were greatly hampered, for the chemicals was not sufficient to extinguish the flames, which spread over the structure rapidly, and two hours after the blaze was discovered nothing remained of the place but the four charred walls and a mass of embers.

The fire, it is believed, originated from a defective chimney.

NORTH STONINGTON

The Baptist church held a rally social Wednesday evening of last week, at the home of Rev. Lucian Drury, pastor emeritus. Seventy-five were present. A pleasing program of music and speaking was given. Ice cream and cake were served.

The Woman's Union of the Congregational church gave a waffle tea in the vestry, Thursday afternoon of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Drury and son, Charles, of Mount Herman, Mass., spent the week end at the home of Mr. Drury's father, Rev. Lucian Drury. Mrs. Drury sang the offertory solo at the Sunday morning service in the Baptist church.

The women of the Baptist church served dinner in the Brown & Stone block, election day, and received a good patronage from the voters.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Wheeler of East Hartford have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John D. Avery.

Mrs. Lewis S. Latimer of Bronxville, N. Y., is visiting her mother and aunt in this village.

Postmaster C. E. Gray with Mrs. Gray, Mrs. C. L. Gray and Mrs. Dudley Bindloss of Mystic, made a motor trip to Providence last week.

JEWETT CITY

If the sentiment expressed in the homes, the talk on the street and the opinions given in the shops and stores count for anything, then Griswold has just put over one of its most generally satisfactory and pleasing elections.

Dr. George H. Jennings, the republican nominee for representative was elected in a democratic town by 51 maority. Party lines and these always are some, were pretty well forgotten, and the democratic candidate, himself a man whom any town might be proud to elect was defeated, mainly because his opponent was Dr. Jennings. The new representative, not only is a ranking citizen among the town's outstanding men, but he is well worthy of the confidence his fellow townspeople have placed in him. In his election, not alone was the appeal made, as relative to his sturdy republican politics, but there came a silent messenger to the home when the doctor with cheer and comfort, not always carried in his medicine bag, was oft a needed and welcome visitor.

Richard J. Dudkowski in offering his congratulations to the winner has no regrets. He is a young man with promises of a brilliant career all in front of him, and he, as well as Griswold is pleased that the honor has been given to one by whom it is well deserved.

For close to half a century in heat or cold, snow or rain, the doctor has made his appointed rounds, not alone professionally, but in every department of borough and town activities he is prominent and has well merited his latest honors.

Yank's Roseland orchestra at Danielson armory this Friday.—adv.

Mrs. Hector Sabillaud has returned to Jewett City after spending four months visiting her father in Halifax, N. S. She was accompanied back by her younger sister, Miss Marjorie Frider. While in Halifax she attended the wedding of her brother Clifford G. Frider and Grave M. Hartfree of Halifax, formerly of the Aspinook bleachery, Jewett City.

A few sidelights on Tuesday's vote in Griswold are of interest. Out of a registration of 1228 voters, 1116 visited the polls, thus placing on record the largest vote the town ever made.

A number of the blanket ballots which were used, were of necessity thrown out by Moderator L. M. Carpenter because rendered void by those failing to understand the legal voting methods. Some ballots are deposited at every election, which have no mark of any kind, to indicate the intention of the voter, being placed in the box just as received from the distributors. One hundred and twelve didn't vote at all. Some of that number are not living in Jewett City. Some made no effort to cast their ballots, while on the other hand, several came many miles to discharge their duty.

The body of Mrs. Thomas Reading, formerly of Canterbury, who died in New York, Tuesday, will arrive here today (Thursday) for burial.

Even the local weather man, seemed pleased with the election, for he handed out a day of rare fall beauty, Wednesday. During the afternoon the mercury rose to 60 and on the East Main street highlands, hardy golden chrysanthemums are blooming in the open, as bright as any mid-summer flower has been. Mrs. J. C. Hawkins and Miss M. A. Burdick have fine beds of these handsome fall flowers.

Chicken pie supper, Lisbon town hall, Friday, 6 p. m. 50c—adv.

Mark Twain, in Life on the Mississippi, tells of the old slow steamboat lines, plying between St. Louis and New Orleans. They were so slow, he said, that people made their wills before starting. During the voyage, passengers passed from youth to age, while others grew old and died. Registrations of cargoes were forgotten and calves shipped from St. Louis were delivered in New Orleans as canned corned beef. But this, says the observant citizen, had nothing much on the long winded ballot counting contest that took place at the town hall after the polls were closed. People coming to hear the returns remained to secure lodging for the night, while one man, wiser than the rest, went home and to bed, then was up again in time for the announcement of the returns.

Funeral services for Anne Mohan, of Bishop's Crossing, were held at St. Mary' cahurch Wednesday morning. Solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. R. P. Morrissy of Plainfield, with Rev. John J. McCabe, deacon and Rev. James J. Tyler sub-deacon. The bearers were John Leahy, Augustus Coffee and William O'Neil of Plainfield, and Frank Leyden, William Fogarty and Michael E. Shea of Jewett City.

There were choice flowers from friends and relatives. Mrs. Noel Garand sang, Beautiful Land on High. Father Morressey read the committal service at the grave in St. Mary's cemetery. Hourigan Bros. were the funeral directors in charge.

The socialist vote of Griswold Tuesday was as follows: For the electors of president and vice president 7; and for Jasper McLevy, governor 9; for James D Williams, representative, 7.

NORTH LYME

Many friends of Mrs. Warren Rogers, 40, were saddened to hear of her death by suicide last week Tuesday morning. Mrs. Rogers has been in poor health for years and has had five surgical operations, hoping for permanent relief, but it is thought the dread of another operation may have caused her to end her life. She was always cheery, always ready to help a neighbor in trouble or sickness when her own health would permit. She was born in East Lyme, the daughter of Albert and Laura Maynard. About 22 years ago she married Warren Rogers of this place who survives her; also her mother, a sister, Mrs. Walter Johns of Old Lyme, two brothers and a stepson, Curtis Rogers of this place. The funeral, which was private, was held at her home Thursday afternoon. Rev. J. C. Gavin conducted the services.

Miss Emily Stark spent several days last week at S. E. Ackley's, in Chester.

The Hallowe'en social, held last Friday evening at the North Plain schoolhouse, was largely attended and proved a great success. Over $30 was realized. This will be used for equipment for the school. Victrola records, football, etc. There were several plays and recitations by the children, which showed the careful training given them by the teacher. Miss Gladys Cone. The decorations were very elaborate. Lunch was served. Home made candy and articles from the grab bag found a ready sale. People were present from New Haven, Old Lyme, Moodus, Salem, Hamburg and Manhasset, L. I.

Walter Roberts and Mrs. W. H. Smith have closed their summer home, "Red Cottage," near M. J. Stark's, and have gone to New York for the winter.

Frank Phillips of Willimantic is in a critical condition in a Willimantic hospital, following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Phillips is well known here. He has a new mill running on the H. B. Skinner property. Many friends are hoping for his speedy recovery.

How Nature, in her hidden laboratories, created a natural anti-knock gasoline

Motorists are now being told that they must pay extra for gasoline in order to stop motor knocks. Tydol users save that extra money. If you use Tydol consistently, it is unnecessary to doctor your gasoline or pay more than the regular price per gallon. Tydol is a natural anti-knock gasoline.

* * * *

You know from experience that automobile motor knocks are destructive. You know that they steal power, pound your bearings, rack your car and lead to big repair bills.

But perhaps you don't know that motor knocks can be eliminated in a simple, natural way—a way that does not add a premium to the cost of your gasoline.

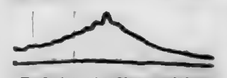
As nature produces different kinds of crude petroleum oils, it follows that different types of crudes yield different kinds of gasolines. Of all these crudes there is one which yields gasoline famous for its natural anti-knock qualities. It is from this particular crude, by special processing, that Tydol is refined at the Tide Water Refinery at Bayonne, N. J. That is why Tydol is a natural anti-knock gasoline.

Next time you need gas, fill up at a Tydol pump. Prove to yourself that Tydol eliminates knocks. And pay no more than the regular price per gallon.

Scientific tests prove TYDOL a natural anti-knock gasoline

Knocking in an engine is caused by the gasoline mixture exploding too quickly or too violently. There is no knock if the mixture burns progressively and evenly.

The Midgley Indicator, a remarkable scientific instrument, enables us to photograph the progress of the explosion of a gasoline mixture in the combustion chamber.



Explosion of ordinary mixture. The above graph shows the explosion of an ordinary gasoline mixture. The jagged points indicate violent, uneven burning, the cause of motor knocks.

Explosion of Tydol mixture. This graph shows how a Tydol mixture explodes. The smooth, even curve indicates progressive combustion. There is no tendency to knock.

NOTE: Tydol, of course, will not eliminate knocking in motors which are defective mechanically.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS ACTIVE.

New York, Nov. 5.—One of the most impressive buying demonstrations of recent years, which carried nearly two score stocks to new peak prices for the year, on a turnover of nearly one and three-quarter million shares, was Wall Street's response today to the sweeping republican victory in Tuesday's presidential election. Net gains in many active issues ranged from 1 to 3 1-2 points, despite the unusually heavy volume of profit taking which the market was called upon to absorb.

Buying orders poured into the market from all sections of the country throughout the day. They were well distributed throughout the general list but when it became apparent that the republicans probably would have a working majority in both branches of congress an outburst of buying took place in the rails which assumed the leadership of the advance. Accumulation of the carriers was based on a belief that the safety of the transportation act of 1920 was assured and that the consummation of pending railroad mergers would be hastened with added stimulus derived from the fact that freight car loadings for the week ended Oct. 25 again had set a new high record for all time.

Fifteen rails attained new 1924 peak prices, including New York Central, Atchison, Atlantic Coast Line, Missouri Pacific, common and preferred, "Katy" common and preferred, Rock Island 7 per cent preferred, Wabash "A" and Seaboard Air Line. "Big Four" soared ten points to 142. "Nickel Plate" and Jersey Central each showed net gains of 8 1-2 points and many others closed 1 to 3 1-2 points higher on the day.

Industrial shares appeared to have gone further in discounting President Coolidge's election than the rails, the advance in that group being a more orderly one. United States Steel common closed unchanged at 109 5-8 after having sold as high as 110 3-8. Baldwin, which touched 128 around the middle of the session later fell back to 121 5-8 for a net gain of 5-8. American Can established the highest price in its history at 141 3-8 and then eased to 140, up 2 3-8. American Smelting and Refining, Montgomery Ward, Rears Roebuck, United States Cast Iron Pipe, United States Industrial Alcohol and Central Leather preferred were among the many stocks that closed two or more points above Monday's final quotations.

H. R. Mallinson reached a new 1924 peak price at 31 7-8 following the announcement that October sales were 8 per cent above September and that the future earnings outlook was unusually bright. Among the other industrials to break through their previous highs were Associated Dry Goods, American Radiator, Savage Arms, Postum Cereal, International Nickel and Goodyear preferred. Textile shares showed a tendency to heaviness on the announcement of a cut in prices by the Amoskeag company. The commercial solvents issues, Loose-Wiles Biscuit and Cuyamel Fruit also lost ground.

Call money renewed at 3 1-2 per cent and then advanced to 3. The time money market was slightly firmer with business quiet. Commercial Paper rates were unchanged.

The feature of the foreign exchange market was the sharp raise of 3 cents in sterling which established a new high for the year at $4.56 3-4. Francs yielded slightly and other European rates showed mixed changes.

CURB MARKET.

New York, Nov. 5.—Curb prices with a few minor exceptions, reacted favorably to the election of President Coolidge, although the gains as a rule were moderate in character.

Oil shares showed quiet strength. Cities Service common touched a new top at 190 and then eased to 188, where it was up two points on the day. Some of the pipe line shares and high priced producers improved a point or more but the active refinery issues showed only fractional gains.

Speculative interest in the industrial list was divided between the new Thermodyne Radio shares, which ruled at a small premium above their offering price, and the baking stocks which showed further gains. United and War B. each closing about two points higher. The other radio stocks showed mixed changes.

Public utilities moved within a narrow range, most of the active issues showing slight gains.

Revival of speculative activity in Goldfield development which touched a new high level on the current movement at 19, featured the mining list.

BOND MARKET.

New York, Nov. 5.—Under the leadership of railroad issues, many of which mounted to the year's highest levels, bond prices moved vigorously ahead today. Buying of the railroad list, influenced by the impressive republican victory in the election was accelerated by the report that car loadings for the week ended October 25 had established another 1924 high record.

With the demand covering an unusually broad list of issues, gains of 1 to 2 points were common among the active rail bonds. Seaboard Adjustment 5s, Denver & Rio Grande refunding 5s and Consolidated 4s, Chicago Great Western 4s and "Katy" adjustment 5s broke through their previous high levels, while moderate rallies were staged by St. Paul, International-Great Northern, Delaware & Hudson, Chesapeake & Ohio and Frisco mortgages.

Higher call money rates and a dwindling supply of time funds contributed to the easier tone of Liberty bonds. United Kingdom 5 1-2s of 1929, which sold at 1924 peak price of 112 1-2, led an upward movement in the foreign list.

While activity in the railroad group overshadowed trading in other sections of the domestic list, there were numerous other strong spots, including copper and Independent Steel company bonds. Magma Copper 7s and Wickwire-Spencer Steel 7s each gained two points.

Among the new bond issues scheduled for early offering is one of $20,000,000 for the newly organized Cities Service Power and Light company. The approval of bond issues in yesterday's election is expected to swell the total of new state and municipal financing from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000.

New York, Nov. 5.—Cotton spot steady; middling 23.90.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Post-election bulges in prices for all grain developed quickly today. On some transactions, wheat showed an advance of as much as 5c a bushel. Improved export demand both for wheat and rye was apparent. Wheat closed firm 2 3-4 to 4 1-2 net higher, December 143 3-4 to 143 7-8 and May 150@150 1-8, with corn 1 5-8@2c up, and oats at 1 1-3@1 1-2 gain, but provisions unchanged to 30 lower.

Helped by unlooked-for sharp advances yesterday at Liverpool and Winnipeg while exchanges in this country were closed on account of election, the wheat market here scored a material upturn as soon as trading began. It was only in the last half of the board of trade session though that buying became aggressive, and that the rise in values went beyond average limits. Enlarged purchasing based more or less on optimistic views of the after-election business outlook seemed to be the chief governing influence at this stage.

A spectacular jump in rye quotations meanwhile did a good deal to encourage friends of higher prices for wheat and other grains. Foreigners in particular appeared to be acquiring ownership of future deliveries of rye, and the market for that cereal regained the losses which had been undergone of late. An additional stimulus was increased in demand for flour a circumstance ascribed largely to removal of election uncertainty. Besides, export sales of wheat since Monday were estimated at 2,000,000 bushels, a big share of which was domestic spring wheat. About 500,000 barrels of flour were also reported to have been bought for shipment to Europe.

Prospects of wet, cold weather likely to delay huskings was of some effect in lifting corn and oats.

Packers selling of lard weighed down the provision market.

Tired After Eating?
Try This Simple Mixture

If you feel tired after eating, it is often a sign of gas and undigested matter in your stomach or bowels. Simple buckthorn bark, magnesium sulph, c. p., glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, helps any case gas on the stomach, unless due to deepseated causes. The QUICK action will surprise you. Adlerika is wonderful for constipation—if often works in one hour and never gripes. Engler's Broadway Pharmacy, Cor. Broadway & Main St. In Taftville at Benoit's Pharmacy.

TAFTVILLE

The semi-annual meeting and election of officers of the Taftville Football and Soccer club was held Tuesday evening in the club rooms in the Ponemah houses, with a large attendance. The meeting was presided over by the secretary, Edward L. Sigrist. New members admitted were Terence Buckley, Harry Wolfenden and John Unsworth. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Allan Bogle; vice president, Louis Wollenben; secretary, Archie Torrance, Jr.; treasurer, Earle M. Wood; auditors, Herbert P. Hoyle and John W. Seddon; janitor, Frank Hodkinson; membership committee, Thomas Grimshaw, George Kinder and Archibald Torrance. After the meeting there was an entertainment which included concertina solos by David Murphy, and vocal solos by Thomas Greenhalgh, David Murphy, Samuel L. Armitage, Thomas Grimshaw and Walter L. Barrett. Mr. Greenhalgh was presented a beautiful bouquet by the new secretary of the club in appreciation of his fine tenor solos. Refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Christopher Troeger, Thomas Addison and John Wohlleben. In the sandwich eating contest between Fred Kershaw and Albert Mathewson, the judges declared the affair a tie. The election returns came over two radios operated by Ernest Pollard and Harold Tarbuck, and as the results were very gratifying to the club members, there was a big bonfire at midnight.

Peter Gallon post is to hold a meeting this evening at the Knights of Columbus rooms. The post is to consider a number of important matters.

RADIO CLUB HEARS TALK ON ELECTRIC POWER

Four new members, George H. Murray, Robert A. Gray, Joseph and James Fraser, were taken into the Norwich Radio club Wednesday evening at the regular meeting in the rooms in the Thayer building. The Radio club is steadily increasing in membership and is proving of untold benefit to the radio amateurs and eventually will prove a great benefit to radio in Norwich. After the adoption of several changes in the by-laws E. T. Phillips gave the club a most interesting talk on Power Transmission and Power Leaks and explained in detail the operation of the plant of the Eastern Connecticut Power Co. at Montville. Following Mr. Phillips' talk Joseph A. French gave an instructive talk in which he explained the operation of several different radio accessories.

Mrs. Howard Russ Chairman.

For a bridge and wash jones party to be given by Athene at the Waldorf Astoria, New York, next Monday, Mrs. Margaret Hamilton is hostess and Mrs. Howard Clinton Russ, formerly of this city, is chairman. Ten per cent of the proceeds is to go to the Walter Scott free industrial school for crippled children.

EXPECT SUBMARINE HERE FOR ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION

All that remains to make the Armistice Day observance in Norwich next Tuesday a success is fair weather as practically all details for the day have been worked out by the general committee in charge. As the days go by the parade grows in size and length and when the general committee met Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the rooms of the Norwich chamber of commerce announcement was made that the number of people in line will be close to the 7,000 mark.

General Chairman Herbert M. Lerou presided over the meeting which had an attendance of sixteen. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Secretary John J. O'Rourke and were accepted. Mr. O'Rourke stated that Arthur L. Story chairman of the parade committee, was unable to be present through illness. In reporting for Mr. Story, Mr. O'Rourke said that the parade committee have fulfilled their part of the programme. A very large delegation made up of the members of the French organizations in Taftville will take part in the parade, their appearance in the line being assured now that the mills in the town will close that day. There will be close to 7,000 people in the line with 14 bands.

Appeals for More Subscriptions.

Chairman Lerou emphasized the need of increasing the celebration fund immediately. We have now about $3,206, including the $1,000 appropriated by the town and the $500 appropriated by the city, said Mr. Lerou. We have raised by popular subscription about $700 but we still need about $700 more and we only have a few days to get it in. We must have at least $700 more, he said, to take care of the actual expenses of the dedication and parade. I sincerely hope the people of Norwich who have not already subscribed will aid us in boosting the fund up where it belongs. Mr. Lerou said that subscription should be sent to Martin E. Jensen, who is the treasurer of the fund. Any subscription, regardless of amount is welcome and the names only of the subscribers will be acknowledged through the press.

Mr. Lerou informed the committee that the Norwich Rotary club and the Norwich Lions club have taken up the matter of aiding in the raising of the money. Each club has appointed a committee of five to work in conjunction with the general committee in this matter. The committee from the Rotary club consists of Herbert B. Cary, La Rue Bliven, Clinton Lane, Dr. F. R. Agnew and Charles S. Twist. The Lions committee comprises, Chas. Frink, Harlow Bogue, Frank Rinella, Rudolph Henschel and Earl Taggart.

Expect 1,000 at Supper

Max Hanover, chairman of the entertainment committee, informed the general committee that his committee has the plans for the supper and entertainment completed. He said he is making preparations for 1,000 at the armory. For the entertainment programme he stated that there will be several boxing bouts, one between Frank Busch and Casey of Willimantic, and four of the sailors from the submarine base will stage two bouts. In addition Edward T. Connelly has volunteered to sing during the supper.

Announcement was made that memorial wreaths will be placed on the memorial tablet by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

Dr. Hugh B. Campbell, chairman of the transportation committee, reported that his committee has the transportation arrangements well under way. Announcement was made that most of the industries will observe a whole holiday and that the stores and banks will close at noon

Submarine N-3 Coming to Norwich

Secretary O'Rourke stated that the navy officials at the submarine base are making arrangements to send a submarine, the N-3, up the river to Norwich provided the committee will furnish a competent pilot. Mr. O'Rourke said that Captain Colberg who is familiar with the river channel and thoroughly competent in every way has agreed to pilot the submarine up and down the river and that docking facilities will be secured for the sub while it is in Norwich.

Will L. Stearns, chairman of the decorations committee, stated that the decorating of the stores and business houses is progressing rapidly and that this part of the work will be completed for Armistice day.

Commander Herman A. Bruckner of Fletcher Post, No. 4, American Legion, informed the committee that the installation of the sidewalk flags in front of the business houses in Norwich will be completed this week.

Programme at Chelsea Parade

The executive committee submitted a tentative programme for the exercises at Chelsea Parade and it met with the approval of the general committee. The tentative programme follows:

Song, America, by entire assemblage, with music by eight bands; address, Mayor Mile R. Waters; dedication prayer, Battle Hymn of the Republic, students; address, Col. Orville A. Petty of New Haven; Long Long Trail; reading of the 8th Psalm, address by E. Percy Armstrong, state commander American Legion; placing of the wreaths on the memorial tablet; reading of the roll of those from Norwich who gave their lives in the World war; sounding of Taps; benediction; Star Spangled Banner.

The names of those who will participate in the programme will be announced as soon as the list is completed.

Additional committees have been appointed as follows:

Reception—General William A. Aiken, Edwin W. Higgins, Oliver L. Johnson, Herbert M. Lerou, Judge Allyn L. Brown and James C. Macpherson.

Traffic committee—Harold T. Robinson and Herman A. Bruckner.

DINNER FOR RETIRING JESSAMINE COURT OFFICERS

The retiring officers of the order of the Amaranth, Jessamine court, No. 6, of New London, were delightfully entertained at a six o'clock dinner at the Wauregan house, Tuesday evening by the retiring Royal Matron, Dr. Emma Dunham of Norwich.

The dinner which was a credit to the management of the Wauregan house, was served in the grill room which was artistically decorated with flowers, autumn leaves, palms and ferns furnished by Hawkins the florist. The menu was as follows:

Fancy Fruit Cocktail
Celery Olives
Cream of Chicken
Stuffed Jumbo Squab
Sweet Potatoes Glace
Garen Peas
Chocolate and Vanilla Ice Cream
Cake
Demi Tasse

The music, which was furnished by the Earle Sparks orchestra was greatly enjoyed by the company. The favors and interesting features of amusement showed much originality and kept the company in good humor from start to finish and the frequent roars of laughter were evidence that some of the jokes hit home. The fact the the date was the birthday anniversary of the hostess became known, making the occasion of added interest. During the dinner, Edward Streeter presented Dr. Dunham a beautiful electric table lamp, a gift from the officers of the court.

The praise and expressions of appreciation made by those present showed the high esteem in which Dr. Dunham is held and her work in the order has been thorough, painstaking and productive of much good. The evening was one that will long be remembered by those present and all voted their retiring royal matron an interesting and successful hostess.

Those present were as follows: Royal Patron, Sir Knight Edward L. Streeter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Streeter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lounsbury, Mr. and Mrs. George West, Mrs. Marion Wagner, Mrs. Clara White, Mrs. Jennie Smith, Mrs. Maud Payton, Mrs. Carrie Vickery, Mrs. Carolyn Myers, Mrs. Mae Byer, Mrs. Geo. Rowland, Mrs. Jennie Payne, all of New London. Mrs. Emily Small, Mrs. Winnifred Chase, Mrs. Viola Chapman of Groton, Jess. B. Stinson of Mystic, Mrs. Daisy Chapman of Montville, Mrs. Clara Wheeler and Mrs. Gene Evans of Norwich, and Mrs. Ollie Watkins of Hempstead, L. I.

FAITH TRUMBULL CHAPTER HELD NOVEMBER MEETING

The meeting of Faith Trumbull chapter, D. A. R., was held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the parlors of the United Congregational church, a large number of members being present. Regent Mrs. George A. Ashbey presided over the meeting, which was opened with the repeating of the salute to the flag, changed to read: "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America," the new version adopted by all patriotic societies.

During the business session Mrs. A. S. Comstock, treasurer, gave an estimate of the funds the chapter expects to raise this year, a part of which, $98.40, is for the Connecticut bell for the cathedral at Valley Forge. This bell is to be one of thirteen chimes to be placed in the cathedral, each chime representing one of the thirteen original states. The bells are being given by some patriotic order in each of the states, the Connecticut bell by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Faith Trumbull chapter also hopes to give scholarships to the Americanization college at Springfield, to Maryville college, the Southern Industrial Institute and the Berry schools in Georgia.

During the meeting the sum of $5 was voted toward the memorial pew and Connecticut state flag which this state hopes to place in the Church of the Trinity, Paris, as a memorial to Americans buried in France. Request was made by the patriotic education committee for contributions for the box which is to be sent to Ellis Island.

Mrs. William Tyler Browne, chairman of the museum committee, reported that a new bookcase had been purchased for the museum and Mrs. Elisha E. Rogers, chairman of the genealogical research committee, told of records being prepared to be sent to the library in Continental hall, Washington. Various other chairmen reported and it was noted that members would participate in the Armistice day parade and that a flag had been purchased for the chapter.

Following the business session, Prof. Henry A. Tirrell gave a most interesting address on The Constitution of the United States. For entertainment Mrs. Charles Tyler Bard favored with a number of solos, If I But Knew, Wilson G. Smith; The Little Dutch Garden, C. Mawson Marks; Life's Lullaby, Girard Lane, and My Dear Jerushy, Jessie L. Gaynor. Miss Annie E. Vaughn was the accompanist.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostesses for the afternoon: Chairman, Mrs. George A. Keppler; Mrs. Clarence D. Boynton, Mrs. Helen B. Zabriskie, Mrs. Walter A. Bussey, Mrs. Herbert R. Kind, Mrs. James J. Donohue, Mrs. Orrin S. Leffingwell and Mrs. Edward A. Cudworth. Pouring at the tea table were Mrs. George A. Keppler and Mrs. Robert W. Otis.

HUMANE SOCIETY FEELS LOSS OF JUDGE PRENTICE

H. Olay Preston of Hartford, general manager of the Connecticut Humane society, in a letter under date of November 3rd, writes to a local resident, commending the life of Hon. Samuel O. Prentice, late president of the society who died Sunday last, in Hartford. Mr. Preston said: "He was a wonderful president for this society and his passing will be a big loss to the organization. It was a pleasure to work with him and my personal loss is very great.

"In September, 1870, Samuel C. Prentice, a young lawyer of twenty-five, four months after he was admitted to the bar, went to Hartford practically a stranger, from the eastern part of the state. At his death the same man was Former Chief Justice Prentice, LL. D. of Yale and Trinity, one of the most widely known and universally respected citizens of Connecticut.

"Judge Prentice was graduated from Yale in 1873. His rise to the foremost position in the state is due to the sterling qualities of the man. He was a thoroughly public-spirited citizen, as is evidenced by the fact that, at the time of his death, he was president of the Hartford Public Library, of the trustees of the Wilkinson Library of Reference, and of the Connecticut Humane Society. In the latter office he succeeded Dr. George C. F. Williams, who for about one year held the presidency, after the death of Rev. William De Loss Love. His wife, a choice and lovely woman, before her marriage, Annie C. Post, died recently after their almost twenty-five years of married life, and the judge never recovered from the shock. They had no children and their companionship centered in each other. The sympathy of many friends could not make up for the loneliness and grief which, undoubtedly, led to the judge's breakdown, although he was not a young man. He was born in August, 1850. Personally the Judge was a great favorite, and he leaves a multitude of friends."

WESLEYAN HAS SECOND OLDEST COLLEGE ALUMNUS

Cornelius Cole, of Los Angeles, Cal., the oldest living alumnus of Wesleyan University, is the second oldest college alumnus now living in the country, according to an announcement at Weslayen.

The oldest living alumnus, the statement declares, is John A. Stewart, a graduate of Columbia University in the class of 1840, who was born Aug. 21, 1822.

Mr. Cole, who was formerly a United States senator, was 100 years of age when he traveled across the country to attend the Wesleyan commencement exercises in 1922, this being the 75th anniversary of his graduation in 1847. He was born Sept. 17, 1822, 27 days after Mr. Stewart.

Rev. George O. Rice, University of Vermont, '45, born in September, 1819, and the Rev. John Hunt, Brown University, '42, born in October, 1822, who were still living when Mr. Cole made his trip to Wesleyan in 1922, have recently died.

Former Senator Cole recently celebrated his 102nd birthday at his home in California, where he has resided since his youth. He served three terms in the senate, having been a member of that body during the Civil war days. He heard Lincoln deliver his Gettysburg speech and recalls having talked with Lincoln on the morning before his assassination.

Stop That Backache!

Is a bad back keeping you upset and miserable? Do you suffer sharp, stabbing pains? Feel so weak, tired and nervous you can seldom enjoy a moment's rest or comfort? Do you wonder what is wrong?

Many times this condition is due to sluggish kidneys that are failing to properly filter body poisons from the blood. The whole system feels the injurious effects of these impurities. Then comes constant backache, rheumatic twinges, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities.

Don't wait! Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Norwich Proof!

E. S. BENNETT, Carpenter, 465 E. Main St., says: "My back ached a great deal. Stooping and lifting seemed to aggravate the pains. I saw Doan's Pills advertised and got a supply. One box quickly relieved the trouble."

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER, Mr. Bennett said: "Although I haven't had to use Doan's Pills for a number of years I still know they are reliable."

STATE CONVENTION REPORT MADE TO NORWICH W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. held its November meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Salvation Army hall. The president, Miss H. G. Cross, presided and after a short business session, final plans were made for the Armistic day parade.

Mrs. Fields gave a brief report of the state convention recently held at Bristol. The usual number of delegates attended and many cheering remarks were made by visiting clergymen of the city and surrounding towns.

Mrs. Mary B. Wilson took as the keynote of her annual address, "Keep for us what we have gained" and gave a very impressive address, as she urged each and every one to keep up the fight, and be true to our Lord, neighbors and country. Joseph Palmer, director of Y M. C. A. at Hartford, gave a forceful talk on Youth, the Hope of the World. Dr. Mary B. Harris, state superintendent, Home for Girls, Trenton, N. J., gave a masterly talk along purity lines taking for her topic, Whose Image and Subscription Hath It? Mrs. Rachel Don, president New Zealand W. C. T. U., made a very favorable impression upon her audience as she related the influence which the late Frances E. Willard and several other crusaders made upon her native land, and they became a "dry country" even ahead of the U. S. A., and the women gained their franchises before we did also, and all because our white ribboners taught them how to go about it. She was a charming speaker and dearly admired by all who heard her.

Miss Christine Finling—as she is called—Our Own Christine—as she is one of the world's W. C. T. U. scientific temperance instructors, inspired her audience telling about her visits to the Orient, visiting the graded high schools and colleges and showed some of the posters which the students made for her. She told of the terrible havoc nicotine and dope is raising with the natives and urged all true Christian people to work and pray that all who bear the name of Christian should live clean lives inside as well as out.

The superintendent of the Bristol schools, Mr. Bridgeton, made a favorable impression with his strong talk in favor of prohibition from the standpoint of his position. He complimented the W. C. T. U. in their courageous warfare, for truth and purity in everything that leads to uplift mankind. He pointed out seven reasons why he believed in prohibition.

First, there are more children attending the schools, who would not be able to remain as many years at study.

Second, it is an economic stand; they are receiving keener attention at home, and so will develop stronger wills.

Third, better attendance, is the big keynote and so better scholarships, as there is not anything that lowers the standing of a pupils more than irregular attendance.

Fourth, we are having better dressed, and earlier warm clothing in the fall, as they are more thoughtful of their children's comforts.

Fifth, better nourished children, and he went on to describe what a great blessing has been gained through that.

Sixth, a better understanding of the effects of alcohol. Pure and simple a very definite poison. Seventh, a deeper knowledge of the Constitution. "I think they are realising a blessing every day."

Mrs. Henry Knox Smith, president Connecticut League of Women Voters gave a very instructive talk on the importance of every one doing their duty at the polls.

Miss Starr of Uncasville was present and told of the demonstration of the S. S. department, which very impressively illustrated the importance of temperance being taught in the Sunday school.

PENDLETON CLINGS TO LEAD IN PINOCHLE

C. V. Pendleton maintained his lead in the West Side Pinochle club tournament standing Wednesday evening and C. S. Peckham is still in second place. A. Jordan, who held third place last week dropped back to fourth. High score Wednesday evening was made by C. S. Peckham, 8,455. The scores made Wednesday evening were as follows:

C. S. Peckham, 8,455; Dr. J. Boynton, 8,155; Dr. N. B. Lewis, 8,120; C. V. Pendleton, 7,540; Con. Schuler, 7,335; A. J. Bailey, 6,985; A. Jordan, 6,985; J. A. Parker, 6,946; H. H. Pettis, 6,800; J. Jordan, 6,755; E. Peckham, 6,205; E. C. Underwood, 5,960.

The standing to date:

C. V. Pendleton, 46,035; C. S. Peckham, 45,585; Con. Schuler, 44,110; A. Jordan, 42,985; A. J. Bailey, 43,490; J. A. Parker, 43,045; Dr. J. Boynton, 42,300; Dr. N. B. Lewis, 42,245; H. H. Pettis, 42,030; J. Jordan, 41,405; E. Peckham, 41,125; E. C. Underwood, 39,540.

FOUND SITTING ASLEEP IN HIS AUTOMOBILE

Following a report to the police on Wednesday evening that an automobile had been driven up onto a lawn on Williams street and that the operator was too much intoxicated to be handling the machine, the police arrested John Driscoll of 53 Lafayette street, where he was found sitting asleep in his car in the yard of his home.

The arrest was made by Officers M. Pounch and F. Murphy. It was learned that a friend had driven him around to his home before the police could reach the Williams street location where the car, which had registration N-2587, had been on the lawn.

REPUBLICANS WILL CONTROL HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Have Captured 246 Seats, 21 Over Present Strength and 28 Above a Majority—Republican Leaders Regard the Margin as Sufficient to Overcome Any Coalition Between Lafollette Insurgents and the Democrats—Status of the Senate Still Depends on the Outcome of Contests in Several States—Coolidge Now Certain of 374 Electoral Votes.

Washington, Nov. 6.—(By The A. P.)—On the same tide which swept President Coolidge back into office, the republicans have come into actual as well as nominal control of the next house of representatives. Whether they also will have the whip hand in the senate still depends on the outcome of contests in several states.

With a single house district in doubt the republicans have captured 246 seats in that body, on the face of unofficial returns. This is an increase of 21 over their present strength and 28 above a majority.

Leaders of the party regard this margin as sufficient to leave them in control, particularly as to organization, even in the face of any coalition between LaFollette insurgents and the democrats such as tied the organization of the present house for many days, and successfully challenged a number of administration proposals.

With belated returns showing the re-election of Francis E. Warren in Wyoming, the republicans in the senate had increased their majority from the lure 49 to 52. Inluded in this number, however, were Senator LaFollette and at least three others of his supporters.

In the face of this situation it was conceded that in order to have a workable majority it would be necessary for the republicans to win in at least one of the two contests in Minnesota and New Mexico and fill the vacancy in Connecticut at the special election next month, called after the death of Senator Brandegee.

In one of the two states where the contest result, still in doubt, would have an effect on the ability of the administration forces to recapture control of the senate, the republican candidate—Representative Thomas D. Schall—is in the lead over Magnus Johnson, one of the two farmer-labor senators from Minnesota.

In the other state, New Mexico, the republican nominee, Senator Bursum, in trailing his democratic opponent, is making gains as the last half of the vote in the state is being reported.

While it has no bearing on the question of the control of the senate, the contest which is the focus of general interest over the country is that in Iowa, where Smith W. Brookhart, after conceding his defeat at the hands of Daniel F. Steck, democrat, has been re-elected on the basis of the present count of the unofficial returns.

Because of his repudiation of the national republican ticket, Mr. Brookhart drew sharp and uncompromising opposition from the organization leaders in his state and his opponent had been credited with receiving substantial support from that quarter.

The republicans were able to increase their lead in the senate by capturing four seats now held by democrats—one each from Colorado, Kentucky, Massachusetts and Oklahoma, giving these states solid republican representation. The only hope the democrats have of gaining ground over their indicated membership of 39 in the next senate lies in their ability to win out in Iowa and New Mexico.

Leaving out of consideration the three states where the result is still in doubt, the republicans have elected eighteen senators and the democrats twelve.

In the house the democrats appeared tonight to be certain of having 183 seats, as against their 207 in the present house. They took only four seats now held by republicans—so they were losing twenty-seven.

The district in which the democrats gained were the Eighth Ohio, Fifth Maryland, Second Kansas and Eighth Missouri. They lost to the republicans in the First New Hampshire, the Twelfth, Fourteenth, Seventeenth, Nineteenth, Twenty-Second and Thirtieth Pennsylvania, the Ninth Ohio, the Third, Fourth, Eighth and Ninth New Jersey; the First and Eleventh Indiana, the Fifth Connecticut, the First Michigan, the Sixth and Twenty-First Illinois, the Third Oregon, the Second, Fourth and Fifth West Virginia, the Fifth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth Missouri, and the members at large from Delaware and Nevada.

Thus none of the gains are from the LaFollette bloc which returned its full strength. One of these insurgents—La Guardia of New York city—was re-elected on the socialist ticket and with Victor Berger, of Milwaukee, will constitute the house membership of that party. In three Minnesota districts farmer-labor candidates were successful, one of them capturing a seat now held by a republican.

With the removal of Frederick H. Gillett from the house through his election as a senator from Massachusetts, in place of David I. Walsh, democrat, the republicans of the next house will face what now promises to be a sharp fight over the speakership. Martin B. Madden, of Illinois, chairman of the appropriations committee, already has announced his candidacy for that office, and friends of Nicholas Longsworth, of Ohio, the present republican floor leader, have stated publicly that they will seek his election.

POLITICAL COMPLEXION OF NEW HOUSE BY STATES

Washington, Nov. 6.—With one district—that of the member-at-large from New Mexico—still in doubt, the political complexion of the new house by states, on the face of unofficial but practically complete returns, is as follows:

NORTH DAKOTA LOYAL TO "HONEST JOHN" BURKE

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 6 (By the A. P.)—"Honest John" Burke, three times governor of North Dakota, United States treasurer during the Wilson administration, and a principal in the famous bankruptcy case of Kardos and Burke in 1922, when he was rendered virtually penniless, came back today.

Always a heavy favorite with North Dakotans, who, although he is a member of the democratic party while the state is so overwhelmingly republican, elected him three times as governor, "Honest John," as his friends have dubbed him, made a sweeping victory Tuesday in the race for membership on the North Dakota supreme court bench.

Since his return from his unprofitable venture on Wall Street, Burke has practiced law in Fargo.

"Honest John's" experiences since the day he left North Dakota for Washington to accept the call of President Wilson to treasurer on April 1, 1913, are colorful. After his retirement from office he decided to return to North Dakota. Lucrative offers from financiers of New York and elsewhere, however, caused him finally to associate himself with Louis Kardos and Burke. The firm, caught in a swirl of brokerage failures, however, went to "the wall" on February 1, 1922.

It was here that "Honest John's" friends claimed he lived up to his sobriquet. Every cent of his personal fortune was turned over willingly by Burke to his firm's creditors, even a paid-up life insurance policy. Therefore at the age of 63 he faced life admittedly penniless and with the laconic statement of "I'll begin over."

The voters of North Dakota aided him considerably in that "new start" the returns showed today.

$6,000,000 SUIT IN CONNECTION WITH MARKETING SOFT COLLAR

Boston, Nov. 6.—The superior court today allowed John B. Bolton, of Philadelphia, to increase from $300,000 to $600,000,000 the amount of damages that he seeks from John M. Van Heusen, of this city in connection with the marketing of a soft collar. It is Bolton's contention that he was the inventor of the collar idea, and that Van Heusen obtained it from him under agreement to pay him thirty per cent. of the profits.

His petition said he was prepared to show that Van Heusen had made more than $15,000,000 to date.

BRICK BUILDING WAS WRECKED BY EXPLOSION

New York, Nov. 6.—A two-story brick building occupied by the U-Glu company at Long Island City was wrecked and 25 persons injured today when a mixing tank in the plant exploded. The fact that many employes of the company were at lunch at the time of the explosion held down the injured list.

COOLIDGE NOW CERTAIN OF 374 ELECTORAL VOTES

Washington, Nov. 6.—The Coolidge tide, gathering increased momentum, has found effective resistance only in the "solid south." Wisconsin and possibly North Dakota.

Its crest has swept a safe republican majority into the house and is moving with a force which may accomplish a like result in the senate.

Democracy's only hope of adding to the electoral vote it received from the "solid south" began to vanish today when the Coolidge-Dawes ticket rolled ahead in New Mexico, where first returns had shown a lead for John W. Davis.

At the same time it showed a resistance in North Dakota that seemed likely to stem the threatened inroads of the La Follette forces.

With Wyoming apparently definitely thrown into the Coolidge column on the basis of latest returns, the president's total electoral vote certainly will be 374; and it may reach 382. This would depend upon his ability to hold his present advantage in New Mexico and North Dakota.

The Davis total stood at 136 and the La Follette vote in the electoral college at 19.

BROOKHART LEADS STECK IN UNOFFICIAL COUNT

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 6 (By the A. P.)—Senator Smith W. Brookhart will return to Washington as Iowa's junior senator unless the official canvass of senatorial votes cast in Tuesday's election or recount, upsets the result indicated by the unofficial reports. The official canvass, by county election boards, is to begin next Monday.

Tonight, with the unofficial count thoroughly re-checked, Senator Brookhart led Daniel F. Steck, democrat, by 1,116—the smallest margin by which any republican candidate for major office has won in Iowa in many years. The total vote, as compiled by The Associated Press, was: Brookhart, 447,523; Steck, 446,407.

Whether Steck will seek a recount by the senate elections committee was problematical tonight. He had given little consideration to such a move, he announced.

The sudden wiping out of Steck's lead of 4,000 when straggling rural and city precincts reported early today and the slow, steady gain of Brookhart as the re-checking by county auditors progressed, held the undivided attention of both republican and democratic party leaders throughout the day.

The Brookhart majority reached a bare 40 votes at 9 o'clock this morning and mounted to approximately 1,000 at noon and never thereafter decreased materially.

Charter Granted For New Bank in Putnam

Wordy Battle in State Capitol Between Opponents and Proponents of New Trust Company.

Hartford, Nov. 6.—The incorporators of the Cargill Trust company of Putnam were granted a charter to do a commercial banking business by the state banking commission today following a hearing on the application at the capitol, when unexpected and determined opposition to the new bank was presented by incorporators of the proposed Citizens' National bank of Putnam and certain trustees of the Putnam Savings bank.

The arguments for the Cargill Trust company and the voiced opposition were a succession of wordy battles between the two factions on the questions of whether the city could support three banks, whether outside capital should be used for the new banks, and which of the two new banks could first open for business. On the last by Commissioner Byrne, the other intense that Commissioner John B. Byrne smilingly remarked that "it appears this is a race to see which bank will be established first."

It was announced that John F. Feardone, one of the incorporators of the Cargill Trust, had signed a petition, as a trustee of the Putnam Savings bank, asking that the commission refuse a charter for the new bank. Immediately after came the announcement that Mr. Reardon's resignation as vice president of the Putnam Savings bank had been received, but that no action had been taken upon it by the directors.

Pressure of other business was given as the reason for resigning. Byron D. Bugbee, an incorporator of the Cargill Trust, said that Mr. Reardon's opposition to the bank came as a surprise to the other incorporators, but that Mr. Reardon had signified his intention of subscribing to a part of the stock of the bank although he did not desire to serve in an official capacity.

The hearing was held in the old senate chamber and was presided over by Commissioner Byrne, the other members of the commission, State Treasurer Anson L. McCook and State Comptroller Frederick M. Salmon, being present. All but two of the fourteen incorporators of the new bank were present as were also several trustees of the Putnam Savings bank and incorporators of the proposed Citizens' National bank.

The testimony was filled with continual references to the bankrupt condition of Putnam and both factions were unanimous in agreeing that necessity demanded immediate banking facilities for the city.

John F. Carpenter, speaking for the incorporators of the Cargill Trust, said that it was necessary to tell of the present financial condition of Putnam or of the need of a bank. He pictured the town as in the same condition as Hartford would be in if all the banks in this city should close their doors at the same time.

The new bank he said would have a $100,000 capital with a surplus of $50,000. Naming the incorporators he presented them as representatives of the best business ability in Putnam, Windham county or the state. He spoke of the territory the bank would serve as a fertile banking field, describing the conditions in adjacent towns and villages. He gave as his opinion that should the Citizens National bank also be granted a charter, the territory could support two commercial banks and one savings.

George E. Dresser said that the town had been abominably used in the matter of federal examination for its national bank. That for seven years the directors were told that the bank was in good condition, and then the "bombshell" was sprung that "we were $700,000 short." "I believe," he continued, "that such conditions would not occur under the state banking commission."

The commission asked how soon the bank could be in operation after the granting of a charter, the reply being that the bank could open for business in a week.

A communication from eleven of the fourteen trustees of the Putnam Savings bank that the application for a charter be refused was then introduced. Ernest B. Kent, president of the bank, appeared for the signers. The opposition, he said, was based on the fact that the signers believed the Citizens' National bank was practically former, that there was no room for three banks in the town, especially under present conditions. He was asked why the trustees protested against the state bank and not against the national. He said it was because the other bank was already started.

It was then pointed out that the other bank had been in the process of formation for more than two months but still had not begun business. Mr. Kent was asked by Mr. Bugbee whether the opposition to the Cargill Trust was based on concrete evidence that another bank was ready to start business. Mr. Kent said he was not sure.

State Treasurer McCook then called for written testimony to substantiate an impression given by the opposition that the charter for the national bank would be received in Putnam within 24 hours, or as soon as the papers could be received from the comptroller of currency in Washington. The opposition said there was no written evidence to offer, but that it was believed to be so.

Albert J. Gifford, president of the Putnam company, appearing against the Cargill Trust company, raised the question of whether the stock of any new bank should not remain in Windham county. Discussion on this subject brought forth cries of "absurd" and "ridiculous." Mr. Gifford was asked if he knew for a certainty that the stock of the proposed national bank was all subscribed in Windham county. He said that he did not.

Comptroller Salmon asked if Mr. Gifford was not from Worcester, Mass., and receiving an affirmative reply asked what the interest of the speaker was in whether the capital came from "Putnam or Timbuctoo." Mr. Gifford said he was interested as a heavy loser in the closing of the First National Bank.

Court Upholds Power Of U. S. Labor Board

Denies Petition of President of Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—(By The A. P.)—Federal Judge Wilkerson today upheld the power of the United States labor board to compel testimony before it.

The court denied motions to quash the board's petition as to D. B. Robertson of Cleveland, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, based on his Cleveland residence, and denied a motion to dismiss as to J. McGuire of Chicago, a general chairman of engineers.

Judge Wilkerson ordered that Robertson and McGuire appear before the board and give such testimony as it should require in a pending question of wage increases and offsetting rules on all class one railways.

Counsel for the respondents indicated the case would be appealed.

Judge Wilkerson denied that the provision in the transportation act for enforcement of subpoenaes of the board was unconstitutional because proceedings of the board were not concerned with contentions between litigants for the enforcement of rights and the redress and punishment of wrongs.

Although Cleveland is outside the specified jurisdiction of the United States court for this district, Judge Wilkerson said:

"Congress has the power to vest a district court with limits as broad as the United States. It has made numerous exceptions to the jurisdictional limitations of the district court under Section 51 of the federal code."

He added that the transportation act had stated that the board might "go before any district court" with complaints of recalcitrant witnesses.

Replying to the contention of the respondents that it would be unconstitutional for the court to issue the orders petitioned for, because of the proceedins of the board were advisory, and not legally enforceable, the judge said:

"The respondent fails to differentiate between the proceedings of the board and the court process. It does not follow that the proceedings in court are merely advisory."

He added that the proceedings of the board and of the interstate commerce commission were alike except that congress had empowered the commission to enforce its dicta. Congress had refrained from giving the labor board the same power, according to Judge Wilkerson, rather than compel men to work against their will." It had, however, he asserted, given both bodies broad powers of investigation, and the courts had upheld the exercise of those powers through requiring testimony, in the case of the commission.

WOULD HAVE IMMIGRANTS REGISTER UPON ARRIVAL

Philadelphia, Nov. 6.—Registration of all immigrants immediately upon arrival in this country under the U. S. bureau of naturalization was advocated today by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis in an address before the local Chamber of Commerce Americanization committee.

Pointing out that of 14,000,000 persons of alien birth now in the country 8,000,000 are not citizens, the secretary suggested that enrollment for a preparatory courses in citizenship could be defrayed by the immigrants themselves paying a ten dollar fee to cover instruction in the English language and American history. The secretary urged passage of a law by congress making compulsary the enrollment of every foreign-born person in the country.

FOREIGN COMMENT ON THE REPUBLICAN VICTORY

Lisbon, Nov. 6.—(By The A. P.)—The election to the American presidency of Calvin Coolidge represents a victory of pure American traditions, the Diario De Noticias declares today. The newspaper describes Mr. Coolidge as a man of few words and firm convictions, having the Monroe Doctrine as a political gospe..

The conservative newspapers generally express the opinion that the elections in the two great Anglo-Saxon nations will influence the world to choose the right form of government.

MILLERAND FORMING NEW PARTY IN FRANCE

Paris, Nov. 6 (By the A. P.)—Alexandre Millerand, former president of France, today formally re-entered politics by launching as chairman of the executive committee a new party —the national republican league, a manifesto in which he vigorously attacked the policy of the present government and of the radical socialist coalition.

The manifesto declares that the government is for peace only abroad and seeks to revive division and conflicts at home. It points out as consequences of the coalition government the weakness of the franc, the decline in the value of French bonds and the increase in the cost of living. Finally it calls upon the people to rally to the new party.

The manifesto is interpreted as a preliminary step to the candidacy of M. Millerand for one of the vacant seats in the chamber, which must soon be filled by a special election.

CONVICT STABBED IN WESTERN PENITENTIARY

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 6.—Fred Durham, a convict af the western penitentiary, was fatally stabbed during an altercation with Arleta Brooks, another convict, in the prison yard today. Durham died while being removed to the prison hospital. Brooks gave himself up to prison guards and was turned over to the Pittsburgh homicide squad. Both men are negroes.

CROW INDIANS GAVE COOLIDGE A MAJORITY

Harding, Mont., Nov. 6.—President Coolidge received a large majority over LaFollette and Davis in the first ballot cast by the Crown Indians, according to returns today from the Crow reservation agency. The count gave: Coolidge 143; Davis 32; LaFollette 26. The Indians were given the right of franchise during the latter part of the Harding administration.

SENATOR LODGE REMAINS IN A CRITICAL CONDITION

Physicians Regard the Outlook For His Recovery as "Most Unfavorable"—Remains Unconscious, With Little Change of Condition—Little Hope is Held Out For His Recovery.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 6.—Little hope was held out tonight for the recovery of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge by physicians who have been in attendance at his bedside since he suffered a stroke at the Charles Gate hospital here yesterday. In a bulletin issued early this evening the outlook for his recovery was pronounced "most unfavorable." The senator was still unconscious and his condition was said to be little changed.

The bulletin which was released about 6.30 tonight announced: "No decided change during the day. Outlook most unfavorable." The bulletin was signed by Dr. John H. Cunningham and Dr. Frederick H. Winslow.

Senator Lodge submitted to an emergency operation on July 27, recovering quickly. He again rallied rapidly when a second operation was performed, Oct. 20. That he would be able to attend the session of congress on December 1 had been considered assured. Dr. Cunningham said in reviewing his patient's case today. His progress had been so satisfactory that it had been expected the senator would be able to leave the hospital next week.

Just before midnight the attending physicians issued a bulletin stating that there had been "absolutely no change in Senator Lodge's condition." He was still unconscious, it was said, as he had been since noon yesterday.

LIST OF NEW BRITISH CABINET AWAITS APPROVAL OF KING

London, Nov. 6 (By the A. P.).—Stanley Baldwin, the new prime minister, has lost no time in drawing up the list of his new cabinet, which was submitted to and approved by the king tonight. The king will hold a privy council at Buckingham Palace tomorrow morning for the transfer of the seals of office from the old to the new ministers, who will take the oath and comply with other necessary formalities.

The members of the cabinet selected are:

Foreign Secretary—Austen Chamberlain.

Secretary for India—Earl of Birkenhead.

Admiralty — William Clive Bridgeman.

Health—Neville Chamberlain.

Lord Chancellor—Viscount Cave.

Colonies—Lieut. Col. L. C. M. S. Amery.

Attorney General—Sir Douglas M. Hogg.

Chancellor of the Exchequer—Winston Churchill.

Labor—Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland.

Education—Lord Eustace Percy.

Secretary for Scotland—Sir John Gilmour.

President of the Council and Leader of the House of Lords—Marquis Curzon.

Privy Seal—Marquis of Salesbury.

Home Secretary—Sir William Joynson-Kicks.

Agriculture — Edward Frederick Lindley Wood.

War—Sir Laming Worthington-Evans.

It is undestood that this list of ministers constitutes the cabinet, although it is officially announced that it is not necessarily complete.

MARINES AND SOLDIERS FIGHTING FOREST FIRES

Fort Montgomery, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Marines from the Iona Island arsenal and soldiers from West Point had succeeded tonight in bringing under control a forest fire which had burned over nearly 12 square miles of woodland on Dunderberg Mountain, south of this village. Patrols were standing guard tonight over a chain of forest fires extending 10 miles along the Hudson river valley, but all believed to be under control.

The 18 families which comprise the population of Doodletown near here, returned to their homes tonight, bringing back belongings which they had taken with them early today when the town was threatened by fire. For a time also the flames threatened the property on Fort Montgomery.

The fire has burned both sides of Dunderberg Mountain, approaching at one point the Bear Mountain Park property, and police aided the soldiers and marines in fighting the blaze.

During the day the park police found the body of a man on the mountain. It apparently had been there for some time and tonight had not been identified. It had not been harmed by the fire.

INDICTMENT WAS DRAWN IN "BARBAROUS ENGLISH"

New York, Nov. 6.—Federal Judge A. N. Hand threatened today to dismiss an indictment against nine former brokers and consolidated stock exchange officials, because it was drawn in "the most barbarous jargon of English" the judge ever had seen.

He reconsidered, however, and ordered the indicted men to trial on charges of conspiring to use the mails to defraud. Testimony concerning charges that the defendants also conspired to bucket orders would be barred because of the faulty indictment, Judge Hand announced.

Shortly before a dismissal of the whole indictment was sought by counsel for the defendants, and refused. De Witt C. Raynor, senior member of the curb exchange, house of Raynor, Nicholas and Truesdell, which failed for $4,000,000 in 1923, pleaded guilty to the charge of conspiracy.

Eight defendants remained to be tried on Monday. They include Raynor's partners, three members of the defunct firm of McQuade Brothers and Quilan, William S. Silkworth, a former president of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, and two minor officers of the bankrupt brokerage houses.

PITTSBURGH UNIVERSITY TO HAVE $10,000,000 STRUCTURE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 6.—Plans for the erection of a $10,000,000, 52-story building at the entrance to Schenley Park to house a major part of the activities of the University of Pittsburgh, were announced tonight by Chancellor John G. Bowman. The new structure, to be known as "The Cathedral of Learning," will accommodate 12,000 students.

The building will be gothic in style in white Kentucky limestone, and will stand upon a 14-acre tract of land facing the park. It will be 260 feet long, 260 feet wide, and 650 feet high. Construction work will begin next year.

CONFERENCE CONSIDERED POSTAL RATE SITUATION

Washington, Nov. 6.—President Coolidge was again at his desk for long hours today but a steady stream of callers offering their congratulations and an ever growing mass of congratulatory messages continually directed his attention to the election.

With the success of the national ticket assured interest at the White House centered in the outcome of the congressional contests and considerable satisfaction was expressed as returns indicated working majorities for the party in the house and possibly in the senate.

Mr. Coolidge was able however, to devote some attention to governmental business in the afternoon and at a conference or more than an hour with representatives of publishers associations and Postmaster General New considered the postal rate situation.

The publishers, including Cyrus H. K. Curtis of Philadelphia, Frederick W. Hume, secretary of the National Publishers' association, and A. C. Pearson, chairman of the American Publishers' conference, called to discuss the report, requested by congress on costs of the service as relating to transmission in the mails of publications. Mr. Coolidge called in Postmaster General New and J. M. Stewart, in charge of compiling the report. No results of the conference were announced.

Late in the day the president conferred for a short time with William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee. Mr. Butler has been mentioned among those whom the president might name to a cabinet post.

There were no indications that Mr. Coolidge had given any consideration to the cabinet question. He has conferred with practically every member since the election, each calling, however, merely to offer congratulations. No changes in the present membership are anticipated before March 4, although some have indicated privately they would like to retire to private life for personal reasons.

BUILDINGS ARE TO CLOISTER HARVARD COLLEGE YARD

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 6.—The Harvard college yard is to be cloistered by the erection of buildings that will shut off street noises and sounds, and four structures now projected and others that may be built will have sites that serve to surround the historic campus. Coincident with the making public of models of the contemplated new buildings today it was announced that the university committee on planning had voted approval of the principle of cloistering, under conditions that will avoid the appearance of monastic or exclusion.

The western side of the yard will first be filled in by buildings. Excavation is already under way for a new office building, to be known as the Courting House, on the site of Dane hall, at the southwest corner. Three new dormitories will be erected, one on each side of Holden chapel and the third on the west side of Matthews hall.

Massachusetts hall, close by, is now being reconstructed as a dormitory. It is the oldest building now standing in the college, and historically and architecturally is said to be one of the most important buildings in the country.

BOY LEAPED FIVE STORIES TO ESCAPE FROM POLICE

New York, Nov. 6.—A 16 year old boy leaped five stories from the roof of a tenement house today in a desperate effort to escape from police and a crowd of men who were chasing him on the suspicion that he had entered and robbed a rooming house.

Although both of the boy's legs were broken and he suffered internal injuries from the leap, he crawled into a nearby basement and remained undiscovered for some time. The boy, who said his name was William Keith, was in a semi-conscious condition when found, and was removed to a hospital. A pawkey is said to have been found in his pocket.

The mid-week session of police court Thursday morning carried an extra-heavy docket. John Healey, John Hern, Edward Gervais and John Gartlandi pleaded guilty to intoxication charges and were fined $15 and costs, each assessment amounting to $23.15. In a manifestation of leniency, the men were told that if they proved to the authorities during the court of the day they had work to go to, the fines would be remitted. Otherwise it would mean to pay up the amounts or take a trip to jail. The quintet had started a rough house at the Corporation House and when the landlord ordered them out they informed him that that intended to remain. Chief Allan McArthur and Captain Thomas F. Grady were called and they put the men in the lock-up.

John Kelley, of Jewett City, who came for the second time in succession to find a night's lodging at the police station, was arrested and was charged with vagrancy. Kelly emphatically denied that he was a "bum" saying that he had come from his home town, where he has a family, to find work in Mansfield Depot and this city, but had been unsuccessful. The police had received complaints that Kelley had no funds and was trying to force himself on the manager of the Corporation Boarding house. Kelley promised to return to Jewett City if released and he was given twenty-four hours to get away.

"Davy" Barrows is the best man in the world, when he is sober, according to his wife, who appeared against him on charges of intoxication and assault Thursday and who added to her statement that she could no longer stand for any abuse from him. Mrs. Barrows said that her husband began to drink Thursday of last week. Wednesday he came home intoxicated and when she reprimanded him for knocking her potted plants around the house, he pushed her with the flat of his hand. Barrows said that the last time he was arrested was 18 years ago. Judge Foss gave some sound advice to the man and imposed a fine of $10 and costs for intoxication, nolling the assault charge. The fine was then suspended on condition that Barrows stick to the straight and narrow path, the court placing him on probation for three months. The costs of $7.15 were paid.

The Forget-Me-Not-Day committee has named for the observance of the day, Saturday of this week, by Acting Mayor George W. Hickey, who retains chairmanship follows: Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, Rev. Frederick F. Foshay, Dr. W. P. S. Keating, Chas. W. Hill, James B. Fullerton, James P. Bath, Captain Joseph R. Morrison, Albert B. Smith, Thomas F. Shea, John R. Pickett, Herbert W. Huber, Mrs. John Reilly, Mrs. Robert H. Fenton, Mrs. D. E. Abel, Mrs. A. E. Greene, Mrs. Arthur J. Squires, Mrs. Allan MyArthur, Mrs. Mary Herrick, Mrs. Jeremiah McCarthy, Mrs. George W. Hickey, Mrs. Delphis Boucher, Mrs. Albert J. Fournier, Miss Irene Vanderman and Miss Claire Clanen.

A brass band, having a membership of forty, is undergoing organization by Garibaldi lodge, No. 247, Sons of Italy, a highly active body which has taken interest in practically all of the local events of moment, and in the carrying out of war work and civic observances. To further complete the work, a committee of three, Joseph Carosari, James W. Foti and Peter DeFilippno, has been appointed. J. G. Sartoria, of Canada, well known musician has been signed to a five year contract as bandmaster. He will soon arrive in Willimantic to take up his new duties. Willimantic will soon have four bands.

The Norwich district conference of the Methodist churches was held in this city Thursday with an attendance of one hundred and thirty accredited delegates, representing the 63 churches in the district. The district represents a membership constituency of 30,000 out of a population of 236,000 church people. Supt. Rev. W. H. Bath of Norwich, was in charge of a devotional service at the opening of the morning session at 10.15 o'clock. Rev. J. G. Sallis of Mystic spoke on "A Model Program for the Local Church", Rev. M. B. Genter of New London was heard on "Selecting and Training Leaders for the Local Church"; George E. Kaith of South Manchester spoke on "Putting Over the Local Budget—Plans that Have Succeeded;" Guy B. Dolbeare of Norwich, considered "Stewardship—The Principal and the Practice," and Superintendent Bath, "Norwich District—Survey and Opportunity."

At 12.15 luncheon was served by members of the Sorority under the chairmanship of Mrs. Eugene I. Randall.

Bishop W. F. Anderson of Boston was in charge of the session in the afternoon. The speakers were Rev. R. C. Hartley of Washington; Bishop Herbert Welch of Korea and Japan and Bishop Anderson. Supper was served at 5.30 o'clock, the conference coming to a close with addresses by Rev. Mr. Hartley and Bishop Welch. On the evening program was an address by Bishop Anderson, but he was called away during the day to attend the Puget Sound conference. The assemblage consisted of a delegated body of ministers and members of the official board of the churches in the district. The conference was held for the purpose of presenting the needs of the district, as well as the world service program.

Miss Gladys Powell of this city and William Hildebrand of Manchester were awarded the prize for a fox trot at the Al-Pierre Tabarin Wednesday evening, in the face of what was probably the strongest competition ever offered locally in a prize dance. The seven judges deliberated some time before reaching an agreement. Miss Powell's ability has been displayed before local audiences during the past year in fancy dancing with Forrest Richards, local amateur dancer. Mr. Hildebrand, known well here as "Johnny" copped all prizes at the dances at Lakeside Casino, Lake Wangumbaug, last summer and is recognized as the outstanding dancer in his home town. The Peerless orchestra provided the music.

Peter J. Garvey, aged about 40, died at his home, 36 Prospect street Thursday morning at ten o'clock after a brief illness with pneumonia. He was a widower and had resided in this city about five years. He was a member of the contracting firm of Garvey and Maine, painters. Surviving him are two children, Hildred and Katherine; a brother, John Garvey of East Hampton; and two sisters, Mrs. George Sanderson of South Hadley, Mass., and Mrs. Thomas Connors of this city.

From his home on Bricktop road the funeral of Peter Lisee, was held Thursday morning. Requiem high mass at St. Mary's church was sung by Rev. J. J. Papillon at 9 o'clock. The St. Cecelia choir sang. Mrs. J. F. Gaudreau was at the organ. The attendance of relatives and friends was large and there were beautiful floral pieces. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, where Rev. Father Papillon read the committal service. The bearers were Delphis Boucher, Eugene Cote, Michael Chalifoux, Joseph Verteuille, Edward Trieau and Louis Gimble. Funeral arrangements were by the Hurteau-Bosse Corp.

The funeral of Mrs. Lillia Hewlett Pratt was held at 62 North street Thursday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Frederick F. Foshay officiated. Burial was in Mount Hope cemetery. Rev. B. C. Bugbee conducted a committal service at the grave. Avery & Van Zandt were in charge.

At his late home in Coventry, funeral services for Frederick C. Moore were held at two o'clock Thursday afternoon. Rev. Edwin M. Pickop of South Coventry Methodist church officiated. Burial was in Nathan Hale cemetery. The bearers were Olaf Fredickson, George Barber, Harry Wood and Lyman Lester. Avery and Van Zand were in charge.

Willimantic friends of Arthur Spicer, an executive of the Gardiner Hall mills in South Willington who is soon to be transferred to the Boston sales office of the firm, attended a farewell party in his honor at the Crystal Lake house, Stafford Springs, Thursday evening. They were, Louis J. Flynn, Joseph M. Berard, George Bartlett, Frances Keon, Valentine L. Murphy, Dr. M. D. Riordan, Dr. C. E. Simonds, Rufus Worden, Don Curtis, Roy W. Downer, and Mr. Bottomley.

Francis S. Long, Woman's Relief Corps held its meeting Wednesday evening with Mrs. Iola Bjurstrom of Norwich, department inspector, as guest.

Chief of Police Allan McArthur and First Selectman Russell A. Andrews, in answer to a complaint went to Phelps Crossing Wednesday afternoon and ordered a small band of gypsies to move on in their Ford truck.

DEMOCRATS CHOOSE EIGHT SENATORIAL DELEGATES

(Special to The Bulletin)

Willimantic, Nov. 6.—The democratic caucus to elect delegates to the democratic state convention to nominate a candidate for United States senator to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Brandegee was held in the town building Thursday evening with a light attendance, including six women. Frank P. Fenton, who opened the meeting at 8 o'clock, was chosen chairman and P. J. Laramee clerk. At the outset Chairman Fenton announced that due to the fact that the vote in the last presidential election Tuesday was over 4,000, Windham was entitled to one additional delegate over previous years, making a total of eight delegates, who were chosen in the following order: Frank P. Fenton, Lyman Maine, Alfred Larivier, David P. Ahern, Russell A. Andrews, Patrick J. Twomey, J. Schley Donohue and James F. Twomey. A democratic victory in this election was predicted. Before the nominations, Town Clerk Fenton asked those whose names were presented not to accept unless they felt capable of attending in person, not by proxy. At his suggestion the delegation was empowered to fill all vacancies. Adjournment was taken at 8.30 o'clock.

STENOGRAPHER ABSENT, JUDGE MALTBIE TAKES NOTES

(Special to The Bulletin)

Willimantic, Nov. 6.—At the sitting of the Windham county superior court this city Thursday, Judge William M. Maltbie added to his duties by accepting the role of court stenographer during an uncontested divorce case, heard in the absence of the assigned court stenographer. Miss Marjorie Bradford, assistant clerk of the court, called attention to the fact that the stenographer was missing and Judge Maltbie assumed the duties, ordering the case to go on.

The suit of Charles Pegram of Brooklyn, vs Ellen Pegram for divorce was the case in question. The case had been put over from Wednesday, due to the suspension of sessions during the funeral of Judge S. O. Prentice. Listed as contested the Pegram divorce suit went on the uncontested list when it was announced that Attorney S. B. Harvey for the defendant had withdrawn from the case. Pegram said that he had married in Danielson January 3, 1898. For nearly 35 years he lived in Brooklyn, but for a brief time he resided in Providence, R. I., where his wife deserted him 13 years ago. He had not seen her since, and he knew of no reason for her leaving. He was again a resident of Brooklyn. The decree was granted.

After a short recess, during which it was learned that the court stenographer or a substitute was not on hand, due to a misunderstanding, court was resumed. In the second case the necessity of a stenographer was waived by the attorneys and Judge Maltbie took his own notes. The case was that of the firm of Doyle & Murphy of this city, contractor, vs John Konarski of South Coventry. It was alleged in the suit that an Essex coach, owned by the firm, was damaged by a Willys-Knight machine, owned and driven by the defendant, on the afternoon of May 5, 1924, on the South Coventry road. Valentine L. Murphy, driver of the Essex and Konarski differed widely in their versions of the accident. Riding with Mr. Murphy was his wife, his brother-in-law, Jack Lynch and Ralph Vondeck of South Coventry. Konarski was ahead and near Day's Crossing he stopped his car on the right hand side of the road. Mr. Murphy sounded the horn of his machine as a warning that he was about to pass, but as he came up alongside Konarski started up again and swung sharply into the road. The cars collided. The occupants of the machine corroborated Mr. Murphy's testimony. Konarski said that he was employed at the Rossie Velvet company in this city. In the car with him at the time of the accident was his wife, mother and another woman. Konarski said that he had not come to a stop and that Mr. Murphy's car went 144 feet after the crash. He said that he had put his hand out as a warning.

Civil Engineer John F. Collins of this city who took measurements at the request of Konarski stated that the Essex coach traveled 146 feet before coming to a stop. Mary Konarski and Frances Trutzinski, testified for the defense. At 1.30 o'clock the evidence had all be heard and upon agreement of the attorneys with the court briefs will be filed in a few days.

Court adjourned until this (Friday) morning at 10 o'clock for a short calender session and assignment of cases.

When you open a can of Snowdrift you see why Snowdrift was named Snowdrift. Its whiteness does not make Snowdrift pure, but its purity is one reason why Snowdrift is so white.

Snowdrift is made of oil as good as fine salad oil—refined by the Wesson Oil people to a degree of purity and goodness that we do not believe is attained by any other fat.

When this pure, clear oil is hardened and whipped—somewhat as you beat the white of an egg—it makes Snowdrift a creamy, fluffy white fat.

WESTERLY

The death of Col. Charles Henry Ledward of Westerly occurred Thursday morning at the Lawrence hospital in New London. Col. Ledward went to the hospital Wednesday morning for examination, having been there several years ago when he received treatment for liver trouble, which, reoccurring, had bothered him for some time. The first of the week he became too ill to perform his duties at the plant of the Smith Granite company, by whom he was employed for 50 years, the greater part of that time as a foreman.

He was the son of Joseph and Phoebe Stone Ledward and was born Dec. 6, 1861 in Sterling, Conn. Except for one year of his infancy, Col. Ledward's entire life was spent in Westerly. Hereceived his education in the public schools of this town and as a young man learned the granite cutter's trade under his father. In 1883 he entered the employ of the Smith Granite company and in 1888 was made a foreman where he continued up to the time of his death.

As a young man he enlisted in Company F, First Battalion Rhode Island militia and eventually attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel. During the Spanish war he was captain of Company F, First Rhode Island volunteers. After having been retired from the militia for several years, he joined the Rhode Island state guard during the World war and held, respectively commissions as lieutenant, captain, major and colonel.

In 1907 and 1908 Col. Ledward served as chairman of the republican town committee. He was a member of the Broad Street Christian church and the Colonial club, the Westerly Historical society and Robert Brucker camp, United Spanish War veterans.

He leaves his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Irving Colby of New London and three grandchildren, Barnard Chester and Norma Colby also of New London.

The funeral of John Lynch, whose sudden death from apoplexy occurred on Monday afternoon at the Peace Dale, R. I., mill where he was employed was held Wednesday morning at 8.30 o'clock from the home of Mrs. John Moran on Garden street. Requiem high mass was sung at 9 o'clock at St. Michael's church by Rev. J. J. Keane.

Burial was in St. Michael's new cemetery, where the committal service was read by Fr. Keone. The bearers were William Shea, Joseph Moran, Timothy Leary, Michael Cumisky, Patrick Sullivan and John Sullivan.

Mr. Lynch was born in Norwich, Conn., the son of John and Abbie Shea Lynch. With his parents he lived in Westerly for a number of years. He was a wool sorter by trade and worked in a number of mills in New England and New York state. He had worked in the Peace Dale mill over two years.

No near relatives survive him.

Patrolman Robert Kessell is able to be about after being confined to his home by illness.

Dr. Robert H. Farnham and Milo R. Clarke of Westerly were at the beach Wednesday gunning for ducks. Sportsmen are complaining of the absence and wildness of game birds.

George L. Stillman returned Wednesday night from a business trip to Boston.

Police officer Fred T. Mitchell has been confined to his home for several days during the past week by illness.

Thomas V. B. Clancy was a Providence business caller Thursday.

Miss Clair Keenan was confined to her home by illness the past week.

The flag in front of the state armory on Dixon street was flown at half mast on Thursday out of respect to Col. Charles H. Ledward, whose death occurred in a New London hospital early Thursday morning.

Officials private car No. 100 of the New Haven railroad was attached to the east-bound Shore Line express, stopping at the Westerly station at 12.15 Thursday afternoon.

The election night bonfire on the pavement at the corner of Railroad avenue and Canal street was so hot that several of the pavers were so cracked that Highway Engineer Leon will have them replaced.

The Odd Ladies held a dinner the first of the week which included a presentation to one of their members who is soon to leave Westerly.

Rev. F. S. Robbins attended the session of the Thames River Valley Ministers' association which meet Monday with Dr. H. M. Thompson's church at Stonington.

The C. E. society of the Baptist church is planning a surprise service for Sunday evening Nov. 9th. The programme will include an inspiring song service, orchestral music an address by a prominent minister of Hartford. The meeting will be in charge of the president, Miss Cynthia A. Crary.

Mrs. Eydia Foote entertained the Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church Wednesday afternoon. The large rooms of her home on Preston Plains were comfortably filled with the members of the society and their friends. Supper was served and the meeting enjoyed by all attending.

For the first time in its history of 110 years the Preston City Baptist church will have two of its members in the next state legislature, Otis A. Browning and Appleton Main.

By the will of the late Charles F. Buswell, the Preston Public library will receive $100.

BODY OF J. H. WETHERELL FOUND ON ROCK CLEFT

Newport, R. I., Nov. 5—The body of John H. Wetherell, retired brigadier-general of the Rhode Island state militia, was found today in a rock cleft known as "Purgatory" in a cliff on the shore near Middletown. Search had been started when Mr. Wetherell failed to return after going to vote yesterday.

The body was discovered by a sightseer, who notified the Newport police. Unable to reach the body at the bottom of the 60-foot chasm, the police summoned aid from the fire department.

A fireman clung to a ladder which was lowered by a rope to the bottom of the gorge and placed the body in a basket. A boulder at the edge of the water prevented approach to the body by boat.

Mr. Wetherell, who had been ill recently, told his family that he was going to vote on his way to his office. Instead of going to his office, the police said, he took a taxicab to St. George's school in Middletown and there discharged the driver.

Mr. Wetherell was born in Newport in 1856 and had spent his life here. He served as state assistant attorney-general and was active in the Rhode Island militia.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theater

William de Mille recently drove off victor in one of the keenest competitions ever staged by rival producers for a big Broadway success. While he was in New York some time ago, Mr. De Mille attached a performance of Spring cleaning at the Elitinge theater. And from that moment on the popular Paramount director had a new ambition—to produce this brilliant comedy for the screen.

The Pearl Set which opens Sunday at the Broadway theater, is a comedy of smart society life and the main theme is furnished by a fine man who resorts to a clever and astonishing method of saving his wife from undesirable friends and of exposing a notorious "great lover" who is paying her unusual attention.

How can a man keep his wife from making a fool of herself is the question that photoplay asks and answers.

Betty Compson, Adolphe Menjou, Raymond Griffith and Zasu Pitts are featured in the principal roles.

Strand Theater

Tom Mix fans who have not seen him in The Trouble Shooter had better plan on visiting the Strand theater either today or tomorrow. It is one of the best stories in which the western hero ever appeared and he has the support of an unusually fine cast.

Mix plays the title role as a lineman for a western power company which strings wire through the mountains. Thrills, romance, pathos and humor mingle freely in one of the most notable yarns of Mix's career before the camera.

Mike Donlin, former ball player, Dolores Rouse, Kathleen Key, and other well known performers, have important roles. John Conway directed The Trouble Shooter, one of the best things Mix has done.

William Duncan in The Fast Express, an Imperial comedy and the Pathe news make up the remainder of the bill.

Coming next week Rex Ingram's magnificent production The Arab with Ramon Novarro and Alice Terry.

Takes pills for years—finds first permanent relief in Kellogg's Bran

Have you found permanent relief from that terrible disease—constipation? The woman whose letter follows discovered—as thousands have discovered—that Kellogg's Bran succeeds when all else fails. This is because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be so effective. This is what she wrote:

"Gentlemen:

I am so wonderfully happy over my discovery, I feel I must tell the world about it. For years I have been ill continually from constipation, always resorting to pills or the like, never having any permanent relief until I heard of your Krumbled Bran.

Every morning I take two tablespoonfuls before my breakfast—and since the latter part of August I must admit have not experienced one sick spell which I have had for years. I have started my little girl of four years on your Bran, and already I have noticed a change in her. I thank you."

Name and address furnished on request. Write the Kellogg Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic cases of constipation. Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Money returned if not effective.

Notice the wonderful nut-like flavor. This flavor is delicious—so different from ordinary, unpalatable bran.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, made in Battle Creek, is served by America's leading hotels and clubs. Demand Kellogg's Bran. It will bring back your health. Start eating it today. Sold by all grocers.

What's New on the Records

It was our privilege recently to hear Ossip Gabrilowitsch as pianist with the Flonzaley Quartet playing Schumann's Quintette in E-Flat Major. This week the eminent conductor and pianist plays two piano solo records which reveal him as indeed a master of tone color. Moszkowski's In Autumn (En Automne) with its brilliant chromatics is certainly well named, particularly as we hear the full flare of its shades and hues pour from the fingers of this master. Schumann's melancholy little Novyslette in its companion, a quaint fragment of the true Autumnal mood.

Julia Culp contributes to the program two noble and simple melodies, sung in her deep contralto. Mendelssohn's melody to Heine's Aur Flugeln des Gesanges (On Wings of Song) is always a joy, and is happily paired with Liszt's Es muss ein Wunderbares sein. (It Must Be Wonderful.)

Two arias from Otello are offered by Rosa Ponselle this week—the famous Willow Song (Salce! Salce!) and Ave Maria. The dramatic and religious qualities of Verdi's conception of Shakespeare's great tragedy find simple expression through Ponselle's lovely and intelligent interpretation.

Mark Andrews reveals the pipe organ as an instrument of delicate, almost dream-like beauty in two new selections recorded by him this week. Schumann's tremulous Traumerei is a fair test of the organ's versatility, while the dainty rhythms of Lemare's Andantino are charmingly recorded.

The brilliance of the French nineteenth-century school finds display on two records by Victor Symphony orchestra. The overtures to Masanielle and If I Were King are played with due regard for their conception and feeling. It takes such records as these to preserve such music for general enjoyment.

A family group from the Tennessee mountains discourses music redolent of their highland plainness. We are glad to meet Fiddlin' Powers and his family of children who together manage the fiddle, banjo, ukelele, mandolin and guitar most excellently. It is a treat to hear some old-time dances played as they ought to be played by those who know. Ida Red and Old Joe Clark are supremely such. It is possible to dance on indefinitely to their droning harmonies.

Frank Crumit, in song, conducts us to the Domestic Relations Court this week, in No One Knows What It's All About. We defy the audience to decide. Oh! Didn't It rain! sounds like the wind-up the Vaudeli Hall's Fluvio classic.

Lewis James takes a more serious attitude on the subject of marriage. The Pal That I Loved Stole the Gal That I Loved suggests a situation hardly hilarious, while The Ten Commandments of Love enjoins goodness of life. Both songs strike popular chords, and have interesting orchestral settings.

If the Whitemans didn't make a fox-trot record, it would be news, and bad news at that. But they do—two brilliant comedy dances, Eliza and Doo Wacka Doo, in one of which Billy Murray assists ably. Copenhagen and Keep on Dancing by the Benson orchestra of Chicago are fox-trots that need no further urging for a hearing.

Palace Theater

They came, they saw and they were conquered, captivated and sent into hysterics. The time was last evening, the place was the Palace theater, and the reason for all this excitement was the opening of Harold Lloyd's latest feature Pathe-comedy, Hot Water. Mere words cannot express the extent of the outburst that greeted the spectacled comedian's latest triumph. The audience did a great deal more than laugh. They shrieked, roared, howled and yelled. Anyone not acquainted with the mirth-producing ability of Mr. Lloyd, would have thought that a free-for-all fight was taking place inside the theater.

One of the most hilarious sequences in the picture occurs when the proud husband takes them all out for a ride in his new car. They eventually manage to get home, but not until after the car has been wrecked and hubby has several summonses in his pocket. When all seems lost, Hubby takes things in his own hands and the film ends in a veritable cyclone of riotous laughter.

Broadway Theater

A most enjoyable evening of high class entertainment was enjoyed by a capacity audience at the Broadway theater yesterday.

Tuec and Jackson opened the B. F. Keith vaudeville program offering A Little Surprise. Songs and dances are featured.

There must be a scientific knack in putting over songs for Phil and Eddie Ross scored highly in their song delivery.

Upon All Sorts of Girls, a Paramount picture, adapted by Willis Goldbeck from the stories by Peg Morand and produced by Penrhyn Stanlaws, a newcomer in the ranks of directors, created a three days run last night at the Broadway theater.

A big all star cast portrays the principal roles, they including Adolphe Menjou, Viola Dana, Lois Wilson and Raymond Griffith. Maurice (Lefty) Flynn and Dale Fuller also have fine parts.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

This week end marks the rounding out of the first ten years of business of the Danielson Trust company. The institution opened its doors Nov. 9, 1914, as a promising institution and has developed and grown until it has surpassed even the most sanguine expectations of its founders.

The coming of the World war in the hectic months that preceded the opening of the bank operated, it later developed, to the advantage of the institution—through the greatly increased volume of the nation's business and big industrial development in Killingly and the surrounding territory.

The bank has thrived from the first. Today its resources are in excess of $1,500,000, a record in its field that is a measure of the manner in which it has prospered. Since its establishment as a commercial banking institution and trust company it has added a savings department into which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been poured by its depositors. In the first ten years of its history it has increased its capital stock to $100,000.

Officials of the bank are proud of the record of their institution and of its reliability. They cherish the memory of the services that it performed during the World war, when its organization entered zealously into the gigantic financing operations of the nation. They view with satisfaction the institution's record of aiding in the establishment of many small business enterprises here and hereabouts. They are happy in their knowledge of having the confidence of the public.

J. Arthur Atwood is president of the bank. Frederick A. Jacobs vice president. Clifford H. Starkweather treasurer and Harry E. Magoon assistant treasurer. The directorate is made up of J. Arthur Atwood, Dr. William W. Adams of Moosup, Sidney W. Bard, C. Irving Bullard, George H. Call, Herman M. Coulter, N. Lorne Greig, Frederick A. Jacobs, Frederick E. Bitgood, D. E. Jette, Angus Park, Frank T. Preston, Alfred L. Reed, C. H. Starkweather, Everett T. Tillinghast, F. W. Tillinghast, Central Village, and A. Putnam Woodward.

Deputy Judge Charles S. Francis presided at a session of the town court Thursday morning. One man went to jail for intoxication. A nolle was entered in another minor case that was to have been heard.

Charles Hall, for many years a resident here, has been a visitor in town. Mr. Hall is now resident in Providence and continues to follow the printer's trade, in which he has been engaged for many years.

The long drought, notwithstanding, the Crystal Water company still has an ample supply for Danielson's needs, though this fact is not an invitation to waste the supply. Thursday the Hygeia reservoir, from which the mains feed directly into Danielson, was full right to the spillway. The Chase reservoir, drawn on to keep the Hygeia full, was down considerable from the level it usually reaches at this time of year. If rain is not very long delayed, Danielson will continue to have its usual liberal supply of splendid water for all purposes. The company has placed no restrictions on its use.

PUTNAM

The machinery in the mill of the National Rea Spinning company has been started as an experiment, and there is more machinery on the docks in Boston, where it recently arrived from Germany, and it will be immediately transported to Putnam. The new plant will at first employ from 40 to 60 hands, but there is a great chance for development; a mill in a foreign country making the same thread employs 500. The thread manufactured from rhea has a natural lustre which looks like silk and is used in manufacturing shoe laces and other finished products.

Attorney Howard C. Bradford left Thursday night for Philadelphia on business. He was accompanied by Mrs. Bradford.

Michael Shotoian, formerly of Putnam, has been sentenced to life imprisonment by the Worcester county superior court for shooting and killing his mother-in-law, Mrs. Rose Sampson, July 9th. He also at the same time shot and injured his wife and then indicted a bullet wound in his head when he turned the pistol on himself.

Shotoian was well known in Putnam. He was for years a mill worker. When the war broke out he was among the first to go. He was gassed overseas and upon his return periodically had severe headache attacks and did not act normally at all times, in the opinion of his friends. He had only been married a short time when the outbreak of violence occurred. Shotoian was examined by alienists who pronounced him sane.

Joseph Plessis went to Worcester this (Friday) morning to enter St. Vincent's hospital. He will undergo an operation for a stomach trouble with which he has ben suffering for some time.

Mrs. George A. Young of Grove street is soon to leave for California by way of the Panama canal. Mrs. Young, whose husband died recently, plans to make her home permanently in the western state.

State President Louis A. Foote was an honor guest at the regular meeting of Putnam aerie of Eagles Thursday night. There was a large attendance out to greet the distinguished visitor, who during the evening made an interesting address.

The common council will hold its November meeting next Tuesday evening. Last Tuesday was the date of the regular monthly meeting, but it fell on election day and there was no possibility of getting a quorum. City Clerk Thomas P. Ryan was the only member of the city's executive body to go to the council chamber, and he had things all his own way. After lighting the lights and giving a glance at the clock on the wall, which had stopped between the last meeting and the present time, the clerk adjourned until next Tuesday without argument, discussion or objection.

If the fellow who persists in singing "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More" is in any wise responsible for the continued dry spell there are several classes of persons who would be responsible for a lynching if they could catch him. No class is more disgusted and disgruntled with the weatherman than local sportsmen. The open season on game birds is all too short, anyway, and now over a week has been carved out of the present season on account of the refusal of Jupiter Pluvius to do his duty to man and beast in this section of the country. The leaves are off and partridges are in the runs where the old hunters know they can be found. The season closes the 24th of this month. The weather prognosticator predicts rain for today (Friday), and 100 per cent. of the people hope he is right. Local mills are forced to use utility power as the river is so low, and the farmers are having a hard time getting enough water for domestic consumption and stock.

A. L. Brown, who conducts a farm on Woodstock avenue, and sells milk and cream in Putnam and Killingly, was summoned to appear before the town court of Killingly Thursday on a charge of advertising to sell milk from a federal tested herd of cattle when they had not been tested by the federal authorities. Through his counsel, Attorney Charles L. Torrey, of Putnam, Mr. Brown made it known to the officials that his herd had been tested by state authorities, so that in fact his milk and cream is from a tested, although not federal tested, herd. The tests, however, are similar. After learning the facts, the case against Mr. Brown was nolled.

A number of the incorporators of the proposed Cargill Trust company of this city went to Hartford to attend a hearing before the state bank commission at th capitol Thursday afternoon relative to the granting of a charter to the trust company. A number of the trustees of the Putnam Savings bank of Putnam also attended the hearing and went with the purpose of entering a formal protest against the charter being granted on the ground that the situation did not require another banking institution for savings in Putnam.

TOWN OF WOODSTOCK MAY HAVE NEW INDUSTRY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, Nov. 6.—The town of Woodstock may have a manufacturing industry within its borders. This was made known the first of the week, when Attorney Harry E. Back of Danielson addressed the Community club and others called together to hear what Attorney Back had to say. Mr. Back addressed the meeting as representative of a woolen manufacturer whose name was withheld, whose wish it is to benefit some rural community. The manufacturer proposes to erect, at his own expense, a suitable building for the weaving of woolen cloth, the factory to employ about 50 hands. The plant, if established, will be run by electricity and will be modern in every respect. The manufacturer is not seeking funds and asks no one to invest. All that is asked is the good will of the citizens. This good will was promised by those present. If the venture is carried into effect, it is proposed to begin operations in the spring. An option on two pieces of property in East Woodstock has been secured on behalf of the manufacturer.

Years ago the hum of machinery was heard in various parts of Woodstock. Most of the factories were engaged in the manufacture of twine. There is one twine mill in the town at present, but it is not regularly operated. At present, so far as known, there is no manufacturing business operating, the large area which the town covers being devoted wholly to agriculture.

PLAINFIELD

The shop committee of the Lawton Mills Co. gave a whist, social and dance Wednesday evening to the employes of the mill. Charles Headen was in charge of the program. About 500 gathered in the Community hall and enjoyed the evening. The following program was carried out: Community singing; piano solo, Miss Isabell Flynn; vocal solo, Mr. Devito; concertina selections, David Radcliffe; clog dance, Emile Bouley; community singing; piano solo, Curtis Phillips; vocal solo, Tressa Sullivan; violin solo, Dr. Markoff; community singing. Music was furnished by Krauss' orchestra and there was dancing until 11.

Richard Provost was a business caller in Providence Thursday.

Miss Irene Evans gave a party to friends of Plainfield High and N. F. A. Wednesday evening. After a lunch in her home, which was very prettily decorated, the party went down to the Community house, where a specially decorated room for the entertainment and dancing was reserved. During the evening the following program was carried out by members of the party: Highland fling, Byron Sweet; piano selections, George Turner; shadow boxing, Everett McCluggage; tumbling, Vincent Foy; vocal selections, Alfred Sussman; Egyptian dance, Abbie Murphy; uke solo, Irene Evans; tango, Winifred Scates and Perry Hollander; The Roll, Doris Bliven; Apache dance, Lena Obrien; buck and wing, Louis Covey; LaFollette, Charles Parkhurst; Passionate Sal, Frances Sweet. After the entertainment music was furnished by Rhoade's orchestra fro dancing. Many novelty favors were distributed by Miss Evans, including balloons, streamers, caps, etc.

The following attended: Misses Frances Sweet, Lena O'Brien, Abbie Murphy, Elizabeth Parkhurst, Harriet McCluggage, Doris Bliven, Loretta Alley, Winifred Scates, Helen Brophy; also Christian Marshall, William Marshall, Everett McCluggage, Charles Parkhurst, Byron Sweet, Louis Covey, George Turner, Churchill Scott, Vincent Foy, Alfred Sussman, Raymond Hiscocks, Edward Graham, John MacDougal, John Sayles and Jacob Hollander.

STONINGTON

The whole of the town of Stonington went republican. All the votes had been counted by 10 p. m. The vote cast by the women counted largely, republican 1,241 majority, was the largest in the local party's history. In the First district G. O. P. led by straight ballot surprising the local democratic leaders. Judge of Probate Frank E. Hinckley who ran on both tickets received a vote of 2,511. Chas. F. Champlin and Mason Manning were elected to serve second terms in the general assembly. Champlin led his democratic opponent, Joseph H. Hammond by 1,164 votes. Manning led Wilson by 1,172. Senator Frederick A. Beckwith wot a fine vote in town and won out in the 20th district. Votes in the borough district were as follows:

Names of men on list	625
Names of women on list	438
Total	1,063

The women polled 376 votes, the men 534, making the total 910, a record for the district. The vote was divided as follows:

Straight republican 460, straight democratic 324, straight socialist 1, straight labor 1, LaFollette-Wheeler progressive 57, prohibition 1, scratched tickets 62, marked ballots 2, blank 2, total 910.

The election officials in the borough were: Registrars of voters, William C. Robinson, J. H. Weeks; deputy registrars, James R. Leathy, Henry A. Pendleton; moderator, John E. Curtin; ticket box tenders, H. B. Noyes, Cornelius Coughlin; stub box tenders, N. P. Noyes, William Higgins; ticket tenders, Charles E. Staplins, Thomas McGowan; booth tenders, Robert L. Burtch, Albert T. Branch, Edward Higgins, John Gilmore.

Justices of the peace elected were: Stillman, Cooper, Spencer, Bliven, Pendleton, Wilcox, Anderson, Congdon, Haley, Williams, Connell, Cowley, Noyes, McKnight, Gallabber, Marseilles, Burrows, Leahy, Williams, Denison, Crandall, Bindloss.

Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Thurber have gone to Trail's End, Pachaug, P. O., Conn., for two weeks' stay at their camp.

There was a republican celebration Wednesday night of the victories in the town, state and nation. The band came out about 7.30 o'clock last evening and a lengthy programme was carried out.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Bindloss left Wednesday for California to spend the winter.

A forest fire has been raging on the property of George Stanton up in the Road district during the past few daws. The fire covered about two acres. Fire Warden Ralph C. Wheeler called out his force to aid in checking it.

Thomas P. Bryer is on a visit to Worcester, Mass.

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Topsfield, Mass., is a guest of Miss Pauline Chesebro.

Ruth chapter, No. 44, O. E. S., met Thursday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Henderson left Wednesday for St. Louis, Mo., to spend the winter, closing their summer home in the borough.

An automatic grain feeder for poultry is operated by an alarm clock, and scatters feed over a twenty-foot space.

Horseshoe Grows in Tree.

Frank Romeo chopped down an old tree at Haddonfield, N. J., and was making ready to lay in his supply of winter kindling when his ax gave a metallic ring. When the log was split he found an imbedded horseshoe. From the position of the horseshoe in the tree and from the rings indicating the tree's age Romeo figured that the shoe must have been in the tree since 1777.

WHY PHYSICIANS RECOMMEND SANGRINA TO FAT PEOPLE.

"If I had not carefully analyzed, tested and seen my own sister reduce and improve her health with 'SAN-GRI-NA,'" says Dr. McAlpine, "I would not be recommending it to my patients to-day."

Dr. Jacoby writes: "My wife has about finished the 'SAN-GRI-NA' you sent her, and I wish you could see the wonderful change in her appearance. She never felt better in all her life."

"I have used 'SAN-GRI-NA' for my wife," says Dr. Harris, "and now recommend it to my fat patients."

"I recommended 'SAN-GRI-NA' to my mother," says Dr. Narbonne, "because I knew, after working at the formula for years, it was absolutely harmless to the health and positive in results. It is the only way I know of to a good figure and perfect health."

REDUCES 63 POUNDS

"I weighed 220 pounds," writes Mrs. M. D. Pasquale, of Worcester, "and lost 63 pounds. . . . I would like to have another box of 'SAN-GRI-NA.'"

Up to now physicians have rarely advised anything to reduce outside of diets or exercises (both tiresome and inconvenient), because they knew of nothing HARMLESS and EFFECTIVE, but to-day, in recommending "SAN-GRI-NA," a doctor feels that it is something with real merit, so entirely different, from all the advertised fat-reducers, that he does not hesitate to advise its use, even to his own family. Prominent medical men, such as Dr. Rudolph, former Health Commissioner, endorses "SAN-GRI-NA" AS THE ONLY SAFE, positive and quick way to slenderness he knows of.

"SAN-GRI-NA" is the formula of a French physician. It is put up in a small, convenient tablet, to be taken three times a day. Although only recently introduced in America, "SAN-GRI-NA" is now recognized as a most effective treatment for fat people, because:

➡ IT HAS REDUCED MOST OBSTINATE CASES OF OBESITY.

➡ IT DOES AWAY WITH HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE, PUFFING, HEADACHES, TIRED FEELING, AND THE FAT MAN OR WOMAN, WHO TAKES "SAN-GRI-NA" ONCE MORE ENJOYS LIFE.

➡ IT IS ENTIRELY DIFFERENT FROM ANYTHING EVER OFFERED.

➡ IT IS GUARANTEED ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC: Beware of worthless imitations. "SAN-GRI-NA" is sold with a guarantee of satisfaction or money refunded. Go to your druggist to-day. Be sure to ASK FOR AND GET THE FRENCH BOX MARKED "SAN-GRI-NA TABLETTES TABLETTES SAN-GRI-NA"

On Sale at Lee & Osgood's, McLaughlin's or Bray's Drug stores.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

Election returns have been completed to the point where it is possible to get some definite idea of the makeup of the next congress. It was an election in which many of the senators whose terms expire next March were from rock-ribbed democratic states. Naturally, they, or their democratic successors, could be expected to return to Washington, but from those states where an overturn was possible it has been shown that the voters were invariably alert to their duty and have responded in such a manner as to minimize, at least, the insurgent element and to strengthen the policy of the administration.

With the senate republicans brought up to 56 and the possibility that there will be at least two more, to which Connecticut can be relied upon to add another at the coming special election, there will be furnished not as much of a working majority as might be desired, but a far better showing than in the present congress, while it is to be anticipated that some at least of those who have been refusing to abide by party policies will have profited from the lessons taught by the election as to the requirements demanded by the voters.

In the house the republican majority has been increased from 225 to 246 which should serve to further reduce the influence of the radical bloc and give the administration the support it is entitled to.

The country has indicated by the vote that it was not only desirous of having Calvin Coolidge retained at the head of the government but of giving him a congress that would be in accord with his policies and the republican principles.

MOTOR BUSSES AND CROSSINGS.

The grade crossing peril has been brought to attention again by the accident near Hampton, Va., where 11 persons were killed when a locomotive struck a motor bus carrying passengers.

It is possible to regard this as a new reason for the elimination of grade crossings since it can be pointed out that the motor busses are here to stay and that protection should be granted to them.

As for the matter of protection there can be no question. The life and limb of those who travel in any conveyance should be surrounded with as great protection as possible, but the railroad crossing is set forth in no new light by this accident. The hazard at such a point was quite as well known before as since. It is a place which calls for the exercise of quite as much care—yes, even more—on the part of the driver of a motor bus filled with passengers as from the driver of any other vehicle.

The motor bus has certainly come to stay. It will continue to increase in numbers, but there is no striking difference between the motor bus and the electric car when it comes to observing precautions at railroad crossings. Electric cars have been crossing railroad tracks at many points for many years, but it is to be noted that trolley cars are invariably required to stop by law to either throw signals or to make sure that no train is coming before crossing the railroad tracks. That is something which it doesn't appear that the driver of the motor bus did. It hasn't as yet been shown that this precaution is exacted of such public conveyances and yet there is no reason why just as much safety through such a provision should not be required of motor busses as of trolley cars.

The day may come when all crossings will be eliminated. That day will mark the expenditure of a huge sum of money, but in the meantime the traveling public which patronizes the motor bus is entitled to quite as much protection as that portion of it which uses electric cars. The Hampton case shows the need of an insistence upon this safety provision by drivers of motor busses.

MORGANTHAU REMOANS.

When in the settlement of the situation in the near east, whereby it became necessary to take care of the hordes of Greeks who were driven out of Turkey, the repatriation problem was no small one. Greece was not in a position to shoulder the expense, either of removal or maintenance. There was a homeless and destitute multitude demanding shelter and food and more or less attention because of illness.

It was not a pleasing outlook even though there was found what was believed to be a sufficient unoccupied territory to take care of the number. There was the need of international cooperation, but such was dependent upon the placing of some international authority over this large number of refugees. Help of a financial character could be obtained only under such conditions. Nations were ready to make loans under the assurance that they would be properly administered and it was as such that Henry Morgenthau was called from this country to be chairman. He had had years of experience in that region as ambassador of this government to Turkey. He was able to command the necessary confidence and he had the davantage of understanding the situation thoroughly.

All has not been milk and honey since he took up such work. But he has nevertheless inspired those from whom funds were sought to meet the requirements, and from the relief obtained and the loans made the situation has been well handled. One of the big jobs was to get the undertaking well started, to present the situation in such a clear manner as to arouse the necessary interest and to demonstrate that the funds were being properly applied and getting results.

This, it would appear, has been, or is, being done, if we can judge by the announcement that Mr. Morgenthau has resigned his post. It cannot be believed that he would relinquish a half done task, or would so soon desert a cause in which so much is at stake without feeling that the future held no serious obstacles to a successful continuance. American leadership has accomplished what was desired and carried the work to the point where the chairman can turn it over to others.

ELECTION DAY TESTS.

Sentiment was put to the test in many ways on Tuesday. There were opportunities for determining how the people felt concerning certain important questions.

The third party effort was bound to come in for notice. It was certain to be held up in comparison with the results obtained by the bull moose party twelve years ago. It was claimed that it would poll a tremendous vote and there were even claims of victory. The disappointment can be appreciated when there were less than four million votes received in spite of the combination of the socialists, radicals and discontents. This was a much lower vote than was obtained by Theodore Roosevelt a dozen years ago, who had he received the socialist vote of that year would have rolled up over 5,000,000 at a time when there were only about 14,000,000 who voted. With only about 2,800,000 out of a total of 30,000,000 votes the weakness of the movement speaks for itself.

In view of the interest that is manifested throughout the country in the child labor amendment on which most of the states have not as yet taken action, the action of Massachusetts voters on the amendment referendum again shows how the sentiment runs. When the people of Massachusetts run up a majority of nearly 450,000 against this proposed amendment it must be regarded as a test of public feeling which cannot be disregarded. This doesn't mean that Massachusetts people are opposed to the proper regulation of child labor, but that they are strongly opposed to the amendment as drawn which enables congress to prohibit the labor of all under 18 years. There is objection to giving congress any such authority.

Massachusetts has spoken for itself. It has voiced a sentiment that will guide the legislature when the time for action comes and there are reasons to believe that it speaks the attitude of the people of many other states on this very subject. The people of Massachusetts have likewise endorsed the action of the legislature in that state which passed the daylight saving law.

BUTLER METHODS.

In giving credit to Chairman Butler, who managed President Coolidge's campaign, the New York Herald-Tribune refers to the "clean, business-like campaigning" that has been carried on and the "high plane of fairness, dignity and honesty" with which it has been conducted.

Without a question these very things have made their appeal to many others who have carefully observed how the campaign was being handled. There was unmistakable evidence from the first that Calvin Coolidge was the issue. He had made the strongest kind of an impression upon the country because of the manner in which he dealt with the work at hand. He settled down to his tasks without playing politics and he has stuck to them throughout the campaign. Mr. Butler has directed the campaign and he has refused to resort to the tactics of his competitors. He has been obliged to meet the muck rakers, the "slush" fund proclaimers, and those who did their best to saddle on the president those things for which he was in no way responsible.

The campaign which Mr. Butler waged appealed to the common sense of the people. That it made its impression is shown by the response that was received, while those who pursued other tactics may well reflect upon the poor judgment of backing up a losing cause in any such manner. The voters have heartily endorsed both Calvin Coolidge and the manner in which his campaign was conducted.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Has your faith been strengthened in the straw vote?

How will those who failed to vote for Calvin Coolidge explain it to their grandchildren?

The man on the corner says: There's bound to be satisfaction with a job well done.

Politically speaking, sliding has been excellent in many parts of the country this week.

Maine is once more reminding the country concerning the efficiency of that state as a political barometer.

Of course the drought will not be taken very seriously until it seriously interferes with the rum running and booting business.

Perhaps those third partyites who insisted on throwing their votes away are satisfied, but their judgment hasn't made any great impression.

It is rather provoking for many to think they didn't add their vote to that of the others if for no other reason than being with the majority.

Connecticut has now to go all through the political mill again to elect a senator as the successor to Senator Brandegee. But there is a mighty fine republican wind blowing.

DANGEROUS LADIES

"You have quite a lot of pretty girls around here," remarked the young man in white flannels as he stood aboard the little excursion steamer.

"Oh, I don't know," replied the man with "Guide" in the front of his cap.

"Don't know!" The young man in white flannels seated himself on a bench and cast his eyes around. "Why look about you, man! For naught but youth, radiant charm and laughing, girlish beauty I never saw anything to beat this collection. Look 'em over. You ought to be an authority, you lucky dog!"

"Want my job?"

"Well——"

"That's what I thought."

"But the girls—what do you think of them?"

"I don't think," replied the man with "Guide" on the front of his cap. "I'm not even interested." He walked away.

"Girls or no girls—it's all the same to me," he went on after a time, coming back to sit beside the young man in white flannels. "As long as they want to pay to ride on our boat and look at our scenery we'll have to let 'em do it. But they don't need to waste none of their time looking at me. Women are dangerous!

"It's true I ain't always known as much about women as I know now. Five or six years ago, when I first came on this job, I was a say young blade. I used to look over the ladies when they came on board and pick out one to concentrate on. Then when I started to hand out the usual line about points of interest and scenic marvels of the river I'd address all my remarks to her, and before the end of the trip we'd usually be real good friends.

"Well, sir, one day a girl came on board—curly blond hair, blue eyes, about that high! I guess you know the kind. Just the sort to make a fellow dizzy. Say, I sure was eloquent that day! The scenic marvels of this here river ain't never been did justice to, before nor since. By the time we come to the stopover at Cold Water canyon we was chums—her and me—and by the time we come to Witches' gulch we was calling each other by our first names. She didn't say much, just looked at me out of them big, blue eyes of hers and listened to me talk. I got so interested I forgot all about the rest of the party. The scenic guide then tourists missed having pointed out to them that day was a pity and I'll bet there's two or three of them lost somewhere in them canyons yet.

"Now up at the head of this run we have our main attraction—a flat stand of rock fifteen feet square, up sixty feet in the air above the beach and cut off from the main head of rock by an open space about seven feet across. It's the regular stunt for the guide to jump across to the stand of rock—looks dangerous, you know, and gives the tourists a thrill, though its fairly safe and easy if a fellow takes a good start. Now when we come to this place on the day I'm telling you about I hadn't said anything to my little queen about what was coming. Kind of thought I'd scare her, you know.

"'Watch,' says I, and starts to jump.

"Well, sir, when that little thing saw me go, 'George!' she yells. 'George!' and grabs me by the back of the coat—not enough to stop me, of course, but just enough to break the jump. Down I goes, crashing between the rocks and when I come to in the hospital I had four broken ribs and a shin bone fractured just below the knee."

"Horrible!" said the young man in white flannels. "No wonder you think women are dangerous."

"You ain't heard the horrible part yet," replied the man with "Guide" on the front of his cap, sighing. "When I woke up in the hospital there she was by my side. She sure felt so bad about what had happened and we was engaged before I knew it. Next week we get married and as she had a little money she bought the boat line.

"Well, she's forget all about that accident long ago, but she ain't forgot my fascinatin' ways with the ladies. Every day when the passengers come through the dock she looks 'em over and she's got the captain of this here boat to chaperon me. If I was to smile at just one of them pretty girls out there I'd lose my job."

Rising to his feet the man with "Guide" on the front of his cap sighed mournfully and walked away.—Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

The victory of Sir Hamar Greenwood, which was one of the big surprises of the recent British election, is of particular interest on this side of the Atlantic, for by birth, ancestry and upbringing Sir Hamar is a Canadian, though his many years have all been lived in England. He is a native of Ontario who, after working his way through Toronto university surprised his friends by crossing over to England to seek a career. A born platform speaker he first attracted attention in the motherland as a temperance orator. His experiences along this line was valuable in that it served as a stepping stone to politics, and he soon found steady employment in the Liberal organization. He studied law at the same time and was called to the bar. And in ten short years he had made himself so valuable to the party that a seat in Parliament was found for him. Then, in 1920, the fact that he had "arrived" was evidenced by his appointment to the post of Secretary of State for Ireland.

Kreisler's Reception Was Cold

Acclaimed as a prodigy Fritz Kreisler won honors while studying, but when he first appeared as a concert artist in a foreign country his great technique was coldly received.

Son of a physician in Vienna, he early showed a desire to play the violin, and at seven was admitted to the Vienna Conservatory of Music. He was ten years old when he won first prize and the gold medal for his playing.

Urged by his teacher to go to Paris to study, he was sent to the Paris Conservatory by his father, who borrowed the money to defray his expenses. Obtaining a position, at 11, as violinist in one of the leading orchestras, the boy was able to earn a small amount. At 14 he won the first prize at the Paris conservatory.

By diligent practice he had equipped himself with what was pronounced a "stupendous" technique and he was regarded as a great prodigy. Coming to the United States with Morris Rosenthal, he was received as merely a brilliant young player. Praise, friends and money were scarce and life's outlook was dark.

Returning home he temporarily abandoned the violin, studying art and medicine and serving a year in the army. After appearing in Berlin he again came to this country. It became evident to audiences that he had changed from being merely a technician to an interpretative artist. Many critics were severe and at first audiences were small but gradually he won recognition.

At the beginning of the World war he was called to the front and served as an officer until wounded, then was granted a leave of absence. Returning to this country, he was given an ovation. The greater part of his earnings were used in the support of his father, then 74, and of children and artists of all nations that were impoverished by the war. When the United States entered the conflict all communication with his home country was severed, and in 1918 he had to abandon his concert tour.

After the close of the war he again toured the United States and today is acclaimed as the greatest violinist of the time.

ASBESTOS

Mining the "missing link" between rocks and plants is the job a French Canadian town of 17,000 does for a waiting world.

"Asbestos justifies in many ways the nickname given it by the men who blast it out of nature's rock vaults," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society from its headquarters at Washington, D. C. "For it is a physical paradox even if it cannot bridge the gap separating the boulder and the sapling.

"Asbestos can be woven like cotton and wool; in the natural state it looks like spun glass in bundles, it is as smooth as silk to touch. Like the volatile heroes of Chinese myths it is now a roof, changes to theater curtain or a coat, becomes paper, or imprisons live steam to hard labor, prevents thousands of automobile crashes every day and may hide itself in the rustle of a silk dress.

"Thetford Mines, 75 miles directly south of Quebec, is cradled in a valley whose ridges are out-riders of Vermont's presiding glory, the Green Mountains. Travelers on the main highway south from Quebec to the United States easily recognize Thetford Mines, or its little sister town of Black Lake, because a pall of white asbestos dust hangs over both. This cloud obscures the great dumps of rock refuse, veritable foothills or plateaus themselves, and the gleaming towers of the typically large French Canadian churches. Travelers may have difficulty understanding Thetford's people though, because, save for the English mine managers, they are as French as Gascons.

"Asbestos is one of the few non-metallic minerals of great use to mankind; its partners are coal and sulphur. Although it is frequent in the serpentine rock from Cape to the Carolinas and elsewhere, the deposits near Thetford Mines supply more than 80 per cent of the world's asbestos needs.

"Stand two books on end and pile a handful of matches between them with the matches at right angles to the walls supplied by the books. There you have an approximation of the manner in which the glassy-green natural asbestos occurs in rock. The bundle varies in width from a thread to three, four, and five inches, in unusual samples.

"In the whole amazing range of crystals of various substances with the perfect pyramiding, sectoring and cutting found in nature, no crystals are probably more remarkable than asbestos. Imagine a smokestack 1,000 feet high. This approximates the proportions of an asbestos fiber crystal. Now if the smoke-stack will bend like a willow in the wind and stretch like a stiff spring; if it can resist terrific heat, and be impervious to practically all acids, oxygen and moisture, it can do what the marvelous asbestos crystal does. If one takes a block of asbestos and rubs the crystal bundles lengthwise a fluff of white fiber will spring up as if by magic. These fibers can be carded, spun and woven into cloth with almost the same facility as raw cotton or wool. "Roman nobles and even Charlesmagne liked a few parlor tricks with their demitasse. To set the mouths of their guests agape they nonchalantly threw table cloths into charcoal burners. But visitors who dashed for the exits must have come back in wonder, for the cloths did not burn; they were asbestos. Modern use of asbestos dates from the development of Italian mines in the beautiful Alpine valleys of Susa, approached from France through the Mont Cenis tunnel, and the Aosta Valley. One of its first important applications, packing for engines, still creates one of the principal demands.

"Italian asbestos occurs lengthwise of the vein instead of in bundles, and is of different properties, so the term asbestos must therefore be regarded as an inclusive term referring to a variety of minerals of chemical similarity much as coal lignite. Appropriately, the Greek father of our word asbestos means 'indestructible.'

"At Thetford Mines pit operation is the general practice, although there are a few galleries. Any rock with veins running six per cent asbestos is worth working and as the rocks are fairly uniform in quality the pits go very deep. Standing on the edge of the deepest working one can see men like ants toiling in the shadow 350 feet below. Following best mining practice blasting occurs at noon and at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The pit crew breaks the pieces into small enough for the crushers and loads them into baskets which rise skyward and disappear over the edge of the cliff.

"Rock with fine veins goes to the crushers to be reduced to small bits. Rock with rich veins is cracked open by hand and the virgin asbestos sent to a big room where girls would hammers to break the asbestos into a pliable fibrous mass. No mechanical means has been discovered to make this high grade asbestos which is used for brake bands the largest present demand for asbestos, cloth, boat packing and insulating.

"The crushed serpentine rock and asbestos goes to a series of screens surmounted by suction tubes. The tubes pneumatically remove the fibers and grade them. Poorer grades of asbestos are used for paper, roofing, asbestos paint, and for weighing silk. They provide pine coverings to conserve heat, soles and spats on shoes for men working on hot floors, and supply guards to protect glass-blowers. The United States last year imported nearly $7,000,000 worth of raw asbestos.

"If the Constitution of the United States were written today, it would probably be inscribed on indestructible asbestos paper. The world, however, is still waiting for a fireproof ink."

LITTLE JACK RABBIT

By DAVID CORY

The Giant and the Wolf

Mr. Wicked Wolf's voice is deep and grim
As it bays from that great red mouth of him.
It gives you a shiver and makes you shake,
Yes, it makes you tremble and quiver and quake.

"Dear me," cried the little rabbit, hiding down deep in the Ragged Giant Rabbit's pocket, as again the dreadful mournful howl of Mr. Wicked Wolf came through the Shady Forest.

Hip-po "laughed the Biggest Giant Rabbit.

"Don't be afraid," whispered the giant, soothingly. "I'm not afraid of that bad beast. He doesn't bother me, not in the least," and off strode the big rabbit giant through the forest, his head high above the treetops.

"Dear me, again cried the bunny boy, "my friend's head is so high above the trees he can't see Mr. Wicked Wolf down on the ground. I'm afraid to stay in this pocket. Mr. Wicked Wolf might smell me and rip open the giant's pocket before either of us knew what was going to happen."

Now wasn't it strange or wonderful, or anything you have in mind to call it, that at that very moment the same idea came into the tiny Yellow Bird's little head? Well, I guess it was. Perching herself on the Ragged Rabbit Giant's left ear, she whispered. "Mr. Wicked Wolf is growling about. He may snatch the little rabbit from your coat pocket. The fringe of treetops all about your neck make it difficult for you to see where you are walking."

"Don't need to," replied the giant. "My magic seven league boots can find the way without stubbing my toes. But what you say about Mr. Wicked Wolf is worth listening to," and the big kind old giant shoved his hand down to the pocket in which the little rabbit was hidden. Goodness gracious meebus! His hand went right into the mouth of Mr. Wicked Wolf. Yes, sir, that's just what it did. Quick as a wink, and maybe quicker, the giant closed his fingers around the old wolf's long red tongue, and stooping down between the treetops, he caught his tail with his left hand.

"Oh, oh, Oh!" cried the little rabbit, huddling down in the big pocket. "Don't let go, Mr. Giant. Please don't let go. Mother mustn't lose her bunny boy."

"Ha, ha, Ho, ho" laughed the Ragged Rabbit Giant, pinching Mr. Wicked Wolf's tail till the tears fell from that wicked creature's eyes. "So you thought you'd eat my little rabbit, did you? Well, you've got another guess coming to you."

But the old wolf never said another word. How could he, I should like to know. Neither could I if a giant had hold of my tongue.

"You would have ripped my poor old ragged coat," went on the Ragged Rabbit Giant, not seeming to care whether the old wolf answered him or not. Maybe he could tell by the feel of the hair red tongue what the wolf was trying to say. And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that

Simple Rules the Hardest.

Little Jean's mother and father were trying to teach her the simple rules of manners. It was necessary for her to say please and thank her for every article of food that was given her at the table.

At the evening meal she said, "I want some sugar."

Her father waited a minute and then said: "Well, how do you get it?"

"With a spoon, Dad," she replied.

George was recently very much worried over the condition of his daughter, who had become suddenly ill. The family physician had been called and the father was asking about the advisability of having a specialist called in.

The physician said: "Well, I know a good specialist, George."

"Yes, yes, doctor," interrupted George, "Who?"

"But he's dead," replied the physician.

It is said George answered the doctor kindly, but forcefully.

mediately after the hearing and it was shortly announced that a charter would be granted. Bank Commissioner Byrne issued the following statement:

"The state banking commission is concerned only with the situation in Putnam at the time the application comes before us. No objection was raised at the hearing to the character or stating of any of the incorporators of the Cargill Trust company. While we understand that in all probability there is to be a new national bank in the town, no evidence was offered as to the certainty of its opening or of the time of its opening.

"The application of the Citizens National bank was filed with the comptroller of the currency on August 18. In the meantime the city of Putnam is in dire need of commercial banking facilities. Under the circumstances the commission felt the charter should be granted."

OBITUARY.

Helen M. Burke.

Following an illness of about 12 days the life of Helen M. Burke, daughter of Joseph D. and Annie E. Gley Burke, came to a close Thursday morning at her home at 48 Roath street. The little girl was born in Norwich May 8, 1916, and was an attendant at St. Mary's parochial school where she was a favorite with the teachers and pupils. Her pleasant personality endeared her to all who knew her and in her death her parents have sustained a great loss. She is survived by her parents and three brothers.

Joseph Badger.

Friends of Joseph Badger, formerly of Franklin, will be shocked to learn of his rather sudden death, Thursday morning, at the home of his sister, Mrs. Emma Freeman of 181 Talman street. Death was caused by heart trouble.

Besides his sister he leaves a brother, William Badger and another sister, Miss Ella Badger of this city.

Mrs. Albert H. Williams.

After being in poor health for the past four years, seriously ill for about four days, the life of Mary Eliza, beloved wife of Albert H. Williams, came to a close Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home, No. 5 Francis place. During her long illness Mrs. Williams never complained and she received most tender care from members of her family.

Born in Fort Macon, North Carolina, Feb. 22, 1863, the daughter of John P. and Rebecca Albro Jones, she moved to New London with her parents when a young girl and received a part of her education in that city.

On Nov. 22, 1885, in New London, she was united in marriage with Albert H. Williams, the ceremony being conducted by Rev. Mr. Grint, then rector of St. James' Episcopal church. She continued to reside in New London for several years and about 15 years ago removed to Norwich, making her home on Francis place.

As a member of the Central Baptist church Mrs. Williams was an active worker as long as her health permitted. She was also a member of Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps. Of a naturally pleasant disposition, she endeared herself to all who knew her. Her life centered in her home and it was there that she took her greatest comfort in life.

She is survived by her husband, Albert H. Williams; one son, Harold J. Williams of Hartford; two daughters, Mrs. H. N. Alexander of New London and Miss Harriet R. Williams of Norwich; three sisters, Mrs. N. E. Bailey of New London, Mrs. Herbert K. Reed of Woonsocket, R. I., and Miss Jennie R. Jones of Norwich; also one grandson, Harold R. Williams of Norwich.

FUNERAL.

Miss Mary F. Norton

With relatives and friends in attendance from Chicago, Branford and other cities, funeral services for Miss Mary Fowler Norton, daughter of the late Henry B. and Emeline F. Norton were held Thursday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, at the family residence, No. 188 Washington street. The pastor of the United Congregational church, Rev. Alexander Hewes Abbott conducted the services, reading from the Scriptures and offering fervent prayer.

There were the choicest floral remembrances from loving friends. Burial was in the Norton family plot in Yantic cemetery where Rev. Mr. Abbott read the committal service.

The funeral arrangements were in charge of the Henry Allen & Son Company.

WEDDINGS.

Day-Spelman.

A pretty autumn wedding took place Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Bernard's church, Rockville, when the pastor, Rev. George Sinnott, united in marriage Viola C., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Spelman of 49 Windermere avenue, and William A. Day, son of Mrs. Margaret Day of Norwich. The bridal couple was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Irene Day, as maid of honor, and the bride's brother, Raymond Spelman, as best man. A nuptial high mass was celebrated by Father Sinnott at which Mrs. Daniel Rohan of Hartford sang Rubinstein's Ave Maria for the offertory and I Love You Truly during the ceremony.

The bride was charmingly gowned in georgette over canton crepe, with veil of tulle caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The maid of honor wore a gown of myrtle green satin faced with canton crepe, with black picture hat, and carried pink chrysanthemums.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were present from Norwich, Hartford, Manchester, Worcester, New London and Taftville. The young couple left on an extended wedding trip and on their return will reside in a newly furnished apartment in Hartford.

Call For Fire Department.

The fire department was called out at 2.15 o'clock Thursday afternoon for a fire at 33 West Thames street. The blaze was soon extinguished through use of hand water pumps.

Quaker Hill residents, Mr. and Mrs. Leolin A. Comstock, have left for their winter home at St. Andrews, Fla. They will stop in Philadelphia for a visit with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Comstock.

WATER BOARD IS TO CONSIDER PRESENT LOW SUPPLY IN NORWICH

A special meeting of the water board has been called for this (Friday) evening to consider the water conditions in the city's supply, due to the long dry time that has practically emptied Stony Brook reservoir and has brought Fairview reservoir down to 10 below full pond.

The high spots in the city like Jail Hill, Rockwell and Orchard streets and high points in Greeneville and the West Side are without water during the day but may be able to draw a little in the early morning. This is because no water is coming from Stony Brook reservoir which has a higher level than Fairview and is needed to force the water to the highest elevations in the city. The pumping station that was put in to get water up to Rockwell and orchard street is no use at present as the water does not reach the point in the pipes where it is pumped up to the higher level.

President John J. Corkery and the members of the water board are ardently hoping that the rain that has been promised for a day or two will arrive, but it will take a pretty heavy downpour to afford more than temporary relief.

Fairview reservoir now has about 320,000,000 gallons, which is less than half full as the total capacity is 650,000,000 gallons.

Mayor Miles R. Waters is urging upon citizens the greatest possible care and economy in the use of water in order to tide over this emergency, and Chief Howard L. Stanton of the fire department has directed that chemical, instead of water, shall be used wherever possible at fires. Should there be need of much water for a fire it would be pumped from the river or streams wherever possible, instead of from the city water pipes.

Citizens can cooperate by promptly reporting leaky conditions and it is hoped that this period will be passed without getting to the extremity that existed in August, 910, when the reservoir went dry and water had to be pumped from the Trading Cove brook.

WORD RECEIVED HERE OF MIDDLETOWN SUICIDE

Word through the Middletown police was received here Thursday night that Dwight Coombs, stepfather of Lester H. Corey of 45 Grove street, had committed suicide some time Wednesday night at his home at East Long Hill, near Middletown. The body was found Thursday night, hanging in an old shop near his house, and according to the medical examiner the man had been dead nearly 24 hours. No reason for his act is known. He worked until Wednesday night on the farm of Murray Crowell where he had been employed for 14 years and appeared to be in good health.

He was 65 years old and leaves a wife in Putnam and the stepson in this city.

DORIS BOGUE IS CAUGHT IN SOMERVILLE

Doris Bogue, 16, who escaped from the Norwich state hospital about a month ago, the second time that she had left the institution, was arrested in Somerville, Mass., Thursday afternoon when she came to the postoffice there to get a letter in which she expected to receive money for which she had written to her home on Pine street, this city.

The Somerville police were on the lookout for her, through information that they had received from Norwich headquarters, and the young woman was taken into custody as she applied for her letter.

Officials from the state hospital will go after her this (Friday) morning.

SPECIAL TRAFFIC RULES FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Norwich drivers and visiting automobilists on Armistice Day may expect to find special traffic regulations in force, especially applying to prohibition of parking on Main street from Burnham square to Washington square. There will also be limited parking on Washington street and on Broadway at the time of the parade. Full notice of the parking regulations will be announced but it is already planned to have parking only on the west side of Washington street and on the east side of Broadway.

AMERICAN LEGION FROM NEW LONDON COMING

An invitation to participate in the exercises and parade in Norwich on Armistice day, Nov. 11, when the war memorial will be dedicated was accepted by the John Coleman Prince post, American Legion, which met in the state armory at New London this week.

The post plans to engage a special trolley to provide transportation for the occasion.

WARRENVILLE DOG TREED THIEVING COON

The Bulletin's Warrenville correspondent writes

Charles Brown shot a coon in a maple tree in his dooryard at an early hour Wednesday morning. The coon was very near the trees where his turkeys were roosting. It is evident that his collie, Pal, treed the coon early in the evening and kept him prisoner all night, as the dog kept up barking most of the night. As Mr. Brown had been used to the dog barking nights, he paid no attention to him.

NEARLY HOME AFTER TRIP ACROSS CONTINENT

William Kendall of Norwich, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Meyer of Lisbon and Edward Burdick of New Bedford, who are on the last leg of a cross continent trip by motor, were at Wheeling, Va., on Nov. 5, according to postcards received from Mr. and Mrs. Meyer. The party expects to arrive home the coming week end, completing a two months' tour which extended to points in California, Mexico and Canada.

Sunday Evening Choir Services.

On last Sunday evening the first of the monthly Sunday evening choir services was enjoyed by the members and friends of the Central Baptist church. These special musical programmes which will be carried out during the winter are anticipated with much pleasure. A special feature of last Sunday evening was a reception of an informal nature given in the church parlors at the close of the service in order that the choir and congregation might become better acquainted and so that an opportunity might be given for an expression of the splendid work being done by the choir.

The quartette consists of Mrs. James A. Bidwell, soprano; Mrs. Olive Adams Potter, contralto; Frederick J. Maples, tenor, and Walter McNeely, baritone. Miss Louise Fuller presides at the organ, the gift a little over a year ago of Mrs. Charles W. Gale in memory of her husband.

Last Sunday evening's programme was:

Organ Prelude
Toccata — Frysinger
Melody — Hofmann
Choir Numbers—
O, For the Wings of a Dove — Mendelssohn
Consider and Hear Me — Pfluger
I Will Mention — Sullivan
Even Me — Warren
God Is a Spirit — Bonnett

Invited to New London.

Members of Fidelity chapter, No. 54, O. E. S., of New London, have completed arrangements for one of the most elaborate affairs of this season to be held this (Friday) evening, when they will have as guests members of Sachem chapter, No. 57, of Norwich, and Nehantic chapter of Niantic.

In one season the University of Michigan eleven played before nearly 400,000 people.

TWO GO TO JAIL FOR SUPERIOR COURT

On Thursday morning the three people rounded up in the city Wednesday night were before the city court. Two of the trio were bound over to the superior court under bonds of $1,000, the third, a young girl, Evelyn Capen, being given her carfare and told to return to her home in Taunton, Mass.

The two bound over were Frank Franco, 26, an Italian of Providence, charged with adultery with Mrs. Verne L. Ross, 20, of Attleboro, Mass., in this city, the offense taking place at 11 Elm street, where the trio were staying. Mrs. Ross, who has one child in Attleboro, pleaded guilty just as Franco had done and was bound over. The couple went to jail in default of bonds.

Franco was employed by the Providence Sprinkling works, which is installing new sprinklers in a Norwich factory.

John Driscoll of 53 Fafayette street was fined $200 and costs and given a suspended jail sentence of 30 days for violation of the motor vehicle law, driving while under the influence of liquor.

Several intoxication cases were settled by giving fines and costs and one violator of the parking regulations paid $5. He had parked his automobile on a crosswalk.

In the city court Wednesday morning Paul Pellegrini of Franklin street, wanted by the police for violation of the liquor law, in actual sale, surrendered himself to the court. Judge Arthur F. Libby fined him $200 and costs and gave him a jail sentence of five days, consideration being made of his plea of guilty, thus saving the costs of trial and the recall of investigators now out of town.

The usual intoxication cases and breach of the peace case made up the remaining business before the court.

HASTEDT IS WINNER IN EAGLES' PINOCHLE

The five-night pinochle tournament played by members of the Norwich aerie of Eagles came to a close at the fraternal hall Thursday evening, honors going to A. Hastedt, who had a total score of 35,400. J. Leirich was a close second, his score being 35,210.

High single score made Thursday evening went to R. A. Krohn with 7925, E. J. Mullins being second with 7880, W. R. Hastedt third with 7360 and H. Clement fourth with 7120.

Announcement was made during the evening that the pinochle night had been changed from Thursday night to Wednesday night and that beginning next week another five-night series would be played, games starting at 8 o'clock.

The final standing of the players in the tournament just closed was as follows: A. Hastedt, 35,420; J. Leirich, 35,210; H. Clement, 33,365; W. R. Hastedt, 33,250; E. J. Mullins, 33,110; F. Hunter, 32,860; C. Nowacki, 32,715; R. A. Krohn, 32,105; J. Bowne, 31,810; J. Sautter, 29,910; C. Schlinz, 29,645; Thomas Fields, 27,390; Tim Fields, 27,390; N. Petrone, 26,980; H. Congdon, 26,590; M. Shea, 26,525; G. Nadolny, 25,890; H. Bamber, 25,390.

NORWICH PASTOR NAMED ON NOMINATING COMMITTEE

Danbury, Nov. 6.—South Manchester was selected as place for the next conference at the afternoon session of the 57th annual meeting and a general conference of the Congregational churches of Connecticut held here today with 200 delegates present. Judge J. Moss Ives of Danbury is the moderator of the conference, and in his absence Rev. Watson Phillips of New Haven presided.

The following nominating committee was named to select a moderator for the next conference: Rev. G. F. Bailey of Norwich, Rev. John W. Grant of Fairfield, Judge J. Moss Ives of Danbury.

At the evening session the speaker was Rev. Rockwell Harmon Potter of Hartford, moderator of the national council of Congregational churches, his subject being "Pilgrims on the Plains."

Several sectional meetings were held this afternoon.

TAFTVILLE LEGION POST WILL BE IN PARADE

With Commander Thomas P. Sears presiding, Peter Gallon post, American Legion, held a meeting Thursday evening in the Knights of Columbus rooms at Taftville, when it was voted to accept an invitation to participate in the Armistice day parade Nov. 11th. It was announced that the post would like to have the ex-service men in the village co-operate with them on that day, and all those wishing to take part in the parade are expected to take the trolley leaving Taftville at 12.45 o'clock. It was also voted to run a moving picture in the near future at the local theatre for the benefit of the post, for which tickets were distributed among the members to sell. For the purpose of acquiring a room where the post could hold its meetings regularly a committee was appointed, after which the meeting closed with a social time.

RECEIVES CHIEF'S RATING IN SUBMARINE SERVICE

The many friends of James E. Barnett will be pleased to learn that he has received his permanent rating as chief in the submarine service of the U. S. navy. Mr. and Mrs. Barnett, formerly of this city, are now making their home in Portsmouth, N. H., where Chief Barnett is assigned to duty in the navy yard in that city.

In Charge of Dining Room.

Mrs. Anthony Bernard had charge of the dining room at the supper and sale held Wednesday evening at the Community house by Sachem chapter, No. 57, O. E. S. Mrs. Bernard was assisted by Miss Cecil Stevens.

Accompanist to Quartette.

Miss Mary Gray was the accompanist for the quartette at the supper and sale held Wednesday evening at the Community house by Sachem chapter, No. 57, O. E. S.

A TRUSTY PRISONER IN AUBURN FOUND MURDERED

Auburn, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Arthur Smith, trusty in Auburn prison, was found murdered by an unknown assailant within the prison this afternoon. Captain E. G. Lamb saw Smith stagger into the yard from the north wing of the cell block and collapse in the yard.

No other convict was seen in the vicinity and Smith died in the prison infirmary without making a statement of any kind. He had been struck with a three-cornered weapon which fractured his skull, and a second blow severed the jugular vein.

So far as known Smith had no enemies, although there is sometimes jealousy of a trusty. He was received here from Erie county June 22, 1923, to serve not less than six years for manslaughter. He was 29 years old.

THREE MEN DEAD BELIEVED TO BE FROM GAS POISONING

Chester, Pa., Nov. 6.—The bodies of three men believed to have died from gas poisoning, were found today in an apartment by a five-year-old girl. The men were said to have been dead 13 hours. Gas was flowing from three open jets under pans of food on a stove.

The bodies of two of the victims were identified as those of Walter Birney and Edward Birney, his brother. The third man is believed to be Thomas Bates. Police believe that Bates had been invited to a meal by the Birneys.

HUNTING SEASON IN NEW JERSEY SUSPENDED

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 6.—Governor Silzer issued a proclamation late today directing the state fish and game commission to suspend operation by all hunting licenses until such time as the department of conservation and development and the governor shall determine that the existing emergency, due to the prolonged drought, has passed. The order of suspension makes the single exception of hunting wild water fowl on salt marshes.

During the past three weeks approximately 5,000 acres of woodland in the state have been burned, including 3,374 acres in the southern section and 2,777 in the central portion. Two fires though under control are still burning, one at Milimay, Atlantic county, which started last Sunday and the other at Colt's Neck, Monmouth county, which started Tuesday.

AIRPLANE PILOT LOST BEARINGS IN HEAVY FOG

East Hampton, Conn., Nov. 6.—A Curtiss airplane, piloted by P. H. Spencer, superintendent of the Brainard air field at Hartford, and carrying two passengers, C. D. Tuska, president of C. L. Tuska company and C. T. Neal of Hartford, came down here at 4.45 o'clock this afternoon after being lost for several hours in a heavy fog. The machine left Mineola, N. Y., at 10 o'clock this morning and was on its way to Hartford.

The pilot reported that the haze and fog was very heavy and that he had soon lost his bearings. He had little trouble in landing here, selecting a large field on a farm. The party will take off tomorrow morning and continue their trip to Hartford.

TO PUBLICLY VIOLATE VOLSTEAD ACT FOR TEST

Chicago Nov. 6.—John R. Riley secretary of the Bolo club of Cook county announced today that 18 men will publicly and deliberately violate the Volstead act on some date yet to be set to furnish a new test case of the law's constitutionality.

The Bolo club composed of war veterans with according to its secretary, 63,000 members in Chicago, will sponsor the test. The men, all of whom are of different religious denominations, will be found with wine in their possession. They will demand jury trial said Mr. Riley.

FOREST FIRE SWEEPS CHAIN OF MOUNTAINS

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 6.—Two chains of mountains were ablaze tonight with the most serious forest fire that has ever swept that section of the state, says a special despatch from Irvine, Estill county to the Courner-Journal. The flames were said to have reached within a half mile of 700 crude oil storage tanks.

Churches in Bright Colors Urged

The Wisconsin Synod of the Presbyterian church has hit upon what is considered an ethical and dignified advertising idea for the modern church. It is to paint all churches in bright colors on the outside. This idea is intended, of course, for country churches or the frame structures in cities, as stone would hardly lend itself that way. It is proposed to give each church a sign which will be used commonly on all Presbyterian churches so that everyone at a glance will know it is a Presbyterian house of worship.

Musk Ox Gets Protection

Although half a century ago large herds of musk ox could be found in the regions stretching from the Hudson bay to the Arctic, and traces of these herds were visible up to 25 years ago, they have been almost depleted in the last 25 years and the Canadian government is now taking rigorous steps to protect what few are remaining. The musk ox is said to be valuable for other than zoological reasons and is of great social and economic value to the Dominion.

$20,000 Book Steadies Table

An Antwerp art collector, with an observing eye, spotted a book under a table leg in a shack he had climbed the stairs hunting for rare antiques. The woman in whose house the volume was sighted offered him a chair while he recovered his breath from the climb and on examining the book he found it to be bound in human skin. He obtained the work from the woman who could neither read nor write and sold it for $20,000, half of which he then gave to the woman, it is said.

Churches to Aid Voting

A campaign to get all persons over 21 years of age to vote at local and national elections has been inaugurated by the Federal Council of Churches of America. The plan will be made effective through a commission on social service that will endeavor to get all churches to stir up their congregations to vote 100 per cent strong. Every pastor who is affiliated with the Council will be called upon to preach at least one sermon on the subject.

ACADEMY TEAM BEING DRILLED ON BULKELEY PLAYS FOR SATURDAY

In the past two years Bulkeley has run rough shod over any opposition that the Red and White furnished. No doubt, the visitors will travel to Norwich with the same idea in mind. However, they will be greatly surprised if they think that an easy contest is in store for them. The team representing the Academy this year is much better in every respect compared to the teams of the past two years. They are stronger, better schooled and foremost of all have that "never say die" spirit in them.

Coach Aitken is handicapped by the loss of two stars. Gilman and Kleeberg, who were injured in the Westerly game. Both players although they will be out of the Bulkeley game will be able to play again in the Chapman Tech game on November 15th. Three aspirants for the position open are Stifano, Busch and Polsky. These men are playing fairly well and it is hard as yet to say who will be in Saturday's lineup.

Practice this week was begun in Monday. This consisted of the usual sessions in scrimmages and in signal drills. The players all should be in great condition for a hard struggle at the end of the week.

To add the Academy to its list of victims will be Bulkeley's aim. To hold Bulkeley is the ambition of the Academy players. Which one of the two teams will be successful, remains to be seen on Saturday.

EASTERN BOWLING ASS'N HOLDS IMPORTANT MEETING

With every alley represented a meeting of the Eastern Connecticut bowling association was held at The Bulletin office on Thursday afternoon and some of the important matters of the Eastern Connecticut league were considered. Chief among these matters was regarding the lob-line which has caused no little confusion among the bowling. The meeting voted that the lob-line should be done away with but that any bowler who continued to lob the ball after being warned should be suspended. It is realized that a bowler will occasionally lob a ball without meaning to do so but the bowler that intentionally makes it a practice is not to be tolerated.

In regards to Willimantic dropping out of the league their resignation was accepted but the Thread City team has agreed to finish out the first round and a doubleheader with the Aetna and Taftville will be rolled within a short time.

The prize list for the league which will finish up about the first week in February was announced at the meeting and is as follows: First place league standing $50, second place $35, and third place $15; high team three strings, $15; high team single, $15; high individual average $10; second high average, $6; third high average $4; big individual single $5; high individual total $5.

The Association voted to hold a banquet for the team members at the close of the league. The association also voted to assess each alley owner 50 cents per alley as annual association dues.

YALE VARSITY GIVEN A LIGHT WORKOUT

New Haven, Nov. 6.—After two strenuous days of scrimmage, the Yale varsity football squad was given but light work today. Several members of the regular team were missing Bingham, right end, is suffering from muscle bruises and will not be able to play in the game against Maryland, Saturday. It is expected, however, that he will be in condition for the Princeton game the following Saturday. Hart took his place in the signal drill today.

Wadsworth had considerable practice in kicking today and it is possible that he will be in the opening lineup against Maryland. The coaches expect to try out several men in the backfield Saturday in an effort to find the right men for those positions for the two big games with Princeton and Harvard.

Benton, tackle on the freshman team last year, was moved over from the scrubs to the second varsity team today and was given a long tryout at tackle. Because of the failure of Eddie Bench, regular varsity quarterback to recover from his illness, Stearns, substitute quarterback on the freshman team last year, was also moved over to the varsity squad today.

PUBLIC LINKS TOURNEY AT GARDEN CITY IN 1925

New York, Nov. 6.—With the selection today of the Salisbury Country club, at Garden City, Long Island, as the site for the 1925 National public links championship, the United States golf association had completed its major title award for next season.

Definite dates have not yet been selected but the public links event, which was awarded to Garden City in preference to Buffalo, will be held some time in August.

The east will have three of the four outstanding tournaments under U. S. G. A. supervision. The amateur championship will be held at the Oakmont, Pa., Country club and the open tournament at the Worcester, Mass., Country club. The middle-west obtains the women's National event, which will be held in St. Louis.

HARVARD SQUAD PUT THROUGH FINAL PRACTICE

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 6.—Cheered by 500 undergraduates, Harvard's gridiron machine was today put through the final practice session to be held in the stadium before the Crimson takes the field against the football team of Princeton here Saturday. Immediately afterward the starting lineup was announced and then the varsity squad was taken to a hotel in Swampscott where the players will remain until just before the game. The Princeton team is expected to reach Cambridge tomorrow morning.

Coach Bob Fisher announced that the following lineup would probably start Saturday's contest: Left end, Robb; left tackle, Coady or Lindner; left guard, Daley; center, Adie; right guard, Thompson; right tackle, Captain Greenough; right end, Gemache or Chase; quarterback, Stafford or Cheek; left halfback, Miller; right halfback, Hammond and fullback, Gehrke.

PEERLESS TAKES THREE STRAIGHT FROM TAFTVILLE

The Peerless Five of New London took three straight from the Taftville team Thursday evening at Taftville in the Eastern Connecticut Bowling league. The visitors rolled in good form and easily outclassed the home boys. Henry Sistare with 131 for high single and 350 for high total took the individual honors. The score:

PRINCETON TEAM EN ROUTE FOR HARVARD GAME

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 6.—The Princeton football team tonight was en route to New England where on Saturday at Cambridge the Tiger will clash with the Harvard crimson in the first of the "Big Three" series.

The squad tonight entrained for Waverly, Mass., on two special cars and immediately upon arrival, will go to the Belmont Springs Country club.

The entire student body of Princeton saw the team off on its first road trip after a monster mass meeting at which Coach "Bill" Roper and Captain "Buzz" Stout spoke.

The team today works daraingt an all-star opponent using Harvard formations. Roper expressed delight with the showing and predicted that victory in its two remaining games with Harvard and Yale will crown the Tiger 1924 football record, marred thus far with a Lehigh tie and a 13-0 loss to Notre Dame.

CROWNED HEADS SEE GIANTS BEAT WHITE SOX

London, Nov. 6.—(By The A. P.)—King George, Queen Mary and their two sons, the Prince of Wales and Prince Henry, today saw the New York Giants defeat the Chicago White Sox 5 to 5 in an exhibition at the Stamford Bridge football grounds.

With the Royal family sat American Ambassador Kellogg and around them were about 7,000 of his majesty's subjects and several hundred Americans. Almost every time a foul tip speed off the bat toward the Royal box, directly behind the plate, the King and Queen either dodged or put up their arms to protect their heads. Each time, of course, the ball hit the wire netting protecting the grandstand spectators and bumped to the ground.

The King seemingly enjoyed the fact that his instinctive act of protecting the head that wears the crown wasn't without its amusing aspect. He got several good laughs out of the situation, while many of his subjects so far lost control of themselves as to smile discreetly and quietly.

MEXICAN FIGHTER WANTS BOUT WITH DEMPSEY

Los Angeles, Nov. 6.—Tony Fuente, opposed to Jack Dempsey at Culver City, near here, July 4, 1926, was the proposal made by wire today to Jack Kearns, manager for Dempsey, by Fred Winsor, manager for Fuente, and also manager of the Culver City ring. Winslow sent his telegram to Kearns in New York following the adoption in this state of a law to legalize ten-round boxing bouts with decisions, and 12-round bouts without decisions.

Fuente is a young Mexican who has won seven of his recent fights around Los Angeles by knockouts. He also took a four-round decision recently from Floyd Johnson of Iowa.

FIRST FOOTBALL GAME WAS 56 YEARS AGO THURSDAY

New York, Nov. 6.—Intercollegiate football today celebrated the fifty-fifth of its birth. The Gridiron game in America had its inception in a contest between teams representing Rutgers and Princeton on November 6, 1869.

The game at that time resembled rugby more than the present style of play. Princeton, Rutgers and Yale drafted a set of rules in 1873 modelled upon the "Association" code and in 1967, Yale, Princeton, Harvard and Columbia formulated a modified rugby code which formed the real basis of the modern game.

Rutgers Ready For Lafayette.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 6.—Rutgers' undefeated football team tomorrow will journey to Palmer stadium, Princeton, and there go through a signal drill under the direction of Coach Jack Wallace, as a final touch of preparation for the Lafayette game Saturday.

The team today was given a session against an opposing eleven using Lafayette players. Tomorrow's practice is being given merely to acclimate the team to the big concrete horseshoe.

MOOSUP WINS TWO GAMES FROM LAWRENCE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Nov. 6.—Costello of the Lawrence Bowling team came near shattering the league's high single mark this evening. His last box which he had a spare to work on and with 120 already rolled up in the previous nine boxes he received three pins on the spare and five in the box which gave him a single of 138, five less than the league's record of 143.

Although Costello hit the high single in the first game his teammates were unable to help him and Moosup took the string by 14 pins, likewise the second by 18. The last string, however, was captured by the local bowlers by 12 pins. Every string was hotly contested but Moosup's steady bowling eventually won two strings for this team.

Costello was high for the evening with a single of 138 and a three string total of 332. King of Moosup hit 117 for a single and had the total of 311. The scores:

BASKETBALL LEAGUE IN NEW LONDON ABOUT TO START

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Nov. 6. — Industrial basketball which proved to be a success last season will be again one of the leagues entered in the field in this city. The league in general will be stronger than last season and the good games of last season will be on the basketball card for this coming winter. Five teams will make up the list of teams which will enter in the league, and these teams are, the New London Ship and Engine, last year's winner; Palmer Brothers, J. N. Lapointe and the newly entered Socony five. The league will open up on November 29, and the Y. M. C. A. will be the official stamping ground of the league.

The following men were selected as officials of the league: E. M. Cobb, president; James Marion, janitor Bulkeley school, vice president; A. B. Dawson, secretary treasurer; honorary president, Mayor Waldo E. Clarke; honorary vice president, City Manager William A. Holt; Charles A. Wite, Fred Baker, Henry R. Bond, Jr., A. L. Streeter, J. Reid Johnston, Joseph Platz and George Fisher.

TABLET TO MEMORY OF YALE ATHLETE

New York, Nov. 6.—A bronze tablet, in memory of Captain James E. Miller, former Yale athlete and the first American aviator to fall in combat with a German Plane, will be unveiled Armistice Day at the Staten Island flying field that bears his name, it was announced today.

When the war broke out, Captain Miller, then vice-president of the Columbia Trust Company, resigned and helped organize the first Aero squad of the National army. He was killed in the Aisne Sector, March 3, 1918.

Sande Leaves Hospital

New York, Nov. 6.—Earl Sande, premier American jockey who was injured on the track at Saratoga late in August, left the Roosevelt hospital today. Although his injured leg was still in splints and he walked with a cane, Sande said he would be able to ride against.

SEVENTEEN HORSES WILL FACE THE BARRIER IN PIMLICO FUTURITY TODAY

Baltimore Md., Nov. 6.—Seventeen horses have been named to face the barrier tomorrow in the $40,000 Pimlico Futurity, the winner of which will be crowned champion two year old of the season. The race, at a mile, is the fourth on the card at "Old Hilltop."

What turf followers consider two strong possibilities for first place are the Glen Riddle Farms' American Flag, by Man O'War, and Singlefoot, owned by J. E. Griffith. These two thoroughbreds ran heads apart last Saturday in the fast mile event. The former, with a nine pound advantage in weight, won, but tomorrow Singlefoot, which has a splendid record since coming to Maryland this fall, will carry only three pounds more than American Flag—122.

Harry P. Whitney is also believed to hold a strong hand in Candy Kid, which is in the pink of condition and will be ridden by Ivan Parke. Courageous won today and is not likely to go in the futurity, while Mother Goose, the third Whitney entry, has not started for some time and her chances are considered doubtful.

Walter M. Jeffords has named another Man O'War colt, by himself, who turned a mile in 1:39 4-5 to win the Ardsley on the closing day at Empire City. Clarence Kimmer will have the leg up on this entry.

Marshall Field's stimulus is considered a contender; Hal Price Headley has the fast Almadel; Deshs Breckinridge starts Kentucky Cardinal, and Eben Byers' recent purchase, Young Martin, will carry his silks for the first time. W. S. Kilmer will stake his chances on Sunny Man; G. A. Cochran has entered Dangerous and Battlefield; Cloudland will represent J. S. Cosden; the Idle Hour Farm stable has Blue Warbler; Pas Seul will run for J. N. Camden, and Star Lore will carry the colors for William Ziegler.

The track promises to be in good condition and a monster crowd is expected to turn out for the richest purse of the Maryland fall season.

BASE CLASHES WITH UTAH TEAM SATURDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, Nov. 6.—Although receiving reverses against non-service teams, the Submarine Base football team is making an enviable record against the service teams. The U. S. S. Utah will serve as rivals to the Base eleven at the Base battle grounds on Saturday at 2 o'clock. This game will mark the fourth service contest the local tars have engaged in so far this season.

Getting prepared for the important contest with the Newport Torpedo Station on November 22, the Base de fast putting away other service teams which had intentions of marring the locals record in the service circles. The last contest with the Providence Steam Rollers has taught the local gobs considerable about the grid game. Being far superior to the gobs both in experience and playing, the Steam Rollers found the gobs an easy team to win from. The navy is finding it difficult to win on foreign territory, and most of the defeats chalked up at the expense of the gobs have been away from home.

While the record of the Utah is not so impressive, inasmuch as this team has only engaged in three contests to date. Yet the gobs from the Utah are a sturdy lot of football chasers. Among the most notable achievement on the gridiron by the visitors is a victory at the expense of the Nonpareil Wonders of Boston. If it is the same football eleven which is in the thick for the pro honors in that section of the state, then the showing made against this team must be considered good. The U. S. S. Wyoming eleven recently defeated by the Base by the overwhelming score of 32 to 6 bowed to the Utah eleven but only by the slim margin of a single touchdown.

The base must consider itself fortunate to come out of the games it engages in without any injuries of the internal nature. Only slight bruises to linemen and backfield men have had to be contended with. Outside of these slight injuries it was easy sailing for the gobs as far as injuries were concerned. This is a direct contrast of the unfortunate accidents which mar a good record for other football teams.

Martin Beats Curtin

New York, Nov. 6.—Eddie "Connonball" Martin, of Brooklyn, received the judges' decision over Irish Johnny Curtin, of Jersey City, in a fast and hard fought 12-round bout tonight. Martin held the lead all the way. The weights were: Martin 118 1-4, Curtin 120 3-4.

Jack Lester, of Philadelphia, 129 pounds, fought a six round draw, with Moe Ginsberg, 128 pounds, of Brooklyn.

Mass. Tech to Have Crew

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 6. — The students of Massachusetts Institution of Technology can find no time to train for football or baseball teams, but in order to have a varsity crew held inter-class lemination races at sunrise this morning and practice with lights on their shells until after dusk this afternoon. The Juniors, stroked by John Greer, won the mile elimination race.

Greater comfort for people who have to wear false teeth is promised by a British dentist's recent invention, reported to the international dental exhibition at the University of London. It is a new type of enamel, which is expected to replace the pink rubber now used in dental plates. It can be prepared in any shade to match the patient's gums, resists the acid of the mouth and retains a permanently polished surface. Another development is a hypodermic needle of stainless steel. Thus far it has been difficult to keep a cutting edge on this metal, but recent efforts have succeeded. The manufacturers say that they have booked an order for 1,125,000 syringes to be delivered in the United States.

Suspicious Wife: Where have you been all the evening?

Yes? And I suppose that is baking powder that is sprinkled all over your shoulders?—The Progressive Grocer.

TILSON ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY FOR U. S. SENATE

New York, Nov. 6.—Representative John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, head of the speakers' bureau of the republican national committee tonight announced his candidacy for senator to succeed Frank B. Brandegee who recently committed suicide.

Mr. Tilson said "My friends in Connecticut have known of my aspirations for a senatorship. My announcement will be no news to them."

Representative Tilson was re-elected Tuesday to represent the Third district in the house of representatives. He received a plurality of 37,000, running ahead of President Coolidge in his district.

The senatorial nominating convention which Representative Tilson hopes will place its approval on his candidacy, will meet at Hartford on Nov. 24 and 25. The special election, made necessary by Senator Brandegee's death will be held December 16.

JOHN W. DAVIS TO RETURN TO THE PRACTICE OF LAW

New York, Nov. 6.—John W. Davis, defeated democratic nominee for president, will return to the practice of law in New York after a holiday to be spent on a cruise in the Mediterranean, it was announced today by his secretary. Mr. Davis will leave within a few days to visit his former home, Clarksburg, West Va.

Upon his nomination for president Mr. Davis resigned from the law firm of Stetson, Jennings, Russell & Davis, which he joined in 1921 on finishing his services as ambassador to Great Britain. At the same time he gave up directorships in several corporations.

BOY LEAPED FIVE STORIES TO ESCAPE FROM POLICE

New York, Nov. 6.—A 16-year-old boy leaped five stories from the roof of a tenement house today in a desperate effort to escape from police and a crowd of men who were chasing him on the suspicion that he had entered and robbed a rooming house.

Although both of the boy's legs were broken and he suffered internal injuries from the leap, he crawled into a nearby basement and remained undiscovered for some time. The boy, who said his name was William Keith, was in a semi-conscious condition.

SPENT EVENINGS ON GAINS OF DAYLIGHT ROBBERIES

New York, Nov. 6.—Carl Abrahamsen, 17-year-old "master mind," who said he had passed many evenings spending the gains of daylight robberies, confessed to detectives in Brooklyn today, the police said, that he and three other youths had been responsible for sixty thefts in Bay Ridge, Fort Hamilton and Linden Heights homes within the last few months.

Abrahamsen gave the investigators thirty-six addresses of homes he had invaded. The others, he said, he could not remember.

ELECTION CASE HEARD BY JUDGE ALLYN L. BROWN

New Haven, Nov. 6.—The controversy over the election held in Madison on Oct. 6 was again before the courts today when a hearing was held before Judge Allyn L. Brown in superior court. At the conclusion of the day's session, adjournment was taken until next Tuesday. The ballot box containing the votes and the tabulation thereof was brought into the court room.

Three disputes are to be settled by the court.

Cat Saves Woman in Fire

Charles B. Montgomery, of Oneco, Conn., for years possessed a cat that rivalled Puss in Boots in intelligence. Mr. Montgomery says that it carried his food bit by bit away from his usual eating place and took it down a lonely path where a starving stray cat reduced almost to a skeleton after being caught in a woodchuck trap, had been unable to forage for food. On another occasion this same cat is credited with having yanked the bed clothing off a sick woman, at the same time meowing frantically when the house was afire.

X-Ray Reveal Steel Flaws

At the International Steel Exposition held in Boston in September, the X-ray as a medium to determine flaws in steel was demonstrated in connection with the casting of the mammoth guns of war that form the nation's bulwarks of defense. By the use of the X-Ray flaws that have heretofore caused tragic gunnery accidents will be detected, it is asserted. Dr. H. H. Lester of the Watertown arsenal did the research work. Steel scientists from all over the world were in attendance at the exposition.

Small Town Men Succeed Most

At the President Day luncheon of an Eastern Rotary club recently, the program was given over to stories of success after 40. There were 120 men who testified that at 40 they were failures, whereas at the time of the luncheon they were considered successes, the aggregate number of their employes being 50,000. Their formulas differed widely and among them were: "constant industry," "never work to hard," and "don't do anything that can be put off." It was revealed that four men born in small towns succeed to one in the bigger cities.

Broken Laws Memorized

Judge Thomas P. Riley has inaugurated a novel idea in breaking autoists in Malden, Mass., of the habit of violating traffic laws. Upon conviction for certain traffic law offenses, he makes the victim memorize and recite to the court Chapter 90 of the Massachusetts law for the protection of the public safety. Rocca Candelaro, an Italian offender who was convicted of having inadequate brakes, was sentenced to write in Italian the whole chapter and then was sentenced to read it to the arresting officer.

Decision was reserved by Coroner

John J. Phelan following an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of Francis C. McAtee, of Bridgeport, a New Haven railroad brakeman, who died Monday from injuries received when he fell from the top of a freight car in the Stamford yards.

EDUCATION WHICH OUR COMING GENERATION NEEDS.

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

There's a driven well in my lane which taps what seems to be an inexhaustible supply of refreshingly cool and limpid water. But it has to be pumped up. A wooden tub stands in front of it, at which "Dan," the old horse, slakes his thirst. Experience has shown that this tub needs to be kept full. Otherwise the exposed upper ends of the staves shrink and leak water. The only way to keep it full is, when the horse has finished drinking, to pump it up again till it runs over the edge.

One hot day last summer, hearing an unusual noise in the lane, I went out to investigate. By the full water-tub stood a distant neighbor, whom I see perhaps twice in a dog's age, unchecking his horse to permit the animal to drink. Seeing me, he remarked in a somewhat apologetic way: "Can't see how to get the old girl by this water, nohow. She's had a taste of it, and swings right into the lane for more every time I pass."

Of course, I was willing to have him water his nag, and highly approved the good judgment of that animal. So with a little laugh I said I was glad to see the mare knew what was good to drink as well as her master, and went back to my task.

Later, coming to give "Dan" his evening draught, I found my tub less than half full. I had to pump something over a hundred strokes to replenish it. You see, the kind-hearted neighbor, who cared enough about his horse to swing into the lane and give it a generous watering, didn't care enough about me to refill the tub his own nag had half-emptied. He knew that the water had to be pumped, and that either he or I had to pump it. But, having satisfied his horse's thirst, and his own—he lacked neighborly decency to replace what had been used. He had had what water he and his horse craved; he might not want any more from that pump for six months; so he checked up the beast, backed out of the lane, and went his way, doubtless rejoicing that he didn't have to wrestle with any pump-handle.

Now, I expect to pump the water for my own horse. I do not see why a neighbor, calmly appropriating the use of my lane and my tub and my pump, shouldn't take it for granted that he, likewise, was to pump what water his horse used. Especially when that neighbor is a younger, stronger and much more agile person than lame-backed old John Farmer.

But this one didn't. He nonchalantly took the water I had laboriously pumped up for "Dan" for the use of his own horse, and then left me to replace it or not, as I chose. Nor was he an exception. I had had, at various times, a good many drivers and teamsters in that lane, all using freely for themselves and for their horses of that water.

And I have never yet had a single one refill the tub after his own beast had emptied it. Not—a—single—one. John Farmer has had the job of doing that, after they had gone on their slovenly ways. I have even had one man stand by and watch the operation, while filling his pipe and getting it alight in a gusty day. He showed no indications of being at all ashamed of himself. Not even of dimly recognizing that there was anything one-sided in the matter.

Well, that's one little straw which shows which way the wind blows. Here's another: A couple of weeks ago a near-by neighbor came and asked permission to use my shop bench for a small job. Of course, I gave it. There was the bench standing idle. I didn't have any use for it just then, why shouldn't it help out a neighbor?

A week later, premonitory symptoms suggesting that it was about time to set the storm windows on at least the north side of the house, I went into the shop to get them. The first touch showed that a pane of the first one,—they stood leaning against a wall and resting on the floor,—had been punched through by some careless foot. So I hunted up an unbroken pane and some putty to replace it. But where was the putty-knife? Certainly not in the rack where it had been kept for more than thirty years. A search finally revealed it stuck in behind a screw driver in another place. The pins fortunately had not been disturbed and I soon had the broken window-light replaced.

But, when I came to put the storm sash in place I found one of the buttons which hold it split and worthless. So I had a new one to make. Selecting the right bit of wood I looked for my saw. It, too, was in the wrong place, but it was too big to demand more than a minute's hunt to show it up. I sawed out the button to the right length. Then I looked for the chisel to split it to the proper width. No chisel. It not only was not in the rack where it belonged, it was nowhere in sight. I spent ten minutes hunting in vain. Now has it yet turned up. So, eventually, I fell back on my pocket-knife and, by dint of unusual care, finally managed to haggle the button down to something like shape. Next I reached for the scratch-awl to mark through the old button just where the screw-hole should be made in the new one. It, too, was missing. Search finally disclosed it in the files-rack at the other end of the shop, twenty-two feet from its customary place. The right bit came at first touch, but where was the bit-stock? Not where it belonged, certainly. Eventually, however, I found that, too, hung up on another wall where the try-square ought to have been, but wasn't. So I had to chase down that latter rather necessary tool in order to return it to its place.

By and by I got the mended storm window into place, securely buttoned in for the winter. It had taken me a full hour to do a ten minutes' job;—ten minutes of productive work and fifty minutes hunting for six tools which stupid carelessness had dropped or hung up anywhere that was "handiest" at the minute, instead of replacing where found.

I must assume that the neighbor was grateful for the use of my shop and bench and tools. At least, he said he was—which doesn't always happen. But he didn't put his gratitude into the useful form it might have taken had he reflected that the tools were, presumably, where I wanted them, where I knew where to find them and where just a fair regard for their owner's convenience would have suggested that he replace them.

Every day, during the hunting season, some one has to go along the exposed portion of my pasture fence, to see that hunters have put up the bars into the woods, or replaced lifted top-rails on the fence. The average hunter, who will tramp twenty miles after a "bird" and declare it "sport," doesn't seem to have energy enough to climb over a barway, not even to lift back into place the bars he has let down to crawl through. Having effected his own passage by the easiest means at hand, he never permits his alleged brains to consider the case of the owner by whose courtesy he is permitted passage.

Now, I'm not telling about these things as if I were being subjected to unusual annoyance by them. The occurrences I've detailed are paralleled daily on practically every farm in New England. There isn't a farmer from Cos Cob to Quoddy Head who couldn't tell of constant happenings as bad or even worse. I'm dwelling on them simply to call attention to the fact that the "lawless spirit" we so loudly deplore when shown by rum-runners and "bandits", is also shown in small, everyday details by the very men who are loudest in their reprobation of it in others. It is just the outgrowth of an egregious selfishness, which considers "Number One" the biggest in the arithmetic, and which quotes "To the devil with the hindmost" as an article of its creed.

There are numerous forms of selfishness. In itself, the trait does not call for indiscriminate denunciation. We are all selfish. Born so. Can't help it. Have to be to live in the midst of a mob of other selfish creatures.

But there is an enlightened selfishness and an ignorant selfishness; a reasonable selfishness and a self-blinded hoggishness; a selfishness which takes cognizance of tomorrow and one which can't see to the end of its own nose; a selfishness which, while driving imperiously to its own ends, at the same time takes cognizance of the rights, yea of the feelings of others.

That man who watered his horse at my tub and left me to refill it, is a berry-grower. Suppose, next June, passing his patch, I should drive my horse into it, get out of the buggy and proceed to stuff myself with his ripest market berries? Giving as explanation, when he showed up, that I'd had a taste of those berries and simply couldn't resist the chance to fill myself up with them? That would be a horse of a different color, wouldn't it? Yet where's the essential difference?

Suppose I should go into my other neighbor's cow barn, carry his pet milking-stool over into the horse stable, drop his hay fork out back of the barn, break a tooth or two out of his root-cutter by feeding cobblestones into it, and go off, leaving the barnyard gate swinging open so the cows, when let out, could walk straight into his corn? Again, that wouldn't be considered quite "the proper caper," would it? Yet where would it differ, essentially, from his own actions in using my shop tools for his selfish purposes and then dropping them, helter-skelter, wherever last used, regardless of my convenience? Or leaving my pasture bars down when he goes into my woods after a partridge?

If you feel unusually mellow and good-natured, you'll perhaps say, "Oh, well these things crabbed old John Farmer is grumping about are small matters. They don't amount to much. They won't make or break anybody."

"Small matters?". There are no small matters in the statutes of right and wrong. "As the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

"Think naught a trifle, though it small appear;
Small sands the mountain, moments make the year,
And trifles life."

The man who ignores my rights in the matter of a scratch-awl, today, is setting the example which will lead his son to ignore my rights in my own henhouse, tomorrow. Neither hen thieves nor bank robbers begin as such. The lowest rung in the ladder of crime is usually a trifling step up and is apt to be glossed over or excused as too trivial to warrant reproof or punishment. And that first rung is often just a selfish disregard for the rights of others. The next rung is degard for the property of others. From that to the sneaking or forcible robbery of others is but a single step. And it is always the first step which counts.

The en-comi-n generation needs an entirely different kind of education from that which our fad-riding school masters are giving it. It needs to be taught thrift, which is becoming almost an obsolete word. Above all, it needs to be taught the A-B-C of common honesty and the difference between Mine and Tuum,—between what's mine and what isn't mine, between what's yours and what isn't yours.

This lesson needs to be taught, not only in Sunday-school but in every-day school, in kindergarten and primary class and high school and college. Above all, in daily life and in the home.

The place to divert a flood is at its source. The place to stop lawlessness is in its small beginnings.

THE FARMER.

EAST COLCHESTER

Flocks of wild geese were seen flying southward recently.

Mrs. Bradley and daughter, of New Haven, were recent guests of friends here.

A Hallowe'en social and entertainment was given by the pupils of Dist. 10 and 7 in the No. 10 schoolhouse Friday evening. A good sum was realized.

Dry weather has made the water supply scarce. Rain is badly needed.

GOSHEN

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sherman and daughter with Mr. Sherman's mother, Mrs. John Sherman, of Norwich, were guests of friends and attended church service here Sunday.

The forest fire in Colchester Sunday was seen by people on Goshen Hill and attracted much notice in the evening.

The ban on hunting by Governor Templeton during the drouth is strictly adhered to. Woodlands are as dry as tinder and open fields are as ashes.

Three hundred and eighty electors met at the town hall to give their vote at the state and national election Tuesday.

Town Clerk C. J. Abell found numbers of dandelion blossoms near the town house at the noon hour.

Returns of the election was listened to over the Community club radio in Academy hall by a good number, Tuesday evening.

It seemed cheery to hear robins and bluebirds Wednesday morning again.

NOANK

A surprise party was given Mrs. Betsy Coles by the members of Mizpah class of the Baptist church and the Sunday school class. A sunshine basket was presented by Mrs. A. V. Morgan. Refreshments were served and musical selections enjoyed. Among those present were Mrs. Ernest Palmer, Mrs. G. E. Andrews, Mrs. Howard Durfee, Mrs. Ina King, Mrs. Wallace Brown, Mrs. E. P. Miss Ingrid Peterson participated in the play, Bimbo, at Mystic for the benefit of the Community house.

FITCHVILLE

Fitchville is getting ready for one of the greatest events of the season, the forthcoming entertainment and dance to be held in Palmer hall. The affair is conducted and led by Mary H. Bentley, teacher of the Fitchville school, who is planning to equip a piano for her school.

One of those most interested in this is Nathan Gilman, whose earnest efforts and keen participation have made the affair possible. S. Hussey Read has encouraged the project by making the first contribution of money.

Children from the Fitchville school are providing part of the entertainment and Miss Natalie Waterman of Lebanon is offering her services as speaker. A special feature of the evening will be the grand march to be led by Colonel Fowler of Bean Hill remembered as a prominent figure in the July 4th celebration.

The melting point of thorium oxide, the substance of which gas mantles are made, is more than 6,000 degrees Fahrenheit, approximately twice as high as the melting point of platinum.

LEISURE

What is this life if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare ?

No time to stand beneath the boughs
And stare as long as sheep or cows.

No time to see, when woods we pass,
Where squirrels hide their nuts in grass

No time to see, in broad daylight
Streams full of stars, like skies at night.

No time to turn at Beauty's glance,
And watch her feet, how they can dance.

No time to wait till her mouth can
Enrich that smile her eyes began.

A poor life this if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare.

75% Of All Sickness caused by clogging

Take constipation seriously; remove it promptly with a stiff dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

AN old-fashioned notion persists that constipation is unavoidable, yet it is easily prevented and may be easily relieved. The fact is that certain foods do not agree with certain people, so avoid those which do not agree with you.

When you feel clogged up take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and relief will come by morning. Many who are habitually constipated take a dose regularly once a week as a precaution.

There are, of course, many other remedies that you can take besides Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Cathartics and physics in the form of pills and powders, however, are harsh and griping; Syrup Pepsin is a liquid, a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant aromatics, and it acts gently and mildly but emphatically. The formula is on the package.

Candy cathartics, which usually contain phenolphtalein, a coal-tar drug, may cause skin eruptions, and salt waters are simply a purge that dries up the saliva. You are therefore best off with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been the standard laxative of thousands of families for more than 30 years, and over 10 million bottles are bought annually.

Every druggist sells it, and at so low a price that an average dose costs less than a cent. Many attribute the unbroken good health of their entire family to the general use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as Mrs. Allie Graham, Handley, Tex., and Mr. A. F. Schmit, 1517 Detroit Ave., Toledo, Ohio. They use it for constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, torpid liver, heartburn, fevers and colds. It contains no narcotics or opiates and is as safe for an infant as for you.

People who know will tell you that Syrup Pepsin is a truly wonderful internal treatment, which dispels all forms of intestinal poisons resulting from constipation and indigestion, disorders which cause 75 per cent of all the more serious diseases. A teaspoonful when you are feverish or feel a cold coming on may ward off an illness and save you time, money and inconvenience.

Free Sample Bottle Coupon

There are people who very rightly prefer to try a thing before they buy it. Let them clip this coupon, pin their name and address to it, and send it to the Pepsin Syrup Co., 518 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois, and a free sample bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will be sent them prepaid by mail. Do not inclose postage. It is free.

First Victor pianoforte solo record by Gabrilowitsch—new Victor artist

There is something new on Victor Records every week! Now it's a big dance hit, again it is an unusual achievement in the field of great music. This week, Gabrilowitsch, who so brilliantly played the piano with the Flonzaley Quartet in the Schumann Quintette records recently announced, makes his Victor debut on a solo record; a record that reflects in every way his great fame in the concert world and reproduces exactly his fine mastery of tone color. He joins a distinguished company of pianists who also make Victor Red Seal Records,—make them because they bring out fully the individual touch of each,—of Bauer, Cortot, De Pachmann, Novaes, Paderewski, Rachmaninoff, Samaroff! A list without equal!

		Number	DOUBLE-FACED List Price
Auf Flügeln des Gesanges (Heine-Mendelssohn) In German / Es muss ein Wunderbares sein (It Must Be Wonderful) (Von Rodwitz-Liszt) In German	Julia Culp / Julia Culp	1041	$1.50

Two songs from the master-composers, sung by a deep and thrilling contralto. Both have noble and simple melodies, with the piano subtly weaving its harmonies underneath.

In Autumn (En Automne) (Moszkowski) / Novelette (Schumann) Piano Solo	Ossip Gabrilowitsch / Ossip Gabrilowitsch	1042	1.50

The myriad colors and the bright airs of autumn are set to music in these two selections—our first piano solo record by Gabrilowitsch, master of tone color.

Otello—Salce! Salce! (Willow Song) (Verdi) / Otello—Ave Maria (Hail, Mary) (Verdi) In Italian	Rosa Ponselle / Rosa Ponselle	6474	2.00

All the beauty of Shakespeare's drama and Verdi's music might have been focussed in these two arias. In them Ponselle's voice is unutterably lovely, and her dramatic instinct makes them live.

Pipe Organ Record

Träumerei (Schumann) / Andantino (Lemare)	Mark Andrews / Mark Andrews	19472	.75

Pipe organ music of the romantic type. The tremulous, dreamy "Träumerei," and the dainty, rhythmical "Andantino."

Melodious Instrumental

If I Were King—Overture (Adam) / Masaniello—Overture (Auber)	Victor Symphony Orchestra	35747	1.25

Two of the most brilliant and most finished of nineteenth-century French operatic overtures, enthusiastically played.

Ida Red / Old Joe Clark	Fiddlin' Powers and Family / Fiddlin' Powers and Family	19434	.75

First Victor Record by this little family troupe of string instrumentalists from the Tennessee mountains. The fiddler leads, and his children, with banjo, ukulele, mandolin and guitar, make strange, remote harmonies.

Light Vocal Selections

No One Knows What It's All About / Oh! Didn't It Rain	Frank Crumit / Frank Crumit	19469	.75

Songs in the fox trot manner. In the first Crumit conveys married love into the Domestic Relations Court; in the second he replies to Wendell Hall's "It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'."

The Pal That I Loved Stole the Gal That I Loved / The Ten Commandments of Love	Lewis James / Lewis James	19473	.75

Popular songs of popular sentiment, energetically sung. The first tells something of its tragedy in the title; the companion number enjoins goodness of life.

Dance Records

Eliza—Fox Trot / Doo Wacka Doo—Fox Trot (vocal refrain)	Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra	19462	.75

Brilliant fox trots where comedy prevails. In the second an instrumental trick by a muted trumpet and a comedian vocalist is turned to clever humorous purposes.

Copenhagen—Fox Trot / Keep on Dancing—Fox Trot	The Benson Orchestra of Chicago	19470	.75

Two melodious yet snappy numbers. The rhythm is graceful in style, the brasses have a lot of melody, and the saxophones come on now and then like a company of stage tumblers.

All Set For Armistice Day Celebration, Tuesday, November 11th, 1924

...ans for the Armistice day celebration and parade in connection with the dedication of the soldiers' and sailors' memorial tablet at Chelsea Parade on Armistice day are practically completed and everything points to one of the largest and most enthusiastic celebrations ever held in Norwich. Fifteen bands, including the celebrated Military band from Fort Wright, and more than seven thousand men and women will take part in the parade which will precede the dedicatory ceremonies, and prominent in the marching forces will be a number of crack military organizations, sailors and marines from the sub base and soldiers from Fort Wright.

Arrangements for Celebration.

The preliminary meeting to arrange for the ceremonies was held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce on Aug. 20th, at which time a general committee was created, an executive committee appointed and the various sub-committees necessary to carry on the work were considered. Hon. H. M. Lerou was appointed chairman of the general committee; John J. O'Rourke, secretary, and Martin E. Jensen, treasurer. The members of the general committee are H. M. Lerou, W. A. Anderson, F. A. Benton, H. A. Bruckner, Dr. H. B. Campbell, James L. Case, C. A. Hagberg, Max Hanover, Martin E. Jensen, John M. Lee, F. W. Lester, William Murray, C. D. Noyes, S. B. Palmer, A. L. Peale, Orrin Price, H. T. Robinson, W. L. Stearns, Arthur E. Story, John M. Swahn, Albert Turner, Mayor M. R. Waters, W. C. Zelz.

Chairman Lerou appointed an executive committee as follows: Chairman ex-officio, H M. Lerou, Mayor Milo R. Waters, William S. Murray, John J. O'Rourke, Arthur L. Peale, Albert J. Turner, Herman Bruckner and the chairmen of the various sub-committees.

Chairman States Purposes.

In outlining the purpose of the meeting, Chairman Lerou made this statement: "The citizens of Norwich have been invited by the American Legion to assist in the ceremonies of dedicating a memorial tablet erected on Chelsea Parade to the memory of the soldiers and sailors who represented Norwich in the recent World war. It has been suggested that the exercises should be held on Armistice day, commemorating as it does a great event in our national history. It seems fitting that the people of Norwich should participate in these ceremonies. The tablet which is to be dedicated on Armistice day is a tribute by the citizens of the town to the gallant men who gave freely of their services, on land and sea, that this country might continue to live in peace under a free flag, and it seems to me that it is the duty of the men and women of this community to cooperate in every way with the American Legion in their efforts to make this celebration worthy of the event which it will commemorate."

Organization is Perfected.

At a subsequent meeting held Sept. 23d the work of organization was completed and a tentative program for the day was considered. The various subcommittees necessary to arrange the details incident to a celebration of this magnitude were decided upon and chairmen appointed, as follows:

List of Committees.

Reception Committee—Hon. Herbert M. Lerou, chairman; Gen. William A. Aiken, Edwin W. Higgins, Judge Allyn L. Brown, Mayor Milo R. Waters, William S. Murray and James C. Macpherson.

Parade—Arthur E. Story, chairman.

Finance—Martin E. Jensen, chairman.

Speakers and Invitations—James L. Case, chairman.

Music—F. W. Lester, chairman.

Transportation—Dr. H. B. Campbell, chairman.

Traffic Regulations—Harold T. Robinson, chairman.

Decorations—Will L. Stearns.

Entertainment — Max Hanover, chairman.

Publicity—John M. Lee, chairman.

Financing the Celebration.

After a careful estimate of probable expenditures, the general committee decided that the amount to be raised to finance this celebration should be $3,000. Of the amount $1,000 was subscribed by the town and $500 by the city through the court of common council, leaving a balance of $1,500 to be raised by subscription. A large number of letters asking for subscriptions have been sent out by the committee on finance, but the returns from these letters are coming in very slowly. Chairman H. M. Lerou of the general committe, said: "Plans for the big Armistice Day celebration are practically completed. For several weeks the general committee and the various sub committes have been hard at work on the innumerable details which an event of this magnitude entails, and the only disparaging feature is that notwithstanding the large number of letters sent out, there is still a shortage of several hundred dollars of the amount needed to pay the necessary expenses of the celebration. The sum asked for, in my opinion, is a very modest one when the purpose for which it is to be raised, is considered. The city of Stamford, which is not much larger than Norwich, is to have an Armistice Day celebration, and has raised $12,000 for the occasion. Norwich must not fail to raise the small sum that is asked for and the subscriptions should be voluntary ones. It is not only the duty, but it should be a privilege for every citizen of Norwich to subscribe to this Armistice Day celebration fund, and I feel certain that by Monday morning, through the generosity of the public-spirited citizens of Norwich, who have a keen appreciation of their patriotic duty, the sum required will be oversubscribed. Subscriptions can be sent to Martin E. Jensen, treasurer of the committee, or can be left at the rooms of the chamber of commerce."

Great Military Spectacle.

In all probability the most spec... tacular part of the monster parade will be the military and naval unit, which will be the largest that ever took part in a local parade and which was secured through the courtesy of the commanding officers at Fort Wright and the Submarine Base.

Major H. C. Allen, commanding officer of the 11th Coast Artillery stationed at Fort H. G. Wright, stated that Fort Wright will send two companies of troops and a band under the command of Captain Fred G. French. This unit will total in the neighborhood of 150 men.

Captain E. J. King, commanding officer at the Submarine Base, states that Admiral Taylor has sanctioned and instructed him to organize a naval battalion for the Armistice Day ceremonies at Norwich. The battalion will number approximately 175 officers and men. The battalion commander will be Lieutenant W. A. Heard, U. S. N.; adjutant, Lieutenant H. Biesemeier, U. S. N.; the medical officer, Lieutenant A. E. Degring, M. C.; supply officer, Lieutenant F. D. Humphrey, S. C.; battalion bugler and two orderlies. Admiral Taylor will also send up from his flagship, the Savannah, the marine band, a marine platoon and seaman company under the command of Lieutenant W. O. Bailey, U. S. N. There will also be a seaman company from the Submarine Base under the command of Lieutenant C. Farmer, U. S. N. The base hospital corps will also march. Admiral Taylor has also authorized the sending of a submarine under the command of Lieutenant C. K. G. Reilly, U. S. N.

Battery B, 192nd Artillery, and the Headquarters Combat Train, 192nd Artillery of this city, and the Willimantic Infantry will form a division of United States naval and military companies that is not often seen in a parade. The music of this division consisting of the military band from Fort Wright and the naval band from Admiral Taylor's flagship, the Savannah, now lying in the New London harbor, will greatly add to the attractiveness of this division.

Visitors Will Be Entertained.

Following the parade the visiting soldiers and sailors will be entertained at the armory as the guests of the city. Max Hanover who is chairman of the entertainment committee has made elaborate plans to see that all the visitors will have an enjoyable time. Mr. Hanover is very enthusiastic about the spirit shown by the heads of the various organizations and the citizens whom he invited to serve on his committee. The response was 100 per cent. The various ladies' organizations volunteered the service of about one hundred Norwich women, who will serve luncheon to about one thousand soldiers and sailors and guests who will be entertained at the armory after the parade. After the luncheon the visitors will be entertained with a boxing exhibition. Mr. Hanover has secured Frankie Bush of Norwich and Henry Casey of Willimantic to give a boxing exhibition, also four boxers who will enter the ring by courtesy of the Submarine Base of New London. Edward J. Connelly has kindly consented to help entertain the visitors at the armory with solo singing and to lead in community singing, and under his direction, this part of the programme will be sure to please.

MAYOR MILO R. WATERS

Fred Watson, manager of the Wauregan hotel, entered into the spirit of the occasion, promising to put up a very fine lunch for the evening.

The members of the entertainment committee are as follows: Mrs D. Louise Atterbury, Eastern Star; Mrs. Charles S. Burke, president of Woman's Relief Corps; Mrs. Byron H. Evans Daughters of Veterans; Mrs. Witter K. Tingley, Red Cross; Mrs. Walter F. Lester, W. W. Backus hospital; Mrs. Ada Revell, Hope Rebekah lodge; Miss Mary H. Maloney, Catholic Ladies of Columbus; Miss Marion L. Bishop, president Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary; Miss Evon Broadhurst, American Legion Auxiliary; Miss Green, Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary; Mrs. Alex. Pasnik, Rose of New England Auxiliary, I. O. B. A.; Mrs Michael Levine, Hadassah organization; Mrs. Daniel Dean; John H Barnes, commander Sons of Veterans; Edwin V. Ross; Abner Schwartz vice president Rose of New England Lodge, No. 898, I. O. B. B.

Parade in Seven Divisions

The parade will move in seven divisions, with fourteen bands, two drum corps and a girls' bugle corps and will be one of the most imposing demonstrations of patriotic spirit that the citizens of Norwich have ever shown. The organizations participating promise about 7,000 in line.

The parade formation will be as follows:

Formation

The first division will form on Shetucket street, the second division on Water street between Shetucket and Market, the third division on Franklin and Bath street, the fifth division on Cliff street, the sixth division on North Main street, with right resting at Marguerite corner, the seventh division on East Main street with right resting on Marguerite corner.

As has already been stated the parade will move at 2.02 in the afternoon and the line of march will be from the corner of Shetucket street and Broadway through Franklin square easterly to Burnham square, countermarch on Main street, to Washington square, up Washington street to Chelsea parade.

Programme at the Monument

Song, America, by entire assemblage, with music by eight bands; address, Mayor Milo R. Waters; dedication prayer, Battle Hymn of the Republic, students; address, Col. Orville A. Petty of New Haven; Long Long Trail; reading of the 9th Psalm, address by E. Percy Armstrong, state commander American Legion; placing of the wreaths on the memorial tablet; reading of the roll of those from Norwich who gave their lives in the World war; sounding of taps; benediction; Star Spangled Banner.

The playing of America by eight bands with John M. Swahn as leader will be most impressive The singing will be by 800 Academy students, with William G. Park as song leader. The principal address of the day will be made by Col. Orville A. Petty of New Haven. Col. Petty has a splendid war record. He served overseas for more than a year and was chaplain of the 102nd regiment for nearly a year. He was later sent to a base port after the armistice and placed in charge of 100 chaplains, then promoted to major which is quite unusual for a chaplain.

A General Holiday

It is now practically assured that Norwich will make Armistice day a general holiday, if not a full holiday at least a half day will be observed so that every one that so desires may take part in the dedicatory exercises. Mayor Waters has issued a proclamation that calls for a general suspension of business as follows:

Mayor's Proclamation For Armistice Day

On Armistice Day, Tuesday, November 11, 1924, the town and City of Norwich will dedicate a Memorial to the gallant young men of Norwich and vicinity who so gloriously and freely offered their lives that the cause of liberty might never die.

Therefore, I request that on that day the schools be closed, that the factories and stores be closed as far as possible, that the national colors be displayed, and that every citizen of Norwich co-operate with the committee in this effort to show our gratitude to the veterans of the World war.

MILO R. WATERS,
Mayor of the City of Norwich.

Practically all the industries of Norwich have agreed to close either all day or half a day, all the stores of the city will close at 12 o'clock, the banks will close at 12 o'clock and the schools will be closed all day.

Additional Transportation Facilities

Through the efforts of the transportation committee, Dr. H. B. Campbell, chairman, arrangements have been made for additional transportation facilities to take care of the visiting organizations that are coming to take part in the parade. In addition it is estimated that it will be necessary to provide transportation facilities for thousands of people from all over the eastern section of the state who will come to Norwich on Armistice day to witness the big parade. The Connecticut company will endeavor to provide enough extra cars to take care of all that may come by trolley and the steam roads will do their part. For the out of town organizations which will take part in the parade, arrangements have been made for their transportation by special trains, trolley or auto busses, depending upon what section they come from.

17 Bands in Line

Never before on any occasion has there been such a gathering of musical organizations as will take part in the Armistice Day parade. Altogether including drum corps, there will be seventeen bands in line, two of which are local organizations. Swahn's and the Italian-American band. Other organizations, many of them being high class military bands are Fort Wright band, a band from the battleship Savannah, Colt's band of Hartford, B. P. O. E. band of Willimantic, Westerly band, Wauregan band, Scotch band of Westerly, Oriental band, Plainfield band, Baltic band, St. Michael's drum and bugle Corps, Westerly, Taftville Drum Corps, Willimantic Drum Corps, Houston drum Corps.

Submarine a Feature

Through the courtesy of Admiral Taylor and Captain E. J. King, commanding officer at Submarine Base, a submarine will be sent to Norwich for Armistice day. It will be under the command of Lieutenant C. K. G. Reilly, U. S. N., and will be moored near the old steamboat wharf at the foot of Water street at the wharf now owned by Feldmen Bros. Co. This will give Norwich people and visitors to the city on Armistice day an opportunity to inspect a submarine. This will undoubtedly be quite an attraction.

SPECIAL FLOAT FOR GOLD STAR MOTHERS

In addition to the 7,000 marchers and 17 bands the committee on parade has arranged for onefloat and this will be for the 20 or more gold star mothers. The parade committee has had a number of offers from organizations to put floats in the parade but the committee had to decline these generous and patriotic offers owing to the length of the parade. The solitary float—an emblem of sacrifice—will be more conspicuous because of the fact that it has been accorded this high honor. Its presence in the parade will tell the thousands who will assemble along the line of march, in silent yet eloquent speech, that America and the cause of human liberty shall not perish from the earth forever.

OFFICIAL OPENING OF NORWICH WHITE WAY

Armistice day will also be made the time for the official opening of one of the most important improvements that the city has made in a long time —the new White Way.

At 7 o'clock that evening Mayor Milo R. Waters will press a button that will turn on the current for the White Way and release the flood of brilliant light that will illuminate the street in the business section where the White Way has been installed. At the same time the bands will greet the flashing on of the lights with music and the citizens will rejoice that the business section will be lighted in a manner that will be equal, if not superior, to any similiar section in the state.

The White Way has been built under an appropriation of $15,000, made at the June city meeting in 1923 and reappropriated in 1924 under the budget of the gas and electric department, from the proceeds of which the money for installing the White Way is drawn.

Main street, from Burnham square to Washington square, and Broadway from Main street to Union square and around Union square, are the limits covered by the White Way, for which steel poles of pleasing style and lanterns of a special colonial type are provided. The whole effect is ornamental and distinctive, something difference from any other city illuminating plan and cannot fail to make a very favorable impression upon visitors from other cities with the admirable lighting provided here.

Echoes From The Celebration

Coincident with the celebration on Tuesday will be the display of the sidewalk flags which are now being installed throughout the business section of the city, and which will be displayed for the first time on Armistice Day. This patriotic display is known as the "Shenandoah" system and was arranged for through the local American Legion posts. As an auxiliary to the more elaborate decorations on buildings and store fronts this sidewalk display of the National emblem should be an inspiring sight.

One of the Armistice Day committees whose work stands out conspicuously is the parade committee, Arthur E. Story, chairman. The fact that they will be more than 7000 marchers in line in the Armistice Day parade speaks for itself. The other members of the committee who assisted Chairman Story are William A. Anderson, Harold T. Robinson, Webster D. Copp, Raymond B. Sherman, Patrick F. Sweeney, Nelson J. Ayling and James P. Hayes.

Amongst those who will be the guests of the city on Armistice Day, will be E. P. Armstrong, State Commander of the American Legion and his staff. Mr. Armstrong because of his official position had a number of invitations to attend Armistice Day celebrations in Connecticut, but the general committee felt very happy the he accepted the Norwich invitation. The fact that he is a former Norwich boy may have had something to do with his acceptance.

One of the features of the big parade will be the troop of Boy Scouts and the troop of Girls Scouts, representing St. Michael's parish, Westerly. They will be accompanied by St. Michael Boy Scouts Fife and Drum Corps and the Girl Scout Bugle Corps. This is an organization that is sure to attract attention.

Another attraction of the Armistice Day parade will be the Divan patrol and fife and drum corps of Sphinx Temple, Mystic Shrine of Hartford. This organization will arrive at noon on Tuesday and during their stay will be entertained at the Masonic Temple.

DEDICATED TO THOSE WHO SERVED COUNTRY.

"Dedicated to the Men and Women of Norwich who served their country in the World War," is the inscription which appears on the memorial tablet at Chelsea Parade. The handsome bronze tablet which stands at the north end of the parade was erected by the town of Norwich, a town meeting having appropriated $3,500 for the purpose. The original committee appointed to secure and arrange for the erection of the tablet comprised the late Dr. John S. Blackmar, who served as a Major in the Medical Corps during the war, and who was made chairman of the committee; Shephard E. Palmer, Charles D. Noyes, Mrs. Willis Austin, and Miss Ethel Sevin, now Mrs. Louis E. Rader. Following the death of Dr. Blackmar, Mr. Palmer was made chairman of the committee, and Harold T. Robinson was appointed to the committee.

After inspecting and discussing at considerable length various models and styles of memorials the committee finally settled on the selection of the tablet and the contract was let to McCann Co., of Boston. In the early part of August, 1923, the erection of the memorial was completed and within the appropriation authorized.

The tablet is set on a concrete foundation about 4 feet by 10 feet in size. The tablets, two in number, containing approximately 1600 names, are mounted on granite slates, each 10 feet square. A curbing is built around the memorial. Stars set alongside names on the tablets indicate those who made the supreme sacrifice.

In the last ten years the number of telephones in service in the United States has increased by 8,827,000. This increase alone is more than five times the total number of telephones now in use in the whole of Great Britain.

PREMATURE OLD AGE OF WOMEN

It is no secret that so many women suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex. Dark circles appear under the eyes, a pale, drawn, haggard expression to the countenance, and the weakness which accompanies such ailments is evidenced by the lagging step, headaches, backache and nervous conditions. Every woman who is afflicted in this way should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for half a century has been overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of women.

NEW LONDON CHILD KILLED— RAN IN PATH OF AUTOMOBILE

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, Nov. 6—Elsie, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hendrickson, 311 Crystal avenue, was fatally injured this morning when run down by an automobile operated by Eli Remmert, 199 or 309 Crystal avenue, the child being struck by the machine on Crystal avenue, as she was attempting to cross that thoroughfare. Remmert was arrested by Traffic Officer William Corcoran on a charge of manslaughter, but was later released from custody on his own recognizance.

The child and her little brother had been about their home near the corner of Rosemary street apparently watching an ice man as he made deliveries from his wagon, which was on the westerly side of the avenue. Suddenly the youngsters started to cross the avenue and stepping in front of the ice wagon they started on a run for the opposite sidewalk. As they entered the street the automobile driven by Remmert, traveling in a northerly direction at an estimated speed of 15 or 20 miles an hour was about to pass. Remmert observed the children and attempted to guide the machine around the youngsters. The car just missed the boy, but the little girl was struck by the mudguard and hurled to the macadam roadway, being rendered unconscious. When Remmert reached the child she was bleeding from a hemmorhage caused by a fractured skull. Remmert placed the child in his machine and speeded with her to the Lena hospital, where she died as treatment was about to be given her.

Destroyer Downes, the latest of the fleet of naval craft to be assigned to this port in an effort of the United States government to put an end to the transportation to New England ports of liquor from the rum fleet at Rum Row, off Block Island, made her first capture this morning when the 50-foot gas screw launch Petrolia, Newport, Capt. James Smith, master, was seized off Block Island with a cargo of 450 cases of alcohol. The Petrolia was brought into port, together with her crew of six men, and was moored at the United States Coast guard pier. This afternoon Smith and his crew were presented before United States Commissioner Earl Matthewson of Norwich at the customs house. Smith's case of violation of the liquor law was postponed until the 17th inst., and he was held in bonds of $1500. The crew was released. Among the crew was Nicholas Liaskus, Newport, a member of the crew of the launch Uncle Sam, when that craft was seized as a rum-runner, several weeks ago. When the Petrolia was seized, she was but a short distance from the rum fleet and was headed for Newport.

Charles M. Dunn, New York, master of the valuable launch Marguerite, seized a month ago as a rum runner, was not tried today, his case being continued until the 17th inst.

The case of Ivan Carlberg, Wildwood, N. J., master of the schooner John Leonard, seized two weeks ago for alleged violation of the navigation laws by the crew of the revenue cutter Tampa, was nolled. The schooner, which was without cargo when apprehended, has been tied up at the United States Coast guard wharf since seized.

The hearing of the case of the launch Over the Top, a New York boat, which was seized a month ago off Block Island with a cargo of 1500 cases of rye and Scotch whiskey, was also continued until the 17th inst.

United States District Attorney George Cohan, Hartford, was present at the hearings today.

Frank Silfe, who keeps a pool room at 33 Golden street, was in the police court this morning charged with maintaining a resort for gamblers. James Harvey, Charles Snow, James McGuire and Joseph Sullivan were charged with frequenting the place for the purpose of gambling. Police Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman John Clifford visited the place last evening about 10 o'clock, but their appearance was inopportune for the only evidence they obtained was that there was the sum of fifty cents, a couple of quarters, on a table that was near the front door Silfe said the money had that minute been tossed upon the table with an order from his patrons for a deck of cigarette and some bottles of soda. Silfe said he reached for the cash to fill the order when Sergeant Hick beat him to it and obtained the money. There were playing cards on the table but they were not evidence of gambling. Indeed there was not evidence to show that Silfe kept a gambling place and none that the patrons of the place were gamblers. Silfe said the past reputation that attached to the place was what led the officers to call there. He declared that there had not been any gambling there and said there would be none, for he intended to abandon the place as an undertaking that yielded as profit to pay for his time and services. The young men were found not guilty. But the evidence did not disclose how a man called Gus by the proprietor of the Silfe rooms, and who is employed on the ferryboat, can lease pool rooms, hire a man to attend them and sell soda water at a profit. So the rooms may come into the public eye again as a place where characters resort whom the city can do without.

Daniel Stahler, Jr., was fined $10 in the police court today and that penalty took him to all. This young man has been shown leniency many times by the court and he has also been committed to prison, but his experience does not seem to teach him wisdom, and he continues to defy the laws.

Annie Sedowsky, accused of stealing $180 from a guest at her home, a few nights ago, when there was a booze party on there, was in the police court this morning, but there was no evidence to keep her there on the charge she was arraigned so the complaint was nolled. A Long Island man was at her home Saturday night and there he and Annie became so familiar that she sat in his lap and made so free with him that when he missed his roll he accused the woman of having stolen it. She denied that she took the money and accounted for her presence in the lap of her guest by saying that her husband was old and she wanted the affection of a younger man. Nevertheless, Annie did not consider that she did anything improper for she said she loved her husband. The most that could be gotten from the party in the house is what has been stated here. Annie did not have the money when she was searched immediately after she was accused, but she had then been in the yard of her home and could have had the opportunity of disposing of her money if she ever had it. When she was released on a bail bond she also went to the yard as soon as she got to her home. No one in the party could give any information than that here related, so the complaint was nolled.

Charles H. Stowell has sold a parcel of land on Hillside avenue to Frederick W. Mercer.

Theodore Bodenwein has sold a house and lot on Vauxhall street to David and Rebecca B. Lamond.

Mrs. Robert Tuohey, of Howard street; Miss Carrie Guilder, Niantic; Master Earl LaBounty, Montville; Mrs. Origin Daniels, and infant son, Niantic; Mrs. Frank Vickery and infant son, Lincoln avenue; Joseph Geogione, Blinman street, patients at Lawrence Memorial Associated hospital, were dismissed today.

George A. Clark, 56, of Montville, died last night at Backus hospital, Norwich, where he had been under treatment but a comparatively short time. Mr. Clark was a paper mill worker and was employed in Montville. He is survived by a brother, Byron P. Clark, of Montville. Mr. Clark was a member of Palestine Commandery, this city.

New London fraters were out in force this evening. Brainard Masonic lodge worked the Master Mason degree in full form and that was followed by a banquet. At Union lodge the district deputy was in attendance and there, too, the full form was worked in the Master Mason degree. A banquet followed the work there also. The attendance was very large at both places. At the Elks' lodge, James Cotter of Waterbury was the guest of the lodge. He is a grand trustee and the lodge gave him the honors his position is entitled to. The Knights of Columbus also had extraordinary functions this evening with a large attendance of members. The streets adjacent to the lodge rooms and the K. of C. home were crowded with automobiles, the number extending around the square enclosed in Green, Union, Starr, Pearl, Washington and Huntington streets.

The trustees of the Odd Fellow lodges, Mohegan and Pequot, held their November session this evening. The Odd Fellow building has not been a paying investment since the fire there, some two years ago, for there was expense involved in that disaster that was not covered by the insurance and the lodges were forced to meet the expense, especially of a new roof. Now the financial condition is improved somewhat and the outlook for the lodges is brighter than it has been in a considerable time.

The city is now doing work that it should have done years ago, when the corner at Bank street and Montauk avenue was acquired from the Burr brothers. The corner is being rounded by putting the land the city bought for a thousand dollars into the roadway by cutting off the sidewalk. Probably an expense of $300 will be occasioned by the work.

United States Commissioner Earl Mathewson came to New London from Norwich this evening to accept bonds for the master of the rum-carrying ship seized off this harbor today and towed in here. The surety on the bond came from Newport to qualify.

An automobile owned and operated by Miss Priscilla Billings, of Groton, a teacher in the public school at Mystic, was damaged on Thames street, Groton, this morning, when struck by a Groton & Stonington trolley car. Miss Billings attempted to pass two other machines near Pleasant street and in doing so was compelled to operate the machine to the trolley cars because of machines being parked on the left side of the road. Before Miss Billings could guide her machine from the rails, the trolley car came along and crashed against the automobile.

W. Don Lundy, former secretary to the late Senator Frank B. Brandegee, and the National Bank of Commerce, appointed a few days ago as administrators of the estate of the dead senator, have qualified by filing their respective bonds of $25,000.

The police are seeking to ascertain the identity of the driver of the automobile, which struck Mrs. William Dow, 78 Phillips street, yesterday afternoon, on Green street, and then drove away, leaving the victim unconscious in the highway. Two men who cared for Mrs. Dow declared that the automobile carried Connecticut markers "210," but whether the machine also carried a serial letter is not known. If the men who assisted Mrs. Dow are found, it is believed it will be possible to locate the car owner.

Alexander F. Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rose, of Clement street, Waterford, and Miss Emma S. Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Marshall, New Bedford, Mass., were married Sept. 11. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace J. James Floyd, Waterford. Mr. and Mrs. Rose will shortly take up their home on Willetts avenue extension.

Miss Ruth Jennings, teacher at the Nathan Hale grammar school, is confined to her home on Vauxhall street by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Calkins, 269 Montauk avenue, today informally celebrated the 59th year of their marriage, receiving a number of their acquaintances and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Calkins were married Nov. 6, 1865, at Wilbraham, Mass. Both have good health considering their advanced years.

George R. Morris has qualified as administrator of the estate of his father, William Henry Morris, whose death occurred last week.

An automobile, owned and operated by Enrico Carnole, 75 School street, collided with a fence on Howard street, today. Carnole agreed to pay for the damage he occasioned.

John Gentilella, 14, of 962 Bank street, Bulkeley school youth, who ran away from home several days ago and who was arrested in New York yesterday, will be returned to his parents tomorrow. Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield tonight notified the New London police that he would return with the runaway youth in the morning.

Adolphus Burke, 77 Garfield avenue, complained to the police late this afternoon that youths had destroyed a portion of the fence in front of his residence and requested that the offenders be taken into custody.

A gang of sailors flocked to Plant hall last night and attended a dance. They were under the influence of liquor and about midnight they engaged in a fight. The sailors were finally subdued by Supernumerary Police Officer William Riordan, although the officer had to combat a half dozen of the bluejackets. No arrests were made.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no pressure or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

JEWETT CITY

Chief Thomas Wakely of the A. A. Young, Jr., fire company, was operated upon by Dr. J. J. Donohue, for appendicitis at the Backus hospital Thursday morning. The chief has been well for some time and he feared this trouble more perhaps because a younger sister died with that ailment. Late Thursday afternoon Miss Margaret Leyden, corporation nurse for the Aspinook Co. was in communication with the hospital and was able to give out favorable reports from Chief Wakely.

During the absence of his superior officer Foreman Moses Loranger will be in charge in case of fire.

Chief Wakely is a man with many local friends as well as among the fire fighting fraternity of the state. The combination which exists within his makeup, lightning judgment and fearless energy, has made him and his men masters of every fire they have tackled. Chief H. L. Stanton of Norwich has expressed sympathy for Chief Wakely and hopes for his speedy return to duty.

A sort of canvass of the water situation in this section, discloses a condition, that while in no way alarming, is the cause of some little inconvenience. In certain sections of the outlying farming districts, brooks and springs where cattle are regularly watered have dropped to very low stage or failed altogether. Supt. A. A. Young of the Jewett City Water Co., as per measurements taken Thursday, reported the water in the Stone Hill reservoir to be down 7 1-2 feet. If it didn't rain a drop for 200 days, Jewett City with only the normal draught and with no supply from its water shed, would still have plenty of water. The water is drawn off the Aspinook dam to such extent that troops four abreast might march across between the flash boards and the water line.

John Potter, below whose residence the Pachaug pond lies in full view off to the south, reports the pond not so low as at other times during the past summer. Different localities seem to be affected differently. Read's saw mill brook which empties into the Quinebaug, is bone dry, a condition not remembered in recent years, while Havey brook that discharges into Tadpole pond and Palmer's which, helps with the Pachaug river supply, are at medium water stage.

A still alarm brought the firemen to a blaze in the roof of a barn off Soule street. Children with a bonfire were responsible. In the absence of Chief Wakely Foreman Loranger was in charge. Chemical extinguishers did the job. The shingle roofs all about the town are like tinder, and are ignited by the smallest spark. Bon fire burning must cease at once, are the outstanding orders that may be expected from Fire Marshal George H. Prior.

Thomas E. Lee is installing a new model oil burning furnace at his home on Palmer avenue.

The men in town who are not going to shave, on election bets, until the next presidential election, stand to have a fair crop of spinach. One man won't shave until LaFollette gets his hair cut—which, same, got pretty well trimmed Tuesday.

A local man in New York the day before election, heard a bet, where the loser must crawl on his hands and knees, from the Battery to Harlem. That is figured as some stunt, 8 good miles, all hard paving, and it must be done during the hour before daylight, on account of traffic. All winter is allowed for the stunt. The winner this time lost four years ago and did it.

The body of Mrs. Effie Edmond, wife of Charles Edmond of Hartford is to be brought to Pachaug cemetery for burial today (Friday.) Mrs. Lamb was the daughter of Franklin and Sarah Button Lamb and was born in Washington, D. C. The family lived in Pachaug and Mr. and Mrs. Edmond were married in Norwich. She leaves her husband, who has three brothers living in Griswold and Voluntown, William, Fred and George Edmond. There are three children, Arthur of Cheshire, Carl of Hartford and Leonard of Willimantic.

Old Cluey Watson was much interested Thursday, when he read in the Danielson column of The Bulletin, about the reappearance of the bloodthirsty critter that again is terrorizing the inhabitants of that section. Just as he was making preparations to take advantage of the cordial invitation of the Fish and Game club last spring to come up and try some of his solder bullets on the varmint, it disappeared. The old man still favors the idea of the female whangdoodle, because of the weird and unearthly cries that are told about in the able writer's story. Cluey says, that when ordinary hunting fails, a spring gun, loaded with shingle nails, or what's better, horse shoe nails, will always bring down a whangdoodle.

The death of Judge Samuel O. Prentice is of more than passing interest to the people of Jewett City. When the soldiers' monument was dedicated, on David Hale Fanning park, Memorial day 1913, it was Judge Prentice, who came here, giving the address at the unveiling. Mr. Fanning met the judge here for the first time and then began a friendship which only the passing of the younger man has severed. Sixty years ago Lucius Brown kept a small "select" school in Preston. Three of the pupils were Daniel L. Phillips, Amos A. Browning and Samuel O. Prentice. Mr. Phillips of Jewett City alone survives.

Mrs. John Swanton of Greeneville is at the home of her father, Velo Sharkey recovering, following an operation for appendicitis, performed in St. Francis' hospital, Hartford.

Thursday, the mercury again rose to 66 degrees. Fires were allowed to go out, doors were open into the street and screens were in the windows. A passerby on Palmer street Thursday forenoon noted honeybees, working on the chrysanthemum blossoms at Ransome Read's home, as in midsummer. Notwithstanding the exceptional weather, birds have migrated early.

The Jewett City Council of Cathelics Women served a bountiful supper in the parish hall Thursday night to between four and five hundred patrons, brown bread, cold ham, rolls, pickles, cake and coffee. The tables were decorated with carnations and chrysanthemums, donated by Mrs. A. A. Young. The supper was given the anniversary week of the organization of the council and was for the benefit of the church. This supper starts the ball rolling as the other churches are planning suppers for nearly every week and these bid fair to be real community times.

Miss Stratton of Storrs conducted another farm bureau economics meeting in the town hall Thursday. The work taugh was the making of dress forms, six being completed. Eleven women were present.

Greece has a good roads campaign.

AWARDED ONE CENT IN HIS SUIT FOR $50,000 DAMAGES

Washington, Nov. 5.—Manuel Herrick, former representative from Oklahoma, was awarded damages of one cent by a jury in circuit court today in his suit for $50,000 damages against Miss Ethelyn Crane, his former stenographer, for alleged breach of promise to marry him.

A jury in the same court yesterday awarded Miss Crane $7,500 damages against Herrick for alleged libelous statements concerning her in a paper filed in court in support of his breach of promise case.

FIREMEN CALLED TO ASSIST FOREST RANGERS

Beacon, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The Beacon fire department was called out to assist forest rangers and volunteers combatting a forest fire which was threatening Beacon Crest hotel and fifty summer cottages on top Mt. Beacon. The fire has been burning several days through brushland, but not until tonight was it considered dangerous to property.

The general assembly of Missouri, on learning that Representative Job had become the grandfather of twin girls on February 23, passed a resolution that the two misses be named Martha and Georgia in honor of George and Martha Washington, and they were so named.

Resigns Because Of U. S. Immigration Law

Viscount Kentaro Kaneko, who has resigned as President of the American-Japan Society, due to the recent Immigration Law, containing the Japanese exclusion clause. In tendering his resignation, Kaneko is reported to have declared "America is sending us to hell."

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up; is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, O. M. Johnson, 643 N. Broad St., Philadelphia, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Rev. Miss Hartig entertained the Ladies' Aid society at the parsonage Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. David Walsh, with Otto Nettleton of Lebanon and Elmer E. Caples of Liberty Hill, called on Mr. Caples' brother, Edward Caples, at St. Joseph's hospital, Willimantic, Sunday afternoon. Mr. Caples had his right leg broken in a runaway accident last Tuesday. Friends here are encouraged to learn that he is improving.

Mrs. Charles Geer returned Saturday from a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. Milan D. Whittaker, and family at South Killingly.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sherman and family of Norwich attended church services in Goshen Sunday and spent the afternoon with Miss Laura McCall and at Mrs. P. A. Lathrop's.

Rev. Miss Hartig returned Saturday from a trip to Southport, where she addressed a missionary meeting.

Miss Myra Geer is spending some time with Mrs. Tracy of Norwich, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Shekleton and daughter, Shirley Lavinia, and W. H. Kneeland of Hartford spent Thursday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. David Walsh. Mr. Kneeland remained here until Sunday, when he went to Victor Brousseau's at Columbia to remain until Tuesday, when he will return to the home of his niece for a longer visit.

Leo G. Cummings of Springfield, Mass., spent the week end with R. E. Cummings.

Max Lubetsky is on a business trip to New York.

Some automobiles using the Pottstown (Pa.) pike have discovered that their tires are Indian relic collectors. One man found two unusually fine specimens of flint arrowheads in a tire, and another unknowingly became the possessor of a tomahawk head in the same manner.

Healthy, Happy Children Is Mother's Greatest Joy

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets

Of course, all mothers—and grandmothers too for that matter—know that the greatest builder of firm, healthy flesh in thin, puny, run down children is cod liver oil, and especially where there are any signs of Rickets.

But here's something every mother doesn't know—Cod Liver Oil helps to make strong, healthy bones—and even helps to make better teeth.

Yes, it's true: Doctors know it.

Dentists know it—chemists know it.

And now here's another surprise! No more will kiddies have to take the vile, nasty tasting, evil smelling oil that nine times in ten disturbs their sensitive stomachs and almost turns them inside out.

Never again! thank goodness, will they even have to smell the vile stuff, for now science has given us—and people who keep up with the times are taking—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets—sugar coated and as easy to take as candy.

So now you can go ahead and make the sickly youngsters strong and well—make the puny one sturdy and full of pep—make the skinny one put on good solid flesh—and if any one of them has Rickets you can conquer that too.

Mother: Try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets for 30 days if any of your children aren't up to par. You'll be surprised at the quick help they will give them, and if you aren't satisfied with results, Lee & Osgood Co., or the druggist you purchased them from will return your money. One New Jersey boy gained 11½ pounds in 7 weeks. Be sure and get the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS ACTIVE.

New York, Nov. 6.—Heavy profit-taking checked the early advance in industrial stocks in today's market, but the railroad shares continued to forge ahead in response to a sustained investment demand for the high grade carriers and speculative accumulation of several low priced issues. Trading was again on a broad scale, the day's sales aggregating about 1 1-2 million shares.

Buying of the rails was based in part on the speculative belief that the makeup of the next congress precludes the possibility of any radical railroad legislation in the next two years. Among the 17 rails to soar to new peak prices for the year were New York Central, Frisco common and the Wabash and Rock Island preferred issues. "Katy" common and preferred, Great Western common and preferred, Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Western Pacific common and preferred and Kansas City Southern. Seaboard Air Line sold at the highest price in eight years.

One of the most significant developments of the session was the increase in public participation. This was particularly apparent in the odd-lot business.

Baldwin sold off more than two points to 119 1-2, with somewhat similar losses in American Sugar Refining, Dupont and General Electric. United States Steel common closed 1-8 lower at 109 1-2, while American Can showed a net gain of 1-4 of a point at 140 1-2.

During the early outburst of buying in the industrial group, 22 issues mounted to new peak prices for the year, including American Smelting common and preferred, Montgomery-Ward, H. R. Mallinson, Corn Products, American Radiator, United States Cast Iron Pipe, Simms Petroleum, American Tobacco "B," Westinghouse Air Brake, Iron Products and Maxwell Motors "B." Early gains in these issues ran from 1 to 3 points, but a number of them were materially reduced or wiped out before the close.

Heavy selling of some of the motor issues was predicted on the seasonal decline in retail business, which has been accentuated by recent price cuts. Chandler broke 4 points to 27 1-2, a new low for the year, and then rallied to 28 1-8, while Yellow Cab Manufacturing duplicated its previous low of 37, off 2 1-8. General Motors closed a point lower at 56 1-4, announcement of the quarter dividend of $125 on the new stock being withheld until after the market closed.

Marking up of the renewal rates on call money to 3 per cent., followed by a subsequent advance to 3 1-2, also was an influence in the day's selling of the industrial issues. The higher rate for call funds was due to the extensive calling of loans by banks to strengthen their reserves in the Federal Reserve bank. Time money rates held firm, but little business was transacted. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange rates moved within narrow and irregular limits. Demand sterling reacted slightly from the year's high of $4.67 established yesterday, and most of the other European rates showed nominal changes. Argentine exchange was strong.
